DOUGLAS MCKINLEY BRANCH

A large-sized volume could scarcely chronicle all the facts in the "success story" of Douglas M. Branch, the farm boy who grew into a spiritual giant to fill the topmost place of leadership of North Carolina Baptists. Born November 8, 1908, son of Atlas M. and Nora Branch, in the Mt. Moriah Church community of Wake County, he attended school at Mt. Auburn and Garner. On June 2, 1933, he married Jessie Averitte Walker of Windsor.

His untimely death in a tragic highway accident near Ahsoskie February 1, 1963, is well remembered by the multitudes who felt the sorrow of his passing. A few highlights from the moving pages of his busy life:

Ordained at Mt. Moriah, his home church, in October, 1935, he served rural and village churches in his Wake Forest College student days; graduating cum laude in 1937. He was called to Cary church in 1938. Coming with the State Mission Board as general missionary or field worker in 1941, he led in intensive promotional work, including the initiation of the organized simultaneous evangelistic crusade idea, in which he himself actively participated. He then went to Louisville, Ky., to complete his seminary studies. Then he served with distinction churches at Scotland Neck, Kannapolis First, and Rocky Mount First, until he was called in May, 1959, by unanimous action of the special committee and by the Convention, as General Secretary of the N. C. Baptist Convention. One of his last official acts was the signing of the largest missions offering check ever sent from North Carolina—$882,752.92. His last message, Feb. 1, was for the cause of Christian education, at Chowan College a few hours before his death.

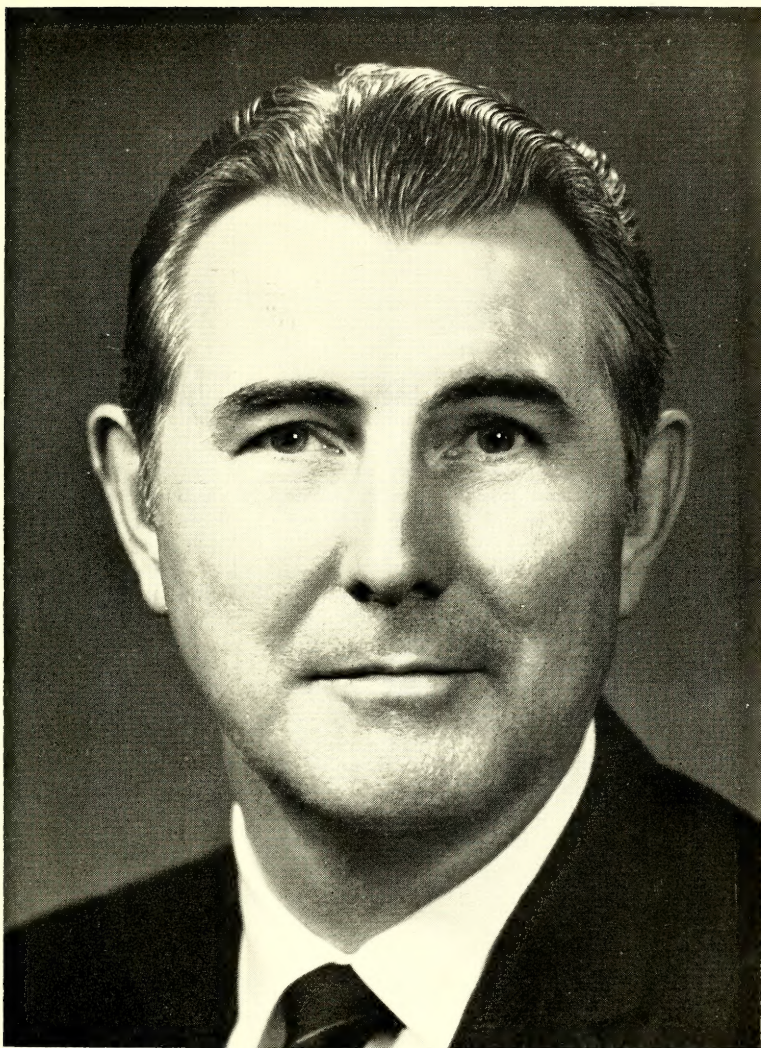

He served as Convention vice-president and later for two terms as president; he served as trustee of Wingate and Wake Forest Colleges, the latter conferring upon him the honorary doctor of divinity degree in 1956. The pastors of N. C. elected him president of their Conference in 1950. He was a member of the significant Committee of 25 and was for five years a member of the Executive Committee of the Southern Baptist Convention. He also was chosen as chairman of the SBC Survey Committee to conduct a complete study of all Baptist work. Many other committee posts and assignments were his. No task ever seemed too small to receive his best, and no endeavor too great to dwarf his capabilities and dedication.

Newspapers, radio and TV stations, gave much attention to his death and its significance to Baptists. Typical tributes: "Dr. Branch brought with him to his great work, a shepherd heart from his pastorates, with keen intellect, courtesy, gentleness, and a Christ-like spirit in his administration of Convention business . . . he was in a sense pastor to all the Baptists of his state."—(Durham Morning Herald) Another: "Few men in Baptist life have had such a profound influence on the life of a denomination in so few years."—Dr. James Sullivan.

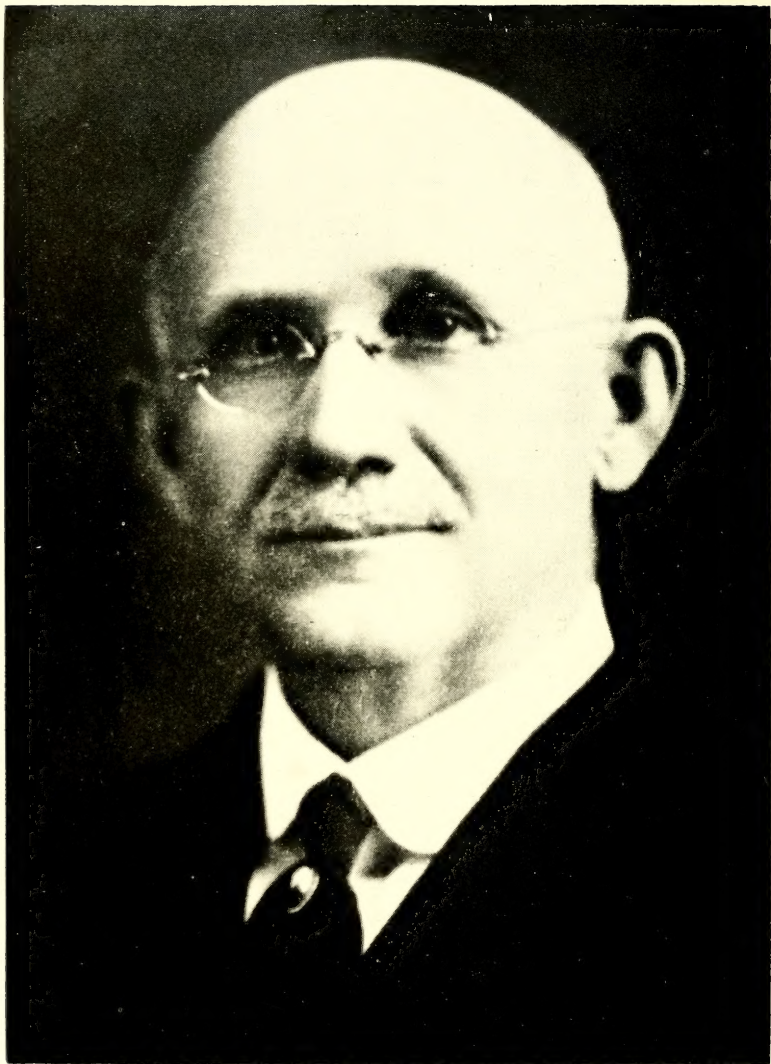

A close friend, Charles B. Trammel, said of him: "There was no pretense, no veneer, about the life of Douglas Branch. He was a Christian gentleman and a statesman. He gave all he had to his work and only wished that it could have been more." Nane Starnes, another intimate friend, said: "He had an optimistic and wonderful vision of the Kingdom of God on earth, yet he was always firmly anchored to the practical. He never lost the human touch; he was always at home in every situation—a revival in a small church or in a conclave of educators, in a little mission up the mountain cove or in a great sanctuary on main street. He did not hesitate to walk with the mightiest of the land, but his heart and ear were always open to the humblest. He was a world Christian—with a deep desire for fairness, a profound respect for Baptist democracy. He walked with steadfastness, dignity and poise. I think he walked with God."

When Forest Hills Church in Raleigh was filled with sorrowing friends and relatives on Sunday afternoon, February 3, for the funeral of this beloved leader, hearts ached and words seemed futile in the deep sense of loss. For more than a quarter of a century, this great man had honored his Lord as preacher, missionary, pastor, evangelist, counsellor. Always humble and kind in spirit, he walked tall and clean and straight in the eyes of men and before his God. Aptly quoted in the funeral services that day, was the passage from II Samuel 3:38—"Know ye not that there is a prince and a great man fallen this day in Israel?"

WILLIS RICHARD CULLOM

WILLIS RICHARD CULLOM

Willis Richard Cullom was born near Weldon in Halifax County, North Carolina, on January 15, 1867, the son of Joel John and Mary Eliza Johnson Cullom. Professing faith in the Lord Jesus Christ at the age of thirteen, he became a charter member of the Quankie Baptist Church and, as a youth, served as its Sunday School superintendent and later as its clerk. This church ordained him "an elder" in 1888.

While a student at Wake Forest College and pastor of the Baptist churches at Warren Plains, Knap-of-Reeds, Corinth and Concord, Mr. Cullom led in the organization of the first Woman's Missionary Society in the Tar River Association. Upon his graduation from Wake Forest (Master of Arts) in 1892, he attended the Southern Baptist Theological Seminary and became, in 1894, one of the Seminary's first student-tutors. While at Louisville, he served as pastor of the Baptist churches at Irvington (Kentucky) and at Borden (Indiana). In 1895, the Seminary awarded him the degree of Master of Theology, after which he continued his study toward a doctorate until illness interrupted his plans.

Upon his recovery (1896), the trustees of Wake Forest College invited Mr. Cullom to "inaugurate the study of the Bible" as a part of the curriculum of the college. (As far as we can learn, this was the first Southern Baptist College to take this step.) For forty-two years, Dr. Cullom taught Bible at Wake Forest and saw his pupils fill the pulpits of North Carolina, become teachers of the Bible in colleges and universities throughout the land, and take places of Christian leadership near and far. (He received his doctorate of theology from Louisville in 1905 and a doctorate of divinity from the Richmond College of Virginia in 1915.)

Dr. Cullom pioneered in many efforts to train ministers of the gospel. In 1896, he organized the Ministerial Conference at Wake Forest (later to bear his name) and started an institute for pastors (later to become the Meredith Christian Studies). For fourteen years, he was secretary of the Board of Education for the North Carolina Baptist State Convention and worked to raise the number and quality of ministerial students at Wake Forest until North Carolina became known as "a nursery for preachers" for the neighboring states. At Dr. Cullom's suggestion in 1902, the pastors began meeting with him, prior to the meeting of the Baptist State Convention, and continued to do so until this group was formally organized (1907) into the North Carolina Baptist Pastors' Conference. He was one of the state's first B.Y.P.U. leaders (1904) and prepared (1907) "a regular concerted study of the Bible in the churches"—a forerunner of our January Bible Study. In 1908, he initiated and conducted a Pastors' Correspondence Course and, in 1910, founded a Ministers' Assurance Association. In 1913, he was asked to establish a book agency for N. C. pastors at Wake Forest and, in 1918, became director of N. C. Million-Dollar Campaign for Baptist Colleges, which later merged into the 75-Million Campaign (1919), which he also directed. In 1920, he planned and supervised the Mobile Schools for N. C. Baptists.

Dr. Cullom made three trips abroad and studied at the University of Chicago and other educational centers. Through the years, he continued to read books and periodicals which enabled him to grow with the times and in grace with the Lord Jesus. For many years he served as chairman of the Southern Baptist Educational Commission; he participated in the organization of the Phillips Brooks Club at Duke (1931) and in the N. C. Council of Churches (1935). He retired from Wake Forest in 1938 and from the pastorate in 1941.

During all the years of his teaching and denominational work, Dr. Cullom served as pastor of small neighboring churches: Brassfields, Middleburg, Poplar Creek, Forestville, Mount Vernon, Rolesville, Wakefield, Dunn, Youngsville, Falls of Neuse, Spring Hope. After his retirement, he served as supply-preacher and adviser to churches and preachers for more than two decades. Also he continued to write. (Undoubtedly he has written more for the Biblical Recorder than any other person, including any of its editors.)

On June 2, 1897, Dr. Cullom married Miss Frances Farmer of Louisville, who died March 30, 1944. They had four children: Elizabeth (Mrs. Fant Kelly of Spencer, Edward (Mr. E. F. Cullom of Raleigh), Nancy (Mrs. Lawrence Harris, deceased) and Sarah (Mrs. C. C. Pearson of Wake Forest).

After several months of declining strength, Dr. Cullom died in the Wake Forest Hospital on the morning of October 20th, 1963, and was buried in the Wake Forest cemetery.

In 1942, Josiah W. Bailey (then U. S. Senator from North Carolina) wrote of Dr. Cullom: "There has been given to few to live so noble a life and few indeed today who have made such contribution to their day and generation." Elbert Russell (then dean of Duke Divinity School) wrote that Dr. Cullom's "love of truth and spirit of tolerance have been among the potent forces that make North Carolina stand out as a state of unusual intellectual progressiveness and religious seriousness." Leslie H. Campbell, president of Campbell College, wrote: "Our denomination today has a safer, wiser leadership because of the guidance and counsel of Dr. Cullom."

At times like this when men rose up "to call him blessed." Dr. Cullom would say: "If any of this is true, then here is an example of what the Lord can do with an ordinary fellow who loves Him and who wants to serve Him. If He can do this with me, then doubtlessly He can do more with you."

(A biography of Dr. Cullom, The Cullom Lantern, was released Dec. 2, 1963. It is published by Edwards and Broughton of Raleigh.)

ROBERT NIRWANA SIMMS

"If Baptists had a firmament of laymen, surely R. N. Simms, Sr., would be one of the bright stars therein. If Baptists had an orchard of laymen, truly Simms would be one of the most fruitful of trees. If Baptists had a forest, Simms would be one of the tallest trees of them all." Such is the appraisal of Dr. Forest C. Feezor who adds, "It seems not out of place for one who knew this stalwart son of the Saviour, for a third of a century; and quite closely for eleven years, in a Church relationship as pastor and deacon to give expressions of gratitude for such a noble character. The conviction is present that his life, lived so usefully and so gracefully Christian, needs no eulogy. In a ministry of forty-six years no greater churchman can be recalled. With Brother Simms the welfare of his church was pre-eminent. Until health forced otherwise, he was at all the services of his church. He was never a 'oncer' by choice or preference. His example in Tabernacle Church was exemplary."

Robert Nirwana Simms was born May 14, 1876, near Guyandotte (now Huntington), West Virginia. He was the son of the Rev. Albert Meredith Simms, D.D., and Mary Frances (Stewart) Simms. He attended public schools in Texas and was graduated from High School at McKinney, Texas, in 1893. In that same year when his father became pastor of Tabernacle Baptist Church, he moved with his parents to Raleigh and entered Wake Forest College. In college his debating and oratorical abilities received recognition. He was graduated with the A.B. degree as salutatorian and commencement orator of the class of 1897.

At his death, October 6, 1963, Mr. Simms was the dean of the Raleigh Bar, a distinguished past president of the Wake County Bar Association, and the last surviving charter member of the North Carolina Bar Association. He began the practice of law in 1897 in Raleigh. In 1898, he formed a co-partnership with the late William Campbell Douglass, which continued until 1907. After the dissolution of that co-partnership, he practiced alone until the formation of the firm of Simms and Simms. He was licensed by the U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals, and in 1916 by the U. S. Supreme Court. In 1944 he was special assistant to the Attorney General of the United States. In 1900 he organized the Raleigh & Cape Fear Railway Company and thereafter the Raleigh & Southport Railway Company. In 1905 he began representing the Raleigh and Pamlico Sound Railway Company and thereafter the Raleigh, Charlotte & Southern Railway Company and thereafter the Norfolk & Southern Railway Company and its successors. He was attorney for Meredith College from 1926 to 1945. He was widely known among lawyers as author of North Carolina Manual of Law and Forms first published in 1902 and subsequently through ten editions.

Robert N. Simms was active in civic and political life. In 1901 he was a member of the General Assembly of North Carolina; in 1904 a presidential elector; in 1908 he managed the gubernatorial campaign of Ashley Horne. From 1922-23 he was president of the Raleigh Chamber of Commerce; for 1926-27 he was president of the Raleigh Civitan Club. He was a life member of the Masons and had received a sixty-year Diamond Jubilee certificate and pin as Master Mason.

He served as a member and officer of the Knights of Pythias for more than fifty years.

He was a gifted denominational servant. In 1937 he was vice-president and in 1938, 1939 and 1940, president of the Baptist State Convention of North Carolina. From 1901 to 1945 he was a trustee of Meredith College and from 1926-1945, chairman of the Executive Committee of its Board of Trustees. In 1950 he became one of the original trustees of Southeastern Baptist Theological Seminary.

In 1900 he became a deacon of Tabernacle Baptist Church and continued as such until his death. For three years he was chairman of the deacons. On September 27, 1900, he organized the Baraca Sunday School Class of Tabernacle. It is estimated that during sixty years he taught over 8,000 different men in this class. His book, Christians Do Not Die, published in 1946 has gone through several editions. It has been a blessing to thousands. Another helpful book, The Twenty-Third Psalm, was published in 1949.

Eminent in so many ways, perhaps Mr. Simms was most successful as a home-maker. In Asheville, North Carolina, on November 25, 1908, Miss Virginia Egerton became his bride. At 1212 Wake Forest Road, Raleigh, they reared six children. Two of the sons are Baptist preachers: the Rev. Albert E. Simms, Lynchburg, Virginia, and the Rev. Stewart B. Simms, Greer, South Carolina; three of the sons are deacons: Robert N. Simms, Jr., Raleigh, John M. Simms, Raleigh, and William G. Simms, Atlanta, Georgia; and the daughter, Mrs. A. L. Haskins, Jr., Raleigh, is a deaconess. Mr. Simms never failed to speak appreciatively of his noble Christian wife, who also survives him.

Robert N. Simms was a man after God's own heart. He loved the Lord. He had the essential quality of integrity wedded to unflinching loyalty. He served God faithfully in home, in church, and in community. By a long and useful life he demonstrated what God can do with and through a man who is yielded to His will.

JOHN WILLIAM SUTTLE

JOHN WILLIAM SUTTLE

On July 27, 1963, death claimed John William Suttle, ringing down the curtain at age 91 on a long life that had included more than 72 years in the gospel ministry.

This ministry had always been in small country churches, which "Brother John" preferred to the large city congregations that several times would have called him as pastor.

John Suttle was born April 7, 1872, on a farm in the old Camp Call (Union) Community of Cleveland County. His parents were Charles Batie Suttle and Esther Jane Wray Suttle. Although during his life he traveled widely and visited the nation's largest cities, he was never content to live in a town larger than Shelby, the county seat.

Giving early indication of a life of Christian service, he was only eight when he walked the aisle to make a profession of faith and became the youngest member of Beaver Dam Baptist Church near Shelby. Later he was to serve this church as pastor for 37 years. But accepting a candidate for baptism at so early age was most unusual at that time and little, red haired John Suttle was closely observed by skeptics in the community throughout his childhood.

At age 16 he was ordained to the gospel ministry and a year later graduated from Bell's Academy in Shelby. He received the Master of Theology degree from Southern Baptist Theological Seminary, Louisville, Ky., in 1891. That same year he was called as pastor of El Bethel Baptist Church near Blacksburg, S. C.

In Blacksburg he met Leila Pierson, whom he married on March 29, 1893, at Grover. Their four children are Mrs. Joseph Cabiness and Charles Batie Suttle of Shelby; Mrs. D. R. Sibley of Hartford, Conn.; and Mrs. William J. Erwin of Danville, Va.

Mrs. Suttle, who shared in his lifetime of experiences as a country preacher, lives in the home at 708 West Marion Street in Shelby. In addition to her church endeavors she is widely known for her hobby of collecting pitchers, more than 2,000 of which adorn a special room in her home.

In 1894 the young preacher returned to his native state for a three-year ministry in Albemarle where he was pastor of First Baptist Church, and also served five rural churches in Stanly County.

From 1897 to 1907 he served First Baptist Church, Smithfield, as pastor. During this time he organized several rural churches and was pastor of seven congregations in Johnston County. He followed this ministry by two years in Marshall as pastor before he was called back to his native county as first pastor of Second Baptist Church, Shelby.

It was here that the legend of John Suttle begins to flower. Between 1909 and his retirement from the pulpit in 1956 he served 19 churches in Cleveland County; often as many as seven simultaneously. He preached over 32,000 sermons, baptized 10,000 converts, married 2,000 couples and raised for all causes more than $1 million. He led 35 young people into full time vocational Christian service.

He was moderator of Kings Mountain Association for 40 years, 1912 through 1952. He was twice a vice-president of the Baptist State Convention and in 1947-48 served that body as president.

A dormitory wing at Gardner-Webb College, which he served for 52 years as a trustee, is named in his honor as is an endowment fund at the college. A fellowship hall at his home Beaverdam Church also bears his name.

In 1958 Dr. W. Wyan Washburn, Boiling Springs physician and long time friend, wrote a biography of Mr. Suttle entitled "Canaan in Carolina." Dr. Washburn describes his subject as "A genuine New Testament Christian, a true minister, shepherd, leader of men, eloquent preacher, organizing genius, sage, philosopher, storyteller, zealous evangelist whose entire life has been devoted to making Carolina a way station on the journey to the Promised Land."

CONSTITUTION

PREAMBLE

For the declaration of its fundamental purposes and the permanent guidance and control of its activities, the body does adopt the following as its Constitution, to wit:

ARTICLE I. Name

The name of this body is the Baptist State Convention of North Carolina.

ARTICLE II. Purposes

The object of this Convention shall be to promote missions, evangelism, education, social services, the distribution of the Bible and sound religious literature, and to co-operate with the work of the Southern Baptist Convention.

ARTICLE III. Authority

While independent and sovereign in its own sphere, the Convention does not claim and will never attempt to exercise any authority over any other Baptist body, whether church, auxiliary organization, association, or Convention.

ARTICLE IV. Composition

The Convention shall be composed of

(1) Two messengers from each co-operating church, and one additional messenger from each church for every hundred members or major fraction thereof, beyond the first one hundred members; provided, that no church shall be entitled to more than ten messengers. No one shall be a messenger who is not a member of a church co-operating with the Convention, and messengers must be duly elected by their churches; a co-operating church shall be one that supports any object of the Convention and which is in friendly cooperation with this Convention and sympathetic with its purpose and work; and (2) The officers of the Convention, the members of the General Board, the editor of the Biblical Recorder, and the President of the Woman's Missionary Union.

ARTICLE V. Meetings

The Convention shall convene annually on Tuesday after the second Sunday in November. In case of emergency the General Board is empowered to change the time or place of meeting, cancel the sessions of the Convention, or call a special meeting by a vote of two-thirds of the members present when the vote is taken.

ARTICLE VI. Officers

The officers of the Convention shall be a President, a First Vice-President, a Second Vice-President, a Recording Secretary, a General

Secretary-Treasurer, three Trustees, and a Parliamentarian. The terms of the President, the Vice-President and the Parliamentarian shall commence at the conclusion of the annual session at which they are elected and continue until the close of the next annual session of the Convention. The President and Vice-Presidents may not be elected for more than two consecutive terms. All officers subject to annual election shall be elected on the second day of the annual Convention. A vacancy in any of the above-mentioned offices, except that of President, occurring between sessions of the Convention may be filled by the General Board; such vacancies in the presidency shall be filled by the Vice-Presidents succeeding to the office in order of their rank.

a. In case of a vacancy in the office of General Secretary-Treasurer, the General Board shall nominate a man to the Convention to fill this office.

b. Opportunity shall be given to receive additional nominations from the floor of the Convention.

c. The man receiving the majority of votes cast shall be declared elected. Upon election the General Secretary-Treasurer shall hold office for an indefinite period, with retirement at age 65, his term of service ending on December 31 of the calendar year in which he reaches age 65.

d. In case the position of General Secretary-Treasurer becomes vacant between sessions of the Convention, the General Board, upon the recommendation of its Executive Committee, shall name an acting General Secretary-Treasurer to serve until the next regular session of the Convention.

ARTICLE VII. Trustees of the Convention

The Convention shall have three trustees who shall serve for one year and shall hold title to the property of the Convention and convey and use the same as directed by the Convention or its General Board. They shall execute obligations only in behalf of and as ordered by the Convention. They shall have the powers granted to trustees of religious societies by the laws of the State of North Carolina, but subject always to the limitations imposed by this Constitution and by action of the Convention or its General Board. They shall require the Treasurer of the Convention to give suitable bond, with corporate security and in adequate amount as determined by the General Board, and they shall cause such bonds to be safely kept. Failure on the part of the Treasurer to maintain such a bond in force for as long a period as ten days shall authorize the Trustees to remove him from office. The Trustees shall make full, detailed reports to the annual sessions of the Convention and at other times if requested by the General Board. They shall safely keep the seal of the Convention and affix it only as authorized by the Convention or its General Board. The seal shall be circular in form and shall bear the words:

"Trustees of the Baptist State Convention of North Carolina, Incorporated 1893.

SEAL."

The Trustees shall keep full minutes of all their meetings and preserve the same in permanent forms. They shall elect their own Chairman and Secretary. Any vacancy occurring in their membership between sessions of the Convention shall be filled by the General Board.

1. One member shall be elected from the area of each District Association; one additional member from each District Association with a membership of 20,000 to 40,000; and one additional member from any District Association with a membership of more than 40,000, with a limit of one member from any church and three members from any association.

2. The President and First and Second Vice-Presidents of the Convention shall be ex-officio voting members of the General Board and its Executive Committee. These members, selected by virtue of their Convention offices, shall not be used in determining the number of members from a District Association or church.

3. The General Secretary-Treasurer, the Recording Secretary, and the State Woman's Missionary Union President shall be ex-officio non voting members.

4. No one who is employed by any institution or agency of the convention, whether the salary be total or supplemental, shall be eligible for membership on the General Board except as an ex-officio member.

2. The Trustees and directors shall be responsible to the Convention for the operation of its institutions in accordance with Baptist principles; report of work done and undertaken shall be made annually to the Convention; any change in the charter of any institution which would affect, alter or change the purpose of the institution or the relationship of the institution or its board of trustees to the Convention shall have the prior approval of the Convention. No change of policy shall be made without securing the prior approval of the Convention or its General Board; no program shall be inaugurated which might involve the Convention directly or indirectly in a debt, without securing the prior approval of the Convention.

3. The members of the Board of Trustees or Directors of said corporation shall be residents of the State of North Carolina and members of churches co-operating with the Convention.

4. Removal of a member of a Board of Trustees or Directors.

If for any reason a member of a Board shall cease to be a member of a church co-operating with the Convention or shall remove his residence from the State, his membership on any Board shall be thereby terminated. Any vacancy on a Board shall be filled by the remaining members until the next regular annual session of the Convention, and the Convention shall at its next regular annual session fill the vacancy for the unexpired term. The Board of Trustees or Directors of said corporation by affirmative vote of three-fourths of the entire membership given in regular annual meeting or in a special meeting called for the purpose, shall have the power to remove from office any trustee or director of such corporation for cause considered sufficient by such Board, but only after reasonable notice to such trustee or director and opportunity to be heard by the Board. The Convention shall have the right to remove any trustee or director for cause considered sufficient by the Convention, but only after reasonable notice to such trustee or director, and opportunity for him to be heard by the Convention. Notice of such contemplated action and hearing by the Convention may be given by the Executive Committee of the General Board of the Convention.

5. The trustees or directors of the institutions and agencies of the Convention shall be elected by the Convention after receiving nominations from the Convention's Nominating Committee. The trustees and directors of all institutions owned and supported by the Convention shall make an annual report to the above committee of all vacancies to be filled.

B. No institution or agency of the Convention shall encumber its property or change its status with respect to the Convention without authority from the Convention. Institutions and agencies of the Convention, subject to the approval of the General Board, shall have authority to borrow money in anticipation of current revenue, provided that any unpaid balance of such borrowing at the end of the current fiscal year shall be provided for in and made a part of the budget for the subsequent current year.

C. All borrowing by the Convention for its own use, or for its institutions or agencies, or borrowings by any institution or agency of the Convention, the payment of which would require an extension of time beyond the close of the subsequent fiscal year, shall be authorized only on the following terms and conditions:

(1) Notice of any and all contemplated borrowings shall appear in the Biblical Recorder in three separate issues in advance of the meeting of the Convention during which it is proposed that action be taken.

Convention Theme: "On To Victory With Christ"

Theme Text: "He went forth conquering and to conquer"
(Rev. 6:12)

TUESDAY MORNING—NOVEMBER 12, 1963

Session Theme: "Press on to the Goal" (Phil. 3:14).

1. On the call of President Nane Starnes, the doors of Brogden Hall were closed at nine during the worship service. A convention choir of forty ministers of music of the churches of the state, under the direction of Joseph O. Stroud, Secretary of the Department of Church Music, sang "Come, Come, Ye Saints" and "Near to the Heart of God." The congregation joined in singing "Holy, Holy, Holy." At the console of the Allen organ for this and the remaining sessions was H. Max Smith, guest artist from Southeastern Seminary.

2. Charles B. Howard, Buies Creek, led the devotions, calling attention to the nature of the Christian experience as both a crisis and a process, emphasizing Paul's statement, "I press toward the mark" (Phil. 3:14). The choir concluded this period by singing, "March On, O Soul, with Strength."

3. President Starnes called the Convention to stand in tribute to its late leader, Douglas M. Branch, killed in an automobile accident, Feb. 1, 1963. He stated that the sessions of this Convention would be "committed to the Lord" and "dedicated to Douglas Branch." Howard J. Ford, Wilmington, was called upon to lead in prayer. Mrs. Branch, who had been asked to come to the platform, was recognized.

4. James L. Pollard, Wilmington, chairman of the Committee on Enrollment, reported 1,138 messengers and 109 visitors, and moved that messengers registered and others to register constitute the one hundred thirty-third session of the Convention. Motion carried. I. FOREWORD

In this report we are attempting to bring to you general information on the activities of the Convention's General Board, its Executive Committee and those of the General Board staff, along with the reports by the various institutions, agencies and committees of the Convention. You will note certain recommendations for action by the Convention. You will note especially the recommendation for the 1964 financial operations.

In bringing this report we have followed something of a chronological order for the four meetings of the Board including the special session following the death of General Secretary-Treasurer, Dr. Douglas M. Branch. The Executive Committee of the General Board has held eleven meetings since the Convention last met.

This has been an unusual year in the life of North Carolina Baptists, not only because of the tragic death of their leader on February 1, but it has been a year filled with significant discussions and decisions. Perhaps no annual meeting of the Convention has been confronted with matters of greater importance than those to be considered in this 1963 annual session. Fortunately it would appear that all major matters for consideration have been thoroughly discussed and carefully considered to the extent that the messengers should be in position to make wise decisions and thereby insure the continuing success of all areas of Baptist work.

J. DEWEY HOBBS, JR.

President, General Board

CLAUDE F. GADDY

Acting General Secretary-Treasurer

II. GENERAL BOARD REPORT AND RECOMMENDATIONS

In presenting its report for 1963 the General Board is dividing it into four divisions, representing actions taken in the three regular meetings held in January, July and October, with a fourth special session on February 11. The first of these sessions was held under the leadership of the late General Secretary-Treasurer, Dr. Douglas M. Branch, who was killed in an automobile accident on February 1, 1963. (Actions in connection with the death of Dr. Branch are recorded in a special section of this report.)

MEETING OF THE GENERAL BOARD

January 21-22, 1963

Officers for the year were elected as follows: President, J. Dewey Hobbs, Jr.; Vice-President, F. Stanley Hardee, Jr.; Recording Secretary, Mrs. Dennis Hockaday.

The following matters were approved:

1. Selection of War Memorial Auditorium, Greensboro, as the place of meeting for the 1964 annual session of the State Convention, November 10-12. This action was based on a recommendation of the Executive Committee in order that provision might be made for a joint session with the Baptist General Convention (Negro), holding its annual meeting in Greensboro on these same dates. This authority was given the Executive Committee by the Baptist State Convention in its 1962 annual meeting.

2. The Board gave approval to a proposed campaign for the development of Camp Caraway, the New Royal Ambassador camp in Randolph County, as outlined by the Reverend C. Roger Bell.

3. The Board approved a statement of its Executive Committee relative to the use of government funds by the Baptist Hospital in its expansion program. This statement of the Executive Committee was based upon a report from the Convention Public Affairs Committee. The statement approved by the Board is as follows:

"The Executive Committee received the request of the representatives of the Baptist Hospital as herein outlined and, based upon the information presented and the assurances of Baptist Hospital representatives that the facility herein proposed is no different from the programs and grants for research for facilities previously accepted by the Bowman Gray School of Medicine of Wake Forest College, the Executive Committee offers no objection.

"The Executive Committee does require:

"(1) That no real estate of the Baptist Hospital be pledged as security to any agency of the federal government for any grant for facilities that may be extended to the Baptist Hospital.

"(2) That there be no agreements entered into by or between the Baptist Hospital and any federal agency which would in any degree give any federal or state agency of government any control over any research structure or structure herein contemplated, except such scientific reports or related information that would fully comply with 'for full services rendered' as defined in the Constitution of the Baptist State Convention.

"(3) That the representatives of the Baptist Hospital will from time to time, as the proposed structure for research is in progress, either voluntarily or when requested, furnish full reports on every federal grant that is made, which report shall set forth all terms and conditions involved.

"(4) The Executive Committee reserves the right, in the event that it becomes convinced at any time that the proposed program is not in keeping with the policies and objectives of the Constitution of the Baptist State Convention as previously determined, to request and will expect the hospital authorities to suspend any undertaking or acceptance of any funds until the Executive Committee shall have had opportunity to make a complete study of any possible violations or marginal agreements in order that the principle of the complete separation of church and state as interpreted by the 1958 Baptist State Convention may be preserved."

4. Approved a change in the name of the Church Planning Department to "Church Building-Planning Department."

MEETING OF THE GENERAL BOARD

February 11, 1963

1. The called meeting of the General Board, on February 11, was held in Greensboro for the purpose of electing an acting General Secretary-Treasurer. In this meeting the Board unanimously approved the recommendation of its Executive Committee in electing Claude F. Gaddy for this position.

2. Upon recommendation of its Executive Committee the Board named the following committee "... to be charged with the responsibility of searching for a General Secretary-Treasurer. The Committee would be expected to bring its nomination to the General Board in the October 1963 meeting and the Board would carry a recommendation to the Convention in November 1963":

R. Knolan Benfield, Morganton, Chairman; Thurman W. Allred, Edenton; Claude B. Bowen, Greensboro; James C. Cammack, Fayetteville; W. Perry Crouch, Asheville; C. B. Deane, Rockingham; Mrs. Henry Gamble, Waxhaw; Ralph E. Jones, Jr., Graham; John E. Lawrence, Shelby; Mrs. W. K. McGee, Winston-Salem; James S. Potter, Charlotte; R. N. Simms, Jr., Raleigh.

July 8-9, 1963

1. The General Board, acting under the authority in Article XI, Section B, of the Convention's Constitution, authorized the Bowman Gray School of Medicine of Wake Forest College and the Baptist Hospital to borrow an amount, the total of the sum not to exceed $900,000, in promoting a long range program of expansion, as set forth in the following resolution:

"Whereas, a long-range study by the joint committee of The Bowman Gray School of Medicine and the North Carolina Baptist Hospital has revealed that the ministry of these two institutions operating as one, forming an outstanding medical center, under the auspices of the Baptist State Convention of North Carolina, is greatly restricted in services it can render to the sick and suffering and in its capacity to provide urgently needed doctors and paramedical personnel such as nurses and technicians because of inadequate facilities; and

"Whereas, a study by an outstanding fund raising organization reveals that adequate funds for such facilities may be obtained through a campaign in Winston-Salem and surrounding area restricted largely to corporations, foundations, and individuals with special interest; and

"Whereas, the program to provide $15,000,000 for land acquisition and facilities was approved by the Board of Trustees of Wake Forest College on October 12, 1962, and by the Board of Trustees of the North Carolina Baptist Hospital on October 25, 1962; and

"Whereas, the Boards of Trustees of Wake Forest College and the North Carolina Baptist Hospital in June 1963 approved such a campaign and anonymous donors have pledged funds for the cost of such a campaign; and

"Whereas, a commitment has been made by the Board of Visitors of The Bowman Gray School of Medicine to undergird and conduct such a campaign on behalf of the total medical center; and

"Whereas, there will be needed in advance of the receipt of funds from the campaign, the exact amount of which cannot be predicted at this time, monies for payment to obtain items that must be secured before funds from the campaign are received; and

"Whereas, the constitution of the Baptist State Convention of North Carolina, under Article 10, Section B states 'Institutions and Agencies of the Convention, subject to the approval of the General Board, shall have authority to borrow money in anticipation of current revenue, provided that any unpaid balance of such borrowing at the end of the current fiscal year shall be provided for in and made a part of the budget for the subsequent current year.'

"Now, therefore, be it resolved

"(1) THAT the Trustees of Wake Forest College be empowered to borrow against anticipated campaign receipts on behalf of The Bowman Gray School of Medicine, as temporary borrowing may become wise and necessary, amounts, the total of the sum not to exceed $900,000. This sum together with interest to be paid as soon as practicable from funds received from pledges, gifts, and grants and such other funds as may be available;

"(2) THAT it is distinctly understood that the endowment of the College is not involved, that the Baptist State Convention is not committed, and that the cooperative program of the Convention is not obligated in any sense in regard to the obligation or payment of the amount so borrowed;

"(3) THAT it is the intention of The Trustees of Wake Forest College not to exercise this authority to borrow except where such borrowing is necessary in advance of the receipt of sufficient funds to cover the immediate need that may be obtained for the purpose;

"(4) THAT the officers of the corporation are hereby authorized, empowered, and directed to execute all necessary contracts, notes, and agreements that are required by the lending institutions to secure such loans desired;

"(5) THAT such acts by the officers of the corporation include all responsibility in connection with such loans including interest rate, method, and schedule of repayment."

2. The Rev. R. Knolan Benfield, Chairman of the Committee to Nominate a General Secretary-Treasurer of the Convention, reported on the procedure this committee had followed in its search for a nominee.

3. Following a review by President Nane Starnes of the meetings that had been held between representatives of Wake Forest College and members of the General Board's Executive Committee to discuss "points of tension between the college and some Baptists of the state," President Harold Tribble emphasized the desire of Wake Forest College to eliminate any misunderstandings and to explore any points of tension that may exist. He also explained a proposal by the trustees of the college to request approval of the Convention for a change in the composition of the Board of Trustees and the method of nominating trustees.

4. The General Board received a recommendation of its Committee on Christian Social Services concerning long-range planning beyond 1964, reference to which is found in the recommendations of the Board to the Convention.

5. A further action of the Board, relating to the retirement age for the General Secretary-Treasurer, is to be found in a recommendation from the Board to the Convention.

MEETING OF THE GENERAL BOARD

October 14-15, 1963

The General Board met with a rather extensive schedule of matters to be considered by the 76 members in attendance. Reference to most of the actions will be found in recommendations to be considered by the Convention. Among these are: report of committee to recommend a new General Secretary-Treasurer; provision for providing three new student centers; possible sale of the Baptist properties at 301 Hillsboro Street, Raleigh; provision for "Human Relations Sunday" on February 9, 1964; the recommended budget for 1964; and a matter relating to evangelism in 1964.

Other matters considered by the Board in its October meeting included a cooperative arrangement with the Annuity Board whereby this department of work may receive certain benefits not now provided; along with a brief report of the Executive Committee on its report to be presented to the Convention on tensions between the college and certain elements of the Convention.

RECOMMENDATIONS

1. That Article VI, Section c, of the Constitution of the Convention be amended by adding the following sentence: "Upon election the General Secretary-Treasurer shall hold office for an indefinite time." (This provision was approved by action of the Convention in 1959 but through some error was never included in the printed Constitution of the Convention. See Convention actions recorded in 1959 Annual of the Baptist State Convention, page 85, "F", and page 98, items 60-63; page 170, item 165, last paragraph.)

2. That Article VI, Section c, be further amended by adding at the end of the foregoing sentence above, the words, "with retirement at age 65, his term of service ending on December 31 of the calendar year in which he reaches age 65."

3. That the By-Laws governing the Convention's Nominating Committee in its selection of nominees be amended by changing Article II, Section C, 1, b, to read as follows:

"The Committee shall through its chairman, or other members upon request, invite each agency and institution of the Convention to submit to the Committee in advance of its mid-summer meeting the names of two individuals for each vacancy to occur on their boards, and request that biographical data accompany each name.

"The Committee shall request of associational executive committees that the associations submit the names of at least two lay persons and two ministers for each General Board vacancy to occur at the end of the year, and request that biographical data shall accompany each name. These shall be submitted to the Committee before its mid-summer meeting.

"The Committee shall, through the Biblical Recorder, invite individual Baptists to submit the names of individuals who would be worthy of consideration for positions on the various boards of institutions and agencies and on the General Board, and request that biographical data accompany each suggested name.

"When the Committee meets to do its work it shall give careful consideration to those who have been recommended from the various sources indicated above, but will be free to follow its own best judgment in making nominations to the Convention for the boards of the agencies, institutions and the General Board."

4. That the matter concerning a "Church Personnel Service," referred from the 1962 Convention (see page 159 of the 1962 Annual) to the Convention of 1963 be further referred to the Convention of 1964 in order that the new General Secretary-Treasurer may give further study.

5. That the Convention's Committee on Committees be asked to name a committee of fifteen members charged with the responsibility to evaluate "... trends in the Christian Education Advance Program and suggest definite plans for procedure after 1964."

Explanation: This recommendation grew out of a recommendation from the Committee on Christian Social Services in the summer meeting of the General Board, July 9-10, 1963. Following discussion of the recommendation the Board adopted a motion "that the entire matter be referred to the Executive Committee for study before any recommendation is made by this (General) Board as to what persons and what institutions should be represented on this committee, and that the Executive Committee bring a report at a later date to the Board." The matter was further considered by the Executive Committee in its meetings in August and September.

In its meeting on September 10, 1963, the Executive Committee recommended "that the Convention's Committee on Committees be asked to name the recommended committee at the forthcoming session of the State Convention." (See Minutes of the General Board and Executive Committee, pp. 2020-21, 2026, 2029)

6. That the Convention authorize the borrowing of an amount not to exceed $320,000 for the construction of a student center at North Carolina State College of the University of North Carolina at Raleigh, estimated to cost approximately $195,000, and a student center at Western Carolina College, Cullowhee, estimated to cost approximately $125,000, with said borrowings to be negotiated on the best terms possible; and that the Convention approve a lease agreement with the First Baptist Church of Boone, North Carolina, for a student center to be built and equipped in cooperation with the Department of Student Work of the Baptist State Convention of North Carolina.

Explanation: (1) It is understood that the General Board will secure the said loan not to exceed $320,000 under the most favorable terms available and within the ability of the Convention to retire the loan within a period not to exceed ten years. It is hoped that such an arrangement will make it possible for the loan to be retired over a period of years without any undue financial burden on other divisions of the Convention work, and that this action will go a long way toward meeting a real need in providing for more than 3,000 Baptist students now enrolled, with an increasing enrollment from year to year.

(2) It is the opinion of the Department of Student Work and the General Board of the Baptist State Convention that through such a lease arrangement with the First Baptist Church of Boone a student center in Boone can be provided more economically and operated more effectively in making available both week-day and Sunday services for the Baptist students than would be possible under the customary plan such as that provided at North Carolina State College. The details of the lease agreement are to be worked out based upon the total cost involved in building, equipping and operating the facility.

7. That authority be given the General Board to negotiate the sale of the Baptist State Convention property located at 301 Hillsboro Street, Raleigh, and if necessary to proceed with plans to erect a new building on a suitable site.

Explanation: It would seem that the Constitution of the Convention, Article VII, gives this authority to the General Board but the Board would prefer to have the approval of the Convention. The authority would seem to be vested in the following sentence: "The Convention shall have three trustees who shall serve for one year and shall hold title to the property of the Convention and convey and use the same as directed by the Convention or its General Board."

The marked changes in the various properties now surrounding the present location of the Baptist Building seem to make it advisable to give serious consideration to the possibility of selling the present site and securing a more suitable site and a different plan of building. The restricted parking facilities on the present site and the difficulties in attempting to meet this and other problems, would seem to add to the wisdom of such a move. It is believed that the present property can be sold at a substantial sum above the investment and equal facilities provided on a new site with a margin of profit.

8. That Sunday, February 9, 1964, be designated as "Human Relations Sunday" in the hope that such emphasis on this important subject may be given in as many of the churches as possible.

9. That the following resolution be approved:

"Since the Southern Baptist Convention has joined with six other Baptist Conventions on the North American continent in an effort to climax the Baptist Jubilee Advance with a special emphasis on evangelism in 1964; and as this emphasis in the Southern Baptist Convention is to be in the form of a united effort known as Baptist Jubilee Revival or Simultaneous Revival using the district associations as units for the cooperative effort; and because this type of approach among Southern Baptists for the past twenty-five years has been blessed of God in winning more people to Christ than any other method Baptists have used;

"We therefore recommend:

"1. That we reaffirm our faith in the Baptist Jubilee Revival effort as a worthy plan for a united emphasis in evangelism in 1964;

"2. That all churches in the Convention prayerfully consider participation in the effort;

"3. That all messengers to this Convention give themselves to God to be used in the preparation and conduct of the Baptist Jubilee Revival in their churches and associations; and

"4. That all the people in all the churches of the Convention be requested to make the Baptist Jubilee Revival effort a definite object of prayer."

ACTIONS INCIDENT TO THE DEATH OF DR. DOUGLAS M. BRANCH

1. Letter to Mrs. Branch from the Executive Committee dated February 5, 1963:

"Dear Mrs. Branch:

"Words are inadequate to express sympathy to you in the loss of your husband and our friend. To us, he was a noble Christian, a dedicated servant of God and North Carolina Baptists. He was truly one of our finest Christian statesmen. He was our peerless leader.

"Even though our hurt is in no way comparable to yours, we do want you and the children to know that our hearts are also grieved in this loss. We shall ever be grateful for the privilege of knowing, loving, and serving with him.

"We assure you of our abiding admiration for his great contribution to our lives, and to the lives of the people of our state, nation, and world."

2. Adoption of a suggestion carried in the February 9 issue of the Biblical Recorder by establishing a Douglas M. Branch Memorial Fund. (Contributions to this Fund totaling $1,111.06 as of October 31 have been turned over to the widow, Mrs. Douglas M. Branch.)

3. A check representing Dr. Branch's salary for three months, February, March, and April, was paid to Mrs. Branch.

4. Letter received by Executive Committee from Mrs. Douglas M. Branch:

"Dear Members of the Executive Committee:

"Through these days of great sorrow at the Homegoing of Doug, we have been so conscious of the blessings of God and among them we are so grateful for the prayers and concern of you dear friends. We appreciate especially your thoughtfulness in the gift of money, which has given us an added sense of security in these weeks of adjustment.

"Please continue to pray for us as we face the future, and may God bless you all.

Sincerely,

PEGGY BRANCH"

5. Statement prepared by the Denominational Cooperation Subcommittee of the Executive Committee placed on record in memory of Dr. Branch:

IN APPRECIATION OF DR. DOUGLAS M. BRANCH

"North Carolina Baptists have never been so shocked in our day as in the sudden death of Doug Branch." In these words on Sunday, February 3, 1963, the Rev. Nane Starnes, President of the Baptist State Convention of North Carolina, gave expression to the feelings of all who knew and loved Dr. Branch. He was killed in an automobile accident on Friday, February 1, near Ahoskie on his way from Chowan College where he had spoken in the first chapel program of the new semester.

This tragic accident brought to an end his short but significant service as General Secretary-Treasurer of the Baptist State Convention of North Carolina. After some twenty years as a leading pastor and active participant in the affairs of both State and Southern Conventions, he began his duties on July 1, 1959. In these three years and seven months he justified the confidence expressed by his fellow-Baptists in selecting him for their highest position of leadership and service.

As members of the General Board we would in these brief statements record our sense of great loss and seek God's guidance in attempting to carry on to the end that His will may be done in every plan for the future.

The Biblical Recorder in its issue of February 9, 1963, prepared and presented an excellent and very comprehensive account of the life and work of Dr. Branch, and we hope sincerely that our Baptist people will preserve and cherish this material in loving memory of this great leader. Not only in the Baptist press but in all news media in the State and beyond praise and tributes were published. As an example of the many tributes we quote the following editorial from The Charlotte Observer:

"Dr. Douglas Branch was a man with a rare combination of qualities.

"As the highly respected leader of the large and diverse Baptist denomination in North Carolina, Dr. Branch was a master of the spoken word in the pulpit, an able administrator and a man of extreme fairness and wisdom.

"He was tall in a physical sense, every inch a man, and ranked right up with the tallest theologically, educationally and culturally wherever a group of Southern Baptist leaders gathered.

"Reared on a farm in Wake County, he became accustomed to hard work. This habit, combined with his education at Wake Forest, his seminary training and his pastorates at Scotland Neck, Kannapolis and Rocky Mount, fitted him admirably for the leadership of 940,000 Baptists.

"Dr. Branch was one of those few gifted individuals who could command the respect of such a large body and move it ahead in all areas of Christian growth. His influence was readily apparent in the morale at Baptist Building in Raleigh, where the news of his violent death plunged his friends and associates to the gloomiest depths.

"Today, in retrospect, they look back on his life as a triumphant one — a life that favorably influenced all of those with whom he worked and those whom he served."

The entire membership of the General Board would join with its Executive Committee in a statement of sympathy and concern for Mrs. Branch and the children, as recorded in another part of this report.

6. Photograph of Dr. Branch, in keeping with those of former General Secretaries, placed in the Conference Room of the Baptist Building.

1. Pastoral and Lot Assistance

In the Convention year of 1962-63, 140 churches and missions in 53 associations received assistance on pastors' salaries. The total amount invested was $91,810. Many of these churches and missions are new, having developed as a part of the 30,000 Movement. One of the great values of this investment lies in the future potential of these churches for advancing the Kingdom of God.

Another primary mission work closely connected with pastoral assistance is aid on the purchase of church lots. An investment of $42,000 was made in this very necessary ministry. Thirty-three different churches and missions were aided in securing land on which to build.

CHURCH LOAN FUND

Three years ago the Convention established a Loan Fund to be used by new missions and churches that find it difficult to secure commercial loans. Twenty-seven thousand and five hundred dollars were loaned to churches during the year. These loans are to be repaid on an established basis. Repayments plus annual budget appropriations will go into the corpus of this fund. It is expected that in this way the loan fund will eventually be capable of handling large church loans where suitable commercial loans are unobtainable.

2. Associational Missions

There are 80 district associations in North Carolina. Sixty-eight of these are served by 65 missionaries. The Convention invested $64,000 in this growing phase of our denominational work in 57 associations.

The associational program is vital to the promotion and strengthening of our total Baptist work in State and Southern Baptist Conventions. This program is the basic unit of co-operative endeavor among Baptists.

The associational missionaries are well organized and have a fine group of officers. They are functioning in committee groups for research purposes, the result of which will open up areas of opportunity and development hitherto untouched.

In January, 1960, this program became co-operatively a part of the Division of Missions of the Convention. The General Board has a sub-committee that serves as the Committee on Association and Convention Co-operation.

The associational missionaries conduct annually a five-days' conference. During the conference, areas of mutual concern are explored, new programs and plans are discussed, and a closer bond is established between associational missionaries and Convention personnel. The work of the Associational Missionary is of growing significance.

3. Schools of Missions

Ten weeks of Schools of Missions were promoted in 1963. They were association-wide in scope. The large number of missionaries serving in these Schools came from all over the world and represented all phases of Stewardship and Missions; City, Associational, State, Home and Foreign.

A total of 263 churches participated. Several hundred mission classes for age groups were conducted.

Over 100,000 people attended these Schools.

The purpose of Schools of Missions is to stimulate soul-winning, encourage every church to organize a mission or missions, to inspire definite and concerted prayer for missions, to increase financial support of missions, and to secure decisions for life commitment.

4. 30,000 Movement

"A mission is anywhere one or more persons are sent from the local church or churches to preach or teach the gospel." North Carolina Baptist churches and associations are definitely moving together in co-operation with the Convention in this mighty missionary endeavor.

Since the beginning of the 30,000 Movement among Southern Baptists in 1956, 791 churches and missions have been established in North Carolina. The goal for 1963 is 120. It appears that we will exceed it.

The major emphasis during 1963 has been on "World Missions." Reaching the unreached through new churches and missions constitutes our greatest evangelistic opportunity. This Mission movement will reach its climax in 1964. "Reaching the goal is not of prime importance, but reaching the people and building churches is crucial to Christianity's existence."

5. Special Ministries

a. WORK WITH JAPANESE

BY KIYOSHI TANIGAWA

The Japanese Mission work in North Carolina has made considerable progress this year, thanks to the cooperative efforts of many different individuals and groups. The work has been carried on in two different fields: Cherry Point and Ft. Bragg-Spring Lake area. At Cherry Point, the Japanese class has increased in attendance. This is the result of the assistance given the visitation program by the Cherry Point Baptist Church and its Japanese Committee.

My schedule at Cherry Point has been, and remains, as follows: Saturday morning — Phone calls inviting the Japanese ladies to attend the class on Sunday. Saturday afternoon — Visits to the new arrivals. Sunday morning — Teaching the Bible to the Japanese class, held at the Cherry Point Church. Three members were baptized.

The classes at Ft. Bragg-Spring Lake have also grown. The one at Spring Lake, First Baptist Church has increased from 10 to 15 members; the one at Bonnie Doone Baptist Church of Fayetteville from six to 10. Four members have been baptized. At Spring Lake, ten children of the Japanese wives are in the Nursery at Bonnie Doone, 15.

My schedule at Ft. Bragg-Spring Lake follows: Saturday morning — Phone calls to the Japanese ladies. Saturday afternoon — Teaching the class at Spring Lake. Sunday morning — Teaching the class at Bonnie Doone.

Living Water, a Japanese newspaper, begun last year by Satoshi Hayakawa, has been continued. Some 800 copies of the eight-page summer issue were circulated to Japanese wives in North Carolina, South Carolina, Maryland, California, Florida and Mississippi. An English edition was also prepared to publicize the work among the pastors and other church workers in the state. A winter issue is now being prepared. Southeastern Baptist Seminary publishes the paper.

I have spoken to many churches in North Carolina, reporting my work. It has been my joy and privilege to be a part of the team responsible for the progress of this ministry, and has been a pleasure to help present Christ to the Japanese ladies and their families.

b. SUMMER MINISTRIES

In cooperation with the Cullom, Chowan and the associations in Region Ten, the Division of Missions sponsored work in:

Kerr Lake Area — where tens of thousands of campers come every week-end and many remain throughout the week.

Outer Banks — where for a distance of 80 miles we have no Baptist Church. During the summer, 500,000 people come to this area from all parts of the nation.

George Truett Camp — Hayesville — The George W. Truett Baptist Camp is becoming generally known as a Baptist center for the churches and associations in Western North Carolina. During the camping season this year, a total of 194 boys and girls, with their counselors, were enrolled in the camping program. There were 463 other people from the area who attended various programs and activities at the Camp during the year. The program during the camping season was improved greatly this year by the help of four dedicated Baptist college students. This additional help in the ministry of the Camp was made possible by the Baptist State Convention. This year there were 12 boys and girls who made professions of faith in Christ, and the majority of those attending made a more complete committal of their lives to Christian service. The need for evangelism and training is great in this section of North Carolina. The George W. Truett Camp is making a significant contribution through the Christian ministries and activities which it sponsors and provides.

C. NORTH DAKOTA WORK

ALBERT LAMM, Area Missionary

Words are inadequate to express the joy of serving as Supt. of Area Missions during the past year. I have never worked with a more congenial group of pastors and people than those here in North Dakota with whom I have been associated. Your spirit of love and cooperation has also been observed by those from other states who have visited and assisted in our work here.

The past year has been one of progress and growth in many ways. We have not, however, constituted any new Churches, but the Churches and Missions we have have been strengthened, and they show signs of real progress as we face this new associational year.

These are some of the accomplishments made last year: Devils Lake Mission built their first building last July and August, and began their services in it the first of this month. North Hill Church entered the second unit of their building program last December, and started a new mission the past summer. The First Baptist Church of Watford City began operating on a full time program back in July. All of the Churches have reported gains in membership over the previous year for which we are glad.

Five new pastors have come to our state during the past year. They are as follows: Rev. Mannon Wallace, Mandan; Rev. Joe H. Rigsby, Dickinson; Rev. Bob Bundick, Emerado; Rev. Bill Walters, Fargo, and Rev. Bob Paquette, officer at the A. F. Base near Grand Forks who is serving as pastor of the Finley Mission. The coming of these men to the Churches and Missions has lifted a great burden from my heart, and we believe their coming has been an answer to the many prayers of the people of these Churches and Missions.

My many thanks go to North Carolina Baptists for making my coming to North Dakota possible. Actually, they are paying most of my salary, and giving encouragement to me which again proves that God was leading in my coming to work among you here in this pioneer area. Furthermore, they are providing my transportation to North Carolina in November in order that I might make a progress report before the Baptist State Convention.

The following will give some idea of my stewardship since mid-Sept. last year when I came to North Dakota. I have been on the field 345 days, driven 46,298 miles, visited 155 Churches and Missions, held one revival, conducted and/or attended 217 conferences — (85 group, and 131 individual), preached 87 sermons and addresses, and made 75 soul-winning and other religious visits, not counting visits to families and others in a general nature.

During the services when I have preached, both in and out of North Dakota, 87 public decisions were made. Nineteen of these decisions were on profession of faith, for baptism, by letter, and for special life service and vocation.

6. Institutional Ministries

a. MCCAIN TUBERCULOSIS SANATORIUM

LEE PRIDGEN, Interim Baptist Visitor and Counselor

Ministry to those "sick and in Prison" in the McCain Tuberculosis Prison Unit was begun by R. D. Spear Jr. while he pastored the First Baptist Church of Aberdeen. Recently upon his resigning and removing to another pastorate the work was assumed by us in connection with our Missionary work in the Sandhills Association. Our Association is definitely concerned about all the missionary opportunities in our Area, and appreciates the support and co-operation of the Baptist State Convention in meeting the various Institutional needs in our midst.

The 80 or 90 inmates of this prison unit (a part of the North Carolina Prison System) welcome special services, personal contacts and counseling. One must remember that herein are men and women both in prison and sick. Time hangs on their hands . . . and visitation by the Minister is a bright hour during the day.

a. MCCAIN TUBERCULOSIS SANATORIUM

C. R. EDWARDS, Baptist Visitor

It has been a joy and a privilege for me to work with the patients at McCain during the past year. My constant visits with them have served to let them know that they are not completely shut-off from the world. Many of them feel that their families have brought them there to die since they seldom visit them. My presence and council say to them that the Church cares.

The patients wish me to express to the Baptist State Convention appreciation for this service.

b. SAMARCAND MANOR INDUSTRIAL SCHOOL FOR GIRLS

ERNEST POSTON, Baptist Chaplain

Samarcand Manor provides a beautiful campus, comfortable cottages, and excellent educational and training facilities to help reclaim young lives for responsible and useful citizenship. In addition, the girls are given spiritual guidance through the ministry of several denominations.

North Carolina Baptists bear their witness to these girls by enabling me to serve as Baptist chaplain.

I preach every third Sunday and hold counseling sessions with the girls twice each month. This past year I have held personal conferences with 33 girls. Seven girls have placed their trust in Christ as Saviour.

I am thankful to have a part in this vital ministry and request your continued prayers as you help to make it possible.

C. LEONARD TRAINING SCHOOL

LEE PRIDGEN, Baptist Visitor and Counselor

For about three years now we have represented North Carolina Baptists as Visitor and Counselor at Leonard Training School in Hoke County. Located close by McCain Tuberculosis Sanitorium this school is a State Correctional Institution for Intermediate Negro boys, the enrollment averaging about 240 and the faculty and Staff numbering 35 to 40.

It is our privilege to aid in planning — and in conducting at least one ourself each month — a Sunday afternoon worship service. What a privilege and opportunity! The large auditorium is filled with these youngsters, members of the faculty and staff, and visitors from all over the state. To meet the challenge the minister must rise to his best. The words of the Master "Inasmuch as ye did it unto the least of these" . . . come alive and fresh as one tries to present the Saviour.

Periodic visits are made to the school during the week for personal contacts and counseling. The boys always want to talk to the minister about their problems. A close association with the staff and administration is kept in order that our ministry might be most useful and effective.

We are constantly having professions of faith, rededications. Those who are ready for Baptism are steered into the church of their choice.

7. Department of Interracial Cooperation

W. R. GRIGG, Secretary

This year has been one of individual and church growth in awareness of the social revolution of which we are all a part. It has been a year of soul-searching for answers at least to one question, "How can we through our churches accomplish the mission of the church?" As never before we have been made to see how far short we have fallen in the accomplishment of the ideals of the New Testament Church in our time. We see clearly that the Christian churches are for everyone or they are for none. Such makes for deep frustration by all of us who are parties of and to a segregated cultural pattern and tradition. Hope and optimism are present because of a decided increase in the number of Christians who are willing to accept the responsibility of searching for the answers to eliminate the evil among us.

This hope and optimism is created and fortified by increased attendance of all cooperative meetings promoted by this department such as: (1) Annual meetings of the State Conventions; (2) School of Christian Studies and Fellowship; (3) Retreat at Mars Hill College; (4) Ministers' Institute at Shaw University; (5) World Missions, Music, Sunday School, Boys' and Girls' Camp, and other weeks of emphases at North Carolina Baptist Assembly at Southport; (6) Increase of number of Baptist Schools now open to Negroes — (in addition to Shaw University, which has always been open to all) now there are Wake Forest, Mars Hill, Meredith, and Gardner-Webb College — others will follow; (7) Churches open to all people for worship and fellowship; (8) Human Relations Conferences; and (9) Participation in work of Council on Religion and Race.

Over these things we rejoice but at the same moment we are saddened that in so many areas there has been increased suffering, persecution, and death at the hands of those who refuse to accept the Christian concept and ideal concerning human relations. We extend our sympathy and prayers on behalf of persecuted and persecutor.

Only one new worker has been added during the year. Dr. Colbert H. Pearson has succeeded the Reverend Robert B. Hooper as Professor of Philosophy and Religion at Shaw University. We had the largest group of students doing Vacation Bible School work during the summer that we have had any time prior to this. These fourteen people participated in ninety (90) schools which reported an enrollment of 8,947 with 523 professions of faith and 770 dedications to a life of Christian service.

Through a church survey made of the churches cooperating with the General Baptist State Convention for the year 1961 in which information was gathered from about 80 per cent of total number of churches, the following information was obtained: There were 646 one-Sunday-per-month churches, 462 two-Sunday-churches, and 234 full-time churches for a total of 1,416 churches.*

It was also revealed that these churches had a membership of 253,956; a Sunday School enrollment of 101,907; Training Union enrollment of 20,367; 33,547 enrolled in Women's Work; 16,439 enrolled in Mens' work; 5,951 enrolled in Boys' work; and 8,117 in Girls' work. Twelve hundred and seventy (1,270) churches conducted 1,498 Revivals and 1,170 churches baptized 11,803 people that year. It was found also that only 122 churches owned homes for their pastors while only 220 pastors lived on their church fields.

Continuing gratitude is hereby expressed for each person, pastor,

* In order to secure the more approximate actual total of churches that cooperate through the General Baptist State Convention one would need to add 20 per cent. This for example, would mean that there are as many as 1,760 churches in the state church, association, and Convention employee who has made any kind of contribution toward the accomplishment of the universal task of helping people to become more like God through faith in Jesus Christ.

There is still an urgent need for each church and each district association to have an active committee on Interracial Cooperation. Such a committee could lead in a creative study of the needs of the community for better race relations. Clinics and workshops on what is Christian and how to attain the Christian ideal in race relations should be fostered and conducted by such committees in local churches and throughout the area of the district association.

The problems and the needs are not going away. It is up to the churches to solve them now to the glory of God and the benefit of all people.

8. Department of Deaf Missions

JERRY F. POTTER, Missionary

NEAL L. PEYTON, Associate

Interest in the spiritual welfare of the deaf people of N. C. is growing every day and in every way. Our television ministry to the deaf now reaches into ten states on the east coast. Here is probably the greatest return on such a small investment that we North Carolina Baptists have ever made. At no extra cost, we are reaching not only every corner of our own state, but into the surrounding states as well.

New classes for deaf people are being started in churches in North Carolina each year. Preliminary steps have been taken this year to start Sunday school classes for the deaf in Hickory and Wilson. Wilson is soon to become a strategic area in the deaf ministry as the new school for the deaf is to be opened there next year. The number of deaf people in that area should grow tremendously in the next few years.

Your two missionaries, Jerry F. Potter and Neal L. Peyton, in addition to ministering to the deaf in church services and through television, also teach sign language, speak to hearing churches and other groups. Counselling for the deaf or anyone associated with the deaf is also provided.

Our purpose is to win the deaf people to Jesus and then help them grow in spiritual knowledge. To this end the modern means of television, the airplane, motion pictures, and every other means available will continue to be used.

9. Church Development Department

ERNEST C. UPCHURCH, Secretary

The Church Development Department offers guidance in church organization, church administration and church development. The department secretary also directs a joint effort of the local church, the association and the State Convention called the Long Range Program of Spiritual Advance. This program is now in progress in two regions of our State and another region is being planned for 1964.

The General Board's employment of an associate, as of January 1, 1963, has enabled the Department to render more service in the field of survey activity. Even with this additional worker we have had more requests this year than we have been able to answer.

The Department was able to enlarge its ministry of mission center work by participating with the First Baptist Church of Winston-Salem, the Pilot Mountain Baptist Association and the Home Mission Board in joint sponsorship of the Patterson Avenue Mission Center in Winston-Salem. Miss Clara Nix, recent graduate of Southwestern Baptist Theological Seminary, was called to this work as director of week-day activities in June of this year. Miss Nix has had a very successful beginning in this work.

Another jointly promoted mission center ministry is conducted in co-operation with the Home Mission Board and the Dan Valley Baptist Association. Miss Dorothy Milam, director of the Dan Valley Mission Center in Spray, has served well in this work for over two years.

Other requests for assistance in the week-day mission center programs have been received this year, but we have not been able to assist them due to a lack of funds and mission center personnel.

During the year the department secretary has co-operated with the Church Administration Department of the Baptist Sunday School Board in the development of a local church long-range planning service. This program is designed to assist churches in making ten-year, long-range plans for their total program. The department secretary attended a week of orientation along with fifteen other consultants from all Southern Baptist Convention states sharing in this program held in Nashville, Tennessee, in January. He has directed four of our North Carolina churches in this research program this year. Each program required thirty-five weeks of working time. The Church Administration Department of the Baptist Sunday School Board is compiling these results to feed back to our churches throughout the Southern Baptist Convention.

Since July of 1963 this Department has been requested to assume responsibility, within the framework of the department, for administering pastoral aid beginning in January, 1964. The latter months of this year have been spent in preparation for this new phase of work.

The Church Achievement Ministry has been revised and strengthened this year to include a new program in this field jointly promoted with the Home Mission Board of the Southern Baptist Convention. Many churches have found this to be a stimulating experience in growth and development.

Other ministries of missions rendered by this Department during the past year were:

1. Serving as the research and diagnostic arm of new and under-developed churches.

2. Assisting churches and associations in conducting comprehensive church community surveys and special studies.

3. Developing manuals and other aids for training persons to take surveys and do other related work.

4. Serving as the North Carolina representative in directing the following ministries jointly sponsored by the Home Mission Board:

- A. Associational Missions Ministries including the Church Achievement Ministry and In-Service Training. This included a week spent in the first southwide missionaries workshop in Gulf-shore, Mississippi.

- b. Survey and Special Studies Ministry.

- c. City Missions Ministries including the general supervision of mission center work, Jewish work, Juvenile Rehabilitation work and Catholic information.

5. Counseling with churches and pastors on matters of church administration and development.

6. Assisting the Convention, upon request, in denominational and cooperative mission endeavors.

Our stewardship of service includes:

1. 358 days spent on the field
2. 45,199 miles traveled
3. 231 churches visited
4. 164 associations served
5. 165 sermons and addresses delivered
6. 167 conferences with individuals
7. 179 conferences with groups and/or committees
8. 110 surveys directed

We count it a privilege to serve with North Carolina Baptists in this co-operative ministry for our Lord.

TED W. WILLIAMS, Associate

As Associate Secretary of the Church Development Department it is a great privilege to be a part of what God is doing through the Baptist State Convention of North Carolina. It has been a very rewarding experience during the past year to work with fellow Baptists of the State and observe their wonderful spirit of Christian co-operation.

The Church Development Department continues to serve the churches of the Convention in a supportive ministry. It is our purpose to assist churches as they continue to grow and develop as channels through which God's kingdom is extended to the ends of the earth.

We ask that you write us when there is a service we can render. We urge that you pray with us as we dedicate ourselves anew to the task.

Dan Valley Mission Center, Spray, North Carolina

DOROTHY RUTH MILAM, Director

God has richly blessed the Mission Center this year. The ministry of the week-day program has made vast impressions and improvements in community and individual life. Our enrollment in all activities from family service to Bible-centered, character-building club activities is one hundred sixty-eight. We have club activities after school for the grade-school boys and girls, junior and senior high girls, pre-school kindergarten, kindergarten mothers' club and a club for eighteen boys and girls in a special education class.

April 28, 1963, marked the beginning of the Stanford Baptist Chapel Sunday School that grew out of the week-day program at the Mission Center. Since January five teenagers have been baptized by the sponsoring church, First Baptist Church of Leaksville.

Summer camp activities, as sponsored by the Mission, proved to be a special blessing with nine girls accepting Christ as their personal Saviour and seven girls dedicating their lives to follow God's will for their lives.

The social ministry in the provision of clothes and other items to meet human needs proved to be a blessing also. Many responded to this act of love.

The unique ministry of the Mission Center week-day program gives all North Carolina Baptists an opportunity to be a part of a great work as each person gives through tithes and offerings to the Cooperative Program and the special State and Home Mission offerings.

The Mission Center at Spray is promoted by the Church Development Department of the Baptist State Convention, the Home Mission Board of the Southern Baptist Convention and the Dan Valley Baptist Association.

CHURCH DEVELOPMENT DEPARTMENT

Patterson Avenue Mission Center, Winston-Salem, North Carolina

CLARA NIX, Director of Week-day Activities

We rejoice in the progress being made in the week-day program at Patterson Avenue Mission Center in Winston-Salem. My approach to this ministry has been to first become acquainted with the people.

In our summer schedule we set up an organizational structure, took a community survey, conducted a Vacation Bible School, sent some children to camp and provided some activities at the Center for all age groups.

Our fall program began in September. It includes Sunday School, evening worship service, prayer meeting, Royal Ambassadors, Girls' Auxiliary, Bible clubs for various age groups, study halls, kindergarten, family recreation night, clothing sales and relief work.

The Mission Center is one medium through which we work to reach the inner city for Christ. Through the Mission Center many people who would never attend our churches are reached. Truly the field is "white unto harvest."

This work is a cooperative effort of First Baptist Church of Winston-Salem, Pilot Mountain Baptist Association, the Church Development Department of the Baptist State Convention and the Home Mission Board of the Southern Baptist Convention.

10. Fruitland Baptist Bible Institute

FRITZ D. HEMPHILL, Director

Fruitland Baptist Bible Institute is now well into the 18th year of her existence with a student enrolment of over 150 men from this and surrounding states. For the first time in our history every class is divided into two sections for teaching purposes. This means that at any given class period 6 professors are teaching simultaneously. All available class room space is being used. One addition was made to our faculty this year bringing the total to nine men. Those serving are: John H. Bowden, W. G. Camp, L. W. Cain, Clifford C. Crowe, Woodrow Flynn, Robert P. Hamby, John F. Rymer, J. L. Jenkins and Fritz D. Hemphill. Mr. Flynn and Mr. Crowe are new to the faculty this year. It is interesting to note that Dr. Jenkins has been with the school since it started in 1946. God has richly blessed his ministry here.

We are continuing to make improvements and additions to our facilities as time and means permit. We are fortunate to have J. M. Huggins as Superintendent of Building and Grounds and he has led in the erection of a duplex apartment that is now being used by our students and he has another under construction. Additional improvements will be made during the year. Mrs. Mabel Holmes, our Dietitian, has a fine staff of help in the kitchen and dining room and is doing a good job in that department. Miss Ellen Daniel came to us this year as Registrar and Secretary and is fitting in well. The work of the school is showing progress and the influence is continuing to be felt all over our state. We can praise God for guiding the men who led in the founding of this fine school that is filling an acute need in the life of the ministers of our state.

11. Seminary Extension Work, Region 10

ROY J. SMITH, Director and Associate in Missions

Seminary Extension work in Region 10 is an effort jointly sponsored by the Baptist State Convention of North Carolina, the Home Mission Board of the Southern Baptist Convention and the Seminary Extension Department of the Southern Baptist Convention. The purpose of this effort is to provide in service training for pastors and lay people from the 240 churches in Region 10.

During the past year eleven centers were operated in Region 10. Five of these were white, five Negro, and one center was located on the Cherokee Indian Reservation. The white centers were located in Sylva, Franklin, Robbinsville, Murphy and the Macedonia Baptist Church in the West Liberty Association. The Negro centers were located in Sylva, Bryson City, Franklin, Murphy, and Hayesville. The center in Cherokee was located in the Mission Church located in the Cherokee village.

Fifty-five pastors and 177 lay people were enrolled in 308 courses. The following courses were studied: New Testament, Old Testament, Religious Education, Pastoral Ministries, Christian Theology, and Evangelism.

A Seminary Extension Workshop was held September 26, at the First Baptist Church, Sylva. Teachers, Directors, and Registrar-Treasurers from each center were present. Dr. W. D. Weatherford, Rev. Ben Fisher, Rev. Cline Borders, Associate Director of Seminary Extension, Rev. John Scaff, Rev. Colon Godwin, Rev. Larry Bryson, Rev. James Lambert, Mrs. E. W. Fisher, and the Director had part on the program. We feel that this Workshop provided genuine impetus for our work this coming year.

At the present eleven centers are organized and under operation. Plans have been made to open three other centers in the early part of 1964. Two centers, the Sylva and the Cherokee, are offering Leadership courses in WMU in addition to the regular Seminary Extension courses.

The "Learning to Read" classes have been re-activated. At present one class is being conducted at Cherokee, under the direction of Missionary Boyd Horton. Other classes will be opened in the near future.

A summary of the Director's reports show the following statistics. Participated in 4 revivals, 1 School of Missions, attended 9 Annual Associational meetings, visited 159 churches and taught full time in three Seminary Extension centers.

The response to this work continues to gratify and encourage. We pray for God's blessings upon us as we begin another year of study.

12. Cherokee Indian Ministry

LARRY BRYSON, J. BOYD HORTON

Basically this has been a year of study and reappraisal of the Baptist Ministry on the Cherokee Indian Reservation. The ministry at Cherokee has been given a hard, factual look and, as a result, some definite long range plans have been formulated. So far, two major programs have been projected: (1) The expansion of the educational facilities of the Cherokee Baptist Church, and (2) The opening on December 1, 1963 of the Cherokee Baptist Child Care Center at the Cherokee Baptist Church.

The study has also uncovered the needs for an expanded ministry in other areas. Consideration is now being given to the establishment of a Cherokee Baptist Missions Center. Through this center the Seminary Extension Ministry would be expanded and an adult Education Program, a Cherokee Baptist Boys Club and Girls Club, a Kindergarten, and a Week-Day Ministry would be established.

As a result of this year of study and out of a projected ministry we hope to bring Jesus Christ and the people at Cherokee into a closer relationship.

13. Military Personnel Ministry

J. NED BEATTY, Visitor

The Military Personnel Ministry — now in its second year is a cooperative Ministry with the Home Mission Board, Baptist State Convention of North Carolina and the New South River Baptist Association.

The duties of the Military Personnel Visitor are to relate the Military family to the Baptist Churches in the area. He will co-ordinate his activities with the chaplaincy of the post, visit in the homes, enlist churches to provide a ministry to the military and hold Vacation Bible Schools in the trailer courts and other areas where needed. The late Dr. Douglas M. Branch wrote to Chaplain Thomas Q. Whitmire, "Captain Beatty's presence there is in no sense to be identified with the work of the Military Chaplains on the Post. He is simply there to assist local churches in securing information about Baptist and unaffiliated families who live in the area."

The Military Personnel Visitor is grateful to God for His continued blessing upon our labors and to Dr. E. L. Spivey and fellow convention co-laborers for the wonderful cooperation during this year. I am grateful to the New South River Baptist Association, Hoyle Langford, Moderator; Charles Stevens, Missionary; to the pastors and churches for their increasing interest in our work and to Chaplain Thomas Whitmire and the chaplaincy on the post for their cordiality, understanding, and cooperation.

We regret that it has been impossible to assist every request this year. We are still in the process of trying to understand just how we can best carry out our mission.

It seems to me that the work among the Military of North Carolina is growing in stature, and it is our prayer that we may soon have Military Visitors at Jacksonville, Havelock and Goldsboro. Our Military Personnel are going into at least twenty countries where our Foreign Mission Board does not have missionaries as well as into all countries where our Missionaries serve.

We were able to help in planning and co-ordinating 30 Mission Vacation Bible Schools and still did not get into all the places where a school was needed, however we are grateful to God for these we have had and for the children and adults we were able to reach. Our goal for 1964 is 40 Mission Vacation Bible Schools.

In the Fayetteville-Fort Bragg Area, we need a Baptist Military Center to provide significant means for involving single Military men in Christian growth. It could serve as a facility for church-related endeavor to assist the local churches in meeting the needs of our Young Military Men.

This has been truly a most wonderful year. It has taken us into almost every part of our state. Other statistics show the following:

1. Spent 312 days on the field
2. Traveled 17,333 miles on the field
3. Visited 61 churches
4. Delivered 81 sermons and addresses
5. Conducted 23 Prayer Meetings
6. Taught 42 classes
7. Made 778 Religious Visits
8. Made 142 Personal Evangelism Visits
9. Distributed 148 Bibles and 4,300 tracts
10. Helped plan and co-ordinate 30 Mission V. B. S.
11. Helped plan and co-ordinate work of Japanese Missionary
12. Helped plan and co-ordinate 8 community surveys
13. Professions of Faith—67
14. Additions by Letter—33
15. Rededications—85
16. Life dedications—4
17. As a result of Bible Schools 2 new Missions began

To God we give thanks for the high privilege of serving with North Carolina Baptists as we pioneer this Military Visitor work for Him. We dedicate anew ourselves and request your prayers that we may be equal to the task.

C. DIVISION OF EVANGELISM

JULIAN S. HOPKINS, Director

The task assigned to the Division of Evangelism is summed up in the bylaws of the Convention in this statement: “—to work closely with the General Secretary in the effort to place evangelism in the forefront of the total Convention program.” We are keenly conscious of the fact that we have not reached this high and worthy objective, but we have endeavored to move in that direction. Our Acting General Secretary-Treasurer, Claude F. Gaddy, has been very helpful in this work during the year, for which we are thankful to him and grateful to God for his excellent leadership.

Below we briefly state some of the activities in which we have been engaged during the year. However, we believe the most meaningful things that have taken place in the work of this Division cannot be put into words.

EXPLORATORY CONFERENCE

A follow-up to the Exploratory Conference held in 1962 was conducted in Greensboro at Eller Memorial Baptist Church on January 24-25, 1963. Sixty-two leaders in evangelism from across the state attended this meeting. Many hours were spent in prayer, study of our program of evangelism and consultation as to what should be our approach in the work of evangelism in the churches and associations in North Carolina beyond the special emphasis in 1964.

STATE-WIDE CONFERENCE

The seventeenth annual State-wide Conference on Evangelism was held in the building of the First Baptist Church, Greensboro, February 11-13, 1963. The attendance exceeded 2,000. The theme for the conference was, BASIC EVANGELISM. Speakers for the conference were: Kenneth L. Chafin, Professor of Evangelism, Southwestern Baptist Theological Seminary, Fort Worth, Texas; Sam O'Neal, Training Union Associational Worker, Baptist State Convention of North Carolina; Herman Ihley, Secretary, Sunday School Department, Baptist State Convention of North Carolina; James Morgan, Secretary, Training Union Department, Baptist State Convention of North Carolina; W. R. Grigg, Secretary, Department of Interracial Cooperation, Baptist State Convention of North Carolina; Luther Copeland, Professor of Missions, Southeastern Baptist Theological Seminary, Wake Forest; C. E. Autrey, Director, Division of Evangelism of the Home Mission Board; Randolph Gregory, Pastor, First Baptist Church, Wilmington; Earl L. Harrison, Pastor, Shiloh Baptist Church, Washington, D. C.; Wilson Padgett, Pastor, Eastside Baptist Church, Shelby.

STATE-WIDE LEADERSHIP CLINIC

On September 24, 1963 one-hundred and seventy leaders in evangelism from the associations across the state met in the building of the Lexington Avenue Baptist Church in High Point to pray, study and consider ways and means under God for making the most effective efforts possible in the preparation and the conduct of the Baptist Jubilee Revivals which have been planned by Southern Baptists as a climax for the five years of Baptist Jubilee Advance. The dates for the crusades are March 8-22 and March 29-April 12, 1964. In North Carolina the first date is for the southern part of the state and the second date is for the northern and western parts of the state.

Dr. Eual Lawson, Associate Director of the Division of Evangelism of the Home Mission Board of the Southern Baptist Convention, was the featured speaker and consultant in the meeting at High Point. This meeting seemed to strike a deep note of concern in the hearts of all and sent us back to our tasks with new light and a yearning in our hearts to be used of God in reaching the people in North Carolina for Jesus Christ. All appeared to be made more keenly aware of the need for spiritual revival in the churches and went away in the hope God might use them in bringing such to pass. We do not want to be too optimistic but we firmly believe that because of this meeting more people will be won to Jesus Christ in 1964 than would have been won had it not been held.

ORGANIZATIONS IN THE CHURCHES

It is our judgment that Sunday School, Training Union, Brotherhood and W.M.U. forces are doing more now in producing effective literature on evangelism and in giving primacy to soul-winning than ever. The Division of Evangelism rejoices in this and endeavors at all times to strengthen the work of evangelism in the churches and associations by using these organizations.

SPIRITUAL GROWTH

New Testament evangelism does not end with winning people to Jesus Christ. It must help the new Christian to grow in knowledge of the Lord Jesus and to become a wholehearted participant in God's purpose for him on this earth. This Division continuously works toward this end in all its plans and efforts.

SPIRITUAL REVIVAL

The staff of the Division of Evangelism is convinced that the outstanding need in the churches today is to experience genuine spiritual revivals and that the greatest need in the world today is to experience a great spiritual awakening. Because of this conviction much prayer, study, thought and effort is being expended toward this objective — at least we believe it is toward this objective. It is our hope that the Baptist Jubilee Revival effort in 1964 may at least bring us nearer such an awakening. We believe that a remnant of God's people are already experiencing new depths of spiritual life and greater evidences of the leadership of the Holy Spirit in their lives.

PERSONAL EVANGELISM

GARY HARTHCOCK, Associate

The needs in the lives of people are as numerous as the specks of dust in the air. In your own life at this moment there are needs, some of which may have you discouraged, defeated and ineffective even though you are a child of God.

This situation of facing needs in the lives of His children is not new to God. He is able to meet your needs whatever those needs may be. Have you believed what He says in Jeremiah 32:17 or Isaiah 40:31? Do you take with you daily the promise He gives you in Proverbs 3:5-6?

A tragic disclosure that is coming into the open is that most Baptist men, women, boys and girls do not know the Scriptures or the Saviour in a way that gives them personal help. The Gospel or Good News of Christ makes it clear that Jesus has been set apart to "preach the Gospel to the poor, to heal the brokenhearted, to preach deliverance to the captives, and recovering of sight to the blind, to set at liberty them that are bruised, to preach the acceptable year of the Lord, to seek and to save that which was lost" (Luke 4:18-19, 19:10). Personal prayer and personal searching of the Scriptures with a desire to obey God are the things that lead us to know Him and to help others to know Him. To know Him is to have His presence and power within us.

Our vision for personal evangelism and indeed, all of evangelism in North Carolina is that pastors can strengthen the faith and obedience of Christians in their charge. Every pastor can have a direct hand in "building discipleship" in his own church. What is there to prevent a pastor from designating part of his daily schedule to teaching small groups to pray, to feed their own souls on the Word of God, to unfold the riches of the Scriptures to others, and to be as fingers of light reaching into darkened souls with the Gospel? The work and the workers in the area of evangelism in North Carolina are committed and dedicated to this vision and the giving of time, energy, and talent to help the vision become a reality in every church.

D. DIVISION OF CHURCH PROGRAMS

1. Sunday School Department

HERMAN IHLEY, Secretary

In our time there are those persons who want to remove God completely from our national life. These so-called "free thinkers" are working to have the words "under God" stricken from the pledge of allegiance to the flag of the United States. They want "In God we trust" removed from our coins. In fact, all religious relationships — Chaplains in the armed forces, the President's taking the oath of office with his hand on the Bible, prayers, Scripture reading, and Christmas programs in the public schools — all are destined to disappear if members of the minority have their way.

With such aggressive atheistic activities and in view of the many millions not yet reached for Bible study, the responsibility of the Sunday Schools is greater than ever before to reach all prospects for the church, to teach the Biblical revelation, to lead all members to worship and witness daily, to provide opportunities for personal ministries, to interpret the work of the church and denomination, and to provide workers for various projects. The performance of these tasks will enable the churches to fulfill their basic functions of worship, proclamation, education, and ministry.

The year 1962-63 has been one of innovations for the department — an Adult Workers' Institute, a workshop for superintendents and pastors, Vacation Bible Schools and Bible classes for children of migrant workers in the Hendersonville area, conferences for Intermediates, Junior, Primary, Beginner and Nursery leadership in conjunction with the associational pastor-led enlargement campaigns, emphasis upon the associational Sunday School witnessing program, and training classes for teachers in associational training schools.

We are continuing to give priority to the Long Range Program of Spiritual Advance. This year we have been in Region 5.

We cooperated with the Training Union and Church Music departments, the Education and Music directors, and Southeastern Seminary in promoting the Religious Education and Music Workshop conducted in January at Southeastern Seminary.

Staff members and approved workers participated in training sessions for Sunday School workers at Fort Bragg and Seymour

Johnson Air Base. These were wonderful opportunities to share new materials, techniques, and procedures.

Our department personnel have served on faculties in neighboring states, schools of missions, revivals, related projects promoted by other departments, Ridgecrest Sunday School weeks, and pulpit supply for many churches. We have travelled approximately 80,000 miles and have reached more than 23,000 leaders in conventions, clinics, assemblies, enlargement campaigns, workshops, training schools, and pastors' conferences.

a. VACATION BIBLE SCHOOL WORK

MRS. MYRA S. MOTLEY, Director

Our Vacation Bible School records will not be complete until later in the year, but all indications are that we will have a good record which will surpass other years both in number and quality of schools. One new ministry was added this year — summer help to the Migrant Camps in Transylvania and Henderson counties. The summer worker there helped to coordinate the work in the churches in providing schools for the children of the migrants. We have recorded 168 Standard schools, and 316 additional ten-day schools. Mission gifts so far recorded total approximately $50,000.

Again this year, for the fourth consecutive year, we acknowledged the reports received with a "Certificate of Recognition" with appropriate seals to designate Preparation Day, ten days and three hours, and Standard rating.

The state clinic to which invited associational leaders came was held at Wingate College, January 23-25. There were 64 associations represented by 309 leaders. These joined our staff in conducting 99 clinics in 74 associations. Four of these clinics were for Negro church leaders in the Surry, Sandy Run, Wilmington, and Stanly Associations. Statistics show that 1,951 churches were represented by 10,993 people in these associational clinics.

Dr. Charles Treadway of Nashville, Tennessee, conducted conferences during the state clinic. Other leaders in addition to the state Sunday School staff included: Mrs. J. C. Price, Lenoir; Mrs. R. S. Entzminger, Columbia, S. C.; Mrs. C. A. Maddry, Charlottesville, Virginia; Mrs. Phyllis Woodruff Sapp, Oklahoma City, Okla.; Dr. Ivyloy Bishop, Plainview, Texas; Ray Childers, Brevard; and Robert Poole, Raleigh.

Our department assisted 20 associations in providing summer workers during June, July, and August. These 22 students were trained at Gardner-Webb College by our department staff. These workers assisted in 154 schools. Several students working through the Department of Interracial Work were also trained at Gardner-Webb.

Again our department joined with the New South River and New River Associations in providing help for mission schools in trailer parks near Fort Bragg and Camp Lejeune. There are other areas where this type of ministry is needed and we hope to enlarge this service next year. Twenty-three mission Vacation Bible Schools were conducted in the Fort Bragg area.

The state clinic is scheduled for January 22, 23, and 24, 1964, at Wingate College. Faculty members for this clinic have been enlisted. Associational leadership will be invited to attend.

b. ELEMENTARY WORK

MISS HILDA MAYO, Director

Associational Elementary Workshops and Conferences continue to be one of the most important features of promoting children's work over the state. In six associations age-group conferences for Nursery, Beginner, and Primary workers were conducted; and in three associations workshops of five or more hours with concentrated study on procedures and materials were held. Six of these conferences and two of the workshops were in conjunction with the Pastor-led Enlargement Campaigns. Through these means 706 workers from 133 churches were reached.

In the eight Pastor-led Enlargement Campaigns the Director of Elementary Work presented to groups of pastors a summary of objectives and procedures in children's work. At the State Library Convention she presented to church librarians suggestions on ways in which the church library may become a resource center for elementary departments.

An increasing number of churches are requesting consultation on providing space and equipment for children's departments. The Director of Elementary Work has been privileged to assist 10 churches in this manner, and has cooperated with the Church Building Planning Department in making a series of pictures showing children using equipment. These pictures will be used by both departments in conferences on buildings and equipment.

Certain new publications have proved of interest and help. Closely graded teaching materials for Beginners, along with a pupil's quarterly, appeared in late September in time for use in the new year; and a study course book, Understanding Nursery Children, by Thelma Arnote, was released in September.

There were 33 boys and girls enrolled in the children's building during the Sunday School Leadership Conferences at the North Carolina Baptist Assembly. Ten adults worked with these children, following a planned unit of study.

In an effort to better positionize the place and work of associational superintendents in the elementary divisions, bulletins have been sent regularly to associational Nursery, Beginner, and Primary superintendents. These publications have presented new materials and other information that would assist the superintendent in training workers of local churches.

The special emphasis for 1964 will be the State Elementary Workshop in January sponsored by both Sunday School and Training Union Departments. Program personnel consisting of specialists in the field of childhood education have been enlisted and keen interest is expressed over the state.

c. ASSOCIATIONAL WORK

PAUL KESTERSON, Director

A continuing emphasis has been placed upon the enlistment and training of associational Sunday school officers. Through the Regional Superintendent plan of work we have sought to encourage every association in the early selection of officers.

In March we provided eight Associational Officers Training Meetings to which 225 associational Sunday school workers came and received training.

Action Night in the Association was promoted vigorously. This is the one mass meeting for Sunday school members promoted in the association each year. Reports, incomplete at this time, indicate 26 associations had this meeting in which 547 churches were represented by 3,659 people. We feel Action Night can become one of the most helpful meetings in the association.

On August 30, 1963 a State Briefing was conducted in Winston-Salem jointly with the Training Union Department and the Department of Church Music. Some 225 associational officers from 65 associations were present. Personnel from the Sunday School Board assisted in this meeting. At this meeting the heads of the organizations were offered training and materials making it possible for them to conduct their own planning meetings.

Associational Pastor-Led Sunday School Enlargement Campaigns were conducted in eight associations. A summary of these show:

Churches in campaigns.....	90
Percentage of churches participating.....	25 %
New departments planned.....	356
New classes planned.....	431
New workers to be enlisted.....	1,198

These were conducted, with the exception of two, within the framework of the Long Range Program of Spiritual Advance.

A number of associations are making plans to conduct Associational Sunday School Witnessing Campaigns next spring in connection with the Jubilee Revivals. There are 37 men in the state who have received training qualifying them to serve as directors of the Witnessing Campaign.

d. TRAINING AND STANDARDS

RICHARD D. SMITH

Americans are being trained. North Carolinians can see across their state many signs of growth in educational institutions. It is indeed a good sign to see churches build additional space for worship and education. With the best of educational space, with the best of equipment and with dedication of leadership we need to be equally willing to be trained in up-to-date methods of teaching the Biblical revelation. We need to learn how to reach the lost and witness to the lost. Although the training record for North Carolina Baptists this past year is not equal to that which we have done in the past, we hope that this year will be a record year in training awards. The summary of book awards indicates that 1,684 of our churches reported training awards during 1962-63. A total of 89,081 awards were reported with 14,542 of these for training in Sunday School work (Category 17).

This year we are promoting STANDARD APPLICATION WEEK. The suggested date for Application Week is the first week in December. If this date is not acceptable, then the week you set in your calendar will be best. Our annual record indicates that 61 Sunday Schools made application for the Standard of Excellence. We advanced in total standard units by reporting 341 standard applications.

2. Training Union Department

JAMES P. MORGAN, Secretary

The program objective of the Training Union Department is to assist the Baptist Churches of the state to understand the philosophy, curriculum, techniques, materials, and task of the Training Union program of Southern Baptists and to assist these churches to establish, enlarge, conduct, and improve their Training Union programs.

The task of the Training Union in the local church is to:

1. Interpret Systematic Theology, Christian Ethics, Christian History, and Church Polity and Organization.
2. Give Orientation to new church members.
3. Discover, recruit, and give general training to potential church leaders.
4. Train church members to perform the functions of their churches.
5. Provide organization and leadership for special projects of the church.
6. Provide information and interpretation on the work of the church and denomination.

In keeping with these objectives and the task of Training Union, new materials, organization, techniques, and approaches have been developed, and are continuing to be developed. The unfolding program, broader in scope and content, and flexible in nature, is being revealed in various publications, curriculum materials, and all conferences, etc. planned and promoted by the Training Union Departments of the Sunday School Board and the state.

It is a fact that this area of our work stands upon the threshold of its greatest period of growth and development. As has been said, "All our past proclaims our future."

It is important that church leaders read and study Training Union periodicals as never before in order to keep abreast of the latest information.

PERSONNEL

The field staff of the department consists of the Secretary and three associates: Rev. Sam O'Neal, Director of Associational Promotion and Young People's Work, Miss Katy Ruth Grayson, Director of Junior and Intermediate Work, and Miss Doris Morgan, Director of Nursery, Beginner, and Primary Work. Each staff member, in addition to his or her major areas of responsibility, is assigned other related responsibilities. Our most efficient office workers are Mrs. Anne Warren, Office Secretary, and Mrs. Sallie Jones, Assistant Office Secretary.

Approved Workers are: Mrs. E. F. Baker, Black Mountain, Junior Work; Mrs. Smoot Baker, Lancaster, S. C., Junior and Intermediate Work; Mrs. Walter Nash, Signal Mountain, Tenn., Elementary Work; and Mrs. Sam O'Neal, Garner, Elementary Work.

In addition, the following individuals have been given special training for Pastor-Led Enlargement Campaigns and are used as frequently as their duties will allow for the purpose of directing associational Pastor-Led Campaigns and certain other projects: Rev. O. B. Reel, Mt. Holly, Alden Angline, Asheville, Robert L. Clegg, Burlington, and Rev. E. E. Baker, Black Mountain.

1963 ACTIVITIES

Certain basic activities continue from year to year. Among these are:

1. Ten Regional Convention Planning Meetings.
2. Ten Regional Conventions.
3. Three assembly weeks at Fort Caswell.
4. One week at Fruitland, the 1963 emphasis on Religious Drama, Church Recreation, and Leadership Training for Junior and Intermediate Leaders.
5. Our Training Union Youth Convention.
6. Planning meetings for Associational Training Union Leadership.
7. A state-wide training meeting for Associational Training Union Leadership, held in conjunction with a similar meeting for associational officers of Sunday School and Church Music organizations.

In addition, staff members participated directly in the following:

- 11 associational leadership training clinics
- 12 local church leadership training clinics and enlargement campaigns
- 9 associational Pastor-Led Enlargement Campaigns
- 4 weeks of southwide assemblies as faculty members
- 1 School of Missions in which 2 staff members participated.

As always, there were numerous meetings of various kinds, interviews, consultations, and conferences calling for staff time. Staff members have appeared on the faculties of Training Union meetings in Alabama and Virginia during the past year.

SPECIFICALLY SPEAKING

Statistics cannot tell the whole story but they do give some indication as to responses to specific opportunities for training. Therefore, the following statistical information is offered.

The regional conventions enrolled 2,556 people from 375 churches in 73 associations.

The Church Drama and Recreation Workshop at Fruitland enrolled 64. Total attendance for the week, including the Junior-Intermediate Workshop was 190.

Our three Training Union weeks at Fort Caswell enrolled in classes some 2,700 individuals. There were 22 professions of faith and 55 dedications for Church Related Vocations, first decisions.

The Training Union Youth Convention reached 966 individuals.

The Planning-Briefing meeting for associational Training Union Officers assisted 58 of the 80 associations. The remainder were reached individually.

Perhaps the most far-reaching of our efforts during the year in the area of leadership training were the nine associational Pastor-Led Enlargement Campaigns. In these weeks, more than 200 Pastors and churches were touched. The impact of these projects is impossible to estimate but the testimony of participating individuals bears evidence of the worthwhileness of this emphasis.

Youth Weeks were reported by 156 churches.

Baptist Youth Night was observed by 58 associations with a total attendance of 8,126.

"M" Night, 1962, had an attendance of 40,259 in 75 associations with 1,714 churches represented and 1,328 Pastors present.

Study Course awards in Category 18 were 7,413. This represents a most pleasing increase over the previous year and raises North Carolina from a relative standing of 5th place to 3rd place among Southern Baptist states.

There were 675 Juniors participating in a state Junior Memory Work tournament and 49 Four-Year Winners were recorded,

State Winners in other tournaments were:

Speakers' Tournament—Miss Jane Smith, Rt. 3, Mocksville, N. C.

1964 MAJOR PROJECTS

North Carolina will be host to a major Southern Baptist effort the week of February 24-28, 1964, when the Learning Improvement Clinic for eastern United States will be held in the First Baptist Church of Greensboro. This clinic will deal with the learning process, techniques for learning, the nature of the learner, and the adaptation of learning techniques to Training Union programs and activities. Outstanding educators will appear on the program. The inspirational messages will be brought by Dr. Duke McCall. This is a joint project of the Training Union Departments of the Sunday School Board and the state.

Another event of major importance will be the state-wide Elementary Workshop scheduled for the First Baptist Church of Gastonia, January 13-14. This is jointly sponsored by the Sunday School and Training Union Departments of North Carolina.

We are also pleased to announce that Mrs. Evelyn Mills Duval, writer, lecturer, and foremost authority of teen-age and family relationships will be one of the major speakers and conference leaders at the Youth Convention to be held May 1-3 in the First Baptist Church of High Point.

3. Department of Student Work

WILLIAM C. SMITH, JR., Secretary

The objective of the Baptist student ministry is to assist each one in becoming a mature Christian who is committed to God in faith, who nurtures his faith and life in the Church, and who manifests the Christian life in all attitudes and actions. The Baptist student program is fundamentally related to local Baptist churches. Sunday School, Training Union, worship, and other church activities are provided for the students by the churches. The Baptist Student Union provides week-day activities on campus. All of these are efforts to develop the future religious leadership for Christ.

I. MINISTRY ON CAMPUS: In addition to the local churches' program for students, the Baptist student group provides on campus sustained efforts for worship and study, service and fellowship. These include Bible study, devotional periods, mission study and activity, forums, discussions, retreats, focus weeks, personal evangelism, service opportunities, and wholesome recreation. Personal counsel is given by those who are engaged in the student ministry—Directors of Baptist student work, pastors and faculty.

Baptist student centers are a significant means for enlisting and involving students. Centers designed and constructed as such are well used at the University of North Carolina at Greensboro and Duke. Well-used but out-moded dwelling houses are at East Carolina, North Carolina State, University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill, and Western Carolina. After five years of planning, an adequate center will be built at North Carolina State.

II. PROGRAM AT THE STATE LEVEL: The activities at the state level provide further opportunities for reaching the stated objective and supplementing the program on the campuses. It is maintained through the comprehensive and collective efforts of the local Baptist Student Unions.

1. THE ANNUAL STUDENT DEPARTMENT SEMINAR was held at Black Mountain in January with Dr. William Poteat as guest leader. Dr. Douglas M. Branch attended and led in a session. The object of the seminar is for study and planning related to the ministry to our students. All persons directing Baptist student work attend.

2. A MISSIONS TOUR of the Baptist colleges featured the Reverend Bill B. Cody of the Department of Missionary Personnel, Foreign Mission Board, Richmond. The aims were to have him speak about the mission enterprise of the Church and to hold interviews with persons interested in obtaining more knowledge about the work.

3. THE LEADERSHIP TRAINING CONFERENCE for new Baptist Student Union officers met at the Mars Hill Baptist Church, Mars Hill, in April. Workshops for the various officers provided information and suggestions about each officer's responsibility. The speakers were the Reverend Charles Davis, Pastor at Mars Hill, and Dr. Thomas McCullough, a Baptist faculty member at Duke. Around 300 attended.

4. THE MISSIONS PROGRAM sponsored by the students sent five students to serve during the summer: Alfred L. Baker, Argentina; Dwight Hooker, Mexico; Betty McIntosh, Chile; Finnie Murray, Bechuanaland, Africa; and Judith Wiggins, Nigeria.

5. SUMMER SERVICE activity provided two Youth Evangelism Teams which served in churches, mission Vacation Bible Schools, and four of the eight students worked as G.A. and R.A. Camp counselors, as well. The Department promotes the Home Mission Board summer program. Twenty-seven students from North Carolina served with this Board. Working as a staffer at the assemblies is encouraged and the students are urged to serve in their home churches during the summer.

6. THE MINISTRY IN SCHOOLS OF NURSING includes assisting student religious groups and having the Student Nurses' Retreat in June. The 12th annual retreat near Charlotte had on program two medical doctors, a missionary nurse, a student nurse who served as a summer student missionary, and the Chaplain to Students at the North Carolina Baptist Medical Center.

7. BAPTIST STUDENT UNION OFFICERS' COUNCIL RETREAT: Students take a role in leadership and planning in the student work. The Officers' Council, which is composed of all presidents of local BSU's, works in six areas: Fall BSU Convention, Spring Leadership Training Conference, Missions, Social Action, Church Relations, and Publicity and Publication. The Retreat was held at North Carolina Baptist Assembly in August, acted on plans for the year, and recommended some plans to be voted on by the BSU Convention.

8. THE THIRTY-FOURTH BAPTIST STUDENT CONVENTION met to explore the theme "Freedom through Bondage" at First Baptist Church, Greensboro, November 1-3, 1963. The speakers were Dr. William E. Hull of Southern Seminary, and Dr. Howard Moody, Pastor of Judson Memorial Church, New York, New York, and the Reverend Nathan Porter of the Home Mission Board. A luncheon for college town pastors and faculty was held as a part of the Convention. About a thousand students attended.

9. THE SEVENTH INTERNATIONAL STUDENT RETREAT is scheduled during the Thanksgiving holidays at Williamsburg, Virginia, to introduce the students from other countries to the Christian faith. Around 100 students from North Carolina joined students from Virginia and the District of Columbia. The Woman's Missionary Union of North Carolina contributes $1,500 towards the cost at the conference, which is sponsored by the Student Department of the Sunday School Board.

10. PUBLICATIONS AND PUBLICITY: The Reveille is published by the department as a journal of Christian concern and thought. Brochures and pamphlets are printed to give information about the student ministry. Publicity on the activities is sent to newspapers, radio, and television stations.

III. COOPERATIVE ACTIVITIES: The department cooperates with the Student Department of the Sunday School Board in promoting Student Week at Ridgecrest and Glorieta, the International Student Retreat, and any other student meeting planned. Student Night at Christmas is also promoted to give local churches an opportunity to learn of religious activities for our students. The Missions Conference sponsored by Southeastern Seminary is promoted by the department as is the Medical Missions conference held by the Foreign Mission Board.

IV. PERSONNEL: The Department of Student Work works with the following to carry on the ministry for Baptist students in North Carolina for the school year 1963-64: Reverend Monroe M. Ashley, University of North Carolina at Greensboro; Reverend Worth Barbour, Agricultural and Technical College in Greensboro (part-time); Reverend James O. Blackwelder, Wingate (part-time); Reverend Alton Y. Buzbee, Campbell; Reverend James O. Cansler, University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill; Reverend Edgar D. Christman, Wake Forest; Reverend Henry G. Elkins, North Carolina College at Durham; Reverend Dwight R. Fickling, East Carolina; Reverend Everett Gill, III, North Carolina Baptist Medical Center; Reverend Colon L. Godwin, Western Carolina; Mr. Henry W. Greer, Appalachian; Reverend Lawrence P. Hardy, Pembroke (part-time); Miss Ruth Kiser, Gardner-Webb (part-time); Reverend Robert Melvin, Mars Hill (part-time); Reverend Quentin M. Perreault, Western Area Director; Reverend Leroy P. Richardson, Jr., North Carolina State; Reverend James W. Stines, Duke; Dr. R. Hargus Taylor, Chowan; Mr. R. A. L. Walker, Meredith.

Office personnel in Raleigh are: Dr. William C. Smith, Jr., Secretary of the Department of Student Work; Reverend Boyce C. Medlin, Associate; and Mrs. L. D. Holt, Office Secretary.

V. THE STUDENT DEPARTMENT LOOKS FORWARD to the time when the possibilities and responsibilities of ministering to students in the name of Christ are approached with an adequate staff to meet the challenge. Additional workers are needed now in the face of increasing enrollment. The completion of plans for adequate Baptist student centers is also awaited.

On behalf of the 26,000 Baptist students enrolled in North Carolina and the workers of the Department, we hope that Baptists in this state will keep informed about the ministry for students and to pray that God may guide all of us to do a better work with students in Christ's name.

4. Church Music Department

JOSEPH O. STROUD, Secretary

Since its beginning the department has sought to utilize the music leadership of the churches and colleges of the Convention to plan and promote its program of church music education. This has been done with the assistance of twenty Regional Music Directors, selected by the Secretary of the Church Music Department. The following paragraphs are given to show how the department serves the State Convention, the associations and the individual churches.

STATE CONVENTION: The Music Department works with other departments and divisions of our Convention: Evangelism, Sunday School, Training Union, Vacation Bible School, Woman's Missionary Union, and others. We plan and direct music for the annual sessions of the Convention. The department sponsors the Annual Music Leadership Conference each summer at the North Carolina Baptist Assembly and Fruitland Camp as well as the annual Junior Music Camp at the Assembly. We promote Southern Baptist Convention Leadership Conferences at Ridgecrest and Glorieta Assemblies.

ASSOCIATIONS: This department supports a music organization in each of the 80 associations of the state with the following officers: Director, Pastor Advisor, Associational Missionary, Associational Moderator, Director of Congregational Activities, Director of Graded Choir Activities, Director of Instrumental Activities, Director of Training, and Director of Publicity and Promotion. Associational Music Schools are promoted in the associations and quarterly music meetings are planned as either hymn sings, carol sings, music conferences or choir festivals. Quarterly meetings of the music officers are held to plan and promote their work of helping the churches, and Annual Training-Planning Meetings for all associational officers are planned and promoted jointly by the Music Department of the Baptist Sunday School Board and our State Music Department.

CHURCHES: The State Music Department strives to have a good working relationship with the churches of the state. We have material on hand to keep these churches supplied with literature on all phases of the music ministry in the churches, and we promote the Church Musician and other Sunday School Board publications. Annual Choir Festivals are conducted on a regional and statewide basis each year. Festival programs in 1964 promise to be the most far reaching the department has had in its eight-year history. We sponsor schools of music and assist churches in securing leadership for such schools. Conferences and workshops on worship and conferences with pastors, music committees, ministers of music and choir directors are also endorsed by the department. In many cases we have been able to assist churches in securing ministers of music, ministers of music and education and organists.

Through these and other means we are striving to accomplish our objective. There is great need for the addition of another worker to this department — a director of associational work. We shall be able to do more at the "grass roots" where the needs are so great.

5. Department of Church Building Planning

JACK R. BAGWELL, Secretary

L. L. MORGAN, Consultant

North Carolina Baptist Churches invested $13,443,280.00 in new buildings last year. Even though this is the largest single item of expenditure of Baptists, this must be increased if we continue to reach the unenlisted, win them to Christ, train them in Christian service, and enlarge the mission outreach. Realizing the relationship between the building and effectiveness in all other areas of our work, the Baptists of North Carolina have maintained this department since 1956. Working jointly with the Architecture Department of the Sunday School Board, the department has helped over 900 churches this past year in an effort to plan good functional buildings.

Two state-wide Building Conferences were held in 1963. One was in Raleigh on April 9, and the other met in Morganton on October 1 and 2. The department participated in Associational Pastor-Led Enlargement Campaigns, Sunday School area conventions, summer assemblies, and local church efforts.

The department counsels with churches in the following areas:

1. Appointing and organizing a Planning and Survey Committee.
2. Determining the proper location for buildings and in securing enough property.
3. Selecting plans that will meet present and future needs.
4. Adopting an over-all plan at the beginning.
5. Deciding what should be built first.
6. Building in compliance with North Carolina laws.
7. Adopting a sound financial program.
8. Selecting and organizing the Building Committee.
9. Securing a sympathetic architect.
10. Developing adequate parking space.
11. Planning a properly located, attractive, comfortable, and convenient home for the pastor.
12. Planning special days, such as ground-breaking and dedication services.
13. The developing of library, recreation, and fellowship facilities.

The service of both the state department and the Architecture Department of the Sunday School Board is available to the churches without cost or obligation. The department should be contacted early in the planning stages, even before the committee is appointed to study the needs.

6. Brotherhood—Royal Ambassador

CLYDE L. DAVIS, Secretary

B. W. JACKSON, Associate

The Brotherhood Department offers assistance to the churches in the area of missionary education for men and boys. The two-fold objective of the department is as follows:

(1) To encourage men and boys to become informed on missionary programs of Baptists.

(2) To encourage men and boys to become personally involved in missions. Permeating every effort of the department is an earnest desire to strengthen the church which is the foundation of world missions.

The missionary education program of the Brotherhood Department is motivated by the conviction that no program of world missions can survive without churches which have in their membership a solid corps of men who feel personally responsible for the propagation of the gospel. This conviction motivates the department to provide programs of leadership training which will prepare men to permeate every segment of society with a genuine Christian influence. Successful fulfillment of these objectives calls for men who are fully committed for the total stewardship of life. Stewardship of the whole life requires complete surrender and dedication to God of their time, talents, possessions, and influence. This commitment is meaningless until it finds expression in every area of man's life, including his place of employment, home, community, and the world.

Therefore, the Brotherhood seeks to accomplish this task by following two distinct courses of action: (1) To call attention to general areas in which men can be of unique service. (2) To provide a program of leadership training which seeks to train key men who will, in turn, offer leadership training to the churches.

Specific Brotherhood—Royal Ambassador programs offered as service to the churches are as follows:

1. Leadership Training

- a. Annual Briefing Meeting for Associational Brotherhood Presidents and Associational Royal Ambassador Leaders conducted by department personnel.
- b. Planning meetings in the associations conducted by associational leadership.
- c. Associational Officers' Area Training Meetings conducted by department personnel.

ADDENDUM—Camp CaRAway Progress Report

1. Campsite—During the year an additional eighty acres of land was added to the site making a total of 1,050 acres. An entrance was made into the southwest section of the property, providing access into the woodcraft area that was used for camping during the summer. A well was drilled and pump installed providing a supply of water. A small lake providing swimming and canoeing facilities was built.

2. Campsite Funds—A total of $28,400 has been contributed to the campsite funds, with about $6,000 of this contributed to date in 1963. Approximately $20,000 of Co-operative Program funds was budgeted for the camp this year. The major disbursement of funds is: $14,950 principal and interest on property; $4,400 for additional property; $1,000 for well, pump and water supply; $5,000 for lake, pier, roads, sand, gravel, canoes, etc.; $2,000 for beds, mattress, kitchen equipment, etc.; $1,200 for Development Crusade expenses.

3. Camps—At CaRAway—1963 The summer marked the opening of Camp CaRAway with 120 campers being in the three weeks of camps. These weeks of real camping proved to be rich experience for the boys and the staff members. In addition to these camps the facilities were used for overnight Planning Meetings for Associational Brotherhood presidents and Associational Royal Ambassador leaders.

4. Future Plans — It is our hope to enlarge the capacity of the camp to 100 by next summer, and schedule 10 weeks of camp, in addition to two weeks each at Fruitland and Baptist Assembly. This enlargement will be made possible by building a dining shed and kitchen, several cabins for sleeping and additional toilet facilities.

7. North Carolina Baptist Assembly

FRED J. SMITH, Manager

The 1963 Assembly season, from mid-June to mid-August, saw 6,211 guests registering for the excellent programs provided by the departments in Raleigh. Our largest conference week was Training Union week, July 22-27, with 1,069 attending. Many others were on the grounds for a single meal, conference, or service. Pre and Post Season registered 1,944, with Youth Retreats, Choir Retreats, B.S.U. Retreats, and families on vacation.

Our staff of 85 members, composed of students and other Christian men and women, was one of the best.

IMPROVEMENTS

We have heated and air-conditioned our Chapel. The cool Chapel was enjoyed by many persons this summer. We have also heated one class-room building and two of our large church group apartments. Groups will now use the Assembly's facilities during the winter months.

Many trees and pieces of shrubbery have been planted this year to add to the beauty of the grounds. Many of the guests contributed to the Grounds Fund this summer.

The Assembly Post Office, in its first summer, proved to be more convenient for the guests in sending and receiving mail, than the system used in previous years.

Use is being made of the old forts on the grounds. Three have been turned into supply shops and one of the larger forts near the entrance has been converted into a corral for the horses. Horse-back Riding has been added to the recreational program and proved to be popular with the children and the adults.

We now have six apartments which will accommodate large groups. These are Yucca, Youpon, Cape Fear, Sand Dune, Riverside C and Riverside D. These apartments have been most popular during our regular season and for out-of-season retreats. All six apartments have facilities where large groups of 30 to 52 may cook, eat, sleep, and have conferences together.

FUTURE PLANS

We are planning to add five more units to our Motel. The Oceania Motel apartments are our nicest family apartments and are requested by many persons. We need more family apartments, and hope these additional units will be completed for our 1964 season.

We plan to remodel our office building and hope to purchase some water coolers for some of the buildings to add to the comfort of our guests.

For information write N. C. Baptist Assembly, Southport, N. C.

8. Fruitland Baptist Camp

FRITZ D. HEMPHILL, Manager

During this past summer Fruitland Camp was host to ten weeks of camps for our Baptist people and in addition a number of week-end conferences were held by various organizations and groups. Quite a few of our North Carolina Baptists took advantage of the opportunity to spend a few days in restful vacation in a cool, pleasant and worshipful atmosphere. With the addition of several apartments that are available for our people who want a vacation here we anticipate even more coming during the next season. In addition our facilities are being used on off-season for retreats and conferences and youth choir practice sessions.

The past season was a very successful one. We had an unusually fine staff of high school and college students. These fine young people served wonderfully during the entire season. Our maintenance men did a good job in keeping the place neat and trim. The morale and spirit of the various groups who came was unusually good.

We are looking forward to the 1964 season with keen anticipation. If all of our Baptist people could see and feel what is happening here each week with our fine young people we would be swamped with applications and gratitude would be expressed to God for the fine department leaders who plan and conduct such worthwhile programs.

E. DIVISION OF STEWARDSHIP PROMOTION AND EDITORIAL SERVICES

O. J. HAGLER, Director

The past year has been a period of transition and redirection, as we have sought to meet the mandate of our constitution "to study ways and means of promoting every phase of the Baptist Program."

Work with, supervision and direction of a competent staff—both department heads and office personnel—has been a challenge and an exhilarating experience!

New job descriptions for all department heads and office staff have been developed and specific assignments made. The Director has spent much time in consultation with individual staff members in seeking a thorough understanding of our mutual responsibilities as we seek to develop Christian stewards in the churches and to find support for a total World Mission Program.

The Cooperative Program, Forward Program, Growth in Christian Stewardship Program, Associational Stewardship Development Program have been our tools for our task. Stewardship Revivals, Associational Stewardship Workshops, Committee Training Sessions in the local churches, special conferences and opportunities for presenting the Bible message of stewardship are the means of implementing these Programs.

The effectiveness of our service has been greatly increased by the relocation of all departments and staff in the east wing of the third floor of "Baptist House" at Raleigh.

Our tract and literature distribution system has been reworked and used by more churches and individuals than ever before. Effective materials have been distributed, literally, by the hundreds of thousands.

In addition to general direction and supervision the Director has shared in over-all promotion and carried his share of field work.

OUR STAFF

On April 1, Harold M. White was appointed Secretary of Stewardship Promotion thus giving us a full complement of workers. He has taken over in a splendid manner and doing effective work.

The following comprise our corps of workers:

- Mrs. W. I. Powell, Office Secretary
- Harold M. White, Secretary of Promotion
- Guy S. Cain, Secretary Annuity Plans
- Mrs. Evelyn Norman, Office Secretary
- R. T. Greene, Secretary Cooperative Program Advance
- Mrs. Edith Barbour, Office Secretary
- L. J. Morriss, Audio-Visuals

- Mrs. Frances Riley, Assistant Office Secretary
- E. Cleve Wilkie, Field Promotion, Kinston, North Carolina

1. Department of Stewardship Promotion

HAROLD M. WHITE, Secretary

On April 1, 1963, I assumed my responsibilities as Secretary of Stewardship Promotion. Prior to this, I attended a meeting of the Stewardship Commission in Nashville, Tennessee, February 17-20, in which I received helpful information concerning the materials and methods employed in stewardship promotion. I attended a similar meeting in Nashville in September.

I would like to record here my sincere appreciation to my predecessor, O. J. Hagler, who has been promoted to Director of the Division of Stewardship Promotion and Editorial Services. Because our work is so closely interrelated, Mr. Hagler and I have spent much time together in the office and on the field. He has shared with me the benefits of his many years of experience in this work and has given me direction and counsel of great value. He has strengthened and encouraged me through his friendship, Christian spirit and his ability.

In July, Mr. Hagler, Tom Greene and I attended a Fund Raising School at Lake Chautauqua, N. Y., sponsored by Syracuse University. This special period of study related to our responsibilities was very beneficial.

My principle responsibility is two-fold.

1. To promote a plan of Scriptural Stewardship development and enlistment in the churches of the Baptist State Convention of North Carolina.

2. To promote World Missions through the Cooperative Program.

In keeping with this responsibility, I have been engaged in the following major activities.

1. Workshops in the Forward Program of Stewardship Development Growth in Christian Stewardship (for smaller churches), Stewardship Development Program for Baptist Associations.

2. Committee Training Sessions in local churches.

3. Deacon's Schools.

4. Stewardship sermons in local churches and associational meetings.

5. Schools of Missions.

6. Conferences with pastors, associational missionaries and others in places of leadership.

7. Worked with General Board's Committee on Stewardship Promotion and Editorial Services.

8. Cooperated with other Division personnel in the development of a total stewardship program.

9. Assisted in planning for and promoting the special offering for State Missions.

The challenge of this work increases day by day. I am grateful to God and to North Carolina Baptists for this privilege of Kingdom service.

2. Cooperative Program Advance

R. T. GREENE, Secretary

During 1963, many avenues of promotion of the Cooperative Program Advance for Christian Higher Education have been used. One was the ten leadership workshops across our state for associational leaders. There were 201 associational leaders from 52 associations attending these meetings. In collaboration with, and the help of, Rev. O. J. Hagler, Rev. Harold M. White, and Rev. Guy Cain, and the Council on Christian Education, these successful workshops were held in ten different areas around our state.

The Biblical Recorder, Mr. Marse Grant, Editor, furnished us a second avenue of promotion and information. The Biblical Recorder has carried a regular column on the Cooperative Program in Action, as well as many pieces of art showing the work of our Cooperative Program. The report by churches of the dollars received in 1961, 1962, and the first six months of 1963, along with the percentage increase of 1962 over 1961 was carried by the Biblical Recorder, September 28, 1963.

We had a total of sixteen Cooperative Program Advance dinners for the promotion of this campaign. There were 1,259 people in attendance at these meetings from 65 associations.

Several pamphlets—including church bulletin inserts—were prepared on the Cooperative Program Advance for Christian Higher Education and distributed. Through September, more than 450,000 of these leaflets in the promotion of this campaign have been sent to the churches requesting them. Two of these leaflets were prepared for use by the churches in the four prayer meeting nights in October in which our churches were requested to pray for different phases of Cooperative Program work.

During the past twelve months, in doing this work for you in Christ's name, I have driven 32,569 miles and spoken 308 times. There were 45 added to the churches in which I preached, 21 of these by baptism and 24 by letter.

The success so far of the Cooperative Program Advance Campaign has been greatly aided by the willing cooperation of our beloved General Secretary-Treasurer, Dr. Douglas M. Branch (now deceased), and by Interim General Secretary-Treasurer, Mr. Claude F. Gaddy, by O. J. Hagler, Director of the Division of Stewardship Promotion, Harold M. White, Guy Cain, Cleve Wilkie, and the cooperation of the Council on Christian Education. This includes the able efforts of the Executive Secretary, Mr. Ben C. Fisher, the untiring efforts of our college presidents and their collaborators, and the excellent work of the committees in the associations on Cooperative Program Advance—including the associational missionaries and moderators.

Mrs. Edith Barbour, office secretary, has given herself untiringly to make our work—both in the office and in field promotion—as effective as possible.

I am deeply grateful to all those mentioned above and to all others in their assistance in making this phase of the Kingdom's work a successful venture for our Lord and Saviour, Jesus Christ.

3. Annuity Department Report

GUY S. CAIN, Secretary

God loves his preachers and wants them cared for in the days of their active ministry, in the times of their disability and the days beyond their retirement age. Our State Convention desires to see every pastor have the benefit of a good annuity program and is committed to pay one-third of the cost of the basic retirement participation. Every man who has this protection should be deeply grateful for the Cooperative Program because it is through this channel that the Convention receives the money to make the Annuity payments possible.

Our activities this year have been many and varied. As secretary of this department, I have had the privilege to speak in twenty-two annual associational meetings. I have also spoken forty-three times in the local churches. I have conducted and participated in fourteen clinics in the Regions and Associations. I have had the happy privilege of making twelve visits to the college campuses and four visits to Southeastern Seminary. I have led in three Deacon's Schools and shared in five associational stewardship clinics. I had the joy of preaching a week in three churches as well as speaking in four pastor's conferences. I attended a four-day Field Men's Conference of the Annuity Board at Pensacola, Florida. I have also had the privilege of attending the usual Conventions and conferences of the State and Southern Baptist Conventions. These have been the activities out in the State. Added to this have been the duties in the office which had included handling of applications and heavy correspondence along with many individual conferences both in and out of the office.

One of the joys of this department is to be in position to help pastors and widows with their applications for annuities, disability income and relief benefits. In this respect, and in the middle of this report, I want to express my deep appreciation for the very efficient help of Mrs. Evelyn Norman, the office secretary.

Our great ambition and continuing goal is to get all of the churches to make the retirement plan provision for their pastor. There are still many hundreds of these servants of God without this worthy and deserved protection. We are happy for a reasonable increase in the number of churches joining with the Convention to provide this protection plan for the pastor, his family and the church.

From October 1, 1962, through September 30, 1963, we have handled the following applications:

- 254 New Southern Baptist Protection Plan Applications
 - 14 New Age Security Plan Applications
 - 4 New Variable Annuity Fund Applications
 - 5 New Widows Supplemental Annuity Plan Applications
 - 8 Minister's Retirement Plan Transfers from other states
- 55 Southern Baptist Protection Plan Transfers from other states
 - 2 Minister's Retirement Plan Transfers to the SBPP
- 10 Widow applications

The Annuity Board report shows that there are 1,415 participating churches and 1,608 pastors in North Carolina in the Annuity Program.

We shall continue to be working for every pastor who gets his living from the churches to have the Southern Baptist Protection Plan. We are anxious for every church to pay 10 per cent of the salary up to $4,000 into the Protection Plan. The Convention will add 5 per cent to this participation. It is our recommendation that the churches set aside 10 per cent of the pastor's salary for the Annuity Program and that the portion beyond $4,000 be deposited in either Age Security or Variable Annuity, which are the two supplementary plans. The income tax laws make the provision that 20 per cent of the pastor's income can be set aside, tax free, in the Annuity Program. Many of our pastors and church leaders need to receive this information.

The newest development in the Annuity Program this year is the Added Death Benefit by which the pastors who are under forty years of age have what is equivalent to an insurance protection equal to the average amount of the salary on which their payments are made. If the participation is on $4,000, then a check for $4,000 would be given to the widow if the pastor dies. Or, a check for $8,000 would be given if he is accidentally killed. This is a wonderful protection for the younger men. It is had without any further cost and in no way takes from the other benefits of the Protection Plan.

4. Department of Program Services

JIMMY MORRISS, Secretary

The Department of Program Services promotes the total Baptist program through the associations and local churches. Dealing primarily in public relations, it is incorporated in the Division of Stewardship Promotion and Editorial Services. The work of the Department of Program Services may be divided as follows:

I. AUDIO VISUAL AIDS

A. Film Library—Last year the department booked more than 10,000 films, an increase over previous years. We are encouraged that more churches are making use of our film facilities. The bookings continue to increase even during the months when there is no special emphasis. Our library has more than 2,300 35mm. filmstrips and over 100 16mm. films available on a free rental basis for church use. These films cover every area of denominational endeavor. A catalogue with descriptions is available free upon request.

B. Film Production—The department produces both 35mm. and 16mm. films in support of the total Baptist program. This year we have produced a 16mm. sound motion picture trailer for television use with the film, A GUIDE TO HOSPITAL VISITATION, for the Baptist Hospital. A 35mm. filmstrip, COOPERATION IS THE KEY, was produced on behalf of the Week of Prayer for Associational Missions. A 35mm. filmstrip was produced for the Student Department pointing up the student center ministry.

C. Audio Visual Demonstration Conferences and Clinics—At the request of various associations, the department plans "one-night stand" demonstration conferences, which are well-attended. We also assist the various departments in preparing non-projected and projected aids for special programs. Counseling with churches regarding audio-visual equipment, program planning, and sight and sound installations has become one of the major services of the department. More than 50 churches were aided in this manner last year.

D. Audio Aids—The past year has seen a tremendous upsurge in the use of audio tape recordings. Churches are using their recorders to take the services of the church to the handicapped in the community. We have produced more than 200 tape recordings for the churches this year, a 50 per cent gain over last year. Black and white still pictures numbering over 500 have been produced for Convention use.

II. GRAPHIC ARTS

Another service rendered is in the field of graphic arts. This includes design and production of printed materials, posters, folders, diagrams, streamers, and thematic settings. Over 100 individual productions have been designed during the year. The department has the responsibility of aiding the departments with their exhibits at the annual Convention.

III. NEWS SERVICE

The department has the responsibility of news coverage of Baptist work in North Carolina to more than 350 outlets including newspapers, radio and television stations. More than 75 special articles have been written and used extensively.

IV. TELEVISION AND RADIO

The department produces the Baptist network series of television programs, A LIGHT UNTO MY PATH. This program is a Convention mission work designed to reach minority groups—the deaf, the aging, and the unchurched. It features a special ministry to the deaf with Jerry Potter and Neal Peyton presenting the gospel in sound and sign language; it also features Bible reading and a weekly Bible lesson by either Doctors James F. Heaton or Claud B. Bowen. The music features Mrs. Art Fore, Mrs. Donald Miller, Jimmy Ringgold, and Richard Milham, with Sandra Greenhill as interpreter for the deaf. It is presented over a state-wide network of 6 stations: WRAL-TV, Raleigh; WECT-TV, Wilmington; WLOS-TV, Asheville; WFMY-TV, Greensboro; WBTB-TV, Charlotte; and WNCT-TV, Greenville. This series is also carried by stations in South Carolina; Virginia, Tennessee, and Maryland sponsored in most cases by a Baptist group or Convention. At present, the series is seen in at least 8 states in the East. The department presents a weekly 30 minute news telecast on Channel 5, Raleigh. Working closely with the radio industry of the state, we set up a network of 21 stations to present the Choir Festival from Wake Forest sponsored by the Church Music Department. We are now producing a new series of taped Bible teaching programs for airing in the spring of 1964.

V. OTHER AREAS

We are most grateful for the splendid work of the department's 3 workers in audio-visual aids: Rev. Henry Coffey, Rev. W. L.

Pearson, and Rev. Richard Whitley, who assist in schools of missions. The secretary of the department is also called upon for mission messages in the churches regularly. We have worked closely with Broadman Films in getting before the churches and associations of the Convention a new plan for distributing rental films and projectors. We scheduled 28 conferences during the months of September and October, designed for the audio-visual chairman, associational missionary, moderator, and leaders in the local church. The department expresses its appreciation to Mrs. Terra Gaye Williams and Mrs. Frances Riley for their continued capable work in assisting the churches. Please continue to pray for these ministries.

5. Field Promotion

E. C. WILKIE

My work is centered largely in Eastern Carolina, but the past year has afforded enough opportunities for speaking in every section of our state for me to say I have enjoyed "a state-wide ministry." I want to express my gratitude to God and our people for every opportunity of service.

Reducing my speaking engagements to statistics reveals the following:

- 47 sermons in Stewardship Emphasis Weeks and Week-ends.
- 42 sermons in Revival services.
- 29 sermons in pulpit supply and general promotion.
- 13 sessions in Forward Program and Stewardship Development.
- 10 visits to churches for fellowship and minor participation.
- 11 sessions in Study Courses.
- 11 Annual Associational Meetings attended.
- 3 Loyalty Dinner Addresses
- 5 Pastor's Conferences addressed.
- 2 Brotherhood Addresses.
- 2 sessions in an Associational School for Deacons.
- 1 Associational "M" Night address.

Other engagements included five radio devotionals, two school chapel talks, one Civic Club address, and one wedding.

I attended all General Board Meetings, quarterly and called Staff Meetings, State Convention, Southern Baptist Convention, State Evangelistic Conference, Race Relations Institute, and Convention Staff Workshop.

In addition to scheduled engagements, I made several field trips over Eastern Carolina for general promotion, contacts, visitation, conferences, and literature distribution, as well as for fellowship.

F. DIVISION OF CHRISTIAN HIGHER EDUCATION1. Council on Christian Education

AUBREY S. TOMLINSON, Chairman
 BEN C. FISHER, Executive Secretary

THE 19TH ANNUAL REPORTENROLLMENT

1963-64 will see another record enrollment for North Carolina Baptist colleges. The following total enrollments have been reported as of October 15, 1963, by the college registrars:

Campbell	1,836
Chowan	967
Gardner-Webb	754
Mars Hill	1,335
Meredith	900
Wake Forest	2,958
Wingate	1,117
Total	9,867

The steady increase in enrollment has been reflected in the great effort on the part of Baptist colleges to provide for thousands of students who have been knocking on their doors. Few people realize that during the past decade North Carolina Baptist colleges have built and paid for more than 35 million dollars worth of buildings. Much of this has been spent for student housing.

COUNCIL MEETINGS

Three Council meetings have been held in connection with the General Board meetings: January, July and October. Attendance has been excellent and committees have functioned well.

Council membership changes included: Presidents of college Boards of Trustees: Chowan, H. D. White succeeding Donald Matthews, Jr.; Campbell, R. A. Hedgpeth succeeding Spurgeon Boyce; Gardner-Webb, Toliver Davis succeeding Mrs. Rush Stroup; Mars Hill, Carl Meares succeeding C. C. Wall, Sr.; Meredith, C. B. Deane succeeding L. M. Massey; Wake Forest, William J. Conrad succeeding Lex Marsh; and Wingate, J. Herbert Bridges succeeding E. D. Gaskins.

New members from the General Board were L. D. Munn, A. S. Tomlinson, Mrs. John R. Link and John M. Sykes. These members replaced Gaither M. Beam, Ira T. Johnston and Rowland S. Pruette. Dean Robert Isner, who succeeded Eugene M. Keebler at Gardner-Webb College, became a member of the Council. Ex officio changes included Claude F. Gaddy, replacing Douglas M. Branch, deceased.

COOPERATIVE PROGRAM ADVANCE

1964 will see the final year of the Cooperative Program Advance. The Advance Program was begun under the direction of the Reverend R. T. Greene, following the action of the Baptist State Convention on May 4, 1961. The purpose of the Advance Program was to raise yearly by a certain per cent the Cooperative Program in order to give aid to the colleges and Baptist Student Union.

It was believed by those who advocated this program that from four to twelve million dollars could be raised for the Baptist colleges over and above the regular Cooperative Program support.

It now appears that the total net gain to the colleges will be considerably less than one million dollars; although, with a year still to go, if everyone could get in behind this program and every church cooperate, the picture might be changed.

Those who have worked closely with this campaign, however, do believe that, from a long-range point of view, it would be hard to overestimate the benefit which is accruing from this work. For example, many small and medium size churches have raised their annual giving far beyond the original goal. It is not likely that any of these churches will give any less in the future. This means that from a long-range point of view both the colleges and the Convention program will be helped for years to come.

In addition to this, thousands of laymen, who have read the literature, attended the campus and workshop meetings, have come to know the colleges better and to understand their program and purposes.

Moreover, as a result of the Cooperative Program Advance falling short of its original goal, the Executive Committee this year recommended that the 5 per cent increase intended by the Cooperative Program Advance be restored each year to the colleges. The colleges did not receive a 5 per cent increase in the base budget along with the other institutions and agencies for 1962 and 1963. This led to another problem for the colleges in that it cut by 3.22 the percentage of Cooperative Program funds that the colleges had been receiving. We are also happy to report that the Executive Committee went on record on August 16, 1963 as saying that before any other programs are begun this matter should be reviewed.

Program Director R. T. Greene has already set up meetings on the campuses again this year, along with workshops. It also should be noted that during the past year the attendance at these meetings increased considerably over the year before.

CHRISTIAN EDUCATION DAY, FATHER'S DAY

In observing Christian Education Day in 1963, the contribution of the North Carolina Baptist colleges to Foreign Missions was emphasized. Almost two hundred men and women who attended North Carolina Baptist colleges are now working in Southern Baptist missions—in almost every country in the world.

The literature promoting Christian Education Day emphasized this contribution of higher education to the work of the denomination. Many fine testimonies were received in behalf of Christian colleges from all over the world.

One of the finest features of the Christian Education Day emphasis this year was a special edition of the Biblical Recorder which carried human interest stories of the missionaries and their work.

More than 150,000 pieces of printed literature were prepared for distribution. So great was the demand for these materials that the supply was exhausted several weeks before Christian Education Day.

At the invitation of thirty-four associational Pastors' Conferences, college representatives and the executive secretary of the Council presented the work of the colleges in this special emphasis.

The Christian Education emphasis for 1964 will be on Christian Vocations. The seven Baptist colleges are challenging every church in the convention to join hands on Father's Day, Sunday, June 21, for a great statewide emphasis on the Christian ministry. It is also hoped that this program may become a permanent part of the Christian Education Day emphasis.

In addition to this program of asking people to dedicate themselves to fulltime Christian service, the undesignated Christian Education Day offering this year will go into a student aid fund. While thousands of dollars are available for scholarships in this country for those who want to study science, technology, teaching, medicine, law, or many professions, there has been no corresponding effort to help the Christian vocational workers overcome their financial problems. The workings of this fund will be explained in detail in both the Biblical Recorder and the Charity and Children.

The Council is most grateful to report that this year the Brotherhood, under the direction of Secretary Clyde L. Davis and President Lin Fincannon, will assist throughout the state in promoting the Christian vocational emphasis and the student aid offering for 1964.

One meeting of the college public relations personnel has already been held and we expect this year not only to have our literature out earlier, but to be certain that we produce enough to meet all of the demands.

DEPARTMENTAL FACULTY MEETINGS

The Council does nothing more important than that of bringing together the various disciplines in our family of colleges. Over a two-year period this means that all of our teachers in the North Carolina Baptist colleges who are engaged in the same field of work are brought together for two days of study and fellowship. These meetings have the quality of professional standards and a commonness of purpose in the Christian enterprise which gives direction and stability to our entire program of Christian higher education.

The secretary has represented the Council this year in meeting with these groups. Twice he has been accompanied by the chairman of the Council, who shares the opinion that this work is of real value. During the past year the following meetings were held: English and Foreign Languages, Campbell College; Business Education, Chowan College; Social Sciences, Gardner-Webb College; Education and Public Relations, Wake Forest College; and Business Managers, Raleigh.

ANNUAL ASSOCIATIONAL MEETINGS

The annual associational meeting continues to be one of the pivotal points in our communications program between the Baptist colleges and our Convention. At the associational level each year we meet a large group of the Convention leadership. The Council considers this phase of our program of such importance that it urges all colleges to be represented at the associational meetings, whether or not there is time for individual recognition.

A program of coordination is carried on with the General Secretary-Treasurer, college presidents and public relations personnel in an effort to see that Christian education is presented in each association.

The Council is grateful for the sincere effort which the colleges are making to present our program in the associations.

GREAT CHALLENGES FOR CHRISTIAN HIGHER EDUCATION

As we go to press with this report to the Convention, we are more convinced than ever that as goes Christian higher education, so will go our denomination. In appealing to history, we must never overlook the fact that no denomination has ever remained a great denomination apart from its schools and colleges. The Christian college will always be the denomination's greatest venture and greatest risk, but it will also be the place where we train our leadership. As we see it, the Christian college today faces at least five great challenges:

1. The challenge presented by the plight of modern youth who are desperately trying to find the meaning of an existence in a world which their elders did not know, a world teetering on the brink of atomic destruction on the one hand and staggering under the burden of universal military training on the other.

2. The challenge of Christian leadership in a world which for the past several years has watched an alarming decline in the number of men and women committing themselves to Christian vocation.

3. The challenge of individual freedom and dignity in a world which has witnessed a dehumanization of man on every level.

4. The challenge of a culture which has radically changed from Christian to non-Christian in practice and world view.

5. The challenge to maintain in these colleges high academic standards and competent teaching so that our Christian commitment will be honored by nothing that is not the best.

2. Reports from Colleges

a. CAMPBELL COLLEGE

R. A. HEDGPETH, President, Board of Trustees

LESLIE H. CAMPBELL, President

Campbell's completion of the transition to senior college status during the 1962-63 session was climaxed by the graduation of 176 with the Bachelor's Degree, 35 with the Associate in Arts Diploma and 19 with one year business certificates. Among the highlights of the year were the following significant achievements:

1. Assurance from the visitation committee of the North Carolina College Conference of a favorable report on the institution's accreditation at the next annual meeting this fall.

2. Approval of this institution's proposed teacher-training program by the North Carolina Board of Education, based on the Board's newly established regulations.

3. The subsequent granting of teaching certificates at Commencement this spring to some 90 new teachers.

4. An upgrading of admission standards last year and a substantial increase in the percentage of faculty members holding doctorate degrees.

5. A sizable increase in faculty salaries and in other instructional expenditures.

With the opening of the seventy-seventh session this fall another all-time high enrollment of 1,838 has been reached, of which number 1,791 are full-time students. Represented in this enrollment are 1,445 from North Carolina, gathered from 76 counties. The additional 393 students come from 18 other states, the District of Columbia, and five foreign countries. Baptist students number 994.

After the abnormally heavy schedule of plant expansion in preparation for the initiation of the full senior college program, costing over $1,900,000, only small additions and improvements, considered imperative, have been undertaken during the past year. These projects include the much-needed enlargement and renovation of the college bookstore, the building of an annex to the John S. Pearson Infirmary to provide doctor's offices, the enlargement of facilities for the music department with the addition of extra classroom space, and the purchase of the home of Mrs. J. A. Campbell, deceased, strategically located for future needs. Already the Campbell home and garage have been put to excellent use in providing classroom space for the expanding art department and in housing eight girls without dormitory accommodations.

The trustees, administration and faculty of the college are now confronted with the difficult problem of planning for the future. It is obvious that the first order of business is a sizable liquidation of debt to the banks, which was incurred to construct the new science building, essential to the senior college program. Substantial plans for future steps in the direction of needed upgraded facilities on the basis of even the present enrollment must await this debt reduction.

During the past year we lost by death Mr. Earl McD. Westbrook of Dunn, and also a former trustee, Mr. W. Herbert Jones, of Kinston. The leadership of these men will be missed at Campbell College.

The college audit, prepared for the fiscal year ending May 31, 1963, by A. T. Allen and Company, Certified Public Accountants, Raleigh, North Carolina, showed an excess of revenue over expenditures for 1962-'63 of $92,826.28. From this amount must be deducted approximately $50,000, a payment due on indebtedness for dormitories from which revenue was included in current operations.

The Business Manager's Report as of October 14, 1963 shows our present indebtedness on plant facilities, exclusive of a lease agreement with the James E. and Mary Z. Bryan Foundation pertaining to Bryan Dormitory, as follows:

Repeating from last year's report, "The bonds are secured by first mortgage liens held by the Housing and Home Finance Agency of the Federal Government on buildings constructed with federal funds plus certain pledged revenues from the operation of other debt-free buildings. The science building indebtedness is on open note held jointly by three leading banks in our area, to be paid from gifts from development fund efforts.

Campbell College continues to have many physical needs and related academic problems. Classroom space is still at a premium. There is need now for a fine arts building, a new auditorium, a student union building, and a maintenance warehouse.

Campbell College now owns approximately 600 acres of land and other plant assets, with a book value in excess of $6,000,000. It is striving to serve the proven need for a Baptist co-educational senior college in Eastern North Carolina. During its greatest hour of opportunity, it covets the full support of all North Carolina Baptists, its alumni and its many friends.

b. CHOWAN COLLEGE

H. D. WHITE, Chairman, Board of Trustees

BRUCE E. WHITAKER, President

Chowan College is the second oldest (1848) of North Carolina's seven Baptist colleges. At the opening of the 1963-64 academic session, Chowan enrolled 886 students in regular classes plus 81 students in evening and extension classes, making a total of 967. Last year 773 students studied on the campus and 60 students in extension classes at Roanoke Rapids. The 1963 summer session served 197 students for the first term and 147 students for the second term. Along with the increase in both quality and number of students, the operating budget of the college has appropriately increased. The Board of Trustees, in the regular September meeting, adopted the first million dollar budget in the 115-year history of this institution.

A recent newspaper editorial from Hertford County Herald evaluated the educational service and physical growth of Chowan College in recent years and emphasized its importance as follows: "Quite a showing for an institution that had been pronounced dead in the 1940's with burial in the form of selling its property being considered."

The editorial continued, "Chowan College's place in the sun in Hertford County is not assured solely by its contribution to the economy, important as that contribution is. Chowan, as any good educational institution should be, is a strong force in the educational, cultural and spiritual life of our country. Many from the area who would have no opportunity otherwise receive, as day students or in evening sessions such as its very fine creative writing seminar, training which they are able to put to very practical use. The program in many churches is enriched by personnel from the college. Without the assistance of Chowan the concert series, which people throughout the area attend, would have long since died. Even the North Carolina Little Symphony appearance each year has been moved from Ahoskie to Chowan, a wise move which has kept the symphony's annual county concert on its calendar. The very existence of nearly a thousand young people in the county gaining a higher education is of benefit in giving a more youthful, vigorous if you will, outlook to many activities throughout the county."

Approximately one-third of the Chowan faculty did graduate study during the past summer toward advanced degrees. Three Chowan professors are on leaves of absence working toward Ph.D. degrees. A recent survey of church work in the local churches showed that more than 90 per cent of the faculty and staff hold responsible offices and positions of service in the churches. All of the faculty and staff are members of a local church. Chowan College is granting a 4 per cent across-the-board and the equivalent of 4 per cent merit or incentive salary increase, effective February 1, 1964.

Chowan's growing physical facilities testify to the fact that North Carolina Baptists, Alumni, and other friends of the college are providing financial and moral support. A new dormitory for 216 men and a new drive and parking areas are now in use. The new classroom facility is expected to be ready for occupancy in December.

The indebtedness of Chowan College as of October 15, 1963 is as follows:

Date	Description	Interest Rate	Amount Due
10-1-58	Loan	5½ %	$ 204,000.00
12-1-59	Bond Issue	3⅜ %	228,000.00
12-1-63	Bond Issue	3⅝ %	550,000.00
Total Indebtedness			$ 982,000.00
Less Sinking Fund Reserves			59,410.00
Net Indebtedness on Plant Facilities			$ 922,590.00

The bonds are secured by first mortgage liens held by Housing and Home Finance Agency of the Federal Government on dormitory buildings constructed with said funds plus $12,000 of pledged tuition revenues from all students. The loan is from Jefferson Standard Life Insurance Company for construction of a 110-bed dormitory for women and a new cafeteria and is secured by a first lien deed of mortgage; these buildings currently are debt free except for the stated $204,000.

On December 9 the Jefferson Standard loan will be refinanced by three leading North Carolina banks at an interest rate of 5½ per cent and increased to $475,000 in order to complete payment on the new classroom building which will cost $450,000; this will result in a net increase of indebtedness at that time of $265,000.

The college continues to have many physical needs, including a new dormitory for 200 women, an addition to the cafeteria with a student store and related facilities underneath, and a new library. At the present time we are asking the Convention to grant us the privilege of borrowing a portion of the funds needed to erect these facilities, with the understanding that we will begin construction on the first two as soon as practicable.

Chowan College is grateful for the trust placed in it by its many friends and by this Convention in particular. We pledge our efforts to continue to provide quality education in a Christian atmosphere.

c. GARDNER-WEBB COLLEGE

TOLIVER DAVIS, Chairman, Board of Trustees

E. EUGENE POSTON, President of the College

Gardner-Webb College began the year 1963-64 with an enrollment of 683 students in the regular college program, 43 students in the evening college, and 35 students in the graduate program conducted by Appalachian State Teachers College each Saturday. There are 4 special students participating in the studies at the college. This is a total of 765 students being served by Gardner-Webb College. There are 59 members of the faculty, staff, and administration.

The above enrollment represents 57 counties in North Carolina and 13 states. We do not have a representative from a foreign country at this time. However, we do expect a Cuban refugee to enroll for the second semester. We have one application from a student from Japan.

Baptists make up approximately 75 per cent of the student body at Gardner-Webb College. However, the following denominations are represented: Methodist, Presbyterian, Episcopalian, Lutheran, A. R. P., Anglican, Brethren, Catholic, Christian, Christian and Missionary Alliance, Congregational Christian, Free Will Baptist, Jewish, Moravian, Nondenominational, Pilgrim Holiness, Quaker, United Church of Christ, and United Church of God.

Registration records revealed a total of 35 unchurched students. Plans are underway to lead these students to accept the Christian faith.

During the past year the college lost one of her dearest friends and benefactors in the death of Mr. J. R. Dover, Jr. of Shelby. However, his Christian influence will live on in the lives of the faculty, the staff, the administration and a host of others who knew of his dedication to his Lord, his church and Gardner-Webb College. Mr. Dover was serving as a trustee at the time of his death.

Some of the outstanding accomplishments during the school year 1962-63 need to be listed. First, the enrollment passed the 1,000 mark, including the summer school. Second, an evening college was started with an enrollment of 64, most of these being adults. Third, a joint working relationship with the Rutherford Hospital School of Nursing and Appalachian State Teachers College was started. Gardner-Webb College is providing the academic work for the first year nurses. We enlisted the help of Appalachian State Teachers College in providing graduate courses for the school teachers of our area. These two programs are continuing during the 1963-64 school year. Fourth, a new dormitory to house 100 young men has been built and filled to capacity. Fifth, a genuine emphasis on Christian living has been made throughout the college life.

During the past year the college endowment funds increased $27,-077.53 through gifts, bequests and savings, and the plant fund assets increased $179,412.59. At the present time our endowment fund is valued at $483,872.19. However, we need $3,000,000 in endowment to enable us to operate on a more secure basis. The value of the Gardner-Webb College physical plant is $3,256,-683.45. All current bills were paid promptly and our total debt as of July 31, 1963, was $145,000, which is being amortized monthly.

There are several buildings that must be built in the immediate future if we are to meet the needs of our students. We must have a Chapel-Fine Arts Building. Our chapel is overflowing with approximately 70 people having to stand or sit in the lobby or on the stage. There is an acute need for a Cafeteria-Recreation Building. Our present cafeteria is inadequate. The long lines at mealtime are discouraging. Classroom space is at a premium. If we are to continue our high quality work, we must make plans to build a Classroom Building. At the present time we are making plans to launch a capital needs campaign.

Gardner-Webb College covets your prayers as she continues to endeavor to meet the needs of the people affiliated with the Baptist State Convention of North Carolina. We are proud to be a part of the great Baptist family.

d. MARS HILL COLLEGE

HOYT BLACKWELL, President

The current academic year, the one hundred and eighth in the history of Mars Hill College, marks the beginning of its operation as a senior college. The 1,288 bona fide college students who enrolled in September are classified as follows: freshmen 497, sophomores 369, juniors 257, seniors 158. These students come from 82 counties in North Carolina, 23 other states, and 4 foreign countries. Special students increase the total enrollment of the current semester to 1,335. There are 15 denominations represented, Baptists heading the list with 1,022.

During the past year the college built a dormitory for women at a cost, including furnishings and landscaping, of approximately $540,000. Humphrey Cottage, a residence purchased by the college several years ago, has been remodeled and equipped for the Department of Home Economics to be used as a home management house. Two new laboratories, one for advanced chemistry and one for bacteriology, have been provided, and the physics laboratory has been enlarged. The athletic field has been re-graded, new lights have been installed, and a section of bleachers which will seat 3,500 people is under construction. In the cafeteria new dishwashers of the latest model have been installed, and major improvements have been made in other buildings. Extensive landscaping is further enhancing the beauty of the campus. The cost of this improvement program, including the new dormitory, adds up to more than $700,000.

As of today, October 10, the college has a short-term capital improvements loan of $400,000 from the Wachovia Bank and Trust Company. To date, less than $300,000 of this loan has been used. The college has no other outstanding indebtedness.

Two years ago, Mr. Robert Melvin, a member of the faculty, was granted leave of absence for further study in preparation for becoming chaplain of the college. After a year at Southeastern Seminary at Wake Forest and a year at Edinburgh University in Scotland, Mr. Melvin assumed his duties as chaplain this fall. His coming in this capacity was well-timed, as he is eminently qualified by education and personal Christian commitment to provide a spiritual ministry for the college at this crucial moment in its history.

The college regrets the loss of a trustee, James Emory Gibson, Jr., deceased as of August 4, 1963.

With the addition of eighteen teachers during the past two years, the college has been enabled to strengthen its academic program and to enrich its curriculum. Now that the transition from junior college to senior college status has been completed, Mars Hill has no alternative other than that of becoming an excellent senior college. This goal requires the confidence, the prayers, and the financial support of all our Baptist people. My colleagues and I are committed to this great endeavor.

e. MEREDITH COLLEGE

CHARLES B. DEANE, Chairman, Board of Trustees

CARLYLE CAMPBELL, President

The total student registration for the year 1962-63 was 968, of which number 845 were regular classmen during the nine-month academic year. They represented six foreign countries, eighteen States, and eighty-one North Carolina Counties. About 60 per cent were Baptists; 87 per cent from North Carolina; degrees were awarded 131 applicants during the year.

The auditor's report for the year ended June 30, 1962, showed a gross income of $1,332,463.34, and a net operating income of $45,-145.83. Total financial assets were listed at $5,753,709.04, with endowment funds listed at book value.

The eleventh annual School of Christian Studies was held on June 17-21, 1963, with the following guest lecturers participating: Professor Langdon B. Gilkey, University of Chicago; Professor Douglas V. Steere, Haverford College; Professor G. Ernest Wright, Harvard University.

The sixty-fifth academic year began with an orientation program for all new students on September 10, 1963. Thus far in the year 894 students have enrolled, with a capacity dormitory enrollment of 737.

By action of the Board of Trustees, the new infirmary, in use last year, was named the Delia Dixon Carroll Infirmary, in memory of Dr. Carroll, college physician and professor of physiology at Meredith from its opening until her death in 1935; the new dormitory was named Poteat Hall, as a tribute to Miss Ida Poteat, head of the art department from 1899 to 1940, and other valued members of that family. A 4½-acre lake and outdoor theater are now under construction. The theater has been named for the late Elva Bryan McIver, of Sanford, whose generosity made it possible.

As of June 30, 1963, the total indebtedness of Meredith College amounted to $990,000: (1) a loan balance of $390,000 payable to Wachovia Bank and Trust Company, carrying interest charges of 5¼ per cent and to be liquidated by 1967; (2) a loan of $600,000 from the Housing and Home Finance Agency on the new dormitory and infirmary, covering a 40-year period, and carrying interest charges of 3¼ per cent.

f. WAKE FOREST COLLEGE

WILLIAM J. CONRAD, President, Board of Trustees

HAROLD W. TRIBBLE, President

Wake Forest College began the 1963-64 college year with a total enrollment of 2,958 and an increase of almost 25 per cent in the Division of Graduate Studies. The total 1962 fall enrollment was 2,915.

The students are classified as follows: graduate studies, 104; arts and sciences, 2,211; business administration, 133; evening classes, 122; law, 161; and medicine, 227. There were drops in enrollment in evening classes and business administration. All others showed gains.

The new General Classroom Building, constructed at a cost of about $1,650,000, was occupied at the beginning of the fall term and relieves the college of some of its most pressing space needs. The three-story building houses nine departments — education, English, classical languages, history, German, Romance languages, philosophy, political science and sociology. Many of them left temporary classrooms and offices when they went to the new building.

Two members of the college's Religion Department retired in June, 1963. They are Dr. J. Allen Easley, chairman of the department and a member of the faculty since 1928, and Dr. Owen F. Herring, professor of religion since 1946. Their devotion and influence in the field of Christian education will be felt for many years to come.

The Rev. O. Jack Murphy of Hickory, a member of the board of trustees, died June 13, 1963. The contribution he made to the board will be missed.

The college will continue its endeavors to furnish the best well-rounded education in a Christian atmosphere. It thanks the Baptists of North Carolina for their support, their interest and their prayers.

Following is an analysis of the College's outstanding loans as of Sept. 30, 1963:

g. WINGATE COLLEGE

J. HERBERT BRIDGES, President of the Board of Trustees

BUDD E. SMITH, President

For the year 1962-63, the enrollment was 1,012. For 1963-64, the enrollment is 1,094. These young people represent sixty-seven counties of North Carolina; fifteen states; and, five foreign countries. Five hundred and ninety-five of them are members of Baptist churches. The college has sixty-two faculty members and fifty-seven are members of Baptist churches.

The operating budget for Wingate is $1,040,000. The capital budget is $450,000. The total capital indebtedness of Wingate is $297,000. All of this debt is well financed and is being reduced rapidly each year. The worth of the Wingate campus is approximately four million dollars. The college is now in the midst of the construction of housing for 120 men, a new president's home, and plans are being prepared for a cafeteria to feed twelve hundred students. Housing for 120 girls will soon be on the boards. A new challenge gift of $150,000 has just been announced. The trustees plan to match this during the Fall of 1963.

A new program at Wingate makes available all courses to full-time Baptist pastors without cost to the pastor. This is a way of expressing appreciation to the Cooperative Program leaders for the "life blood" that comes each year. The Cooperative Program is truly the best way for all North Carolina Baptists to invest in young people.

² $875,000 to Wachovia Bank and Trust Company

³ Medical School owes $500,000 to First Union National Bank, also on demand

Wingate College is proud of her program of instruction. Every faculty member and administrator is keenly aware of the importance of higher education with an emphasis on spiritual growth.

G. DIVISION OF CHRISTIAN SOCIAL SERVICES

1. Baptist Children's Homes of North Carolina, Inc.

OLIN T. BINKLEY, President, Board of Trustees

W. R. WAGONER, General Superintendent

North Carolina Baptists, as a result of the life, teaching, and ministry of Jesus and under the leadership of the Holy Spirit, launched a program of child care seventy-eight years ago this fall. Eternity alone will reveal the impact for good which this ministry has made. The children and families which have been served have been influenced greatly as well as society in general. People from every walk of life who have supported the Homes have found herein an avenue for wholesome benevolent expression. People who have not been able to help themselves have found help when the burdens and problems of life became too heavy to bear. Through all the years the child care ministry of North Carolina Baptists has been dedicated to the high moral, ethical, and spiritual principles set forth in the life of Christ. It is the purpose of the Trustees and the Administration to keep it this way.

Services which the Homes are in position to afford are being extended as far as possible. Facilities are used to capacity. All our income is invested in the lives of those whom we serve. This is a benevolent ministry dependent primarily upon the tithes, offerings and gifts of North Carolina Baptists. The people whom we serve do not have the wherewithal with which to pay their own way. Thus, all sources of income are of vital importance to the Homes. We could not operate without Cooperative Program income (33 per cent), Thanksgiving offerings (30 per cent) and Once-a-Month offerings (16 per cent). The twenty-one per cent which comes from other sources is of like importance.

After several years of careful study and planning, the Children's Homes, during the past year, realized a significant accomplishment in the establishment of a new home in Chapel Hill for the care of children needing specialized supervision and medical services. The newly acquired Chapel Hill Home was dedicated in appropriate services on Sunday afternoon, November 10, 1963. A unique arrangement has been finalized with the Medical School of the University of North Carolina, Memorial Hospital and with community agencies, institutions and resources. From every indication this facility will provide excellent care for children needing this kind of help.

Considerable attention is being given to future needs of the Homes. It is increasingly evident that we are confronted with the necessity for expansion of services. The number of applications for the admission of children is on the increase. A substantial increase in the number of children in foster home care would help to relieve the pressure. This seems to be the most practical approach to serving more children for whom care is being sought.

Continued study will be given to areas of unmet need to determine how North Carolina Baptists can best serve children and their families. The following are suggestive: the need for a home in western North Carolina; children in need of specialized supervision and services; retarded children; offenders of the law; juvenile delinquents; unwed mothers and their off-spring; homemaker services; nursery-day care centers; older adolescents with special problems; family counseling and family rehabilitation. Pastors and church leaders have expressed a great deal of interest when these needs have been presented to them.

There is a need for upgrading, modernizing and expanding present facilities. A competent architectural and engineering firm has been employed to make a thorough study of physical properties of the Homes. The condition of each building has been analyzed to determine, as accurately as possible, its continued usefulness. This study, when completed, will provide a carefully coordinated plan for campus development for many years to come.

The quality of care at Mills Home can be improved with a more adequate library building, an addition to the church for religious education and the replacement of several of the older cottages, some of which have been in use more than seventy-five years. Kennedy Home needs an infirmary, library, recreation building, music building and cottage replacements. Leadership in the field of child care is advising that future cottages be planned for a maximum of twelve children and in most instances these should be designed for family living. The grouping of brothers and sisters in the same cottage is proving effective.

Increased attention is being given to the interpretation of our child care program through Charity and Children, Biblical Recorder, the public press, pamphlets, brochures, film strips, area conferences and personal appearances of personnel. Members of the Board of Trustees and members of the staff are seeking to share our message. We are concerned that our people know both the services that are being rendered and those that are needed in the future.

A generous Thanksgiving offering this year is essential. All of it will be used in the day by day care of children. To increase this source of income will be to increase services rendered. To reduce this resource will be to reduce services in like proportion. A generous love gift for homeless and dependent children is an effective way of expressing thanksgiving to God for His bountiful grace and care.

Charity and Children continues to grow in its circulation and appreciation among North Carolina Baptists. An annual subscription can be had for sixty cents (60c) a year when sent to your church or one dollar ($1.00) a year when mailed to your home. This affords an excellent means of keeping up with the Children's Homes and other phases of denominational work.

2. North Carolina Baptist Homes for the Aging

WILLIAM A. POOLE, General Superintendent

God has blessed the ministry of our North Carolina Baptist Homes in a wonderful manner during the twelve years of our operation, and the past year has been filled with His goodness.

We are now able to serve 160 residents in our four Baptist Homes—the Hayes Home and Resthaven in Winston-Salem, the Albemarle Home, at Albemarle, and the Hamilton Home, at Hamilton.

Since June of 1962, the doors of the lovely new Hamilton Home have been open to the first residents, and the halls have been ringing with the laughter and the happiness of the residents there since. This beautiful facility has greatly lengthened and strengthened the arm of our total ministry, and has already brought much joy to our Baptist people in Eastern North Carolina. We are looking forward to the day in the future when the arm of compassion can be extended to reach and serve more of our aging people in Western North Carolina.

The greatest single need is for more space continually. Today there are 160 people waiting for admission, from all areas of our great State, and it is a heartbreaking experience to keep these dear people waiting who so urgently need to come.

The average age among our residents is 80. Our youngest resident is 65, and our oldest resident was 102 in July. Between this age span, we are seeking to meet almost every conceivable life need of the individual. Each person, in an atmosphere that is distinctly Christian, is surrounded by love, peace, and security. Perhaps one of the greatest single contributions that is made is the nursing care that is given in the event of illness. The resident is assured that he will receive tender loving care in sickness as well as in health. Years are literally added to the life of a person in our care, we feel.

The tie with our Baptist people and our Baptist Churches is a blessed one indeed. We are continually dependent upon the prayers, the visits, the loving concern, and the financial support of our people. The two most vital media of support from the churches are the Special Day Offerings, received on the third Sunday of February each year, and the Homes' share in the Cooperative Program. Inasmuch as we receive only $1\frac{3}{10}$ per cent of the State Convention's share of the Cooperative Program, or \$8.58 out of each \$1,000 contributed through the Cooperative Program, we shall have to continue to look to the Special Day Offerings for the greater part of our support from the churches.

North Carolina Baptists have given a good account of their stewardship in their ministry to the aging during these years of a wonderful beginning, and we have the faith to believe that they will continue to move forward in this great area of human concern.

3. North Carolina Baptist Hospitals, Inc.

DR. FLEMING FULLER, Chairman, Board of Trustees

REID T. HOLMES, Administrator

On the occasion of this one hundred thirty-third anniversary of the North Carolina Baptist State Convention, the Trustees and staff of the Hospital extend their greetings to all messengers and other friends assembled together to participate in the ongoing work of the Kingdom.

This year there has been much positive progress in the service of this missionary enterprise to our Baptist people and to many other sick and suffering individuals.

There were over 150,000 visits to our charity and private patient clinics for ambulatory patients. More than 16,000 persons were admitted into the hospital for surgical operations or medical treatment of some nature. Rich and poor alike come from all over this state for treatment and diagnosis. We are grateful for the presence of the teachers and fine doctors who make up the Faculty of the Bowman Gray School of Medicine. These doctors treat their private patients in the Baptist Hospital and assume responsibility in addition for "Service" patients who come to us.

Your "Mother's Day" contributions help to pay for Service patients hospital care if the patient cannot do so himself. Your Cooperative Fund contributions through the Convention Office are used for debt payments and for purchasing new improved equipment. This keeps your hospital in step with modern methods and services in patient care.

In August 1963 the Kembly Inn property was bought through substantial help by corporations, Foundations and individuals. It is to be used to house students in our expanding Paramedical Schools. The General Board was most helpful in approving interim financing. The facility will house 164 students.

Early this year the Board of Visitors of the Bowman Gray School of Medicine, the Baptist Hospital Board of Trustees and the Trustees of Wake Forest College agreed to formally engage architects to plan expanded facilities and to engage fund raising counsel to solicit $16,250,000 from Foundations, Corporations, Individuals, and government sources. The acceptance of government funds has been formally approved, as you know, through regular Convention channels and in accordance with previous policies.

The new program envisages more Medical School multi-purpose teaching laboratories, classrooms, and auditorium space. It is expected that new construction will enable the Medical School to increase its student body by 30 per cent.

On the hospital side new out-patient facilities, a new patient bed tower to give a net gain of 200 beds, expansion of service facilities and a paramedical school classroom building will relieve great pressures for more work in all these areas.

This general need for hospital expansion was presented 3 years ago in our report to you. We need your prayers and seek Divine Guidance in this important endeavor.

HIGHLIGHTS OF THE YEAR

For the first time, color was used on the cover and inside pages of several issues in the past few months. This is too expensive to do every week, but the press which prints the Recorder now is equipped to handle one color in addition to black. Comments have been most favorable on the use of color and it is hoped that color can be used at least once a month in the future if the budget permits.

At the suggestion of the auditors, the directors have approved a reserve fund for pre-paid subscriptions. Normally, the Recorder has approximately $45,000 in pre-paid subscriptions in hand. This fund will be built up over a period of years as the Recorder is able to add to it, thus insuring that obligations to every subscriber will be met.

The Recorder staff continues to work diligently to keep the lines of communication open to North Carolina Baptists. With the varied and complex issues facing them today, it is imperative that Baptists be properly informed. The directors believe that messengers going to the convention in Wilmington will be well-informed if they have read their Recorder carefully in the past several months as issues have been explained and aired.

One staff change was made in the past year. On January 1, 1963, Rev. Roger Branch of Ailey, Ga., succeeded Miss Kate Matthews who retired after 20 years' service to the Recorder. Mr. Branch is associate in news and editorials. He is a graduate of the University of Georgia, majoring in journalism, and has his B.D. and Th.M. degrees from Southeastern Seminary where he worked in the Public Relations Department for three years while a student.

Since any change in the Constitution and By-Laws of the Biblical Recorder requires Convention approval, the following change in By-Laws is recommended: "The annual meeting of the directors shall be held on Monday after the fourth Sunday in October, at which time the directors shall perfect and approve their reports for the Convention."

This change merely delays the October meeting of the board one week in order to give the auditors an additional week to complete their report.

The Recorder staff and directors are grateful to North Carolina Baptists for their continued support. Special appreciation should go to churches which are sending the Recorder to every resident family. "This doesn't cost, it pays," is the way one pastor expressed his feelings about this plan.

The staff pledges itself anew to publish a paper each week that will merit the confidence and support that North Carolina Baptists have given it since the first issue in 1833.

V. REPORT OF THE NORTH CAROLINA BAPTIST FOUNDATION, INC.

C. GORDON MADDREY, Executive Secretary

This is the third annual report of the North Carolina Baptist Foundation, Inc. since it was reactivated July, 1962. The promotion of the work has been through associational meetings, church appearances, individual visitation, lawyers, trust officers and correspondence. The personal contacts have indicated that our Baptist people are anxious to know more about the services offered by our Foundation and in some instances have actively utilized these services through their wills, in estate planning, trust agreements and memorial trusts.

One of the finest ways to make a bequest to a Baptist institution or agency is by a bequest in a will. By means of a will, one may contribute after his death through the Foundation for the cause he loved and supported while living. A will insures that your estate will be distributed exactly as you desire upon your death. It permits you to say who will have charge of handling the estate. It often reduces probate expense, and usually reduces the estate tax. As a steward of God you are responsible for distribution of your estate at your death. You can accomplish this with a will.

The Foundation cannot too strongly urge that we need increased endowment for our Baptist institutions and agencies to provide for their security and continuing service. Baptist work depends largely on institutions and institutions cost large sums of money to build, equip and maintain. The future security of our institutions depends largely on having adequate endowment. We need increased endowment whichever way the economy goes in the future. In a recession or depression the Cooperative Program could not be expected to carry the whole load. If the inflationary trend continues, all the present sources of income will be inadequate to meet the pressing financial needs in face of constantly rising costs. The difference in our summary of assets as of June 30, 1962 and June 30, 1963 shows an increase of $21,069.70. This growth is not as spectacular as the growth of the fiscal year ending in June 30, 1962, because there were no large estates left to the Foundation such as the Graves, Bradsher and Pettus estates. However, I do wish to point out that the increase that we have experienced is due to several factors: Our investment committee has recommended changes in some of our investments that have resulted in an increase in our net returns from the investments; our investments are being scrutinized very carefully by the executive committee and whenever changes seem to be in the interest of the Foundation, low-producing investments are being replaced with those that we believe will yield a higher dividend. Another encouraging factor regarding our increase in amount of assets is the fact that more people are beginning to use the Foundation in setting up memorials, trust agreements and are providing specific benefits to those institutions and agencies in which the donor has a special interest. If we can secure a broad base of participation such as the Cooperative Program, it is our belief that the Baptist Foundation can serve in a most worthwhile way our Baptist people in their support of the agencies and institutions most dear to their hearts. There are millions of dollars in possession of Baptists in personal and real properties that could and should be left to the Foundation for denominational causes. There are literally millions of dollars in the estates of North Carolina Baptists that will ultimately be paid out for Federal and State Estate Taxes, unless the owners leave a portion of their estates for religious, benevolent and educational causes.

VI. REPORTS OF CONVENTION COMMITTEES

A. REPORT OF COMMITTEE ON MEMORIALS

The Bible tells us that it is appointed unto men once to die. Death is no respecter of person. On a marble slab on the chapel wall in Cave Hill Cemetery, Louisville, Ky., is the following inscription: "Youth and Beauty, the Loved and the Stranger, the Strong and the Weak, the Rich and the Poor — all are gathered here." Death makes his common appeal to all. During the past year Death has made his appeal to old and young of our Baptist constituency. Although all of their names will not be recorded in the Baptist State Convention Annual, their names are now inscribed in the Lamb's Book of Life.

We recommend

First, that mention of the deceased be memorialized in the 1964 Convention Annual.

Second, that the 1964 Convention Annual be dedicated to the late Executive Secretary, Dr. Douglas M. Branch, to the Reverend John W. Suttle and Mr. Robert N. Simms, Sr., former Presidents of the Baptist State Convention, and to Dr. W. R. Cullom, Baptist teacher, author and preacher for many years.

Third, that the Convention messengers and visitors stand in reverent silence as a tribute to their memory, followed by a prayer of thanksgiving for the contributions they made to the Kingdom of God.

B. REPORT OF COMMITTEE ON PUBLIC AFFAIRS

ARE NORTH CAROLINA BAPTISTS COMPROMISING THE CHURCH-STATE RELATIONSHIPS? WOULD THIS QUESTION BE ASKED IF WE THOUGHT WE WERE NOT?

In 1959 after many months of painstaking effort the Committee of Twenty-five representing this Convention submitted to the Special State Convention of that year five significant findings, on Church-State relations which-your Committee on Public Affairs offers as an introduction to its report.

FINDINGS

"I. The Committee finds that theory and practice in the area of the relationships between church and state are profoundly influenced by the historical situation as well as by doctrinal belief.

"II. The Committee finds that there is no such thing as absolute separation of church and state.

"III. The Committee finds that there are areas of mutual interest and concern to both church and state.

"IV. The Committee finds that men live in a situation where two valid loyalties are expected of them.

"V. The Committee finds that the relations that obtain between church and state hold vast potential for good for both, but that great dangers to both are inevitably involved."

Significant ideas lifted from these findings are:

There is no such thing as absolute separation of church and state:

There are areas of mutual interest and concern to both church and state:

The confrontation with two valid loyalties—on one side the church and on the other side the state:

That in the relationship between church and state there are involved vast potentials for good to both Church and State and great dangers to both:

Since your Committee on Public Affairs is elected on staggered terms several members have for two or more years been increasingly involved in this serious consideration of the church-state relationship.

We have attended National Conferences in Washington, D. C., held under the sponsorship of the Baptist Joint Committee. To these Conferences have come many representatives from the Southern Baptist Convention and other American and Canadian Conventions. These Conferences reveal a division of opinion on the question of the Separation of Church and State in the field of loans and grants to Baptist church related educational and social service institutions. There have been strong majority and minority findings. Since the Baptist Joint Committee is not authorized to make recommendations to the cooperating conventions the results or findings of these various religious liberty conferences are passed along to the cooperating Conventions for information and guidance.

Within the Southern Baptist Convention, our Baptist State Convention of North Carolina appears to be the only Convention which has attempted to search out a Baptist rationale on the acceptance of Federal funds. For a number of years this Convention was served by a Committee on Religious Liberty. This Committee and special Convention Committees, and now the Committee on Public Affairs, have honestly attempted to provide guide lines in this increasing complex problem involving Church and State. It was not until 1946 that the Convention for the first time in its history wrote into the Constitution a guide line on Church-State Relations.

We record this Constitutional provision which remains unchanged today:

ARTICLE XI-SECTION D "Neither the Convention, nor any institution or agency, owned or supported in whole or in part by the Convention, shall accept or receive, directly or indirectly, any gift, grant or aid from the Federal or State governments or any governmental agency, except for definite and full services rendered by the institution or agency and by and with the approval of the Convention or its General Board."

In many meetings of your Committee and from a study of the findings developed by the Washington Conferences sponsored by the Baptist Joint Committee most of our time and discussions have been involved in the matter of loans and grants to Baptist Church related institutions.

Today every Baptist College and Social Service Institution in North Carolina is receiving either in the form of loans or grants increasing Federal financial assistance.

Our Conventions year by year, under the above provision of the Constitution have given sanction and approval to these loans and grants to our Baptist Institutions in North Carolina.

Your Committee recognizes the fact that had not Campbell, Chowan, Meredith and Wingate colleges obtained dormitory loans that now total approximately $3,000,000, some 1,500 students for the lack of dormitory space would not today be enrolled in these institutions.

Dr. Coy Carpenter, Vice President of Wake Forest College and the former Dean of the Bowman Gray School of Medicine, has advised your Committee and the Baptist Joint Committee Conferences in Washington that if Wake Forest College and its medical school had been denied the right to receive, as it is at the present time, something over a million dollars a year in Federal Grants, the Bowman Gray School of Medicine could not exist. It has been determined that 42 per cent of the total budgets of the 86 Medical Schools in the US in 1961-1962 came from Federal Government sources. At the Bowman Gray School of Medicine of Wake Forest College, the average is 32 per cent of the total budget. More recently, Baptist Hospital was given authority by the General Board to receive a grant on the Convention approved basis of services rendered.

Your Committee is of the opinion that our Baptist Administrators in our colleges and in our social service institutions are honestly attempting to comply with the Constitutional provisions and the policy of this Convention on the acceptance of Federal loans and grants.

Your Committee is likewise advised by each of the North Carolina Baptist Colleges that have applied for and accepted Federal Housing Loans that all principal and interest payments are being paid when due and that no loan payments due the Federal Government are in arrears.

The officials of the Bowman Gray School of Medicine and the Baptist Hospital report that a correct accounting has been given to the Federal Authorities on the use and the findings of all funds accepted. Between the years 1951 and 1961, approximately 281 separate Federal Grants in many, many varied fields of medical research have been given to our Medical School in Winston-Salem.

If you or any of your friends have been a patient in the Baptist Hospital since 1951, the chances are that you have been the recipient of medical treatment and cures made possible by these Federal Grants to the Bowman Gray School of Medicine of Wake Forest College.

Your Committee has earnestly sought to project an honest and sincere approach to the serious financial problems facing our Baptist Colleges and our Social Service Institutions as it may relate to the separation of Church and State. The Committee after soul searching study calls upon the convention to admit that we have pressured our colleges to take our students and our social service institutions our needy, and that we have not with the same enthusiasm given these our church related institutions the financial support they must have if they are to carry out their mission.

What is the answer?

Your Committee on Public Affairs finds and recommends:

1. We suggest to North Carolina Baptists that we temper our criticisms of other religious groups for accepting Federal Loans and Grants because we North Carolina Baptists stand equally guilty of accepting these same types of Federal Funds.

2. Your Committee at this time is not prepared to suggest any change in our Constitution with reference to a new Convention policy on the acceptance of Federal Loans and Grants under the Constitutional provisions "except for definite and full services rendered by the institution or agency and by and with the approval of the Convention or its General Board."

3. Your Committee recognizes the knowledge and competence of the Committee of Twenty-five which projected the present policy followed by our Convention, with respects to Federal Loans and Grants.

Your continuing Committee on Public Affairs may not be able to develop any new insights on this complex problem involving our Baptist Institutions and the Federal Government, but if this Convention so desires the Committee will undertake, if directed to do so, a serious re-appraisal of what your Committee feels is a gradual erosion of the principle of the separation of church and state in this area of "services rendered" as defined in our Constitution.

4. Your Committee invites every North Carolina minister and layman, and every Baptist church to re-appraise the Church-State Relationship and suggests a few topics for group discussions.

(a) Are we really interested in the broad aspects of religious freedom contemplated by the First Amendment. To prick our conscience, would North Carolina Baptists or Baptists in general be interested in religious liberty if the issue of Federal aid to parochial schools were eliminated?

(b) Is religious liberty involved when we fail to implement Convention resolutions on racial bias?

(c) Is religious liberty concerned when Communications between the Convention and its Social Service and Educational institutions break down and the growing tendency for each group within the Convention to map out its own strategy to reach desired ends?

(d) Do Baptists too often talk to themselves on Church-State Relations? In Colonial Days Baptists joined hands with Catholics and other Protestant groups in the fight for religious freedom.

(e) Are Baptists being so organized by Boards and Committees and public relations groups to the point that the Baptist Church today is being submerged in organization and denominational bureaucracy so that Baptists generally are not encouraged to seek individual understanding and clear insights on the subject of religious liberty that inspired the First Amendment to the Constitution? Are we North Carolina Baptists developing within the Convention cells of influence that create friction and division within our constituency?

(f) Is religious liberty involved in secret meetings of important policy making committees of either the State or the Southern Baptist Convention?

Your Committee, along with those who have preceded us in this field, recognizes the fact that we do face a "DILEMMA." Yet your Committee feels that we must stand up and be counted. We ask ourselves as we ask you and your churches: What can this Convention say to North Carolina Baptists and to the responsible leadership now leading our Baptist Institutions in the fields of Human Welfare, Education and Medical Care on this ever growing and complex problem involving the separation of Church and State in the immediate years ahead.

C. CHRISTIAN LIFE COMMITTEE

According to the By-Laws of the Baptist State Convention of North Carolina, the Christian Life Committee "shall study social problems and developments, shall keep our Baptist constituency informed in this area, shall formulate statements and programs designed to promote personal righteousness and social justice, and shall report to the Baptist State Convention in annual session." There are a number of matters to which your committee should like to give attention if there were time. One area, for example, in which there are perennial moral issues is that of the family. Here such matters as unmarried parenthood, young marriages, homosexuality, divorce and remarriage, and problems of the aging are of great importance. Another such problem area is that of the media of communication. Involved here are such issues as government control of news, problems of obscenity in literature and in the movies, issues at stake in advertising, and the like.

Forced to limit its work, your committee has elected to concentrate on three issues. One is the matter which the Convention last year returned to the committee for further consideration, that of capital punishment. The second is the question of the cooperation of our denomination with other religious groups. The third is the crisis in race relations as it affects our local communities and churches.

I. CAPITAL PUNISHMENT

After further study, your committee concludes that available evidence indicates that capital punishment does not serve as an effective deterrent to crime; that it is discriminatory in application; that its studied non-use in the state of North Carolina in recent years condemns its continued use; and that it has been successfully abolished in other states.

No matter how debatable the above issues, the basic consideration before this or any other Christian body is the question, "Is capital punishment Christian in nature?" The answer to this question should determine the action of this Convention.

Your committee considers capital punishment to be unchristian for the following reasons:

(1) It transgresses the teaching of Christ concerning the sacredness of human life and the inestimable value of one human being. Christ demands of us respect for human life.

(2) It denies and removes the possibility of redemption and rehabilitation taught in the New Testament.

(3) It is an expression of personal vengeance which is denied man by God himself. "Vengeance is mine, I will repay, saith the Lord." Vindictiveness is never Christian.

(4) These condemned persons may deserve to die, but we do not deserve to be their executioners.

Holding that capital punishment is an unchristian act, the Christian Life Committee strongly urges that this Convention take positive action on the following resolution:

"That the Baptist State Convention of North Carolina go on record as supporting the abolition of capital punishment in North Carolina."

We recommend these qualifying provisions and conditions:

a. That this Convention favors the creation of a climate of public opinion to the end that capital punishment be abolished and that a revision of the state's penal processes, its judicial and parole systems, be made in the light of this change in the laws of our state.

b. That this Convention provide an active expression of these views at the public hearings which may be conducted by the legislative bodies of our state government on this subject.

II. RELATIONSHIPS WITH OTHER RELIGIOUS GROUPS

We call to your attention the celebration of our Jubilee Year which is in prospect for 1964. During that year seven Baptist bodies of North America are to be engaged in an observance of the anniversary of the organization of the Triennial Convention, the first denominational organization of Baptists in the world. Previous organizations were purely associational in nature. It will also be an appropriate season for us to take careful account of Baptist beginnings in North Carolina as well as elsewhere on this continent.

No better preparation for this significant anniversary celebration could be devised than for North Carolina Baptists to cultivate deliberately that spirit of openness toward other Christian bodies which was so impressively characteristic of our earliest forebears. If we are successful in the recovery of that disposition of mind and heart we shall be prepared to appreciate the other Baptist bodies who are our neighbors in this country. We shall likewise come to feel a much more sympathetic interest in the Christian groups of all persuasions who go to make up the Christian community of North America and the world.

To this end we are greatly encouraged by the fact that in its recent revision of its theological statement the Southern Baptist Convention for the first time in its history gave official affirmation to the New Testament idea of the Church as "the body of Christ," a point of view which was included in all Baptist confessions of faith written prior to 1840. It is hoped that in the spirit implicit in this affirmation the people of our churches will become familiar with the purposes and characteristics of the several Christian groups who live and work in our land.

Baptist bodies in the United States have a common heritage in the Triennial Convention and a spirit of affinity found in the historic confessions of faith. Our common beliefs bind us together in spirit and call us to a clearer understanding of our unity in Christ and our mission in his name. It is the conviction of this committee that continuing study should be given looking toward cooperative endeavors by the various Baptist bodies in fulfilling the common mission of the Church in the world today.

Your committee is impressed with the efforts of thirty-three of the Christian communions in the United States "to manifest oneness in Jesus Christ as Divine Lord and Savior" (from the Preamble to the Constitution of the National Council of Churches) by their cooperation and fellowship through the democratically organized and controlled National Council of the Churches of Christ in the United States of America. Also, the members of our churches could hardly fail to be in accord with the doctrinal presupposition of the Council of Churches in our own state which, according to its preamble, "welcomes to its membership all those that accept Jesus Christ as incarnate Son of God and Savior of the World" (Preamble to the Constitution of the North Carolina Council of Churches). Recognizing the spirit of co-operation already existing between churches of various denominations on the community level we suggest that Baptists consider their opportunity and responsibility for cooperation on a state and national level.

We Baptists have much to give and much to receive from a more informed and inclusive attitude toward joint Christian enterprises such as the North Carolina Council and the National Council of Churches than we have heretofore experienced. During this session of joint celebration, we commend to our people a re-evaluation of our aims and purposes as well as a reappraisal of our relationships with other Baptists and with other Christians.

III. RACE RELATIONS

The demands of the gospel, the requirements of good citizenship, and developments in recent months have forced your committee to the conclusion that once again our Convention must speak to our people and to the world at large on the matter of race relations. By sit-ins, kneel-ins, and picketing, Negroes have dramatized their dissatisfaction with practices and laws which were accepted by an earlier generation. They have thereby forced individual Christians and churches to face up to issues which they would have preferred ignoring.

We wish to commend the citizens of our state for the peaceful manner in which the crises have been met. Much credit goes both to elected officials and to law-enforcement personnel who have dealt with explosive situations carefully and wisely. Many such persons in local communities and on the state level have given wise and courageous leadership in the attempt to negotiate settlement of the issues. A number of business men, either through negotiations or by individual decision, have opened their businesses and institutions to all the public and some have agreed to employ qualified Negroes. All such developments we regard as forward steps and we urge the Baptists of North Carolina to support them in every way possible.

We must re-examine our motives and feelings in the light of Christian principles and affirmations on human relationships. In our personal attitudes and actions and in our church policies we are to be governed by the truth of the gospel. Some New Testament passages which have a direct bearing upon this matter are Matthew 8:5-13, Luke 10:25-37, Acts 10:1-43, Acts 17:22-31, I Corinthians 12:12-13, and Ephesians 2:11-22. Our churches need to consider in the light of these biblical teachings their policy concerning the admission of Negro visitors and the application of Negroes for membership. These matters are more likely to be settled on the basis of Christian principles if dealt with calmly and prayerfully before the church is forced to deal with a particular case.

D. HISTORICAL COMMITTEE

The outstanding achievement of the year for the Historical Committee was the procuring of a microfilm camera with which all records of local Baptist churches and associations can be filmed and preserved in the Wake Forest College Library. Largely through the efforts of the Director of the Baptist Collection, Mr. James Nicholson, this camera was purchased in cooperation with Wake Forest College and put into operation. Beginning with the Pilot Mountain Association, Mr. Nicholson collected and microfilmed the clerk's minutes of 22 Baptist churches.

This program of work was set to continue, but was temporarily halted because of the resignation of the Director. In view of his precarious health, Mr. Nicholson felt it necessary to tender his resignation as of August 1, 1963. Already efforts are underway to secure a new Director, and it is hoped that within a short while this position can be filled.

A significant milestone was reached on September 15 when the Wake Forest College Birthplace Society celebrated and unveiled a marker at the Calvin Jones house in Wake Forest, North Carolina. The Historical Committee asks the Convention to join with it in expressing gratitude to this Society for all it has done to restore and preserve the Jones house.

Plans are continuing to erect historical markers at Fort Caswell as well as at other places of historical interest in the state, such as old academies and grave sites. In addition, your Historical Committee expects to call upon the Department of Program Services to assist it in securing recordings of outstanding North Carolina Baptists. It is hoped that the voices of some of our older religious leaders may be preserved on tapes or records for Baptists in the future.

We would encourage all Baptists in our state to help us in our undertaking to collect, record, and write histories of local churches, associations, and personalities. To this end, we invite associational historians to bring to our attention items of historical interest in their respective areas.

E. CHRISTIAN ACTION COMMITTEE

Through the Christian Action Committee the North Carolina Baptist State Convention cooperates with eighteen other evangelical religious bodies in the continuing effort to educate the people of North Carolina concerning the perils of beverage alcohol and narcotics. The agency through which the denominations cooperate in this highly worthy effort is the Christian Action League. The executive director of the League is the Reverend D. P. McFarland, and the office is located at 424½ Fayetteville Street, Raleigh. The members of this Convention's Christian Action Committee serve as trustees of the League and its chairman as a member of the Executive Committee. Last year our Convention appropriated the sum of $10,000 for the support of the League.

There is every reason to ask that the Convention and the Baptists of North Carolina continue their support of the Christian Action League. Indeed the steady upward climb in the consumption of beverage alcohol and the relationship between drunken driving and slaughter on the highways should lie so heavily upon our consciences that we should welcome the opportunity afforded us by the League to join with our brothers and sisters of other denominations in unrelenting warfare against one of the worst social evils of our time.

It is estimated that in 1962 there were 68,000,000 adults in the United States who drank alcoholic beverages in some degree. Of this number 5,400,000 were alcoholics and 4,100,000 were heavy drinkers or problem drinkers. Now take into account the fact that for each one of these 9,500,000 drinkers there are five other people whose lives are affected by the intemperance of the 9,500,000, and we begin to realize that we are not here dealing with the pros and cons of prohibition, or with the alleged puritanical approach to the drink problem, but with the ominous signs of a galloping cancer in the body of the American social order. If the churches do not sound the alarm and educate the people concerning the perils of this cancer, who will? There were 40,500 deaths on the highways in the United States in 1962, an increase of almost 3,000 over the number of deaths in 1961. In 1962 there were 3,345,000 injuries on the highways, an increase of 288,000 over the number of injuries in the preceding year. We do not know how many of these deaths and accidents were related to the use of alcohol. Estimates run as high as 75 per cent of the accidents as being related to the drinking of alcoholic beverages. The North Carolina Highway Patrol reports that alcohol was a factor in more than 50 per cent of the fatal accidents on the highways of the State last year. With these grim figures before us we are compelled to do more than sadly shake our heads when we read in the daily newspapers stories of the tragic accidents on the highways. As good stewards of the gospel of Jesus, which proclaims the preciousness of personality and the value of human life, we must care, we must be concerned, we must act!

The Christian Action League affords us our best means of expressing our care, our concern, our desire to act. The League seeks (1) to unite all who believe in total abstinence from alcoholic beverages in a cooperative effort to agitate, legislate and educate against this social evil; (2) to awaken public interest in opposing gambling, narcotic addiction, salacious literature and acts of violence and vandalism; (3) to promote programs for the rehabilitation of the victims of alcoholic beverages and other narcotics. The League is not engaged in partisan politics but does seek the support of all parties in promoting legislation for the common good and in opposing legislation detrimental to the moral welfare of the citizenship of the state.

The League will sponsor again this year a newspaper advertising campaign to keep alcohol out of Christmas and to emphasize the truth that Christmas belongs to Christ. Support this campaign by your contributions and by helping make possible the appearance of the advertisements in the newspapers of your area! Pray for the League in its work and in other ways give it your loyal support!

F. TRUSTEE ORIENTATION COMMITTEE OF THE NORTH CAROLINA BAPTIST STATE CONVENTION

This committee since its formation in 1958 has held four conferences in the discharge of its responsibility to provide an annual session which seeks to impress upon the trustees of our institutions the requirements of their task. Special emphasis each year has been given to the orientation of those serving for the first time as trustees of our colleges and social service institutions.

The programs include timely and practical addresses followed by discussion groups of various sizes. Each group has had a good number of administrative personnel and trustees present for vigorous, free and open discussion of problems, opportunities and responsibilities pertaining to the office of trustee. After four years now the committee believes this program has proved its worth and should by all means be continued and strengthened. We are happy to report that at last we have been able to produce in pamphlet form the two main addresses from the 1963 conference including for distribution to all trustees the address of Dr. Olin T. Binkley, "The Trustee and The Denomination," and that of Dr. Carlyle Marney, "The Trustee and The Institution."

The themes of the last four conferences will give some idea of the scope and seriousness of the programs: 1960: "The Place of The Trustee in The Church-Related Institution," address, "Growing in Effective Trusteeship." 1961: "The Purpose of Church-Related Institutions," addresses, "Trusteeship: Honor or Responsibility"; "Learning the Needs of Your Institution"; "Fulfilling the Role of The Trustee." 1962: "The Trustee-Administrator Relationship," addresses, "The Value and Dangers of Church-State Relationships as They Pertain to Church-Related Institutions." Workshops on: "The Trustee Discharging Specific Responsibilities." 1963: "The Responsibilities of The Trustee," addresses, "The Trustee and The Denomination"; "The Trustee and The Institution." The Committee has had two meetings and planned the program for January 3 and 4, 1964, at the Robert E. Lee Hotel in Winston-Salem. The theme for 1964 will be "Our Institutions: Their Purpose and Our Responsibility." Addresses will be given on: "What Makes a College Christian?" "The Trustee: Asset or Liability"; and "The Changing Role of the Christian Institution."

Each conference encourages trustees to enter into serious and challenging discussion with administrators and other trustees in the workshop and seminar sessions of the conference.

The committee urges all trustees and personnel of our institutions to make firm plans to attend our next conference as they grow in importance each year. We are aware of the need to expand the ministry of this committee. This we have done by publishing the above mentioned pamphlet. We hope before too long that an effective and worthwhile manual on trusteeship can be produced to facilitate the work of trustee orientation for all our institutions. In no way do we consider the work of our committee to supersede the responsibility of each institution to take a more vital role in the orientation of its own particular trustees. We are grateful for the splendid cooperation which our denominational leaders have continuously given this committee and look forward to rendering even more effective service in the future.

G. REPORT OF THE BAPTIST JUBILEE ADVANCE CONTINUATION COMMITTEE

INTRODUCTION

Since 1959, Southern Baptists have shared in a program known as the Baptist Jubilee Advance Program, a cooperative movement participated in by seven Baptist bodies in the United States and Canada for the purpose of celebrating jointly and in an appropriate and worthy manner, the 150th anniversary of the organization of Baptist work on a national level in the United States and North America. North Carolina Baptists have participated in this program enthusiastically and profitably.

Our Southern Baptist observance of the Jubilee Advance Program led us in 1959 to share in an emphasis on Evangelism. In 1960, we joined in a Year of Teaching and Training. In 1961, our attention was focused upon Stewardship and Enlistment. Church Extension was the goal for 1962. World Missions has been the chief emphasis of our efforts in 1963.

I. 1964—THE YEAR OF JUBILEE

We come now to the final and climactic year—1964, the Year of Jubilee. Our Southern Baptist Convention Committee has suggested that during this year we attempt to gather up everything we have tried to do over the past five years and add to it a special Baptist heritage emphasis, in an effort to achieve the greatest single period of advance that Southern Baptists have ever known. The theme for the year is "For Liberty and Light." The goal is advance in all our work. Mindful that all we are and do must be designed to bring honor to God, North Carolina Baptists will not be satisfied to give God less than their best in self and service during this Year of Jubilee.

Recommendations:

As means of encouraging our people and churches to give their best efforts to God, we offer the following recommendations:

1. That pastors and church councils use the Baptist Jubilee Year brochure as a guide in planning for observance of the Jubilee Year.

2. That the Jubilee emphasis as outlined in the 1964 calendar of activities planned by the Baptist State Convention personnel be used by the churches and associations.

3. That we utilize the emphasis of the Jubilee year to bring our people to a deeper appreciation of our Baptist Heritage.

4. That the statement of the committee on Baptist ideals entitled "Baptist ideals and their current significance" be used in the churches for study and discussion.

5. That we strive to communicate a proper image of Baptists to other religious groups and to the public in general through a better understanding of our heritage and ideals.

6. That Baptist heritage, doctrines, and ideals be given significant emphasis in the annual associational meetings across the state in the summer and fall of 1964.

7. That the committee on order of business for the 1964 Baptist

State Convention meeting consider the most appropriate method of presentation of our Baptist ideals either through devotional periods at beginning of sessions, or as special items of the agenda.

8. That whereas the Jubilee emphasis will reach a climax in a joint meeting with other Baptist groups at Atlantic City in May 1964,

And whereas our State Convention in its annual meeting will meet jointly with the General Baptist Convention for one session in November 1964,

And whereas facilities at both these meetings will be most adequate for unusually large attendance, we recommend that every church try to send their pastor and their full quota of messengers to Atlantic City in May and Greensboro in November.

9. That North Carolina Baptists seek to become more aware of other Baptist groups in our state (American Baptist Convention, General Baptist Convention, National Baptist Convention, Free-will Baptist, Primitive Baptist, and others), and that the churches seek a better understanding of, and deeper fellowship with, these Christian friends.

10. That since the spirit of evangelism has characterized our Baptist witness from its beginning and recognizing our need for revival in order that we, the largest evangelical denomination in our nation, may have commensurate influence in stemming the tide of materialism, atheism, and secularism that threatens every person and home in our land, we recommend to our people that they give themselves to earnest prayer and soulful witnessing in the Jubilee Simultaneous Revivals.

11. Since this climaxing year of the Jubilee Celebration comes simultaneously with the closing year of a special three-year emphasis on the Cooperative Program in North Carolina, we recommend that every church make a serious and dedicated effort to accomplish the goal of a 35 per cent increase in Cooperative Program gifts.

12. Since the establishment of new churches and missions has been a major part of the Jubilee celebration, we recommend that North Carolina Baptists face the mission needs of our state realistically and make every effort to meet them.

II. THE POST-JUBILEE EMPHASIS

In order to conserve all the inspiration and spiritual values that have come to us in the Baptist Jubilee Advance, a Post-Jubilee emphasis is being suggested. Whereas the Pre-Jubilee emphasis placed attention on convention programs, the Post-Jubilee emphasis will focus on the church itself. The Pre-Jubilee emphasis called for planning on the level of the Southern Baptist Convention, the Baptist State Convention, and the association in cooperation with other Baptists bodies. The Post-Jubilee emphasis calls for planning on the level of the local church.

In the New Testament, the concern of the Apostle Paul and other Christian leaders was the benefit of the churches. It is a significant fact that our Lord did not commission conventions, agencies and boards, to go into all the world with the gospel but rather made this the responsibility of the churches. Great assistance, encouragement and leadership have come to the churches from those who assist at the convention level, however the genius of our Baptist work is the recognition of the centrality of the local congregation in kingdom enterprise. This means the greater responsibility for initiative lies with the churches. We seriously call the churches to assert this initiative in planning and carrying out the Post-Jubilee objectives. As we think and work together in programs that concern the nature and functions of the church in these Post-Jubilee years, we encourage the churches to share with one another and our state convention leaders their experiences which they have found helpful in accomplishing their Christ commissioned task.

What are the functions of a New Testament church as understood by Baptists and practiced by them in our day? This question was carried to churches of SBC by a convention agency. This extensive study comprises the background for the program which is proposed for these Post-Jubilee Years. Workers from the Sunday School Board went into churches across our convention and asked the question, "What is your understanding of the true role and function of the Church?" The answers which were given to this question from the churches were compiled, studied, analyzed in the light of the New Testament, and then made the basis for the themes proposed for the years 1965-1968. The 1969 theme is an objective which ties together all of the functions of the church emphasized in the previous four years.

RECOMMENDATIONS:

We recommend that the following themes and emphases be adopted for the Post-Jubilee Years:

1965—"A Church Fulfilling Its Mission Through Worship"

1966—"A Church Fulfilling Its Mission Through Proclamation And Witness"

1967—"A Church Fulfilling Its Mission Through Education"

1968—"A Church Fulfilling Its Mission Through Ministry"

1969—"A Church Fulfilling Its Mission Through Evangelism and World Missions"

If we would go farther in Kingdom enterprises we must go deeper with God. Our Christian experience must bring us to an encounter with God that will call for total commitment to Christ and His Will. Only thus will we tap the potential talents and resources of the individual Christian for the worldwide program of Christ. As we strengthen the stakes of personal commitment we can lengthen the cords of Evangelism and Missions.

We recommend the continuation of a committee to implement the suggested Post-Jubilee program.

The seventy-fifth Anniversary Year of Woman's Missionary Union auxiliary to the Southern Baptist Convention has been appropriately observed by both hard work and jubilant celebration in North Carolina. With gratitude for the abiding blessings that are a part of our heritage, we have tried to focus our efforts on the present and plan with wisdom for the future.

There are 10,450 Woman's Missionary Union organizations in North Carolina including the Woman's Missionary Societies, Young Woman's Auxiliaries, Girls' Auxiliaries and Sunbeam Bands. The operating budget supporting the state work of North Carolina Woman's Missionary Union comes from the Baptist State Convention through cooperative program gifts and is $71,065 for the calendar year 1963. This is supplemented by $20,000 from the Heck-Jones Offering for WMU promotion which is promoted through the local Woman's Missionary Unions in June.

We have nine salaried employees, including an office staff of four, and five who do promotional work all over the state, with an occasional trip to the conventionwide WMU office in Birmingham for conferences and planning meetings. The president of North Carolina Woman's Missionary Union serves without salary but receives travel expenses. She has visited 13 associations in the interest of Woman's Missionary Union since October first 1962, in addition to the state conferences, clinics and conventions.

Mrs. Louise Burgess, a native of Elizabeth City, joined our staff in January as Sunbeam Band Director, replacing Miss Delois Hamrick who married and moved to another state.

State WMU personnel have been in associational or local meetings in 47 of the 80 associations in the state during the year.

The Annual Session was held in Ovens Auditorium in Charlotte, presenting special anniversary features and drawing a record attendance of 2,922. The Negro Baptist women were cordially invited to attend and their president was one of the speakers on the program. There were nine home and foreign missionaries present. The printed Minutes of this meeting were dedicated to the memory of Mrs. J. Clyde Turner of Raleigh, a former state WMU president, and Miss Macy Cox of Magnolia and Mrs. C. E. Brewer of Raleigh, former members of the executive board who died during the year.

Leadership training receives constant attention. Two Workshops for Associational WMU Leaders were held in different sections of the state, with 374 attending. 4,800 basic leadership cards have been granted this year to local and associational leaders who had never before received this training. This almost doubles the number granted last year.

World Missions Week at Caswell, sponsored with the Division of Missions this year, was customarily well attended by men, women and children.

803 GAs were registered in state GA camps this summer, with hundreds more clamoring for admission. The impossibility of one GA director doing more than this in addition to her other duties has led us to a serious consideration and study of the entire WMU camping program, resulting in the following action taken by the executive board in September: provision for the employment of a

GA camp director; the addition of two weeks of state GA camps, making a total of 6 weeks: 2 Int. GA and 3 Jr. (11 yrs. and above) GA camps at Fruitland, 1 week at North Carolina Baptist Assembly (July 15-20) for Jrs. (11 yrs. and above) and Intermediates, these being in addition to the GA house party in connection with World Missions Week; provision for two clinics for the training of associational GA camp workers and Sunbeam Band Day Camp workers, one at North Carolina Baptist Assembly, April 24-25 and one at Fruitland, May 1 and 2, the expenses of the directors of associational GA and SB Day Camps to be paid by Woman's Missionary Union.

575 YWA members and leaders attended the State YWA Conference held at Campbell College March 29-31. North Carolina YWA's were represented at the Glorieta YWA Conference (none being held at Ridgecrest this year) by 10 YWA members and leaders, accompanied by the State YWA and WMU president.

In observance of the 50th anniversary of the organization of Girls' Auxiliary, three consecutive national GA conventions were held in Memphis, Tenn. in June. 424 girls from North Carolina attended one of the conventions, traveling by chartered buses and automobiles. The GA director and executive secretary were in charge of the chartered bus going from Raleigh.

The entire WMU promotional staff attended the conventionwide WMU meeting in Kansas City in May and WMU Week at Ridgecrest in August. The president and WMS director represented North Carolina at the meeting of the North American Baptist Women's Union in St. Louis last November. The YWA director and GA director were sent to a biracial meeting of the Fellowship of the Concerned in Atlanta. And the YWA director, traveling at her own expense, conducted a touring group of 12 North Carolinians to the World Youth Congress in Beirut in July.

IX. P.O.A.U.

Baptists played a determinative role in the passage of the First Amendment to the Constitution of the United States of America. This amendment states: "Congress shall pass no law respecting an establishment of religion or prohibiting the free exercise thereof."

In the course of history it is inevitable that repeated attempts will be made by church groups to secure for themselves preferential treatment before the law, and (or) to foster legislation which violates the letter and (or) the spirit of the constitutional provision guaranteeing that there shall exist in America "a wall of separation between church and state" which assures a "free church in a free state." With the growth in numbers and influence in America of a large hierarchical church system whose backgrounds, traditions, creeds, dogmas and aims are at variance with the American ideal of church-state relations, it has become necessary for concerned groups and individuals to devise a non-sectarian, non-religious organization through which all lovers of freedom can co-operate in safeguarding our constitutional guarantee of the separation of the Church and the State, or as is more agreeable to Baptist terminology, "A free church in a free state."

To meet this need an organization called "Protestants and other Americans United for the Separation of the Church and State" (abbreviated P.O.A.U.) was set up seventeen years ago. The executive staff of this organization, legally trained, has the responsibility of discovering cases of infringement of the church-state principle, assisting local groups in prosecution where aggravated cases are discovered, and of disseminating educational materials designed to inform the public in this vital area. The past year has witnessed intensified efforts of one church group with powerful legislative connections to secure legislation which would secure for their educational institutions large tax subsidies. Through P.O.A.U., the Baptist Joint Committee, and other organizations, the public has been kept informed about these matters. The massive effort was at the last defeated in Congress. Litigation in several states has successfully protected the constitutional guarantees of Church-State separation. The staff of P.O.A.U. has been active in all these.

Many individuals, civic groups and local churches support P.O.A.U. directly. Baptist churches doing so may remit through their State Convention offices. Since, however, by no means all our local churches give direct support to P.O.A.U., and since the aims and purposes of this organization are identical with our own in the field of church-state relations, for several years now the Baptist State Convention in approving a budget each year has included a modest sum for P.O.A.U.

It is highly desirable that individuals establish direct contact with P.O.A.U. so that they may receive the Newsletter and other informative materials. The address is: 1633 Massachusetts Avenue, N.W., Washington 6, D. C.

Tyranny, like disease, must be continually combatted.

X. EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE REPORT ON WAKE FOREST COLLEGE—CONVENTION TENSIONS

At the Wednesday morning session of the 1962 Baptist State Convention, meeting in Raleigh, action was taken that requires the General Board's Executive Committee to report to the 1963 convention concerning a particular matter. That action is as follows.

"Your Executive Committee has been aware that in recent years there has been a widening breach between the Convention and Wake Forest College. We have felt some responsibility in this apparent trend and have taken what we consider to be appropriate steps toward improvement. We are pleased to report that progress has been made in effectuating some improvement in this situation during recent months. We feel that further exploration of this matter between the college and the Executive Committee of the General Board could be fruitful and highly beneficial to the cause of Christ.

"We therefore recommend, that the executive committee of the college trustees, the college administration, and the Executive Committee of the General Board be instructed to explore further the points of tension and to report any significant progress attained to this Convention in 1963." (Page 165, Annual of the Baptist State Convention, 1962)

Your Executive Committee has sought to fulfill the task assigned and is reporting herewith "significant progress attained."

In seeking "to explore further the points of tension" with Wake Forest College, representatives from the college administration, trustee executive committee, and the General Board's Executive Committee began meeting in February. Early in the discussions the points of tension were grouped under three general headings:

- I. Control
- II. Admissions
- III. Communication

The report will follow the order suggested in these three areas. Many hours have been invested in the full committee's explorations, and we feel that this report merits careful, prayerful consideration.

I. CONCERNING CONTROL OF WAKE FOREST COLLEGE

Any approach to the matter of control must have as background the clearly worded statements embodied in Article IX of the Constitution of the Baptist State Convention of North Carolina and in sections 2, 3, and 6 of the Wake Forest College Charter. The 1958 Convention's action in adopting the special Committee of Nine's report (pp. 44-54, North Carolina Baptist Annual, 1958) presents a definitive statement of the relationship between Convention, trustees, and institutions.

Statements from the administration and trustees affirm their strong belief in and commitment to the concepts of ownership and control so stated (with the exception that the Administration, Faculty, and Trustees are requesting the Convention to change its requirement that all Trustees be "residents of the state of North Carolina and members of churches cooperating with the Convention").

We feel that Wake Forest College wants to continue its close ties with the Baptist State Convention within the structured relationship of the Convention's electing persons to serve as trustees who in turn elect a president to administer the affairs of the college. It appears to us that Wake Forest wants a deepening of this relationship.

The request from the Wake Forest College board of trustees for a change in the nomination of trustees has been discussed at length with the representatives of Wake Forest College but any recommendation dealing with the proposal will be dealt with as a separate matter on the floor of the Convention.

II. CONCERNING ADMISSION OF STUDENTS AND EMPLOYMENT OF FACULTY

1. We discussed at length the decline in the proportion of Baptist students enrolled at Wake Forest College. We found that a decade ago 80 per cent of the student body were Baptists, while now only 44 per cent are Baptists. The administration is deeply concerned over this change. However, we found this decline in percentage of Baptist students to be present generally in all seven of our colleges. The percentage of Baptist students in all seven of our colleges is 57 per cent.

Because this has not appeared to be a serious problem over the years, Wake Forest has neglected an aggressiveness in dealing with it. We see clear evidence now that Wake Forest College is making every effort to accept Baptist students and is urging them to apply for admission. (Such admission would be in keeping with their minimum academic standards.)

Several factors that enter into this declining percentage at Wake Forest College are here noted.

1. In the religious climate of our day it is no longer an expression of denominational disloyalty for Baptist students to attend other than Baptist colleges. Such factors as a student's major field of study and tuition costs often lead him to a non-Baptist institution.

2. Many more students are commuting to college, thereby influencing them to choose one within driving distance.

3. The tensions between Wake Forest College and the Baptist State Convention have contributed to the decline. Some prospective Baptist students have seriously questioned whether Wake Forest would provide the environment for Christian education.

The Wake Forest College Administration has submitted this statement of admissions policies:

"Underlying the total program at Wake Forest College is a constant desire to provide the best type of Christian higher education with special emphasis placed on the procurement of North Carolina Baptist young men and women. The admissions office spends over 90 per cent of its traveling schedule in the state of North Carolina counseling with North Carolina students about their college plans.

"As the number of college-bound students increases it is only natural that the selectivity in each of our entering classes becomes greater. The faculty committee on admissions makes every effort to judge equitably each applicant, not only by his academic preparation, but by his seriousness of purpose, his home background, his desire for learning and his character and general fitness for life at Wake Forest College. In addition, the admissions committee is aware of the obligation to our North Carolina Baptist young people and does give preference to those applying. On April 1, 1963, for example, when most admissions decisions had been made for the fall of 1963, the college had accepted 57 per cent of the North Carolina Baptist applicants and had accepted only 33 per cent of those applicants from outside the state.

"Wake Forest College accepts every North Carolina Baptist student who meets the entrance requirements as set forth by the faculty committee. These applications are studied and evaluated first and are given the first opportunity to take the available spaces.

"Every effort is made to view each applicant in the light of his total strengths and weaknesses, and to express the Christian purpose of the college in admissions as in other areas. Wake Forest College is constantly trying to emerge as an educational institution of which all can be proud, with special emphasis on its role with the denomination and the Convention."

With regard to students planning church-related service the following information is significant.

Wake Forest College provides concessions and various kinds of scholarships to ministerial students, sons and daughters of ministers and missionaries. During the 1962-63 school year concessions and scholarships granted for such (not including student loans) amounted to $21,225. During the same school year concessions and scholarships totaled $119,350.

The amount the college received through the cooperative program for its total program (current operating, capital needs, etc.) for the 1962-63 year is $330,000. The large percentage used in this particular area is obvious.

The proportion of Baptist students in each of our seven colleges is as follows:

Campbell	55 per cent
Chowan	52 per cent
Gardner-Webb	70 per cent
Mars Hill	79 per cent
Meredith	58 per cent
Wake Forest	44 per cent
Wingate	58 per cent

2. Another point of concern was the proportion of Baptist faculty members serving at the college.

(1) We found that in recent years the percentage of Baptist faculty at Wake Forest College has declined. (However, a similar decline can be noted in some of our other six colleges.) This matter has been often discussed in the Wake Forest trustee meetings, with the administration urged to make every effort to enlist Baptists as faculty members.

(2) It is our feeling that a faculty member in any of our Baptist colleges is under certain obligations and restraints. This is in keeping with the "Statement of Principles on Academic Freedom and Tenure" as developed by the Association of American Colleges. Embodied in this statement is this significant provision:

"In a socially created and socially supported institution such as a college or university there can be no such thing as complete freedom of expression. It is permissible and right for the sponsors of such (denominational) colleges to define appropriate limitations of instructional freedom."

(3) With regard to enlisting Baptists on the Wake Forest faculty the following is quoted from the president, Dr. Harold W. Tribble.

"The administration of Wake Forest College is constantly seeking highly trained and dedicated Baptist scholars for service on the faculty. The problem is the shortage of supply. The accrediting agencies and other groups that rate colleges and universities in terms of educational excellence place high value upon earned graduate degrees and achievements in research. We are happy indeed when we can find dedicated Baptists who rank high in educational circles in both these regards. We solicit and use the cooperation of the denominational agencies, such as the placement office maintained by the Southern Baptist Education Commission in Nashville. We also welcome the suggestions and recommendations that come from pastors and other denominational leaders.

"Our main source of supply in recruiting young scholars for our faculty is the group of graduate schools affiliated with strong universities across the country. This points up the urgency of the need for Wake Forest College to expand to Wake Forest University with a good graduate school. We regard as part of our stewardship to provide for some of our most promising Baptist young scholars adequate opportunities for graduate training and research in our colleges across the South and even across the nation."

(4) We list here our seven colleges with the percentage of their full-time faculty (for the current school year) that are Baptists.

Campbell	63 per cent
Chowan	82 per cent
Gardner-Webb	77 per cent
Mars Hill	85 per cent
Meredith	45 per cent
Wake Forest	62 per cent
Wingate	89 per cent

III. CONCERNING THE GENERAL AREAS OF COMMUNICATION

We have been gratified by the cooperation of the Wake Forest administration, trustees, faculty and student leaders in correcting what had become an intolerable situation in certain student publications, particularly the Student and the Old Gold and Black. The offensive ads which ran for several weeks in the Old Gold and Black have been deleted and we have been assured that they will not reappear.

We also feel that the administration, faculty and student leaders are concerned about improving the lines of communication between the college and the Convention.

We recognize that the problem created in the publication of The Education of Jonathan Beam, by Russell Brantley, has been a painful and complicated one for everyone concerned. The task of our Convention committee has been to deal with Wake Forest College at the point of tensions. The "Jonathan Beam problem" has been discussed both with the administration and the principals involved.

The committee would like to make it clear that the employment and dismissal of personnel must remain the sole responsibility and prerogative of the board of trustees and the administration. For this committee or any other committee to act on any other principle would create confusion. Nevertheless, our committee has conveyed to the administration and the executive committee of the board of trustees the fact that for many North Carolina Baptists the book, The Education of Jonathan Beam is offensive in three major respects:

1. That it came from a communications officer at the college and that it was released on the eve of what was to have been a great financial campaign for all North Carolina Baptist colleges.

2. That certain living Baptist leaders were held up for ridicule.

3. That the gross language, while mild in comparison with much modern literature, is highly offensive to a host of our Baptist constituency. This committee would like to make it clear that it is not passing judgment on the literary qualities of this book, nor upon the rights of an individual to write such a book.

Our committee has spent many, many hours prayerfully considering this matter, and has agonized over possible solutions; but we have only been able to convey to Wake Forest College, through its administrative officers, the feelings of many of our Baptist people — that the solution to this distressing problem must rest finally with the board of trustees, the administration and Russell Brantley.

Included here is a statement adopted by the Wake Forest College board of trustees in April of 1962.

A DECLARATION OF POLICY

The board of trustees of Wake Forest College, recognizing that this institution was established and has been maintained as a Christian college, and desiring its continuation as such an institution, hereby declares that the dominant policy of the college shall be to operate it, through its administration and faculty, in a manner to merit its classification as a Christian institution; as an institution where young gentlemen and young ladies will be encouraged to grow intellectually, morally and spiritually and without being subjected to ridicule or scorn for cultivating Christian virtues.

All practices in derogation of this declared policy are hereby prohibited. Publications of any kind for distribution among the students of the college shall be under the guidance of a member of the faculty, and administration. In no event shall such printed matter be permitted which encourages, or tends to encourage, the violation of the criminal laws of the state of North Carolina or of the United States, or which disparages Christian religion.

The Executive Committee of the General Board, Baptist State Convention:

J. Dewey Hobbs, Jr., Chairman; F. Stanley Hardee, Jr., Nane Starnes, George E. Simmons, Carl E. Bates, R. M. Cassity, Clarence E. Godwin, Travis Styles, Aubrey Tomlinson, Jerry Niswonger, W. A. Mitchiner, E. W. Price, Jr., T. E. Robinett, Charles B. Trammel and D. J. Hooks.

18. E. L. Spivey, Secretary of the Division of Missions, was recognized and called attention to the cooperation of our convention with the Home Mission Board in North Dakota. He presented Albert S. Lamm, who went from North Carolina to North Dakota fourteen months ago. Lamm brought greetings from the eight Baptist churches and five missions in the state, as he made a report of the progress of the work there.

19. The time having arrived for the election of a General Secretary-Treasurer, J. D. Hobbs, Jr., President of the General Board, was recognized. He called attention to the action of the Board in February, 1963, in asking Claude F. Gaddy to serve as Acting General Secretary-Treasurer, and in appointing a committee to seek and recommend one to serve as General Secretary-Treasurer. R. K. Benfield, chairman of that committee, made its report with the recommendation of W. Perry Crouch, who is completing twenty years of service as pastor of the First Baptist Church of Asheville. He stated that eighty-six names had been suggested to the committee, and that prayerfully, after repeated meetings, with the final session called to consider three names, the unanimous choice was for Dr. Crouch. The General Board had already approved the selection. On motion and second, Dr. Crouch was unanimously elected.

20. Dr. Crouch was presented to the Convention and in appropriate words accepted the position to which he had been called, pledging his best in serving the Convention and asking for the prayers of the messengers. He urged the Convention to move forward without bickering and group pressures and expressed faith in every institution of the Convention.

21. President Starnes introduced members of the family: Mrs. W. Perry Crouch, the Reverend and Mrs. Henry Crouch, Dr. and Mrs. Robert Crouch, Dan Crouch, and a daughter, Mrs. Allen Patterson.

22. The period of worship followed, with Randolph L. Gregory reading from Eph. 2, and a solo by Furney Baker. Carlton S. Prickett, Burlington, delivered the Convention sermon on "The Encounter in Being Christian." Insisting, first, on the necessity of an encounter with Christ in order to become a Christian, he called attention in this connection to (1) The divine making — “His workmanship”; (2) The divine method — “created in Christ Jesus”; and (3) The divine motive — “unto good works” (Eph. 2:10). The speaker emphasized the need of an outgrowing spirit of understanding and love and referred to four things essential if we measure up to our trusteeship: (1) Faith in God as Creator of the universe; (2) Faith in Jesus Christ as the unique revelation of God; (3) Faith in man as a potential child of God; and (4) Faith in the church as the body of Christ. The benediction was pronounced by John M. Sykes, Statesville.

TUESDAY AFTERNOON—NOVEMBER 12, 1963

Session Theme: “Whatsoever Ye Shall Ask in My Name,
That Will I Do” (John 14:13)

23. With the 1st Vice-President George M. Simmons presiding, after a quiet period of organ music, the congregation sang “O for a Thousand Tongues to Sing.” Karl Steele, Professor of Art at Wheaton College, Wheaton, Illinois, presented a devotional message in art. The period was closed with prayer by Maynard H. Mangum, Southern Pines.

24. Mrs. W. Perry Crouch was presented and graciously expressed appreciation that North Carolina Baptists could unite on one man as their Secretary.

25. The following resolution from the Student Legislature of Wake Forest College was introduced:

Whereas, the Board of Trustees of Wake Forest College has adopted a plan to increase the basis on which the Trustees of the College will be selected, and

Whereas, the adoption of this proposal will enable Wake Forest College to become an even more outstanding undergraduate educational community and allow the creation of a complete graduate studies program, and

Whereas, the adoption of this proposal will allow Wake Forest College to render further service to the young men and women of this nation, and

Whereas, the proposal will help strengthen the bonds between the College and the North Carolina Baptist State Convention, and

Whereas, the proposal will be considered at the annual North Carolina Baptist State Convention to be held in Wilmington, North Carolina, November 12-14, 1963.

NOW, THEREFORE BE IT RESOLVED by the Student Legislature of Wake Forest College that the Student Legislature of Wake Forest College:

1. Endorse and support this proposal to create a greater Wake

Forest College and specifically the plan to allow a greater and broader selection of the Board of Trustees, and

2. Strongly urge the North Carolina Baptist State Convention meeting in Wilmington, North Carolina, November 12-14, 1963 to accept this proposal and

3. That copies of this proposal be sent to the appropriate officials of the College, the state news media, and the officials of the North Carolina Baptist State Convention.

26. A resolution from the Board of Trustees of Chowan College to borrow was offered:

Whereas, the Board of Trustees of Chowan College finds it advisable and necessary, in order for such institution to best carry on its works, to

(a) Borrow the sum of Five Hundred Sixty Thousand Dollars ($560,000) to be used for the purpose of constructing a girls' dormitory for said college, and

(b) Borrow the sum of Two Hundred Thousand Dollars ($200,000) to be used for the purpose of constructing an addition to the cafeteria and additional student union facilities for said college, and

(c) Borrow the sum of Two Hundred Thirty-Five Thousand Dollars ($235,000) to be used for the purpose of constructing a library building, and

Whereas, it is the opinion of the said Board of Trustees that it will have funds coming to it for capital purposes which will be sufficient to liquidate the Five Hundred Sixty Thousand Dollars ($560,000) for the erection of the said girls' dormitory over a period not in excess of 40 years, and will have funds coming to it for capital purposes which will be sufficient to liquidate the loan of Two Hundred Thousand Dollars ($200,000) for the erection of additional cafeteria and student union facilities over a period not in excess of 40 years, and will have funds coming to it for capital purposes which will be sufficient to liquidate the loan of Two Hundred Thirty-Five Thousand Dollars ($235,000) for the erection of a library building if and when payments become due.

NOW THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED by the Board of Trustees of Chowan College:

1. That the proper officers of Chowan College are hereby authorized and instructed to borrow the sum of $560,000 for the purpose of enabling Chowan College to erect a new dormitory for approximately 200 women; that at the proper time for the closing of the loan, the proper officers of Chowan College, or its Board of Trustees, be and they are hereby authorized to execute a note or bond with interest and upon such terms as may be designated, secured by a first deed of trust or mortgage on the said girls' dormitory and the lands upon which same is located.

2. That the proper officers of Chowan College are hereby authorized and instructed to borrow the sum of $200,000 for the purpose of enabling Chowan College to erect additional cafeteria and student union facilities; that at the proper time for the closing of the loan, the proper officers of Chowan College, or its Board of Trustees, be and they are hereby authorized to execute a note or bond with interest and upon such terms as may be designated, secured by a first deed of trust or mortgage on the said cafeteria and student union facilities and the lands upon which same is located.

3. That the proper officers of Chowan College, or its Board of Trustees, be and they are hereby authorized and instructed to proceed with necessary steps to secure a loan or loans in the gross amount of $235,000 and at the best available rate of interest for purposes of erecting a new library building consisting of approximately 36,000 square feet, and that the proper officers of the Board of Trustees are hereby authorized and empowered to execute a note in said sum of money, secured by mortgage or deed of trust, and that they are hereby further authorized to obtain temporary financing for construction of the proposed new library building; and to execute a note, securing same by deed of trust on property of Chowan College.

4. That no part of the indebtedness which may be incurred by Chowan College under the authority of this resolution shall in any respect be deemed or held to be an indebtedness or obligation of the Baptist State Convention of North Carolina, and neither the Baptist State Convention of North Carolina nor its General Board shall assume any responsibility whatever for the repayment of such loan or any interest thereon.

5. That the Baptist State Convention of North Carolina at its next regular session be requested to authorize Chowan College to borrow not in excess of the sums above mentioned upon the terms and for the purposes herein set out.

27. Jerry Niswonger, chairman of the Committee on Social Services of the General Board, spoke briefly and introduced Olin T. Binkley, president of the Board of Trustees of the Children's Homes, who moved the adoption of the report and spoke to it. Carried.

Dr. Fleming Fuller, chairman of the Board of Trustees of the Baptist Hospital, Inc., moved the adoption of the report and spoke to it.

William A. Poole, Superintendent of the Baptist Homes for the Aging, moved the adoption of its report and spoke to it. Carried.

Niswonger presented C. B. Deane, Rockingham, who addressed the Convention on Christian Social Services, calling attention to their significant ministry and pressing needs.

28. The congregation joined in singing "When I Survey the Wondrous Cross."

29. President Nane Starnes, returning to the chair, presented J. D. Hobbs, Jr., Chairman of the Executive Committee of the General Board, to present the Executive Committee's report on relations between Wake Forest College and the Convention. (cf. Book of Reports, pp. 155-161). A motion to accept the report as information was carried.

30. President Starnes introduced Maurice Hill, Drexel, Vice-Chairman of the Board of Trustees of Wake Forest College, to present the proposal of the Wake Forest trustees concerning the nomination and election of trustees. In turn, he called on Judge J. J. Hayes, North Wilkesboro, who moved that the Constitution and Bylaws be amended as follows:

I. That Section A of Article IX of the Constitution of the Baptist State Convention, said Article IX being entitled "Institutions and Agencies of the Convention," be amended by adding thereto new paragraphs to be numbered and to read as follows:

6. Beginning at the 1964 Convention and at each annual Convention thereafter, five of the nine Trustees of Wake Forest College whose regular terms expire in 1964 and annually thereafter shall be nominated and elected by the Convention as provided in subsections 1 through 5, Section A, Article IX. The other four Trustees shall be nominated as follows: The Board of Trustees of Wake Forest College shall submit to the Convention's Nominating Committee eight names, from which the Committee shall select four, and these four shall be nominated to the Convention. The provisions of the Constitution as to residence and church membership of Trustees shall not apply to the four Trustees nominated and elected in the foregoing manner. At no time shall such Trustees exceed 16 of the 36 members of the Board of Trustees of Wake Forest College. The Convention's Nominating Committee shall have the right to reject any or all nominees submitted by the Board of Trustees of Wake Forest College for the four Trustees to be selected in the foregoing manner and to request new nominations from the Board of Trustees. In filling vacancies which may occur before the expiration of the regular four-year term, the successor Trustees shall be selected in the same manner as the Trustees whom they replace.

7. The Trustees of Wake Forest College shall have the power to amend the charter of the College to conform to this Section and to change the name of the College to Wake Forest University at the appropriate time.

II. That Article III of the Bylaws of the Baptist State Convention be amended by adding at the end of the first paragraph of said Article III the following:

Provided, however, that the provisions of this paragraph shall not apply to as many as 16 members of the Board of Trustees of Wake Forest College, nominated and elected in the manner prescribed by paragraph 6 of Section A of Article IX of the Constitution of the Baptist State Convention. Hayes discussed the same, indicating the advantages that were offered by the plan and replying to criticisms that had been raised in regard to this proposal.

M. O. Owens, Gastonia, opposed the proposal of the trustees.

Tom M. Freeman, Dunn, also opposed a change in the nomination and election of trustees. He suggested that a strong Convention committee give more study to this proposal and bring to the Convention its findings, and moved that the Convention defer any action on the Wake Forest Trustee proposal at this time, and that a Convention committee of 25 persons, representative of our people, be named to give at least a year's study to this proposal, majoring on the following points:

First: A careful study of the factors that brought forth this proposal, including the Carmichael-McCutcheon study;

Second: The implications of this proposal for our entire program of Christian higher education;

Third: A definition of our aims and goals in Christian higher education with suggested guidelines for future development in all of our colleges;

Fourth: A suggested program of development at Wake Forest College, especially in graduate education and whether such can be accomplished under the present trustee structure and Convention control.

Kenneth Wilson, Mount Airy, expressed his conviction that the trustee proposal was the logical development for an enlarging, maturing institution, that the Convention could not lose the college by this action, which probably would afford broadening economic and educational opportunities.

31. On motion, Randolph L. Gregory, Chairman Committee on Arrangements, moved that the time be extended twelve minutes. Carried.

32. Howard J. Ford, Wilmington, likened this to important changes in the past, which were opposed at the time by many sincere persons.

J. M. Bulman, East Spencer, indicated that he was not concerned over the matter of control, that the Convention would retain the power to elect or discharge, but that he was concerned that individuals be heard from the floor.

James S. Potter, Charlotte, thought further study was unnecessary, that Wake Forest deserved the right to have a new birth. He believed the proposal would go a long way toward gathering in our Baptist youth.

Wallace West, Wilmington, appealed for a greater university and graduate studies, which might be made possible by the proposal.

Virgil E. Duncan, Louisburg, appealed for passage of the proposal.

C. C. Carpenter, Winston-Salem, former dean of the Bowman Gray School of Medicine, declared there was great need for graduate work at Wake Forest University.

33. J. D. Hobbs, Jr., called attention to a proposed amendment to the original proposal, which would be offered tomorrow, and indicated mimeographed copies were then available.

34. The benediction was pronounced by Forest Maxwell, Wallace.

TUESDAY EVENING—NOVEMBER 12, 1963

Session Theme: "In All These Things We Are More Than Conquerors Through Him That Loved Us" (Rom. 8:37)

35. An opening organ recital was followed by the Convention Choir singing again "Come, Come Ye Saints." The congregation sang "Day is Dying in the West," and this was followed with a selection by the choir, "Thanks Be To God." Fred Williams, Greensboro, read I Corinthians 13 and led in prayer (in the absence of Charles B. Howard, who was taken ill after the morning service).

36. President Starnes recognized J. D. Hobbs, Jr., President of the General Board, to present the recommendations of the Board.

No. 4, to postpone for a year the consideration of a "Church Personnel Service," was adopted.

No. 5, to name a Committee of 15 to evaluate trends in the Christian Education Advance Program and suggest plans for procedures after 1964, was adopted.

No. 6, to recommend student centers at N. C. State College of the University of N. C. at Raleigh, Western Carolina College, and at the First Baptist Church of Boone, were adopted.

No. 7, to give authority to "the General Board to negotiate the sale of the Baptist State Convention property at 301 Hillsboro Street, Raleigh, and if necessary to proceed with plans to erect a new building on a suitable site," was opposed by E. Norfleet Gardner, Henderson, on the grounds that the Convention should not be held responsible for providing parking space for those who visited the headquarters building, or for all who were its employees; that the problem of noises from outside might be taken into consideration in the hope of remedying the disturbance occasioned at times within; that the final payment for the building had been made only within the last few days; that the location at the present site was strategic and convenient for easy access to the city; and that the present accommodations ought to be adequate for several years.

Claude F. Gaddy rose to state that the proposal was no indictment of those who planned it ten years ago, and that the passage of the recommendation did not mean its sale would necessarily follow.

Maynard Mangum, Southern Pines, opposed the sale of the property, speaking appreciatively of its accessibility.

Clarence Eden, Moravian Falls, moved the recommendation be sent back to the General Board for a restudy and report a year hence.

Fred A. Mauney, New Bern, requested that the motion by Mr. Eden be amended to read that the recommendation be sent back to the Executive Committee of the General Board, instead of to the General Board.

The motion to refer was lost.

Whereupon the Convention voted down the recommendation by a large majority.

No. 8, to designate February 9, 1964 as "Human Relations Sunday." Adopted.

No. 9, with reference to the Baptist Jubilee Revivals in 1964, was referred to the Resolutions Committee.

No. 10, to recommend a total basic budget of $4,796,810, was adopted.

42. President Starnes introduced Dale Moody, Southern Baptist Theological Seminary, Louisville, to speak in place of Roy O. McClain, Atlanta, who was ill. Calling attention to the chief weakness of Christians as being the inner life, Moody cited Ephesians 2:16-19, and emphasized the need of rediscovering the consciousness of the presence of God. The speaker pointed out three needs mentioned in this passage: (1) the need for the power of God's Spirit; (2) the need for the power of His love; and (3) the need to be "filled with all the fullness of God."

43. The evening session was brought to a close with prayer by D. H. Coon, Lexington.

44. Carl E. Bates, Charlotte, 2nd Vice-President, presided over this session.

Following an organ recital, the Convention Choir sang "Hark, Ten Thousand Harps and Voices," and the congregation joined in the singing of "O for a Thousand Tongues to Sing." The choir then sang, "Dear Lord and Father of Mankind."

The period closed with the singing of the "Recessional" by the choir.

45. Claude O'Shields, Wilmington, gave a comprehensive report for the Radio and Television Commission, whose assignment was referred to as fourfold: (1) Radio and Television production (The Commission has produced 11 radio programs and one television series, "The Answer"); (2) Distribution of these programs, with broadcasts now in 50 states and 25 foreign countries; (3) Building an audience to listen to these programs; and (4) Providing inquiry

48. Taylor Daniel, assistant secretary of the Annuity Board, Dallas, reported the finest year in the history of the Board. Three problems with which the Board must deal he listed as: (1) The problem created by ministers not covered by the Protection Plan, for about one-half of Southern Baptist ministers are not covered by any plan; (2) The problem of mortality on account of extending life-time; and (3) The investment of $100 million plus now held in trust funds.

49. M. L. Banister, Henderson, reported for the Committee on Memorials.

Report of the Committee on Memorials

The Bible tells us that it is appointed unto men once to die. All men must die. Death is no respecter of person. On a marble slab on the chapel wall in Cave Hill Cemetery, Louisville, Kentucky, is the following inscription: "Youth and beauty, the loved and the stranger, the strong and the weak, the rich and the poor—all are gathered here. Death makes his common appeal to all."

During the past Convention year death has taken from us many of our Baptist constituency of the old and the young. Although all of their names will not be recorded in the 1964 Convention Annual, their names are now inscribed in the Lamb's Book of Life.

Your Committee recommends—First, That mention of the deceased be memorialized in the 1964 Convention Annual.

Second, that the 1964 Convention Annual be dedicated to the late Executive Secretary, Dr. Douglas M. Branch, to the Reverend John W. Suttle, to Mr. Robert N. Simms, Sr., who were former Presidents of the Baptist State Convention of North Carolina, and to Dr. W. R. Cullom, Minister and Head of the Department of Bible of Wake Forest College forty-two years.

Third, that the Convention messengers and visitors stand in reverent silence as a tribute to their memory, followed by a prayer of thanksgiving for the contribution they made to the Kingdom of God.

Respectfully submitted

50. The time having arrived for announcements and miscellaneous business, the secretary read fraternal greetings received from the following state conventions now in session: Georgia, Florida, Louisiana, Maryland, Mississippi and Tennessee. (Later messages were received from these: Alabama, California, Kentucky, New Mexico, Ohio, Oklahoma, South Carolina, Texas, and Virginia.

51. Berry A. Williams, Wilmington, introduced a resolution expressing approval of the position taken by the Radio and Television Commission of the Southern Baptist Convention in opposition to increased governmental control of broadcasting operations.

Whereas, radio and television broadcasts produced by the radio and television commission of the Southern Baptist Convention, are over thirteen hundred programs per week in the United States and twenty-five foreign countries, and,

Whereas, the value of free time received from radio and television stations would approximate $2,500,000 annually for a total of 34,385 hours per year, and,

Whereas, this does not include free time for other denominations or state and local Baptist programs, and,

Whereas, the Radio and Television Commission of the Southern Baptist Convention, representing 32,000 churches and ten million members, has editorially expressed opposition to increased governmental regulation of local broadcasting operations in violation of basic constitutional guarantees of freedom, and,

Whereas, the radio and television commission of the Southern Baptist Convention has so concisely and forthrightly presented their conviction that the public interest will be served best, if broadcasters are permitted to operate, unfettered by additional regulation by governmental agencies,

THEREFORE BE IT RESOLVED that the Baptist State Convention of North Carolina, express its approval of the position taken by the Radio and Television Commission of the Southern Baptist Convention, in opposition to increased governmental control of broadcasting operations.

This was sent to the Committee on Resolutions.

52. On the suggestion of Carl E. Bates, messages were sent to Charles B. Howard and Roy O. McClain, whose illnesses kept them from meeting their engagements at this session.

53. President Nane Starnes delivered the "President's Address," building it around the Scripture: "This is the day the Lord hath made; we will rejoice and be glad in it" (Ps. 118:24). In analyzing this day he outlined definite characteristics as follows: a moral crisis; racial tensions; limitations placed on freedom of expression in our educational institutions; need of preserving a close relation between the colleges and the convention; migration from country to city, with marked effects upon the country church and the person who moves to the city; the need for a great evangelistic appeal, with a recommendation that the Convention offer the services of many of its ministers for evangelistic crusades under the direction of the Foreign Mission Board. (This later reported back favorably by the Committee on Resolutions.)

Starnes declared that North Carolina Baptists have a potential for greater achievements than ever before and called attention to three principles on which Baptists may stand: (1) the importance of the Scriptures; (2) the pre-eminence of the Lord Jesus Christ; and (3) the importance of the individual. He closed his address by an appeal to walk together.

54. The congregation sang "The Church's One Foundation."

55. Mrs. A. LeRoy Parker, President of the Woman's Missionary Union of North Carolina, moved the adoption of the printed report and spoke to the same. She emphasized the Jubilee celebration not only as the 150th year of missionary work among Baptists of America, but also as the 75th year of the life of W.M.U. This she said was a year of thanksgiving and praise.

56. R. W. Kicklighter, Elizabeth City, reported for the Christian Life Committee on capital punishment, relationships with other religious groups and race relations. He moved the adoption of the report.

57. J. M. Bulman, East Spencer, wished to extend the time five minutes because he objected to the recommendation on capital punishment and the reference to the church as "the body of Christ."

58. Baxter Walker, Fayetteville, moved the extension of time five minutes. Motion lost.

59. Baxter Walker then moved to table. That motion was lost by a small margin.

60. C. O. Milford, Charlotte, moved that discussion be postponed till afternoon at a time to be set by the Committee on Arrangements. Carried.

61. The Chowan College choir, under the direction of Robert Brown, rendered three numbers: "Immortal, Invisible" (Eric H.

Thimer), "Now Let Every Tongue Adore Thee" (J. S. Bach), and "Eternal Life" (St. Francis of Assisi).

62. Marse Grant, Raleigh, then read the Report on Publicity:

Report of the Committee on Publicity

In a democratic body such as our Baptist State Convention, it is imperative that those who constitute it be well-informed. This convention is indebted to a talented, capable group of reporters, radio-TV men and photographers for their strategic role in providing information on all of the issues this convention is considering. In addition to their advance coverage, their diligent work this week means that 99½ per cent of our Baptist people back home can know what transpired here in Wilmington. The following reported the convention:

Bob Hager and Brathel Dellinger, WBT-WBTV, Charlotte; David S. Greene, Greensboro Daily News; David Cooper, News and Observer, Raleigh; Ben McDonald, Claude O'Shields, WECT-TV, Wilmington; Bill Middlebrooks, United Press, Raleigh; Bill Workman, Daily Independent, Kannapolis; James K. 63. Aubrey S. Tomlinson, Louisburg, chairman of the General Board's Committee on Christian Education, moved the adoption of the Report of the Council on Christian Education. Carried.

64. Ben Fisher, Raleigh, Secretary of the Council on Christian Education, introduced the presidents of the seven Baptist colleges of the Convention. Then he spoke briefly on the importance of Christian education, referring to the great service rendered by the colleges, and made an appeal for "calling out the called" on Christian Education Day (Father's Day, 1964).

65. Judge Johnson J. Hayes, was recognized, for the time had arrived for considering the trustee proposal of Wake Forest College. He moved its adoption and it was immediately seconded.

66. Nane Starnes was recognized by Vice-President Bates. Starnes gave expression to his early fears concerning the Wake Forest proposal, but indicated they had been removed after repeated conferences on this matter. Then he presented the following amendment, arrived at by continued conferences with the executive committee of the Convention.

An Amendment to the Wake Forest Proposal

Be it moved that any change in the Constitution of the Baptist State Convention regarding the election of trustees of Wake Forest College be conditioned on the Board of Trustees of Wake Forest College first changing their charter in this particular: In section 3, (b), the paragraph concerning the election of a college president: After the sentence, "The Board of Trustees shall elect a president of the college, to serve at its pleasure, who shall be the chief officer of the college in administering the affairs of the college under the authority and control of the Board of Trustees." Add these two sentences: "In choosing this president, a Nominating Committee from the Trustees, after full study shall propose such a candidate to the Board of Trustees. Each member of this Nominating Committee shall be a member of a church cooperating with the Baptist State Convention of North Carolina."

Resolved, that Section A of Article IX of the Constitution of the Baptist State Convention, said Article IX being entitled "Institutions and Agencies of the Convention," be amended by adding thereto a new paragraph to be numbered and to read as follows:

"6. Beginning at the 1964 Convention and at each annual Convention thereafter, six of the nine Trustees of Wake Forest College whose regular terms expire in 1964 and annually thereafter shall be nominated and elected by the Convention as provided in subsections 1 through 5, Section A, Article IX. The other three Trustees shall be nominated as follows: The Board of Trustees of Wake Forest College shall submit to the Convention's Nominating Committee six names, from which the Committee shall select three, and these three shall be nominated to the Convention. The provisions of the Constitution as to residence and church membership of Trustees shall not apply to the three Trustees nominated and elected in the foregoing manner. At no time shall such Trustees exceed twelve of the thirty-six members of the Board of Trustees of Wake Forest College, and never more than four of these shall be other than Baptists. The Convention's Nominating Committee shall have the right to reject any or all nominees submitted by the Board of Trustees of Wake Forest College for the three Trustees to be selected in the foregoing manner and to request new nominations from the Board of Trustees. In filling vacancies which may occur before the expiration of the regular four-year term, the successor Trustees shall be selected in the same manner as the Trustees whom they replace.

The Trustees of Wake Forest College shall elect the members of its Board of Visitors and shall have the power to amend the charter of the College to conform to this Section and to change the name of the College to Wake Forest University at the appropriate time."

Resolved, that Article III of the Bylaws of the Baptist State Convention be amended by adding at the end of the first paragraph of said Article III the following:

"Provided, however, that the provisions of this paragraph shall not apply to as many as twelve members of the Board of Trustees of Wake Forest College, nominated and elected in the manner prescribed by paragraph 6 of Section A of Article IX of the Constitution of the Baptist State Convention."

By Way of Explanation

This modification of the original "Wake Forest Proposal" is an effort to remove from the original proposal the major things that many Baptists object to, and to retain enough to be helpful to the college. It has three major changes from the original proposal:

1. That the Charter will be changed to state that the Trustee's Committee to nominate a President for the College be always composed of North Carolina Baptists.

2. The number of Trustees on which the college Trustees and the Convention must agree would be 12 rather than 16.

3. Those Trustees who were not Baptists would be limited to four.

This was seconded by J. D. Hobbs, Jr.

67. An address on Christian Education was set at this time on the program, but Mr. Fisher requested that time for it be given to the trustee discussion. Vice-President Bates suggested that it be included in the official organ of the body.

68. J. C. Huneycutt, Statesville, moved that time for discussion be divided equally for each side. On the suggestion that there would be difficulty in complying with this request, it was withdrawn.

69. Vice-Chairman of the Wake Forest Board of Trustees, Maurice Hill, Drexel, rose to offer another second to the proposal made by Nane Starnes, and appealed for Baptists to walk unitedly toward the building of a greater university.

70. Tom M. Freeman, Dunn, opposed the amendment as a compromise not needed, and made the following motion:

"I move that the Convention defer any action on the Wake Forest trustee proposal at this time, and that the Council on Christian Education of the Baptist State Convention be instructed to study this proposal, using such advisory assistance as they deem necessary, and that they major on the following points:

1. A study of the factors that brought forth this proposal, including the Carmichael-McCutcheon study;

2. The implications of this proposal for our entire program of Christian higher education;

3. A definition of our aims and goals in Christian higher education, with suggested guidelines for future development in all of our Baptist colleges;

4. A suggested program of development at Wake Forest College, especially in graduate education, and whether such can be accomplished under the present trustee structure and convention control. adding that he feared gifts from great foundations might bring the college under undue influence.

71. Claude U. Broach, Charlotte, objected to the intimation that the receipt of funds from great foundations meant the surrender of the school to the influence of these foundations.

72. J. D. Hobbs, Jr., insisted that study requested by Freeman had been made. He felt the messengers had come to vote.

73. Maynard Mangum, Southern Pines, called for the question on referring the matter, presented in Freeman's motion.

74. R. N. Simms, Jr., parliamentarian, explained that the matter of referring depended on whether the messengers were ready to vote on the question.

75. The Freeman motion was put and lost.

76. J. S. Potter moved the previous question.

77. After discussion on points of order H. L. Ferguson, Charlotte, asked for a vote by ballot. This motion was lost for a second.

78. On vote the amendment offered by Starnes was carried by a majority.

79. Whereupon a vote on the original proposal of the trustees as amended by the substitute was taken by a standing vote. The report of the tellers was Ayes—1,628; Noes — 1,106. The chair announced the amendment to the constitution required a two-thirds majority and was therefore lost. (The ayes lacked 195 of having the required number of votes.)

80. The session adjourned with prayer by Thurman Allred, Edenton.

Wednesday Afternoon—November 13, 1963

Session Theme: "Thanks Be Unto God, Which Always Causeth Us to Triumph in Christ" (2 Cor. 2:14)

81. The organ concert by H. Max Smith was followed by the number, "Alleluia, Sing to Jesus," presented by the choir, and the hymn, "Crown Him with Many Crowns," by the congregation. Claude O'Shields, Wilmington, led the devotions, choosing Luke 10:25-37 as the Scripture passage. The choir sang "My Faith Has Found a Resting Place."

82. Under the head of miscellaneous business, J. D. Hobbs, Jr. continued with General Board recommendations, presenting the first, relating to the term of office for the General Secretary-Treasurer; the second, relating to the date of his retirement at age 65; and the third, relating to the selection of nominees for the Committee on Nominations. The first two concerned changes in the Constitution; the third, a change in the Bylaws. They were adopted. (cf. Report of General Board, Recom. 1, 2 & 3, pp. 57, 58).

83. The Resolutions Committee, Dennis Hockaday, chairman, made a partial report as follows:

It approved the request of Chowan College to borrow a sum not in excess of $995,000. Adopted by the Convention.

Resolution Concerning Borrowing of Money by Chowan College

The Committee recommends that the Convention authorize Chowan College to borrow a sum not in excess of $995,000 to be used as follows:

a. The sum of $560,000 for the construction of a dormitory for girls,

b. The sum of $200,000 for the construction of an addition to the cafeteria and student union facilities, and

c. The sum of $235,000 for the construction of a library building, said loan to be repaid according to the terms of the resolution.

It approved the recommendation of the General Board to borrow for the construction of Student Centers. Adopted by the Convention.

Resolution Concerning Convention Borrowing

The Committee takes cognizance of the action of the Convention Tuesday evening regarding the borrowing of a sum not to exceed $320,000 for the construction of a student center at North Carolina State College of the University of North Carolina at Raleigh, estimated to cost approximately $195,000, and a student center at Western Carolina College, Cullowhee, estimated to cost approximately $125,000.

If it be necessary for the Resolutions Committee to recommend approval of the borrowing of the above stated sum, we do therefore recommend same.

84. Ernest C. Upchurch, Secretary of the Church Development Department, reported and presented awards to pastors of churches that had made a distinguished record during the year. These churches, which showed a twenty per cent growth and development during the year, were: Alston Avenue Baptist Church, Rev. Richard Milham, pastor, with a gain of 124 points or 22 per cent; Community Center Baptist Church, Rev. John W. Spencer, pastor, with a gain of 261 points or 58 per cent; Floyd Baptist Church, Rev. Robert Hare, Jr., pastor, with a gain of 260 points or 60 per cent; Montwood Baptist Church, Rev. L. J. Rainey, pastor, with a gain of 282 points or 40 per cent; Morrisville Baptist Church, Rev. Norman Mitchell, pastor, with a gain of 416 points or 106 per cent; Mount Pleasant Baptist Church, Rev. Gilbert Adams, pastor, with a gain of 287 points or 62 per cent; Southside Baptist Church, Rev. Jason Lee, pastor, with a gain of 131 points or 24 per cent; and Stoney Point Baptist Church, Rev. H. B. Langford, pastor, with a gain of 169 points or 53 per cent.

85. The next order of the day was Theological Seminaries. Greetings were brought from Southwestern by L. B. Reavis, from Southern Seminary by Raymond Brown, and from New Orleans Seminary by Claude Simpson. Olin T. Binkley, recently inaugurated as the second President of Southeastern Seminary, addressed the body on "The Education of Christian Ministers." The speaker called attention to four vital forces in the education of Christian ministers: (1) A process that begins in the home; (2) A process stimulated and enlarged by Christian teachers in schools and colleges; (3) A process deepened and advanced by systematic study in the seminaries; (4) A life-long process, for education is a quest rather than an achievement. Dr. Binkley reported an increase in seminary enrollments this session, with a total of 4,229 in our six Southern Baptist Seminaries.

86. E. N. Johnson, Wagram, was recognized as having attended the sessions of the Convention continuously for fifty-two years.

87. President Starnes called attention to a technicality concerning the beginning of the term of service of W. Perry Crouch as General Secretary-Treasurer, and the expiration of the term of Claude F. Gaddy as acting General Secretary-Treasurer.

Thomas Reece, Statesville, was recognized and moved "that Claude Gaddy be continued in office as our Executive-Secretary until Dr. Crouch, our Executive Secretary-Treasurer elect, has concluded his pastorate and is ready to assume the responsibilities of his office." Carried.

88. The next order of business was the election of officers.

E. W. Price, Jr., High Point, nominated for President, George E. Simmons, Wadesboro.

W. H. Williams, Charlotte, nominated J. D. Hobbs, Jr., Wingate.

W. A. Huneycutt, Valdese, nominated Howard J. Ford, Wilmington. This nomination was seconded by Randolph L. Gregory, Wilmington.

While the ballots were being counted, nominations for 1st Vice-President were called for.

A. S. Tomlinson, Louisburg, nominated Carl E. Bates, Charlotte.

Judge J. J. Hayes, North Wilkesboro, nominated Fred B. Helms, Charlotte.

Nominations were also made for 2nd Vice-President.

H. L. Ferguson, Charlotte, nominated Fred A. Mauney, New Bern.

R. N. Simms, Jr., Raleigh, nominated Wade Brown, Boone.

Warren Bush, Butner, nominated W. A. Mitchiner, Oxford.

The motion for nominations to close was carried and balloting began.

W. B. Carr, Matthews, nominated E. Norfleet Gardner, Henderson, to succeed himself as Recording Secretary. He was elected.

For Parliamentarian Julius Corpening, Durham, nominated James M. Bulman, East Spencer. Berry A. Williams, Wilmington, nominated Robert N. Simms, Jr., Raleigh, to succeed himself.

C. O. Milford, Charlotte, nominated for Trustees: R. L. McMillan, Raleigh; N. M. Gurley, Raleigh; and T. Lacy Williams, Raleigh. These were elected.

89. Robert W. Kicklighter, Elizabeth City, on special order of business reintroduced the matters referred to in the report of the Christian Life Commission concerning capital punishment, the relationships with other Christian groups, and race relations. The last two were approved by the Convention, and the first was held over for discussion later in the sessions of this body.

90. The announcement was made that the vote for President required a run-off between Howard J. Ford and George E. Simmons. The second ballot for these was cast.

91. The benediction was pronounced by John T. Bunn, Buies Creek.

Wednesday Evening—November 13, 1963

Session Theme: "This is the Victory That Overcometh the World, Even Our Faith" (I John 5:4)

92. With H. Max Smith at the console, the congregation stood and sang, "Stand Up, Stand Up for Jesus" and "Ye Christian Heralds, Go Proclaim." Prayer was led by Nane Starnes.

93. President Starnes announced the results of the balloting in the afternoon. Howard Ford received 896 votes against 698 for George Simmons for President of the Convention. Carl Bates was elected 1st Vice-President over Fred B. Helms by the vote of 1,077 to 488. J. M. Bulman defeated R. N. Simms, Jr., for Parliamentarian by a vote of 917 to 621.

94. The Home Mission Board was represented by A. B. Cash, of the Department of Pioneer Missions of the Board. The speaker discussed some features of the extensive work of the Home Mission Board, which serves in all fifty states of the Union. In his address he called attention to the fact that Roman Catholics were the largest group in thirty-five states, and that Southern Baptists were the largest in eleven. Soon the 1500th Southern Baptist Church is to be constituted in the Great Lakes area.

95. A special choir of approximately three hundred voices, under the skillful direction of Walter Ross, Minister of Music, First Baptist Church, Wilmington, sang "An Anthem of Dedication" (Warren B. Martin). (This and the program that followed were televised from the Wilmington station WECT-TV.)

96. The Massing of Colors of the Fifty-three Nations in which Southern Baptists have a witness, proved a colorful ceremony. While background music, often supplied by national anthems, was softly played, each country was represented by one who marched forward in national costume, holding the flag of that country. A script to indicate in brief something of the ministry carried on in each country and the challenge presented was read. At the close of the pageant the congregation joined in singing "Ye Christian Heralds, Go Proclaim."

97. The special choir again favored the audience as it sang "He Comes to Us" (Jane Marshall).

98. President Starnes introduced Baker James Cauthen, Executive Secretary of the Foreign Mission Board, who addressed the Convention. Cauthen called attention to the foreign missions advance that might be dated back to a concert of prayer in 1947. Today we have passed the goals that evolved from that conference. There has been a quickening interest in world missions, and we have passed the 1800 mark of missionaries under appointment, with two hundred appointed this year. The Foreign Mission Board operates currently on a budget of $20,000,000. The speaker asked, "What would God have Southern Baptists do now?" and suggested three things: (1) First, He would have us look at the future with concern. (2) We can take hope from seeing great revivals that have come around the world, showing that God is not helpless, but that He gives us the answer in the old rugged cross. (3) We must give ourselves to worldwide evangelization on a scale never before attempted. The whole address was set against the declaration of Joshua to the tribes of Israel: "There yet remaineth very much land to be possessed."

99. The special choir sang the "Hallelujah Chorus."

100. President Starnes brought the evening session to a close as he pronounced the benediction.

Thursday Morning—November 14, 1963

Session Theme: "Now Unto Him That is Able to do Exceeding Abundantly Above All That We Ask or Think" (Ephesians 3:20).

101. H. Max Smith brought to a close his helpful service at the organ in the morning devotions. Following the singing of "Guide Me, O Thou Great Jehovah" and "In Christ There is No East or West," W. J. Stephenson, Salisbury, read from the fifth chapter of Galatians and led in prayer.

102. President Starnes announced the need of a run-off between W. A. Mitchiner and Wade Brown for 2nd Vice-President.

103. The Committee on Resolutions reported through Gilmer Cross, Goldsboro, its secretary.

Resolution Concerning Government Funds

The Resolutions Committee recommends that the Convention direct the Committee on Public Affairs to give a serious reappraisal of what seems to be a gradual erosion of the principle of the separation of church and state in the area of "services rendered" as defined in our Constitution.

The Committee recommends that

Whereas, it is often wise on certain Mission Fields to make a great concerted effort in evangelism in which personnel and financial assistance is needed from an organized group in the United States.

And Whereas, it is our conviction that for North Carolina Baptists to take part in such a Crusade would widen and deepen our interest in Foreign Missions—

BE IT RESOLVED that the North Carolina Baptist Convention notify Dr. Baker James Cauthen and the Foreign Mission Board that we offer our services in such a cooperative effort. That any and all funds used in such effort be above and beyond the Cooperative Program and the Lottie Moon Christmas Offering. That, if and when our Convention is called on for such Crusade, the Convention Executive Committee and the General Secretary be asked to set up the necessary organization for its promotion.

The Committee approves resolution number nine of the General Board, which is found on page 8 of the Book of Reports, and makes reference to the Baptist Jubilee Revival effort in 1964.

The Committee did not approve the report on the resolution concerning the Radio and Television Commission with relation to Government control of Broadcasting operations.

The Committee on Resolutions moves that the Convention express appreciation to the following:

1. To the pastors and churches of the Wilmington Association for their assistance and hospitality to all Convention messengers.

2. To the Convention Arrangements Committee for the excellent provision made for the Convention and the well planned and helpful program.

3. To President and Mrs. Nane Starnes and other Convention officers for their fairness in giving due consideration to all who participated in the discussions and the execution of the program.

4. To the newspapers, radio and television stations for the generous coverage given in presenting the news of the Convention to the public at large.

5. To all program personalities, youth choir of Kinston First Baptist Church, Chowan College Choir, choir of 500 voices, special Convention choir, and all others who helped to give depth and meaning to the Convention program for the messengers and friends.

6. To the City of Wilmington, Mayor Allsbrook and his associates, for the many courtesies shown the Convention messengers and friends which have made our visit to the Port City pleasant.

7. To the New Hanover County School Board and school officials for the services of Brogden Hall and other facilities, and the wonderful spirit and conduct of the students which enabled the Convention program to be presented in a meaningful manner.

8. To the Business and Professional Women's Club for their excellent services in the operation of tours information center.

9. To the Red Cross for providing first aid station and equipment for the physical welfare of the Convention messengers and friends.

10. To the Chamber of Commerce and Merchant's Association for their wonderful hospitality.

11. To Claude Gaddy who has served so ably as interim Executive Secretary-Treasurer of our Convention since the untimely death of Dr. Douglas M. Branch.

111. Charles Winberry, Statesville, a messenger to the Convention and student at Wake Forest College, read the following message from the college student body in chapel this (Thursday) morning and stated that the message was adopted by the student body without a dissenting vote.

This message was adopted by the Student Body of Wake Forest College in chapel today, Wait Chapel, Winston-Salem, N. C.

"A Message From the Students of Wake Forest College to the Messengers of the Baptist State Convention of North Carolina"

We will not attempt to conceal from you our sincere and heartfelt sorrow at the defeat yesterday of the amended proposal to broaden the composition of the Board of Trustees of Wake Forest College. We did honestly think it was a reasonable way to broaden the base of the support for the college within the framework of its allegiance to the cause of Christ and to the Baptist State Convention of North Carolina.

This morning, however, we pause to count our blessings and share them with you. There is a profound gratitude and appreciation in our hearts for all of the messengers who by supporting the proposal expressed their confidence in us and in the college. It comforts us to realize how many of you are our friends. We are deeply grateful for the support of the leadership of your convention and the General Board; and we are unable to express the full extent of our appreciation to the members of the college family who have given so completely of themselves in our behalf in the past months. We are devoutly dedicated to the future of Wake Forest College and we are anxious to join with you in building that future.

To those who have expressed misgivings and concern about the environment on our campus we can only say: we too are seeking earnestly to build a great Christian institution of higher learning, and we invite you to come to our campus and see if we are not true to that purpose.

E. C. Chamblee, Fayetteville, moved that the President and Secretary reply to the fine sentiment expressed by the letter of the student body of Wake Forest. Unanimous approval was given this.

112. E. A. McDowell, Wake Forest, chairman Christian Action Committee, moved the adoption of the report and presented D. P. McFarland, Raleigh, director of the Christian Action League, who spoke to the report. On motion, the report was adopted.

113. R. N. Simms, Jr. moved that the General Secretary-Treasurer, the President of the Convention and the Recording Secretary be instructed to perfect the journal. Carried.

114. O. J. Hagler, chairman Division of Program Services, presented the following workers of the division: R. T. Greene, Secretary Cooperative Program Advance; L. J. Morris, Secretary Department of Program Services; Guy S. Cain, Secretary Annuity Department; E. C. Wilkie, Promotional Assistant; Harold M. White, Secretary Stewardship Promotion. Then he introduced Merrill D. Moore, Executive Director-Treasurer, Stewardship Commission, Southern Baptist Convention, Nashville, Tennessee, who set forth some of the extensive work of the Commission, particularly two features: (1) that men be won to a personal acceptance of Jesus Christ as Saviour, and (2) that the Commission serve to pump more lifeblood into all the work of Baptists.

115. W. Isaac Terrell, Ahoskie, presented the report of the Committee on Baptist Jubilee Advance (as found in the Book of Reports of the General Board, VI. G) and called on E. C. Watson, Concord, secretary for the committee, to present the recommendations concerning the Year of Jubilee. These were adopted by the Convention.

Terrell then presented the report concerning the Post-Jubilee emphases as found in the report, and J. D. Taylor, Charlotte, presented the recommendations for emphases in the Post-Jubilee Years. These were adopted.

116. Former General Secretary-Treasurer of the Convention, M. A. Huggins, was recognized by the President. W. Perry Crouch also requested that Mrs. Nane Starnes be recognized. O. J. Hagler presented her. Appreciation likewise would go to Miss Grace Yow, the able assistant of the Recording Secretary, and to Miss Mary Lily Duncan, secretary to the General Secretary-Treasurer, whose constant assistance behind the platform proved invaluable for the efficient proceedings of the Convention.

117. George J. Griffin, Winston-Salem, presented the report of the Historical Commission and moved its adoption. Carried.

118. Marse Grant, Raleigh, editor Biblical Recorder, reported on this official organ of the Convention, speaking briefly to the report. A request for a change in the Bylaws concerning the time of meeting for the directors of the Biblical Recorder was not allowed because it had not been presented, as required, on the first or second day of the Convention.

119. President Starnes read a letter authorized to be sent the student-body of Wake Forest College. It was approved by the Convention.

Reply to Student Resolution

The Baptist State Convention is grateful for the wonderful spirit demonstrated in your communication to the Convention this morning.

We are convinced that during the past year the relationship between Wake Forest College and the Baptist State Convention has been strengthened immeasurably.

Your special message to the Convention is further evidence of the ties that bind us together.

For 130 years Wake Forest College and the Convention have labored together in the common cause of Christian higher education, and in this relationship we have built one of the finest colleges in America.

We confidently expect this mutually beneficial relationship to continue, and we readily assure you of our love and support.

120. John M. Lewis, Raleigh, presented the report of the Committee on Trustee Orientation. Carried.

121. Gordon Maddrey, Raleigh, reported on the Baptist Foundation. Peyton Brown, Raleigh, spoke to the report. Motion to adopt was carried.

122. President Starnes spoke with appreciation of Claude F. Gaddy, who, like Esther, had "come to the kingdom for such a time as this" to serve as acting General Secretary-Treasurer this year.

123. The President introduced the newly elected officers. Incoming President Howard J. Ford, Wilmington, asked for the prayers of the messengers and expressed appreciation for the admirable spirit manifested at the Convention by Wake Forest College and the Convention.

124. General Secretary-Treasurer elect W. Perry Crouch, Asheville, was presented. He, too, spoke of the superb spirit of the Convention, in spite of differences expressed, and called on the messengers to move forward unitedly.

125. The congregation joined in singing "Take My Life and Let It Be Consecrated, Lord, to Thee."

126. The final worship period was conducted by William Harrison Williams, Charlotte, who spoke on the great responsibility involved in the election of W. Perry Crouch as General Secretary-Treasurer, and called on M. A. Huggins, former General Secretary-Treasurer, to offer a prayer of dedication of the new leader. Williams appealed to the messengers to go back to their churches with a new consecration and a spirit of prayer.

127. President Nane Starnes declared the 133rd session of the Baptist State Convention adjourned, and called on J. D. Hobbs, Sr., Wilmington, to pronounce the benediction.

STATISTICAL SUMMARY 1963

JACK R. BAGWELL, Secretary
Baptist Building, Raleigh, N. C.

Some areas of the Baptist State Convention show increases in 1963 over that of 1962. Other areas, for the second consecutive year, show decreases. Convention leaders are concerned and are more determined than ever that this declining trend will be changed and that 1964 will register progress in all aspects of the work.

The figures used here are for the associational year and, therefore, will differ from those in the business office which run with the calendar year.

The associational clerks have supplied this information. We are deeply grateful to them for their cooperation and help.

AUDITOR'S REPORT

Auditor's Statement

To the Executive Committee of the General Board
Baptist State Convention of North Carolina
Raleigh, North Carolina

Gentlemen:

We have examined the balance sheet of the Baptist State Convention of North Carolina as of December 31, 1963, and the related statements of income and changes in fund balances for the year then ended. Our examination was made in accordance with generally accepted auditing standards and accordingly included such tests of the accounting records and such other auditing procedures as we considered necessary in the circumstances. The funds shown as sent direct to the Institutions and Agencies are taken from reports received by the Convention and were not otherwise verified by us.

All cash receipts were found to be promptly deposited in the bank and disbursements were supported by cancelled checks, invoices, etc., with expenses properly classified. Our examination did not disclose any evidence of irregularities and we believe the funds have been carefully and honestly handled and accounted for.

In our opinion, the accompanying balance sheet and statements of income and fund balances present fairly the financial position of the Baptist State Convention of North Carolina at December 31, 1963, and the results of its operations for the year then ended, in conformity with generally accepted accounting principles applicable to such organizations, applied on a basis consistent with that of the preceding year.

Respectfully submitted,
A. T. ALLEN & COMPANY
Certified Public Accountants

Raleigh, North Carolina
February 3, 1964

TRELA DEMPSEY COLLINS

1885-1964

A native of the Olive Chapel Community of Wake County, Trela Dempsey Collins served God and man for over half a century.

Dr. Collins received his education in the public schools of Randleman, North Carolina, Wake Forest College, Crozer Theological Seminary, and the University of Pennsylvania. He was the recipient of the A.B., the B.D., and the M.A. degrees. Wake Forest College conferred upon him the Doctor of Divinity degree in 1934.

On May 28, 1914, Dr. Collins married Eula Lillian Hayes of Randleman. Two children were born to this union. Trela D. Collins, Jr., was killed in action during World War II. A daughter, Lillian, is married to Joseph W. O'Brien, an Episcopal clergyman.

The Tabernacle Baptist Church of Raleigh, N. C., ordained Trela D. Collins to the Gospel Ministry in September of 1912. He immediately became the Pastor of the Broad Street Baptist Church of Philadelphia, Pennsylvania. Subsequently he served as Pastor of the Linden Baptist Church of Camden, New Jersey and the First Baptist Church of Louisburg, North Carolina. From 1920 to 1922 he was Alumni Secretary of Wake Forest College.

In September of 1922 Dr. Collins moved to Durham to begin a career of service that spanned four decades. He served fourteen years as Pastor of Temple Baptist Church. From 1936 to 1939 the infant North Carolina Council of Churches claimed his services as its first Executive Secretary. In 1940 Dr. Collins returned to the pastorate in the Lakewood Baptist Church and served until 1950. In this year he retired to community service but returned to be the Pastor of the Lakewood Church in 1955 where he remained until 1958. His second retirement was in name only for Dr. Collins continued a busy and varied ministry in the community.

During his long career Trela D. Collins was active in the affairs of the community and deeply involved in organizations ministering to human need. He shared in the establishment of the Community Planning Council of Durham and served as a member of its Board of Directors on several occasions. Dr. Collins was an early supporter of the Durham United Fund and the Cerebral Palsy Foundation, Inc. He served as Chairman of the Board of Directors of the Durham County Department of Public Welfare and as President of the Durham Kiwanis Club. He was a member of the General Board of the North Carolina Baptist State Convention during his career.

Dr. Collins attempted to express in action the breadth, as well as the depth, of Christian love and concern. In North Carolina he was one of the first leaders in giving organized expression to the ecumenical movement. He was a pioneer in interracial cooperation. His service on various boards and agencies is indicative of his concern that the church be involved in the total community and participate actively in those community agencies attempting to minister to the welfare of persons.

Trela Dempsey Collins was a man of broad sympathies and deep conviction. With these there was the courage to demonstrate in action his breadth of concern and his depth of conviction.

JESSE BURTON WEATHERSPOON

JESSE BURTON WEATHERSPOON

This unique servant of God and of Southern Baptists shed an increasing light among us from the day of his conversion in Temple Baptist Church of Durham in 1897 until the day of his death, November 11, 1964. It is safe to say that no other teacher in our denomination has taught as many preachers in as many of our seminaries in as many subjects as did Dr. Weatherspoon. He lived healthily, happily and vigorously, taught creatively and wrote scholarly treatises until his first illness struck just a few months before his death.

Dr. Weatherspoon was born in Durham County, North Carolina in 1886. He attended grade school in Durham, High School in Cary and then went to Wake Forest College where he graduated B.A. in 1906 and M.A. in 1907. From Wake Forest, he went to Southern Seminary in Louisville, Kentucky from which he received the Th.M. degree in 1910 and the Th.D. in 1911—an unusual achievement. Wake Forest College honored him with a D.D. degree in 1938. He was ordained at age 20 in Temple Church, Durham. Thus his active ministry covered 58 years.

Teaching "was in his bones" almost all his life. In his pastorates he was a teaching preacher. At the Seminary in Louisville, he began tutoring in Greek in 1907. He was a member of the faculty of Southwestern Seminary in Fort Worth, Texas, 1913-1918. From 1918 until 1929, he served the First Baptist Church in Winston-Salem, North Carolina, and the Highland Baptist Church in Louisville, Kentucky, which he resigned to join the faculty of Southern Seminary. He remained at Southern until 1958—two years beyond the normal age for retirement. Even then his colleagues would not let him rest. Really, he needed no rest. His zest for life and teaching and preaching came bounding back when Southeastern Seminary urged him to take at least a half load on its faculty. He gave there the finest fruits of his vast experience and "Dr. Spoon" became a favorite of students and faculty as well as a trusted Nestor to the president and the dean.

Through the years Dr. Weatherspoon wrote constantly. Almost innumerable lessons and articles appeared in Sunday School Board publications, Foreign and Home Mission Boards literature, The Review and Expositor and state Baptist papers. His The Book We Teach (1934) was one of the most widely circulated and effective among all training course books ever issued by the Sunday School Board. He revised Broadus' Preparation and Delivery of Sermons (1944), perhaps the best seller of American books on preaching. In 1954 he published Sent Forth to Preach and in 1957, during the finally fatal illness of his wife, he wrote the "official" biography, M. Theron Rankin—Apostle of Advance, a tribute to a dear friend and an evidence of his perpetual interest in foreign missions. At the time of his death, he had completed several chapters of a large projected work, The Objective of Preaching.

His many denominational services, besides his tremendous contributions as a seminary professor, include chairmanship of the Old Social Service Commission (1944-1954), membership on the Executive Committee (1928-29), a special mission to China for the Foreign Mission Board (1935) and preaching the Convention sermon in 1935. He gave innumerable lectures and series of lectures on preaching in every area of the Convention.

No man could so joyously do all this splendid man did without the loyal love of a good wife. On January 1, 1913, he married Ada L. Jones of Raleigh, North Carolina—"Lady" of all his after years—and they lived together ideally until her death in 1958. They had no natural children but "adopted" countless children of her Sunday School Classes of young women and of his seminary students. In 1962 he married Dr. Emily K. Lansdell, Professor of Missions at Southeastern Seminary. Their life together was brief but happy and beautiful.

He was by natural gifts, by able scholarship and by intense desire a most effective preacher-teacher and a congenial friend. His influence as teacher and friend really cannot be measured by man. Perhaps Dr. Rankin's favorite inspiration poem best expressed how "Dr. Spoon" felt about life:

Thou hast thy way to go, thou hast thy day
To live; thou hast thy need of thee to make
In lives of others; do thy thing; yes slake
The world's thirst for yet another man!
And be thou sure of this: No other can Do for thee that appointed thee of God.

CONSTITUTION

PREAMBLE

For the declaration of its fundamental purposes and the permanent guidance and control of its activities, the body does adopt the following as its Constitution, to wit:

ARTICLE I. Name

The name of this body is the Baptist State Convention of North Carolina.

ARTICLE II. Purposes

The object of this Convention shall be to promote missions, evangelism, education, social services, the distribution of the Bible and sound religious literature, and to co-operate with the work of the Southern Baptist Convention.

ARTICLE III. Authority

While independent and sovereign in its own sphere, the Convention does not claim and will never attempt to exercise any authority over any other Baptist body, whether church, auxiliary organization, association, or Convention.

ARTICLE IV. Composition

The Convention shall be composed of

(1) Two messengers from each co-operating church, and one additional messenger from each church for every hundred members or major fraction thereof, beyond the first one hundred members; provided, that no church shall be entitled to more than ten messengers. No one shall be a messenger who is not a member of a church co-operating with the Convention, and messengers must be duly elected by their churches; a co-operating church shall be one that supports any object of the Convention and which is in friendly cooperation with this Convention and sympathetic with its purpose and work; and (2) The officers of the Convention, the members of the General Board, the editor of the Biblical Recorder, and the President of the Woman's Missionary Union.

ARTICLE V. Meetings

The Convention shall convene annually on Tuesday after the second Sunday in November. In case of emergency the General Board is empowered to change the time or place of meeting, cancel the sessions of the Convention, or call a special meeting by a vote of two-thirds of the members present when the vote is taken.

ARTICLE VI. Officers

The officers of the Convention shall be a President, a First Vice-President, a Second Vice-President, a Recording Secretary, a General

Secretary-Treasurer, three Trustees, and a Parliamentarian. The terms of the President, the Vice-President and the Parliamentarian shall commence at the conclusion of the annual session at which they are elected and continue until the close of the next annual session of the Convention. The President and Vice-Presidents may not be elected for more than two consecutive terms. All officers subject to annual election shall be elected on the second day of the annual Convention. A vacancy in any of the above-mentioned offices, except that of President, occurring between sessions of the Convention may be filled by the General Board; such vacancies in the presidency shall be filled by the Vice-Presidents succeeding to the office in order of their rank.

a. In case of a vacancy in the office of General Secretary-Treasurer, the General Board shall nominate a man to the Convention to fill this office.

b. Opportunity shall be given to receive additional nominations from the floor of the Convention.

c. The man receiving the majority of votes cast shall be declared elected. Upon election the General Secretary-Treasurer shall hold office for an indefinite period, with retirement at age 65, his term of service ending on December 31 of the calendar year in which he reaches age 65.

d. In case the position of General Secretary-Treasurer becomes vacant between sessions of the Convention, the General Board, upon the recommendation of its Executive Committee, shall name an acting General Secretary-Treasurer to serve until the next regular session of the Convention.

The General Secretary-Treasurer is the chief executive officer of the General Board, the chief administrative and program officer of the General Board staff, the chief budget officer of the General Board staff, the chief professional adviser of the General Board and its committees, the secretary and treasurer of the General Board and the Convention, and one of the denomination's spiritual leaders, providing statewide guidance and inspiration.

ARTICLE VII. Trustees of the Convention

The Convention shall have three trustees who shall serve for one year and shall hold title to the property of the Convention and convey and use the same as directed by the Convention or its General Board. They shall execute obligations only in behalf of and as ordered by the Convention. They shall have the powers granted to trustees of religious societies by the laws of the State of North Carolina, but subject always to the limitations imposed by this Constitution and by action of the Convention or its General Board. They shall require the Treasurer of the Convention to give suitable bond, with corporate security and in adequate amount as determined by the General Board, and they shall cause such bonds to be safely kept. Failure on the part of the Treasurer to maintain such a bond in force for as long a period as ten days shall authorize the Trustees to remove him from office. The Trustees shall make full, detailed reports to the annual sessions of the Convention and at other times if requested by the General Board. They shall safely keep the seal of the Convention and affix it only as authorized by the Convention or its General Board. The seal shall be circular in form and shall bear the words:

"Trustees of the Baptist State Convention of North Carolina, Incorporated 1893.

SEAL."

The Trustees shall keep full minutes of all their meetings and preserve the same in permanent forms. They shall elect their own Chairman and Secretary. Any vacancy occurring in their membership between sessions of the Convention shall be filled by the General Board.

ARTICLE VIII. The General Board

2. The President and First and Second Vice-Presidents of the Convention shall be ex-officio voting members of the General Board and its Executive Committee. These members, selected by virtue of their Convention offices, shall not be used in determining the number of members from a District Association or church.

3. The General Secretary-Treasurer, the Recording Secretary, the State Woman's Missionary Union President, and the State Brotherhood President shall be ex-officio non voting members.

4. No one who is employed by any institution or agency of the convention, whether the salary be total or supplemental, shall be eligible for membership on the General Board except as an ex-officio member.

5. In the event a member moves from the area of an association from which he was elected to another in the state, his membership shall be terminated on December 31.

6. Any vacancy on the General Board occurring between annual sessions of the Convention may be filled by action of the Executive Committee. Those elected shall serve through the remainder of the calendar year. The Convention shall at its next regular annual session fill the vacancy for the unexpired term.

B. Election

1. The Nominating Committee, as directed by the By-Laws of the Convention and in keeping with Baptist policies and practices, shall present to the annual session a slate of nominees for election, and after opportunity for further nominations from the floor is given, the members shall be elected by the Convention in session.

2. Board members shall be elected for a term of four years with, as nearly as may be possible, one-fourth of the membership being elected at each annual session. Provided, however, that any such board member who shall have been elected to fill a vacancy of less than two years, shall be eligible to be re-elected to a full term of his own.

C. Powers and Functions

Except as specifically limited by the constitution, the General Board shall have the power to act for the Convention in the interim between sessions, and shall have general supervision of all agencies and institutions fostered and supported by the Convention.

The Baptist State Convention of North Carolina shall elect the trustees and directors of said corporation for terms of four years, except that the Directors of the Baptist Foundation shall be elected for terms of five years. At the first election by the Convention one-fourth of the board of trustees or directors shall be elected to serve for one year, one-fourth for two years, one-fourth for three years, and the remaining one-fourth for four years. At each subsequent regular annual session of the Convention one-fourth of the Board of Trustees or Directors of said corporation shall be elected by the Convention to succeed the members of said Board retiring.

2. The Trustees and directors shall be responsible to the Convention for the operation of its institutions in accordance with Baptist principles; report of work done and undertaken shall be made annually to the Convention; any change in the charter of any institution which would affect, alter or change the purpose of the institution or the relationship of the institution or its board of trustees to the Convention shall have the prior approval of the Convention. No change of policy shall be made without securing the prior approval of the Convention or its General Board; no program shall be inaugurated which might involve the Convention directly or indirectly in a debt, without securing the prior approval of the Convention.

3. The members of the Board of Trustees or Directors of said corporation shall be residents of the State of North Carolina and members of churches co-operating with the Convention.

4. Removal of a member of a Board of Trustees or Directors.

If for any reason a member of a Board shall cease to be a member of a church co-operating with the Convention or shall remove his residence from the State, his membership on any Board shall be thereby terminated. Any vacancy on a Board shall be filled by the remaining members until the next regular annual session of the Convention, and the Convention shall at its next regular annual session fill the vacancy for the unexpired term. The Board of Trustees or Directors of said corporation by affirmative vote of three-fourths of the entire membership given in regular annual meeting or in a special meeting called for the purpose, shall have the power to remove from office any trustee or director of such corporation for cause considered sufficient by such Board, but only after reasonable notice to such trustee or director and opportunity to be heard by the Board. The Convention shall have the right to remove any trustee or director for cause considered sufficient by the Convention, but only after reasonable notice to such trustee or director, and opportunity for him to be heard by the Convention. Notice of such contemplated action and hearing by the Convention may be given by the Executive Committee of the General Board of the Convention.

5. The trustees or directors of the institutions and agencies of the Convention shall be elected by the Convention after receiving nominations from the Convention's Nominating Committee or from the floor. The trustees and directors of all institutions owned and supported by the Convention shall make an annual report to the above committee of all vacancies to be filled.

B. Baptist Foundation

The Baptist Foundation shall be operated by fifteen directors who shall serve for five-year terms. One-fifth of the directors shall be elected annually by the Convention. The purposes of the Foundation shall be to receive, hold and administer donations of money and property which charitable-minded persons may leave to it from time to time.

ARTICLE X. Concerning Debts

A. The General Board shall have authority to borrow money in anticipation of current revenue, provided that any unpaid balance of such borrowing at the end of the current fiscal year shall be provided for in and made a part of the budget for the subsequent fiscal year.

B. No institution or agency of the Convention shall encumber its property or change its status with respect to the Convention without authority from the Convention. Institutions and agencies of the Convention, subject to the approval of the General Board, shall have authority to borrow money in anticipation of current revenue, provided that any unpaid balance of such borrowing at the end of the current fiscal year shall be provided for in and made a part of the budget for the subsequent current year.

C. All borrowing by the Convention for its own use, or for its institutions or agencies, or borrowings by any institution or agency of the Convention, the payment of which would require an extension of time beyond the close of the subsequent fiscal year, shall be authorized only on the following terms and conditions:

(1) Notice of any and all contemplated borrowings shall appear in the Biblical Recorder in three separate issues in advance of the meeting of the Convention during which it is proposed that action be taken.

With H. Max Smith, guest organist from Southeastern Baptist Theological Seminary at the console and Joseph O. Stroud, Secretary of the Department of Church Music, directing this and other worship periods of the Convention, the congregation entered into the worship period. For this session the Convention choir, composed of seventy ministers of music of the churches of North Carolina, sang "Beautiful Saviour," and the congregation joined in the singing of "Holy, Holy, Holy," "All People That on Earth Do Dwell," and "Dear Lord and Father of Mankind."

2. President Ford presented Carl E. Bates, Charlotte, First Vice-President, who recognized Jack Causey, Greensboro, Chairman of the Committee of Enrollment, who reported 1,240 messengers and 40 visitors now registered. He moved that these messengers and others registering constitute the 134th session of the Convention. This was carried. (A final enrolment was 4,060 messengers and 1,692 visitors, for a total of 5,752 as of Thursday morning before adjournment.)

3. A. L. Parker, Greensboro, Chairman Committee on Arrangements, moved the adoption of program as presented under the theme, "The Church Fulfilling Its Mission," with changes that may be necessary from time to time. Carried.

Robert Shaw); and "Saints Bound for Heaven" (arr. Robert Shaw).

8. W. W. Finlator, Raleigh, introduced the following resolution, which was referred to the Committee on Resolutions:

Resolution

Whereas: The population explosion reveals each year a geometrical increase in the ratio of the non-Christian to the Christian world, and

Whereas: Vast areas of the world once open and receptive to the Christian evangel are now sealed off in open hostility and rejection, and

Whereas: Once dormant and passive old faiths are now resurgent and expansionist, no longer brooking the competition of the Christian witness, and

Whereas: The faith of our fathers is daily confronted with a militant and insidious appeal of communism, of rising nationalism and pervasive secularism, and

Whereas: a beleaguered and ruptured church, against which it was once promised that the gates of hell should not prevail, cannot now move out in the faith that "like a mighty army moves the church of God," and

Whereas: while the Baptist State Convention meets in Greensboro, North Carolina, our brothers in Christ continue in the historic Vatican Council II in Rome, and

Whereas: The deep and radical renewal of the Roman Catholic Church, dreamed of in the huge pastoral and compassionate heart of Pope John XXIII and steadily advanced under the wise leadership of Pope Paul VI is the momentous fact of our day of which the world has taken cognizance and which Baptists dare not ignore, and

Whereas: The schemata and pronouncement of Vatican II envision among other things:

1. A proclamation of complete religious liberty for everyone in every area of the world.
2. An affirmation of religious and human solidarity with the Jewish people, a rejection of any vestige of anti-semitism and the disavowal of the complicity of these people today in the death of our Lord.
3. The elevation of Scripture as the word of God to a position of equal importance with that of Tradition as the deposit of the faith through the centuries and the placing of the adoration of the Virgin Mary within the wider context of the doctrine of the church.
4. A radical change in emphasis with regard to marriage between Catholics and Protestants, a relaxation of attitudes toward mutual worship and a willingness to re-examine and revise intransigent positions on population control and censorship.
5. A confession of shared responsibility for the great schism in the body of Christ which we call the Reformation and an invitation to mutual repentance for the hurts and the bruises inflicted by all Christians.

And whereas: Protestants, including Baptists, have in their capacities as official observers and unofficial counsellors actually participated in Vatican II and will surely bring to their own communions the impetus and inspiration for similar spiritual renewals within their fellowship,

NOW THEREFORE BE IT RESOLVED: That the Baptist State Convention of North Carolina express also its deep yearning for that unity of the church for which Christ prayed, its desire to contribute to the unity of the faith in the bond of peace and mutual honesty, its assurance of prayerful remembrance for our brothers in Rome in their search for the will of God in our day and a request for remembrance in their prayers for us, its remembrance that it too is ecclesia reformanda est, a church which must always be in the process of reformation, and that we look with hope and love to the fulfillment of the Apostle's word that there shall be one Lord, one faith, one baptism and one God who is the Father of us all.

9. E. W. Price, High Point, President of the General Board, was recognized and presented the Report of the General Board. He called on the following to assist in the presentation: Leon Spencer, Comptroller, and A. S. Tomlinson, Louisburg.

I. NEW LEADERSHIP

1964 marked the beginning of a new era in our Baptist work in North Carolina. Dr. W. Perry Crouch began his work as the new General Secretary-Treasurer of our Baptist State Convention on January 1. In November 1963 Rev. Howard Ford of Wilmington was elected president of the Baptist State Convention. At the meeting of the General Board in January 1964, Dr. E. W. Price, Jr. was elected as the president of the General Board. Thus, for the first time in several years, we were beginning the year with three new leaders.

On January 20th the General Board joined other Baptists of North Carolina in the installation of Dr. Crouch as General Secretary-Treasurer. Most of the major religious denominations of our state were represented and participated in welcoming Dr. Crouch to his new post of service. Those who attended seemed to agree that it was a wonderful service that had emphasized a forward movement for Baptists in an atmosphere of brotherhood and good will. The progress thus far this year bears out this spirit.

II. GENERAL BOARD REPORT AND RECOMMENDATIONS

MEETING OF THE GENERAL BOARD

January 20-21, 1964

One of the first suggestions of the General Secretary was that each committee of the General Board meet for organization at the January meeting of the General Board, but that they should plan a separate meeting during the year so that adequate time could be given to study their phase of the work. The plan was adopted by the Board and has proven to be an excellent method of procedure.

The Executive Committee recommended the purchase of the Battle property at Chapel Hill as a future location of our student center. Our present center at Chapel Hill is inadequate, but land has been difficult to secure near the campus. The Board feels very fortunate to secure this property. You will notice a recommendation concerning a loan for this cause.

The Board recognized the constant dangers faced by employees of the Convention who travel constantly as shown by the tragic accidental death of Dr. Douglas M. Branch, our former General Secretary-Treasurer. They, therefore authorized the beginning of an insurance program that would provide up to $5,000 death benefits to an employee who travels regularly. This program was to begin February 1, 1964. In October the Board included in the 1965 budget, funds to include accident insurance and wage continuation insurance for employees. This protects the Convention as well as the employees.

The Board approved a recommendation from the General Secretary and the Executive Committee for a Staff Leadership Tour in eight different sections of North Carolina in June. Almost 3,000 people attended these meetings and they proved a real strength to our work.

The Board took special notice of the retiring officers who had led the work of the Board during a very trying year. The new officers of the Board and detailed actions follow: President—E. W. Price, Jr., High Point; Vice-President—F. Stanley Hardee, Jr., Thomasville; Recording Secretary—Mrs. Dennis W. Hockaday.

1. The General Board agreed to follow the suggested plan of Dr. Crouch that the General Board Committees meet sometime during the spring, apart from the meeting of the General Board in order that the committees might use their time at the January meeting for organizational purposes and the spring meeting as a work session.

2. The request of the Executive Committee to borrow funds for the purpose of purchasing property in Chapel Hill, for the eventual construction of a student center there, was discussed fully and by vote, the General Board approved this request.

MEETING OF THE GENERAL BOARD

July 13-14, 1964

During the period between the January Board meeting and the July meeting, Miss Mary Lily Duncan resigned as secretary to the General Secretary-Treasurer and as associate secretary of the General Board to become Mrs. Claude F. Gaddy. She had served the Convention most effectively for many years. She was succeeded by Mrs. Anne Warren, former secretary in the Training Union Department.

The July meeting of the General Board was encouraging from many viewpoints. Mr. Leon Spencer, our comptroller, reported an 11.3 per cent increase in undesignated Cooperative Program funds over 1963, and a 12.2 per cent increase in special offerings over the same period last year. Everyone seemed to believe that the morale of our people was on the upgrade. Several committees reported excellent meetings of their committees. The General Secretary and the Executive Committee recommended the creation of two new departments: (1) an Administrative Assistant to the General Secretary and (2) the Department of Statistics and Survey. These titles are descriptive of their work. The Administrative Assistant works with the General Secretary in any place needed and particularly with records of pastors who are interested in moving, or churches seeking information about pastors. This is largely an information service. The Convention statistics have been handled by the Church Planning Department on a part-time basis. The survey work has been handled by the Church Development Department. The new Department will relieve these departments and provide better records for the use of the various departments and the Convention Annual.

The Public Affairs Committee submitted a report to the Executive Committee in its meeting in June in which there was a recommendation that a Religious Liberty Conference be held the second week in January, 1965. The Executive Committee gave its approval to this recommendation and also voted to join the Public Affairs Committee in sending out its resolution concerning the prayer amendment.

The Council on Christian Education reported excellent meetings of the Council and presented two recommendations that had been unanimously approved by the Council and had been approved by the Executive Committee of the General Board. These recommendations have to do with a modified Trustee proposal for all of the colleges and the privilege of the colleges participating in funds provided by the Higher Education Facilities Act of 1963. Both of these recommendations were approved for presentation to the Convention and appear in our recommendations at the end of this report.

Detailed actions of the July Board meeting were as follows:

1. The General Board approved the recommendation of the Executive Committee that the lot adjacent to the Student Center in Greensboro be purchased for the sum of $5,000 and that this item be financed with the Chapel Hill Loan, or from current funds.

2. The General Board approved the recommendation of the Executive Committee that the place of Administrative Assistant to the General Secretary be created with the salary scale of a Department Head, and that a full-time secretary be employed to work with the Administrative Assistant and the General Secretary, such work to begin September 1, 1964. (Mr. Robert Bruhn was subsequently employed to fill this job.)

3. The General Board approved the recommendation of the Executive Committee that a new Department of Statistics and Survey be created to be attached to the Division of Church Programs, and that Ted Williams, now Associate in the Department of Church Development be elected as Secretary of this Department in keeping with the salary structure for a Department Head, and that a full-time secretary be secured for this Department in keeping with the salary scale, such work to begin January 1, 1965.

4. The General Board approved the recommendation of the Executive Committee that a constitutional amendment concerning the trustees of the colleges be recommended to the Baptist State Convention.

5. The General Board approved the recommendation of the Executive Committee that a proposal concerning the participation of the colleges in the Higher Education Facilities Act of 1963 be presented to the Baptist State Convention in November.

6. The General Board approved the recommendation of the Executive Committee that a General Board Committee, composed of fifteen members, including the Fruitland Committee of the Missions Committee and the Chairman of the Missions Committee be appointed to make an overall study of our Bible Institute Program and recommend ways to strengthen or enlarge this program.

7. The General Board approved the recommendation of the Executive Committee that Gardner-Webb College be granted permission to raise funds for the college to begin in 1965 and to continue for approximately eight months.

8. The General Board approved the recommendation of the Executive Committee that the Children's Homes be granted the privilege of approaching foundations, endowments, corporations, businesses, individuals, families, alumni and friends in an effort to supplement present sources of income and that they be granted the privilege of engaging the services of the consultant firm of L. L. Wagnon and Associates of San Antonio, Texas, in developing long range plans.

MEETING OF THE GENERAL BOARD

October 12-13, 1964

The October Board meeting was an indication of the continued advance of our Baptist people. Our comptroller reported an 8.78 per cent increase in Cooperative Program funds and a 10.61 per cent increase in designated gifts. These two items combined result in an overall increase of 9.35 per cent over the same period of 1963 or an increase of $471,017.

Notice was taken of the resignation of Rev. Fritz Hemphill as manager of Fruitland Baptist Bible Institute. He has done a good work as Director for four years. A Committee of fifteen is now studying ways of strengthening the Institute. A new Director will be named in the near future.

The Executive Committee in its August meeting discussed needs and potential growth of North Carolina Baptist Assembly, Fruitland and CaRAway, adopting the following: That as a policy, we continue to recognize Caswell as the North Carolina Baptist Assembly, Fruitland as a summer camp, and that CaRAway be developed for an R.A. Camp and Family Campground for the foreseeable future.

The Brotherhood Department presented a request to the Executive Committee that they be allowed to borrow $150,000 to complete buildings for the R.A. Camp and Family Campground at Camp CaRAway. This project has been under study by the Brotherhood Department and the Executive Committee for several months. The Board approved the recommendation of the Executive Committee that the Convention allow the General Board to borrow this amount of money for this development. This is included in our recommendations.

For some time there has been a need for minor changes to be made in our constitution and by-laws to bring them in line with decisions made by the General Board and Convention. The Executive Committee appointed a committee to study these changes and bring recommendations to the General Board. The Board approved these changes and now pass them on to the Convention.

The major item of business was the consideration of the budget for 1965. The Executive Committee presented a suggested basic budget of $5,100,000 and an overall goal of $5,300,000. The basic budget will be divided 34 per cent for southwide objects and 66 per cent for state objects. All above $5,100,000 would be divided 50 per cent for southwide objects and 50 per cent for colleges, social service institutions and student centers.

We believe this is a good budget and the division of all above the basic budget can be a challenge to our people to do their best. We present it to you with confidence.

Detailed actions of the October meeting follow:

1. Clarence E. Godwin was elected Vice-President of the General Board replacing Stanley Hardee who has left the state.

2. The General Board approved and recommends to the Convention the proposed changes in the constitution and by-laws.

3. The General Board approved and recommends to the Convention the proposed changes in the by-laws of the Foundation.

4. The General Board approved and recommends to the Convention hardy endorsement and participation by the churches in the TITHE . . . NOW program, April 1, 1965-March 31, 1966.

5. The General Board voted to request of the Convention authority to borrow an amount not to exceed $150,000 for capital improvements at Camp CaRAway, such amount to be borrowed on the most favorable terms possible and repaid within a period not to exceed 10 years.

6. The General Board voted to request of the Convention authority to borrow an amount not to exceed $100,000 for the purchase of the Battle property in Chapel Hill, such amount to be borrowed on the most favorable terms possible and repaid within a period not to exceed five years.

7. The General Board approved the employment of A. T. Allen and Company as auditors for the convention for the ensuing year.

8. The General Board agreed to set aside the date of October 10, 1965 as "Biblical Recorder Day."

9. The General Board voted to adopt the 1965 budget as recommended by the Executive Committee.

10. The General Board authorized the General Secretary and Comptroller to have ballots prepared for the Convention.

RECOMMENDATIONS

I.—A. That Section A of Article IX of the Constitution of the Baptist State Convention, said Article IX being entitled "Institutions and Agencies of the Convention," be amended by adding thereto new paragraphs to be numbered and to read as follows:

6. Beginning at the 1965 Convention and at each annual Convention thereafter, 75 per cent of the trustees of each of our colleges whose regular terms expire in 1969 and annually thereafter shall be nominated and elected by the Convention as provided in subsections 1 through 5, Section A, Article IX. The other 25 per cent of the trustees of each college may be nominated as follows: The Board of Trustees of each college shall submit to the Convention's Nominating Committee two names for each vacancy from which the Committee shall select one, and these shall be nominated to the Convention. The provisions of the Constitution as to residence and church membership of trustees need not apply to the Trustees in the 25 per cent group nominated and elected in the foregoing manner. At all times at least 75 per cent of the Trustees of each college shall be members of Baptist churches cooperating with the Baptist State Convention. The Convention's Nominating Committee shall have the right to reject any or all nominees submitted by the Board of Trustees of each college and request new nominations from said Board of Trustees. In filling vacancies which may occur before the expiration of the regular four-year term, the successor Trustees shall be selected in the same manner as the Trustees whom they replace. Fractions will be adjusted in terms of a four-year cycle providing a maximum of 25 per cent of any Board of Trustees over a period of four years.*

7. The Trustees of each college shall have the power to amend the charter of the college to conform to this section. The provisions herein established for the nomination of trustees to the Convention's Nominating Committee shall apply to each of the colleges of the Convention on vote of the trustees of said college.

B. That Article III of the Bylaws of the Baptist State Convention be amended by adding at the end of the first paragraph of said Article III the following:

Provided, however, that the provisions of this paragraph shall not apply to as many as 25 per cent of the members of the Board of Trustees of each college, nominated and elected in the manner prescribed by Paragraph 6 of Section A of Article IX of the Constitution of the Baptist State Convention.

II. It is the judgment of the General Board that the participation in the Higher Education Facilities Act of 1963 is within the provision of the Constitution of the Baptist State Convention, Article XI, Section D, and in keeping with the previous actions of the Convention and the Report of the Committee of 25, adopted at the 1958 Convention, and, we recommend to the Baptist State Convention that each college be permitted to participate in this program, the Higher Education Facilities Act of 1963.

III. That the Constitution and By-Laws be amended to read as follows:

2. Church Loan Fund

Four years ago the Convention established a Loan Fund to be used by new missions and churches that find it difficult to secure commercial loans. Approximately $32,000 was loaned to churches during the year. These loans are to be paid back on an established basis agreed upon by the borrowing churches and the General Board's Executive Committee. Repayments plus annual budget appropriations will go into the corpus of this fund. It is expected that in this way the loan fund will eventually be capable of handling large church loans where suitable commercial loans are unobtainable.

3. Associational Missions

There are 80 district associations in North Carolina. Sixty-seven of these are served by 65 missionaries. The Convention allocated $66,000 for this significant phase of our denominational work.

The associational program is vital to the promotion and strengthening of our total Baptist work in State and Southern Baptist Conventions. This program is the basic unit of co-operative endeavor among Baptists.

The superintendents of associational missions are well organized and have a fine group of officers. They are functioning in committee groups for research purposes, the result of which will open up areas of opportunity and development hitherto untouched.

In January, 1960, this program became co-operatively a part of the Division of Missions of the Convention. The General Board has a sub-committee that serves as the Committee on Association and Convention Co-operation.

The missionaries conduct annually a five-days' conference. During the conference, areas of mutual concern are explored, new programs and plans are discussed, and a closer bond is established between associational missionaries and Convention personnel. The work of the superintendent of missions is of vital and growing significance.

4. Schools of Missions

Seven weeks of Schools of Missions were promoted in 1964. They were associationwide in scope. the large number of missionaries (235) serving in these Schools came from all over the world and represented all phases of Stewardship and Missions: City, Associational, State, Home and Foreign.

A total of 232 churches participated. Several hundred mission classes for age groups were conducted.

Approximately 75,000 people attended these missions revivals.

The purpose of Schools of Missions is to stimulate soul-winning, encourage every church to organize a mission or missions, to inspire definite and concerted prayer for missions, to increase financial support of missions, and to secure decisions for life commitment.

5. Last Year of 30,000 Movement

"A mission is anywhere one or more persons are sent from the local church or churches to preach or teach the gospel." North Carolina Baptist churches and associations are definitely moving together in co-operation with the Convention in this mighty missionary endeavor.

Since the beginning of the Movement among Southern Baptists in 1956, it is estimated that 800 churches and missions have been established in North Carolina.

The major emphasis during 1964 has been on Extension Bible Classes and Fellowship Missions. Reaching the unreached through new churches and missions constitutes our greatest evangelistic opportunity. "Reaching the goal is not of prime importance, but reaching the people and building churches is crucial to Christianity's existence." This mission movement will reach its climax at the end of this year.

6. Work With Japanese

The Japanese Mission work in North Carolina has made considerable progress this year, thanks to the cooperative efforts of many different individuals and groups and churches. The work has been carried on in two different fields: Cherry Point and Ft. Bragg-Spring Lake area. At Cherry Point, the Japanese class has increased in attendance. This is the result of the assistance given the visitation program by the Cherry Point Baptist Church and its Japanese Committee. The classes at Ft. Bragg-Spring Lake have also grown. Several churches in this area are giving special attention to this significant ministry. Rev. Tanigawa returned to Japan in the early part of the year. We are glad to report that Rev. and Mrs. Takashi Yoshizu will soon assume their work among us. This fine couple will be able to continue with us for three years.

7. North Dakota Work

ALBERT LAMM, Area Missionary

We come to the end of this year with gratitude in our hearts for the visible results over those of the previous year. The credit is due mostly to the leadership zeal demonstrated by the pastors and people who make up our fine fellowship here in North Dakota.

It has been my joy to watch the progress made by the churches and missions during the past year, and to note the growth in the number of new churches and missions. We set a goal in North Dakota last year to start two churches and two missions. The goal was reached in the constituting of Finley and Devils Lake missions into two fine New Testament Churches. We started three new missions: Mayville, Larimore, and Grafton. We now have 10 churches and 5 missions.

Some of the other accomplishments are as follows: Capitol Heights Church in Bismarck has built a pastor's home, Baptist Temple of Mandan has installed pews, and done needed work on the windows and insulating their building, Watford City First has renovated most of their building and grounds, Finley Church is in the midst of building their first unit on a plot of land given to them by the City for one dollar, Larimore has purchased a good and adequate building once used by Presbyterians and a parsonage located beside it, Calvary Church is now building her second unit, First Southern in Grand Forks has installed folding doors for use in Sunday School, Hallock, Minn. Mission purchased a temporary building for present use, and Devils Lake moved into their new building a year ago September 1.

Three new pastors came to North Dakota during the past year to serve: Rev. H. O. Baker to Capitol Heights in Bismarck, Rev. Carroll L. Greene to the Larimore Mission, and Rev. Thomas E. Sherrill to North Hill Church in Minot. We still need three Mission pastors. Mr. Baker returned to North Carolina on September 1, and the Church now has a new pastor.

I have had the privilege of working with and sharing in the labors of our pastors and churches, and I can truthfully say that my own life has been enriched, and I am more determined than ever to give my best to help meet the needs which face us in this hour! This goes for Mrs. Lamm too. I call upon Southern Baptists everywhere to join us in prayer and support that these needs here might be met before it is too late!

During the past year Mrs. Lamm and I traveled 51,000 miles, 2,500 of which she traveled without me. I made two trips to North Carolina — one for Schools of Missions, and the other attending the convention to give a report of the work here in North Dakota. As you know, North Carolina Baptists have adopted North Dakota as her mission project, for which we are so grateful.

I have been on the field 362 days including the two trips to N. Carolina, visited 127 churches, 28 missions, delivered 69 sermons and addresses, conducted 1 revival meeting, made 124 religious and soul-winning visits, and conducted and/or attended 184 conferences (114 with individuals, and 70 with groups and committees).

I have attended every convention, group and associational meeting when possible to do so, and in spite of distances these meetings have taken me, I feel that it was worth every mile traveled and every dollar spent. No vacation was taken this or last year, but I hope to get one in before the winter freeze sets in.

8. Institutional Ministries

a. MCCAIN TUBERCULOSIS SANATORIUM

C. R. EDWARDS, Baptist Visitor

During the past year, I have made regular visits to see the patients at McCain. The visits there serve to minister to the spiritual needs of the patients. Many of them feel that they have been taken there to die. My job is to give them love, understanding and hope for the future.

After a short period of time many receive a creative look for the future and most of them recover, return home and lead a normal life. The work has been spiritually rewarding.

The patients join me in thanking the Baptist State Convention of North Carolina for making this service possible.

a. MCCAIN, TUBERCULOSIS SANATORIUM

H. L. SUMERFORD, Baptist Visitor and Counselor

As a visitor to the McCain Tuberculosis Santorium doors of great opportunity have been opened to minister to the spiritual needs of the men and the women inmates. I have the opportunity to talk with prisoners about their spiritual relationship with the Master. Many of the prisoners need spiritual encouragement.

Sunday school classes are offered each Sunday morning, and on each Thursday evening a Bible study session is offered. From time to time Scripture portions are distributed to each of the 80 to 90 prisoners.

North Carolina Baptists are the only ones committed to a continuous ministry to these people.

b. SAMARCAND MANOR INDUSTRIAL SCHOOL FOR GIRLS

ERNEST POSTON, Baptist Chaplain

There are at present about 300 girls from late junior through intermediate age at Samarcand Manor. These girls are greatly in need of the spiritual guidance and help which our ministry can give.

Every third Sunday I conduct the chapel worship hour for the girls, the staff, and visitors from all over the state — a very large congregation. Twice each month I hold counseling sessions for girls who may request it.

This past year I have had 40 personal or group conferences with the girls, 14 of whom have professed faith in Christ. An effort is made to guide each girl who is baptized into membership in a church in her community upon her return home.

I am grateful that North Carolina Baptists, through their gifts and prayers, make this worthy ministry possible.

C. LEONARD TRAINING SCHOOL

LEE PRIDGEN, Baptist Visitor and Counselor

September 16 of this year (1964) marked the Fifth Anniversary of Leonard Training School as a State Correctional Institution for Intermediate Negro boys. A special celebration was held with appropriate addresses. During the day it was noted that our Baptist ministry has continued uninterrupted through the years, with special lectures, sermons, and counseling. One cannot estimate the worth of this ministry to those hundreds whose lives have been touched during the years.

At the present there are approximately 260 boys at Leonard with an administration and faculty of about 55. The closest fellowship is enjoyed by us with the members of the staff and faculty, and with them we counsel in making plans for special ways service to the boys.

The year just closing has been our most rewarding and fruitful. In the early summer we planned and directed with the cooperation of the Staff members a special week of Religious Emphasis or Revival. Different speakers were enlisted from the various churches, both white and colored, for evangelistic messages. Many were won to Christ and baptized into the church of their choice, and many others led to rededication of their lives to His service. After the week we met with staff leaders to evaluate the results and plan for such a week each year.

Baptists over the State may have the full assurance that this Institutional ministry at Leonard Training School returns full value for every dollar spent. It is an investment in lives, in broken lives, in boys who will someday be men in our state.

9. Department of Interracial CooperationW. R. GRIGG, Secretary

North Carolina Baptists are made increasingly aware that change is inevitable as they reflect upon affairs of life at least during the past decade. During these ten years they have struggled to implement the gospel they have believed and preached with reference to what is right in the total area of human relations. This struggle for real implementation became most necessary with the decision of the Supreme Court of the United States on May 17, 1954 with reference to the illegality of segregation in the public schools and other decisions in favor of desegregation which followed by the Supreme Court and other lower courts.

This implementation has come to some fruition through the work of this department which began its efforts on April 1, 1957 as a cooperative endeavor of the Baptist State Convention and the General Baptist State Convention of North Carolina. The department staff is now composed of six (6) full-time employees who work through the local churches to bring about a more Christian understanding on the part of all people and to grow more and stronger churches to the glory of God and the good of all people. There are also three (3) part-time staff members on an annual basis along with nine (9) students and three (3) adults who worked in Vacation Bible Schools during the summer for ten (10) weeks this year. Many individuals and churches have also given valuable voluntary assistance to this program.

The crossing of racial barriers in cooperative efforts continue to increase from the local church level through the work of the associations of churches and the State Conventions. Such cooperative efforts consist of annual State Convention meetings, summer assemblies, schools of Christian studies, retreats, Baptist Student Union meetings on local campuses and in state-wide meetings, and area conferences and clinics on race relations. All Baptist schools of higher learning are now available to students of all ethnic groups.

The following summary of the workers monthly reports give some idea of the nature of the efforts and accomplishments of those connected with this department from October, 1963, through September, 1964:

Institutes—40; Enrolment—4,756
 Shaw Extension Centers—4; Enrolment—63

We have now reached another milestone in the legal processes which have spiritual and moral overtones and implications. The passage of the Civil Rights legislation creates a situation in which each Baptist must ask concerning what role a church and what role the denominational organizations can now play to forward the purposes of brotherhood to which we are now legally committed and to which we have been committed eternally through the spirit of Christ and the grace of God, our Father. The words of B. Tartt Bell, Executive Secretary of the American Friends Service Committee, concerning the role of the Committee in the putting forward and bringing to fruition the purposes of Christian brotherhood seem to be a fitting answer concerning the role of the churches at this point: "It seems appropriate to remind ourselves that neither the churches nor the denomination have ever been and are not now 'civil rights agencies.' While we may have supported, worked for, and believed in laws (to a greater or lesser degree) which help build into the American way of life equality of human dignity and of opportunity, etc., we have emphasized that we are religiously concerned to achieve a society in which people are able to accept each other as individual children of God. This is far beyond desegregation and rights. Justice under law enhances this possibility but it is not the whole answer."

Baptists can do at least three things in a general way. First, they can refuse as churches to continue to be segregated and segregating institutions. Secondly, they can continue to raise questions of moral responsibility with policy-makers in both public and private sectors of society to make decisions that are free of racial prejudice and discrimination. Finally, they can be dissatisfied until all these immoral burdens can be lifted and all our lives freed for more creative worship, witnessing, work, and play.

10. Department of Deaf Missions

JERRY F. POTTER, Missionary

NEAL L. PEYTON, Associate

We believe the main purpose of this department is to help the Church win the lost deaf person to Christ, and to help those who are won to relate themselves to the full program of the churches.

Many have been won to Christ both as a direct result and as an indirect result of the ministry of this department. As they are baptized into the fellowship of the church, they are pleased to find in most areas that the church has trained interpreters who will help them to enjoy and benefit from the program of the church. Training these interpreters has been the privilege and responsibility of this department.

Our television ministry has expanded at this time to sixteen stations. This means that eight full hours of television time are made available through the public service facilities of the stations. Thus, at no extra cost of time or money, the ministry of this department is made available to the deaf people of eight states, and possibly parts of other states.

Your missionaries also have three or four services in the state Schools for the Deaf, ministering to both colored and white children each month.

The regular ministry of preaching to the deaf groups, interpreting and preaching revivals, conducting weddings and funerals, speaking in schools of missions, counselling, etc. is maintained. We ask your prayerful support in this ministry.

11. Church Development Department

ERNEST C. UPCHURCH, Secretary

The Convention year of 1963-64 has been a good one for the Church Development Department. We have been pleased at the opportunity to serve so many churches and associations across the state.

The year has been marked by the completion of some existing projects such as the Long Range Planning research project in co-operation with the Church Administration Department of the Baptist Sunday School Board, Nashville, Tennessee. Four churches — the Oxford Baptist Church, Rev. Herbert Baucom, Sr., pastor; the New Hope Baptist Church, Rev. Frank Campbell, pastor; the Alston Avenue Baptist Church, Rev. Richard Milham, pastor; and the Loray Baptist Church, Rev. Yates Campbell, pastor, are to be commended for their fine spirit of co-operation in this long range planning project. In each case the church and its committees planned a ten year program of work.

As we closed this project we began another one in the realm of associational missions. In co-operation with a research committee of six associational superintendents of missions this work was begun in August, 1964. It is scheduled for completion by 1965. Currently I am serving on a committee of the Home Mission Board of the Southern Baptist Convention which is engaged in a similar task.

The year of 1963-64 has been a most rewarding one in the survey effort. However, at the end of the calendar year of 1964 the Spiritual Advance efforts will cease in co-operation with a new approach for 1965. In view of the cancellation of this associational survey effort, the Department loses the services of our associate, Rev. Ted W. Williams. The Rev. Mr. Williams has served Church Development well. We wish for him continued success in his ministry to North Carolina Baptists through the new Statistics and Survey Department of our Convention.

The Church Achievement Ministry directed by this department continues to be a blessing to churches willing to use it.

This year Pastoral Aid, which is a part of our missions ministry, was administered through this department in co-operation with the Director of Missions and the General Boards Missions Committee. The pastoral assistance 1963-64 report is listed under item "D" of this report.

The co-operative mission ministries with the Home Mission Board of the Southern Baptist Convention have experienced renewed interest and growth this year. For the first time some associations have organized Jewish work committees. Also efforts were made through committee meetings to arouse an awareness of our need for the juvenile work committee. The mission center activities have continued their growth and services during the year. Miss Milam and Miss Nix continue to give faithful and loyal service in this area of work. Our only regret at this point is the Departments inability to expand these services to other sections of our state due to the lack of mission funds and personnel.

At the time of writing this report preparations are being made for a statewide city missions conference to be held the latter part of November of this year. This conference will feature the Home Mission Board staff as program personnel.

The rural church work is progressing as well as possible under existing conditions. Some areas of our state are finding themselves in declining communities. Such areas find growth most difficult. Special ministries are being planned and conducted in these critical areas.

The Church Development Department continues to serve as a ministry of missions for our Convention through the following ministries:

1. Directs a research ministry of church development within the framework of the department.
2. Promotes church achievement ministries — an annual “do it yourself” development program.
3. Develops and writes manuals and other aids to assist churches in development.
4. Promotes church administration within the framework of the department.
5. Directs special studies to aid churches in problem solving and development.
6. Administers the pastoral aid fund in co-operation with the Director of Missions and the General Boards Missions Committee.
7. Renders a liaison ministry between our churches and other divisions or departments of mission ministries and church related ministries and/or services.
8. Promotes and directs the following CO-OPERATIVE MISSION MINISTRIES within the working agreement of the State Convention Mission Board and the HOME MISSION BOARD of the Southern Baptist Convention:

Program of Metropolitan Missions (50,000 plus population —city missions)

Program of Urban-Rural Missions (up to 50,000 population—including the Church Development Ministry and In-Service Training)

Program of Jewish Work

Program of Juvenile Rehabilitation

Program of Mission Center Ministries

A record of my stewardship of service for the past year (October, 1963 through September, 1964) is:

1. 177 days spent on the field
2. 24,765 miles traveled
3. 125 churches visited
4. 114 sermons and addresses delivered
5. 370 conferences with individuals
6. 117 conferences with groups and/or committees

It is a joy to be privileged to work with and for the North Carolina Baptists in this phase of the mission ministry of our Lord.

A. CHURCH SURVEY MINISTRY

TED W. WILLIAMS, Associate

During the past year the Church Development Department has rendered extensive service to the churches of our Convention through the church community survey program. The major emphasis was in Region VII as a part of the Long Range Program of Spiritual Advance. Region VII is an area in the northwestern part of the state encompassing fourteen associations. Surveys were conducted in twelve of these associations during the first six months of 1964. In addition surveys were conducted in many associations across the state using approved survey directors of this department.

It has been a joy to work with these associations and churches in helping to discover their responsibilities and determining effective methods of reaching their potential in Kingdom building.

As a brief look at the past year, the following statistics are given:

1. 157 days spent on the field
2. 19,931 miles traveled
3. 170 churches visited
4. 48 associations served
5. 244 conferences with individuals
6. 76 conferences with groups and/or committees
7. 81 surveys directed by the Church Development Department staff and approved workers during the year

B. DAN VALLEY MISSION CENTER

Spray, North Carolina

DOROTHY MILAM, Director

Our ministry this year has meant to many individuals the experience of accepting Christ as their personal saviour from the seventy-six year old janitor to the eight year old boy. It means a church home with a personal sense of belonging and giving life a new purpose and challenge. Its ministry has added spiritual strength to our community and extends a hand of assurance and encouragement through counseling to both young and old. Our service to the community is varied — aiding in time of need of food, fuel, medicine, clothes or grooming items; being a go-between to the judge, the police, a lawyer, a doctor, the health department, the sanitation department, the AA, the rescue squad, the sheriff and his men, the YMCA director and workers asking for a curfew or an ordinance at the town hall meeting to help our youth; visitation to the homes, hospital and jail; going to court for moral support; working with the womans club project of story hour and book-mobile during the summer to encourage better reading; teaching God's Word through club activities after school and in kindergarten; encouraging better grades and less drop-outs; through character building and Bible teaching leading individuals to realize that God has a purpose for their lives; leading souls to accept Christ as their personal saviour and encouraging spiritual growth through attendance in Sunday school and worship services; working with the principals and secretaries and teachers of the Spray Graded, Leaksville-Spray Junior High School and the Moorehead High School and business men of the Tri-cities.

Club activities each day after school for groups from first grade boys and girls to high school youth plus a three day kindergarten with few volunteer workers and the director touches the lives of less than one hundred seventy-five youth, adults and children.

The Mission Center began its second year of Sunday school and worship sponsored by the First Baptist Church of Leaksville, the mother church of many of our churches in this area. Many of our volunteer workers have continued their dedication through the teaching ministry of our Sunday services at the Mission. Among our volunteers have been many faithful, dependable, high school teenagers of the Leaksville Church serving through the youth choir at the Mission. These young people have influenced the young people at the Mission. The parents of many of our young people, who have become Christian, are not yet Christians. This presents to our Mission a great challenge.

Perhaps one of the highlights of the year has been the beginning of our worship services and prayer meetings at the Mission. These began on March 3, 1964. The Leaksville Baptist Church serves as sponsor of the Sunday services.

Our Mission membership was saddened by the tragic death of one of the boys of the community. We are happy to report that prior to Tommy's death he made a profession of faith in Christ as his saviour.

The mission center ministry has co-operated with the associational camp in trying to enrich the lives of our youth. It is a togetherness of tremendous value which cannot be adequately expressed in a report. Many folks outside of our association this year have had the joy and privilege of sending some of these boys and girls to our associational Camp Dan Valley and to the North Carolina Baptist Assembly at Southport.

The ministry of the week day activities is unique and different from the regular church program, but its GOAL is to reach souls for Christ with a Bible centered, character building program to make missions alive and encourage wholesome daily living with a God given purpose to share with others.

God has blessed the ministry of the Mission Center which is "housed in a landmark" of the town of over five thousand people. The Mission Center continues to challenge us as North Carolina Baptists to answer the needs of these people, both physical and spiritual. "Lift up your eyes, and look on the fields; for they are white already to harvest."

C. PATTERSON AVENUE MISSION CENTER

Winston-Salem, North Carolina

CLARA NIX, Director of Week-Day Activities

God has truly blessed the work at the Patterson Avenue Mission Center this past year. Our work has been enriched and strengthened by volunteer workers from the churches in the Pilot Mountain Baptist Association. Then, too, He has given us able leaders on the Mission Center Committee who work with us locally to plan and promote the work.

The fall program began in September with an orientation period for the workers. One hundred nine individuals were enrolled in the total program of Bible study, clubs, adult fellowships, crafts, recreation, Sunday school, Royal Ambassadors, Girls Auxiliary and educational activities. Others were ministered to in the area of relief, clothing distribution and counseling.

In the summer twenty-two of our boys and girls packed their bags and went to camp. Also several of the boys and girls participated in the day camp program.

The mission center is one way we are trying to reach the unreached for Christ within our inner cities. This work is sponsored by First Baptist Church of Winston-Salem, the Pilot Mountain Baptist Association, the Church Development Department of the Baptist State Convention and the Home Mission Board of the Southern Baptist Convention.

12. Fruitland Baptist Bible Institute

September 29, 1964, marked the first day of classes of Fruitland Baptist Bible Institute's 19th year. By the time the first week had ended one of the largest freshmen classes in history had enrolled. Seventy-one first year men ranging in age from 18 to 62 were on hand seeking some scholastic foundation that would help them to be better preachers. The younger students, in many cases, express a desire to go on to higher education to be fitted for greater use in God's Kingdom work. A fine second year class of 25 students and an equally fine class of 39 third year students bring the total enrollment to 135.

The Institute school year consists of four six-weeks quarters. The students are offered three years of study covering basic courses in English, Old Testament, New Testament, Evangelism, Homiletics (Public Speaking), Church History, Church Administration, Christian Education, and Missions. There are eight men serving on the faculty this year. Rev. Alex Booth, Rev. W. G. Camp, Rev. L. W. Cain, Rev. Clifford Crowe, Rev. Robert Graham, Rev. Robert Hamby, Rev. John Rymer, Mr. Gary Harthcock.

We are continuing to make improvements and additions to our facilities as time and means permit. Mr. J. M. Huggins, our very able Superintendent of Building and Grounds, has completed two duplex apartments and will soon put the finishing touches on a triplex. Providing excellent food served in the cafeteria is Mrs. Mabel Holmes, our dietitian, with an excellent staff of assistants. Miss Ellen Daniel is serving a wide variety of needs in the office.

This year is an important one for the Institute and the State Convention. A General Board Committee is making a detailed study of the needs within North Carolina concerning Bible Institute work. An even more extended and effective ministry seems to be in Fruitland's future.

13. Seminary Extension Work, Region 10

ROY J. SMITH, Director and Associate in Missions

The fifth year of Seminary Extension work in Region 10, N. C. has been completed. The value of this ministry is indicated by the sustained interest and effort on the part of the pastors and lay people of this Region. This effort is jointly sponsored by the Home Mission Board, the Seminary Extension Department, and the Baptist State Convention of North Carolina. Seminary Extension is a program of in-service training for pastors and lay people who cannot leave families, churches and employment to attend institutions of higher learning. Upon completion of sixteen prescribed courses pastors are granted a certificate in Pastoral Training, and lay people are granted a certificate in Christian Training. Local ministers and educators who hold the B.D. degree or the M.A. degree serve as teachers.

Thirteen Seminary Extension centers were in operation this past year. There were six Negro centers, six white centers, and one center was located on the Cherokee Indian Reservation. At least one center was located in each of the seven associations in the Region.

Sixty two pastors and two hundred forty four lay people were enrolled in the centers this past year. One pastor in the Region has completed requirements for the Certificate in Pastoral Training. Several lay people lack only one or two courses completing the requirements for the Certificate in Christian Training.

In addition to Seminary Extension courses, the Tuckaseigee and Cherokee centers sponsored W.M.U. leadership training classes. Forty five W.M.U. leaders were enrolled in these classes. Materials for this study were prepared by Miss Miriam Robinson, State W.M.U. Secretary.

A Seminary Extension Workshop was held September 24, at the First Baptist Church, Franklin. Teachers, Directors, and Registrars from each center were present. Dr. E. L. Spivey, Dr. O. L. Sherrill, Dr. Thomas Lane, Rev. Cline Borders, and the Director had part on the program. We feel that the Workshop provided valuable inspiration and information for our work this year.

At present fourteen centers are organized for work this year. Two new centers, the Shady Grove, Hayesville, and the Big Cove, Cherokee, are beginning operation this year.

One "Learning to Read" class is being taught by Missionary Fred Lunsford at Marble. Other such efforts are scheduled for this fall.

A summary of the Directors reports show the following statistics. Participated in 4 revivals, 1 School of Missions, two South-wide Extension workshops, one Mountain Missions Conference, 9 Annual Associational meetings, visited 89 churches, preached 133 sermons, and taught full time in two Seminary Extension Centers.

We are grateful for the privilege of serving in this wonderful ministry.

14. Truett Camp

ROY J. SMITH, Camp Supervisor

Truett Baptist Camp is under the joint sponsorship of the Baptist State Convention and the associations of Region 10. The Baptist State Convention owns the property and furnishes leadership and direction for the Camp. The Convention furnishes a Camp Director and two college students each week of Camp.

The Associations are responsible for constructing buildings and maintaining the property.

A program of missionary education and Christian training is planned for each of the eight weeks the Camp operates. Here boys and girls from this great area are confronted with the missionary needs of the world and the call of Christ.

This year 141 R.A. boys and G.A. girls attended camp. One hundred-fifty 7 and 8 years old Sunbeams attended Day Camp. Twenty-three pastors from the Region attended a Pastors Retreat.

15. Cherokee Indian Ministry

LARRY BRYSON, Director

The Cherokee Indian Ministry — after a year of study and reappraisal (1963) — has a new dimension in its ministry. The convention year of 1963-64 has marked the beginning of our long-range program of development. Our study revealed the following needs:

1. Ministry to pre-school children of working mothers — Day Care.
2. Additional educational space for Cherokee Baptist Church.
3. Mission Center Ministry.
4. More adequate associational program.
5. Summer Mission Program.
6. Assistance to Indian Churches.

General Observations

This year has been one of progress and growth in our ministry. We have witnessed a closer unity and fellowship in the Cherokee Indian Association and a more wholesome attitude toward our Denomination. Our churches gave more to missions, enjoyed a larger Sunday School enrollment, and had more professions of faith and baptisms.

June 30, 1964, Mr. J. Boyd Horton resigned as Missionary on the Cherokee Indian Reservation and Miss Lucy McLaughlin was called to direct our Day Care Ministry. Miss McLaughlin is jointly employed by the Baptist State Convention of North Carolina and the Home Mission Board.

The following is a summary of our work for the current year, 1963-64.

a. CHEROKEE DAY CARE CENTER

MISS LUCY McLAUGHLIN, Director

The Cherokee Day Care Center opened December 2, 1963. This ministry is sponsored by the Baptist State Convention of North Carolina, the Home Mission Board, and the Cherokee Baptist Church and is a part of the Cherokee Indian Ministries.

Since December of 1963, we have ministered to 65 children and their parents through Day Care. The parents of these children work in the various factories located on the Cherokee Indian Reservation.

Other than the director, there are 3 teachers, 1 dietitian and cook, and 1 custodian. The Day Care Committee, composed of members of Baptist churches on the reservation serves as advisors to the program.

Miss Lucy McLaughlin, a graduate of Southwestern Seminary, has served as director of this area of work since June 1, 1964. Miss McLaughlin, during her leadership, has added depth and quality to this ministry. Under her capable supervision, the workers are on a continual training program of Day Care work. Miss McLaughlin is a member of the staff of the Division of Missions of the Baptist State Convention and is a missionary of the Home Mission Board of the Southern Baptist Convention.

Funds for the Child Care Center are provided by the fees paid by the children, the overage from the Heck-Jones offering, the gifts from an anonymous donor, and the Home Mission Board.

The children participate in various activities such as arts and crafts, stories, games, finger painting, etc. A balanced meal is served at noon with nourishing snacks served both morning and afternoon. Each day the children rest for 1½ hours. Through this ministry, we have been able to reach into homes that otherwise would not have been touched through our former ministry.

b. ADDITIONAL EDUCATIONAL SPACE

Cherokee Baptist Church

Construction will begin on additional educational space for the Cherokee Baptist Church in early November of this year. The Home Mission Board, North Carolina Baptist State Convention, and the Cherokee Baptist Church are providing necessary funds for construction. The building will be a multi-purpose building which will house the Child Care Center, The Cherokee Community Mission Center, and educational space for the Cherokee Baptist Church. The building will contain 7,200 square feet of floor space and cost approximately $72,000.

c. MISSION CENTER MINISTRY

In October of 1963, the Cherokee Tribal Council passed a resolution granting the North Carolina Baptist State Convention the privilege of negotiating a lease with the Tribe on a vacated building in the Big Cove Community. On July 15, 1964, a lease for this building was signed by the Baptist State Convention and the Cherokee Baptist Church for $1.00 per year for 10 years plus insurance coverage. The building is located on a 2.7 acre tract of land. It contains 2 apartments, gymnasium, kitchen, full basement, 3 classrooms, and approximately $1,500 in equipment (including basketball, desks, chairs, stoves, etc.)

Our ministry began in Big Cove in early September with Mothers clubs, Golden Age clubs, Teen activities on Friday evening, Junior activities on Thursday afternoon, and Child Care. In the following weeks, we will begin other programs of activities; scouting, Adult clubs, recreation, RAs, GAs, Seminary Extension Literacy work, wood working, wood carving, etc. This same type of program was begun in the Cherokee Baptist Church at the same time.

The Mission Center is also sponsoring Little League baseball, Little League basketball, and coaching for Little League football. Baptist Laymen are serving as coaches and directors of the leagues.

Miss Miriam Loftis, a graduate of Southern Seminary, is directing this phase of our program on a part-time basis.

d. CHEROKEE INDIAN ASSOCIATION

In January of 1964, the Baptist State Convention of North Carolina began giving assistance through the Associational Missionaries Fund to Rev. Robert Bushyhead who was called on a part-time basis. In August of 1964, Mr. Bushyhead was called to a permanent position as a result of an additional appropriation from the Baptist State Convention. Mr. Bushyhead serves the 17 Indian churches as missionary. He plans, promotes, and directs programs of our denomination in all the churches.

Mr. Bushyhead is seeking to develop the churches and is leading them to accept more responsibility themselves in providing an adequate ministry in their communities. Under his leadership a definite strengthening of the unity and fellowship can be observed.

Mr. Bushyhead cooperates with the Cherokee Indian Ministry promoted by the Baptist State Convention of North Carolina.

e. SUMMER MISSIONS PROGRAM

Miss Geraldine Beck and Miss Miriam Loftis served as summer missionaries on the Cherokee Indian Reservation. Miss Beck is a member of the Cherokee Baptist Church and a student at Mars Hill College. Miss Loftis, employed by the Sunday School Department of the Baptist State Convention to direct Vacation Bible Schools, is a graduate of Southern Seminary.

Miss Beck planned and promoted youth activities throughout the Reservation. These activities consisted of games, arts and crafts, devotions, camps, etc. She assisted in Vacation Bible Schools, Child Care, and directed guided tours on the reservation for visitors.

Miss Loftis directed Vacation Bible Schools in 15 of our 16 churches. This is the largest number of churches to participate in Vacation Bible School in a number of years. Total enrollment was 609. Approximately $200 was sent to the Baptist State Convention for missions. Miss Loftis is now assisting in our Mission Center work on a part time basis.

Each year, hundreds of Baptist people come to Cherokee to visit the mission work. This year approximately 3,000 have visited and toured the reservation. Literally thousands more came, but did not go on a tour with one of the staff members, however, they were able to observe the witness of Baptists in Cherokee.

f. ASSISTANCE TO INDIAN CHURCHES

In 1964, the Baptist State Convention of North Carolina assisted two Indian churches with their pastors salaries — Boiling Springs and Straitfork. The Baptist State Convention also granted money from the Lot fund to Yellow Hill, and Cherokee Baptist Churches. The Home Mission Board contributed money for the improvement of buildings to Big Cove, Boiling Springs, Echota, Little Snow Bird, and Straitfork.

Through this means, Baptists are helping the churches on the reservation to help themselves in providing better facilities and in assisting their pastors.

16. Military Personnel Ministries

J. NED BEATTY, Director

The Military Personnel Ministries — now three years old — is a cooperative Ministry with the Home Mission Board and the Baptist State Convention of North Carolina.

More than 57,000 of our finest Southern Baptist youth enter, and a like number leave, Military service each year. North Carolina ranks fourth among all 50 states in the number of military stationed in its borders; one out of ten people living in North Carolina are here as a result of Military Service. The tremendous importance of National defense to North Carolina is pointed up in the fact that the number of Military Personnel on active duty in North Carolina is approximately 100,000 with their annual pay and allowance being more than $350 million.

As long as the present system of military enlistment continues and the end is nowhere in sight, we may expect three out of four of our young men who are mentally and physically qualified to become "Military graduates." The kind of "graduates" a youth becomes will depend largely on two factors, namely, (1) his character before Military Service, and (2) the influences thrown around him during his tour of Military duty.

It is hoped that every church will realize the need for an effective ministry to its youth facing, engaged in, and returning from Military Service.

The Churches have in the steady stream of youth into and out of military service an unparalleled Missionary opportunity. If one out of ten of our Southern Baptists serving in the military services of our Country should be possessed of the will to witness wherever he went, more than 5,700 missionaries at home and abroad could be added to our present force. Let it be said that many are serving at home and in foreign countries as dedicated witnesses for Christ.

Besides this, many of these "Military Missionaries" will return to their Churches fully committed to the causes of World Missions. Others will have heard and answered the call to full-time Mission service.

It is our prayer that in the coming year we will have a wider and more realistic approach to our current program; (1) In our four major Military Areas, i.e.: Fayetteville-Fort Bragg Area, Jacksonville-Camp Lejeune Area, Cherry Point Area, Goldsboro-Seymour-Johnson Area; that we work toward associates to our present Military Worker or Associational Missionaries who could devote approximately half-time to Military Ministry; (2) That in the Fayetteville-Fort Bragg Area we may do something about meeting the need for a Baptist Military Center to provide significant means for involving single Military men in Christian growth. It could serve as a facility for church-related endeavor to assist the local churches in meeting the needs of our Young Military Men.

This year we have had the opportunity to work some in the Cherry Point and Camp Lejeune Areas, as well as many other parts of our state. Other statistics show the following:

1. Spent 306 days on the field
2. Traveled 19,760 miles on the field
3. Visited 87 Churches
4. Visited 2 Missions
5. Delivered 81 Sermons and Addresses
6. Conducted 24 Prayer Meetings
7. Conducted 1 Revival
8. Made 119 Soul-Winning Visits
9. Made 1,379 Other Religious Visits
10. Distributed 58 Bibles and portions
11. Distributed 9,700 tracts and Literature
12. 1 School of Missions
13. 258 Conferences with individuals
14. 82 Conferences with committees
15. Taught 36 Classes

As Director of Military work I thank God for his continued blessings upon our labors, and to Dr. W. Perry Crouch, Dr. E. L. Spivey, Dr. William Smith, and for other fellow co-laborers for the wonderful cooperation during this year.

My family and I count it a privilege to serve with the North Carolina Baptists in this ministry for our Lord.

C. DIVISION OF EVANGELISM

JULIAN S. HOPKINS, Director
GARY HARTCOCK, Associate

Reports from all associations are not in at this time (October 15, 1964) but those we have received indicate that more people have been won to Jesus Christ and baptized in this Convention year, 1963-64, than were won the preceding year. For this gain we are grateful to God and thankful to the pastors and other soul-minded church members whom the Holy Spirit used in winning the people. However, there are about 2,000,000 unchurched people in North Carolina, to say nothing of the thousands of indifferent people whose names are on the rolls of the churches. Therefore, to get the present church members concerned and involved in bringing people to a personal encounter with Jesus Christ is the most pressing need among Baptists today and constitutes the greater part of the responsibility of the churches and the Convention to both God and man.

BAPTIST JUBILEE REVIVALS

The Division of Evangelism of the Baptist State Convention of North Carolina has worked closely with the Division of Evangelism of the Home Mission Board in the effort to put evangelism in the forefront of our total Baptist program and to bring the five-year period of the Baptist Jubilee Advance program to a great climax in the simultaneous Baptist Jubilee Revivals across the territory of the Southern Baptist Convention in 1964. Our aim was and still is to see a great evangelistic spirit emerging and prevailing in the churches and more and more people being won to Christ.

It appears now that the simultaneous effort in North Carolina in the spring of 1964 was one of the best our Convention has experienced. Almost all of the associations made some kind of effort in this direction and several of the associations came near to having one hundred percent of the churches participating. Many churches experienced heart-warming revivals. In some of the associations more people were won to Christ and baptized during the simultaneous revivals than were baptized in all the preceding year. Reports also show that 68 percent of all the people baptized during the year made their confession of Christ as Saviour and Lord during revivals. But where the revivals were outstanding in power and fruitage, they were preceded by months and months of prayerful cultivation of the lost and deepening of concern on the part of the churches.

CLINICS IN THE ASSOCIATIONS

Clinics on evangelism were conducted in sixty-seven associations during the year. With a few exceptions both the Division Director and Associate Director participated in all the clinics. The associations where clinics were held are as follows: Alexander, Alleghany, Anson, Ashe, Atlantic, Avery, Beulah, Bladen, Blue Ridge, Brunswick, Brushy Mountain, Buncombe, Burnt Swamp, Cabarrus, Caldwell, Carolina, Catawba River, Central, Cheoah, Columbus, Cullom, Eastern, Elkin, Flat River, French Broad, Gaston, Green River, Haywood, Johnston, Liberty, Little River, Macon, Montgomery, Mount Zion, Neuse, New Found, New River, New South River, North Roanoke, Piedmont, Pilot Mountain, Raleigh, Randolph, Robeson, Rocky Face, Rowan, Sandy Creek, Sandy Run, South Fork, South Mountain, South Roanoke, South Yadkin, Stanly, Stone Mountain, Surry, Tennessee River, Theron Rankin. Three Forks, Transylvania, Tuckasegee, West Liberty and Western North Carolina.

In these clinics three things were emphasized: the simultaneous Baptist Jubilee Revivals, personal witnessing unto Christ on the part of every church member, perennial evangelism in the total program of every church with special emphasis on helping both the new and the old church members to mature spiritually.

This fall and next year our efforts in the clinics will be directed toward the objectives outlined above with the exception of Baptist Jubilee Revivals which ended with the Baptist Jubilee Advance program in Atlantic City last May. In these clinics we will endeavor to help our pastors and their people in the work of revivals in the local church, in associational simultaneous efforts and other types of revival programs.

MEETINGS IN LOCAL CHURCHES AND GROUPS OF PASTORS

More and more it is becoming clear that the need is great and becoming even greater all the time for church leaders to help the new and the old church members to become witnesses for Christ and thus grow spiritually themselves. This need must be met if evangelism is to be effective in the Christian's personal life and in the churches. Only to the extent this need is met can the churches experience the power of God in them and flowing through them to the lost world. In an effort to help meet this need, the personnel of the Division of Evangelism gives as much time as possible to work in the individual churches and in associational pastor's conferences. The work in the churches consists largely of the following:

Week-long emphases on the local church level in personal evangelism which majors on the spiritual growth of the individual Christian. The teaching and on-the-field instruction include:

A. A Fit Vessel — (the kind of vessel God can use in his world-wide ministry of reconciliation)

B. The Word of God—(the desire of God that all people hear, understand, and obey His Word)

C. The Power of the Christian Witness—(the place of prayer, the Holy Spirit and the Gospel of Christ in the life and witness of a child of God)

D. The Gospel of Christ—(suggestions and scriptures that tell the story of Jesus)

E. The Building up of the Body of Christ—(the use of the time, talents, and resources of the children of God to help every person to come to Christ and to mature in the likeness of Christ)

STATE-WIDE CONFERENCE

The eighteenth annual State-wide Conference on Evangelism was held February 10-12, 1964, in the building of the First Baptist Church, Winston-Salem, North Carolina. The theme for the conference was, Toward Spiritual Revival In Depth. Speakers for the conference were:

W. Randall Lolley, Pastor, First Baptist Church, Winston-Salem
Findley B. Edge, Professor of Religious Education, Southern Baptist Theological Seminary, Louisville

Edward A. McDowell, Jr., Professor of New Testament Interpretation, Southeastern Baptist Theological Seminary, Wake Forest

G. Earl Guinn, President, Louisiana College, Pineville, Louisiana

Charles B. Howard, Emeritus, Bible Department, Campbell College Buies Creek

Harper Shannon, Pastor, First Baptist Church, Dothan, Alabama

Eual F. Lawson, Associate Director, Division of Evangelism, Home Mission Board, Dallas, Texas

Farrell Runyan, Missionary-Evangelist, Greenville, South Carolina

Bill Gossin, Businessman, Member of Sixteenth Street Baptist Church, Greensboro

Fred L. Kelly, Jr., Minister of Music, First Baptist Church, Winston-Salem

James D. Reich, Minister of Music and Education, McGill Street Baptist Church, Concord

Raymond Childers, Minister of Music and Education, First Baptist Church, Brevard

ORGANIZATIONS IN THE CHURCHES

During the year it has been the purpose of the personnel of the Division of Evangelism to work closely with the Sunday school, Training Union, Brotherhood and W.M.U. forces in our efforts in evangelism. We rejoice in the growing concern and increased efforts that these organizations are manifesting in evangelism. The task is so big and the need for effective evangelism in the churches is so great that this work must have primacy in all our organizations and programs.

D. DIVISION OF CHURCH PROGRAMS

1. Sunday School Department

HERMAN IHLEY, Secretary

"Chaplains, I am discontented with the world situation. Can you help me?" This was how the editor of the Atlanta Constitution, Eugene Patterson, began his speech to the chaplains of the Third Army at Fort McPherson, Georgia, on Tuesday evening, October 13, 1964.

Mr. Patterson's thesis was that we have lived too much under the domination of natural law and not enough in the area of the spirit. This was a tremendous evaluation from a world traveler and outstanding journalist. He urged a return to living more in the realm of the spirit.

The apparent deification of natural law has produced a society of the unconcerned. Recent periodicals have given evidence of our unwillingness to become involved in the lives of others. People have died from violence and spectators have done nothing to prevent such when assistance could have been given.

This dangerous secularism is reflected in our Sunday School work. Outreach has been temporarily placed aside. There is an emphasis upon efficiency and reaching those already enlisted. Consequently we are experiencing a decline in enrolment. When faced with this, many take consolation in saying that we are reaching more people than ever before in that the average attendance is better. However, many denominational leaders are deeply concerned about the slow down in growth. We are not facing an either/or situation. It is imperative that we emphasize both efficiency and outreach.

To demonstrate our interest in outreach we are scheduling director-led enlargement efforts for the next several years. We will endeavor to have at least three annually. The pastor-led enlargement campaign will continue to be promoted. Workshops on the principles of growth will be conducted in metropolitan centers. The Adult Thrust program will receive accelerated attention.

Department personnel have served as conference leaders and speakers in several states, schools of missions, revivals, related projects promoted by other departments, Ridgecrest Sunday School weeks, and pulpit supply for many churches. We have traveled more than 82,000 miles and have reached approximately 22,500 leaders in clinics, conventions, assemblies, enlargement campaigns, workshops, training schools, pastors' conferences, and associational meetings.

PROGRAM FOR 1964-65

This year's program includes 10 pastor-led enlargement campaigns, a state Junior, Intermediate, and Young People Leaders' Workshop (jointly promoted with the Training Union Department), 2 superintendents' workshops, state Vacation Bible School Clinic, 4 associational teaching improvement clinics, 4 director-led enlargement efforts, 4 area conventions, cooperation with and leadership in the state pastoral workshops scheduled for February and March, and promotion of associational Vacation Bible School clinics, visitation clinics, growth emphasis, church programming, and improved record systems.

Each Sunday School in the state will be challenged to have a 2 per cent net increase in enrolment during the year. This is part of the growth program in which we will be participating as we endeavor to reach a Sunday School enrolment of one million by 1970.

a. VACATION BIBLE SCHOOL WORK

MRS. MYRA S. MOTLEY, Director

Vacation Bible School work shows a gradual growth each year. The best record to date was that of 1963. During that year we reported 3,018 schools; 296,881 enrolment; 5,532 professions of faith; and $50,461 mission offerings. We are hopeful that the 1964 record will be even better, but all reports have not been received. To date we are showing 2,739 schools. We have recorded 188 standard schools as over 167 in 1963. This is an indication that the quality of schools is improving.

The state clinic to which invited associational leaders came was held at Wingate College, January 22-24. There were 65 associations represented by 365 leaders. These joined our staff in conducting 91 clinics in 71 associations. Statistics show that 2,083 churches were represented by 10,820 workers in these associational clinics.

Mr. Sibley C. Burnett of Nashville, Tennessee, conducted conferences during the state clinic. Other leaders in addition to the state Sunday School staff included: Mrs. Ada Rutledge, Nashville, Tennessee; Miss Carolyn Madison, Jackson, Mississippi; Mrs. Herbert L. Green, Jackson, Mississippi; Mrs. J. R. Everett, Rocky Mount; Mr. W. T. Douglas, Jackson, Mississippi; Ray Childers, Brevard; and J. O. Stroud, Raleigh.

Our department assisted 17 associations in providing summer workers during June, July, and August. These 25 students were trained at Gardner-Webb College by our department staff with Harold Marsh of Nashville, Tennessee, assisting. These students assisted 122 schools. Several students working through the Department of Interracial Work were also trained at Gardner-Webb.

Again our department joined with the New South River and Atlantic associations in providing help for mission schools in trailer parks near military areas. Twenty-eight mission Vacation Bible Schools were conducted in these places.

The state clinic is scheduled for January 27-29, 1965, at Wingate College.

b. ELEMENTARY WORK

MISS HILDA MAYO, Director

The outstanding event of 1963-64 in the area of Elementary Work was the State Elementary Workshop held in Gastonia in January. This was sponsored by both Training Union and Sunday School Departments, assisted by the Sunday School Board. In a heavy snow and ice storm over 200 persons attended the sessions!

Four associations held Elementary Conferences in conjunction with Pastor-Led Enlargement Campaigns. In each of these associations the Director of Elementary Work presented a summary of objectives and procedures of children's work to pastors participating in the Enlargement Campaigns. To these four Associational Elementary Conferences there came 174 persons from 30 churches. State leadership was provided for each conference. State personnel was provided also for one Associational Elementary Workshop and for two local church workshops. In each case the workshop consisted of five or more hours of concentrated study on methods and procedures in Nursery, Beginner, and Primary work. Six other churches requested special assistance in the elementary area, and the Director of Elementary work went for conferences in each of these churches.

Throughout the year special bulletins have been sent to Associational Nursery, Beginner, and Primary Superintendents. These bulletins bring to their attention new materials, suggestions, and other information. The release by Broadman Press of a new book of songs for Primaries and two new records for teaching purposes have been of interest and help to Primary workers. The Sunday School Builder carried one article relative to a North Carolina church providing for Nursery children for the first time. The article was contributed by the Director of Elementary Work.

In the children's building during the Sunday School Leadership Conference at the North Carolina Baptist Assembly, fifty boys and girls were enrolled. Eleven adults worked with these children, following a planned unit of study.

It is recognized that one of the needs of the present day is more assistance to churches now providing Kindergartens and Day Care Programs, and guidance of those who are planning such programs in the future. During the year the Director of Elementary Work visited and conferred with workers in nine churches relative to this week-day ministry to children and homes. This assistance in Kindergarten and Day Care Programs will be given special emphasis in 1964-65.

c. ASSOCIATIONAL WORK

PAUL KESTERSON, Director

This has been a year when we have sought to lead the associational work in a way to bring enlargement in the Sunday schools.

The early enlistment of officers continues to be one of the most challenging problems. We seek to help the associations enlist early a corps of officers. On August 28, 1964 a State Briefing Meeting was conducted at High Point jointly with Training Union, Brotherhood, and Church Music departments. Training was provided for 57 associational Sunday school superintendents or their representative. Materials for guidance in the associational Sunday school program were distributed.

We continue to use the Regional Superintendent plan of work. Those serving in the regions are:

Regions	1 & 2—No one at present
Region	3—Rev. John P. Johnson
Region	4—Rev. Alfred Staley
Region	5—Rev. Neil Armstrong
Region	6—Rev. E. C. Watson
Region	7—Rev. Billy Rivers
Region	8—Rev. Zeb D. Baker
Region	9—Rev. Harold Killian
Region	10—Rev. James Lambert

Five Associational Pastor-Led Sunday School Enlargement Campaigns were conducted. Participating in these campaigns were 61 churches. These churches planned to begin 141 new departments, 165 new classes, and to enlist 462 new workers.

This year for the first time 10 associations engaged in Sunday School Witnessing Campaigns. A total of 126 churches took part. Reports are incomplete, but it appears that these churches will have baptized more than 1,000 persons for the year.

We have also visited 73 of the 80 associations to talk with associational leaders about enlargement through outreach. A goal for growth has been projected, and in many instances accepted by associational workers and others. This is a plan to lead the churches of North Carolina in an outreach program which will enable them to grow from the approximately 772,000 persons presently enrolled to 1,000,000 persons enrolled in Bible study by the close of the year 1970. This can be achieved by making the following percentage gains:

1%	2%	3%	4%	5%	6%	7%

Four Director-Led Sunday School Enlargement Campaigns are planned for 1965. They will be in the Carolina, Columbus, Gaston, and South Yadkin associations. In addition to these campaigns additional associational Sunday school emphases will be carried out in Region 8 in cooperation with the Long Range Program of Spiritual Advance.

d. TEACHER TRAINING AND STANDARDS

RICHARD D. SMITH, Director

TRAINING OPPORTUNITIES

This year has brought a renewed interest in leadership training. The number of churches conducting a program of study for Sunday School leadership has steadily grown. One church learns from another the advantages of preparing their officers and teachers before taking office. This is long range thinking. It is not easy, yet the results are greatly rewarding. A basic study program has been devised to include such topics as leadership qualifications, teaching methods, lesson aims, and basic materials for leadership. With so many officers and teachers moving from one part of our country to another this has shown us the need of providing additional leaders all during the church year. With additional classes and departments being formed, creating new demands for leaders, we can see the need to provide in advance leadership training for all departments in the Sunday School.

STANDARD OF EXCELLENCE EMPHASIS

North Carolina Baptists are third in the Southern Baptist Convention in standard schools reported. In a day when advance on any front is difficult we have noted an increase in standard units over the same period last year. This indicates that teachers and departmental officers are using the Standard of Excellence as a guide to self improvement. The standard is thought of as a measuring rod. Time is well spent when we check up on the quality of religious education we are furnishing those who attend our Sunday Schools.

NON-RESIDENT CHURCH MEMBERSHIP ENLISTMENT PLAN

Churches throughout the Southern Baptist Convention are sending names of church members who have moved to other areas of the Convention to the Non-Resident Members Exchange Desk at the Sunday School Board in Nashville, Tennessee. These names are then sent to the appropriate state Sunday School secretary. Your state Sunday School Department is sending these names to the associational missionaries, requesting that they be distributed to the churches closest to the non-resident member. We have many displaced Baptist church members and this is an effort to reach them for active church membership in their new location. We hope more churches will cooperate in this effort to keep up with our own people wherever they may be.

2. Training Union Department

JAMES P. MORGAN, Secretary

The unfolding program of training as it evolves from the tasks assigned to Training Union is now and will be even more so in the future one of the most thrilling contributions ever made to the field of Religious Education.

This program is being interpreted continuously through various periodicals, principally The Baptist Training Union Magazine and the Training Union Quarterlies. However, other printed matter from various Baptist sources carry the welcome news from time to time, as do pamphlets and leaflets which deal with specific aspects of the program which is broad in scope and flexible in structure.

Every Pastor and staff member should read regularly all materials related to Training Union in order to remain abreast of the "changing times" and to effectively use the Training Union in the accomplishment of church goals.

Dr. C. E. Autrey has well said: "Training Union is vital. It has a major responsibility in developing the people spiritually. It assists in the major task of conservation through both its training program and its superb system of orientation."

Call upon the Training Union Staff to help your church interpret the latest in Training Union curriculum materials, organizational structures, and program techniques.

PERSONNEL

The field staff consists of the Secretary and three Associates: Rev. Sam O'Neal, Director of Associational Promotion and Young People's Work, Miss Katy Ruth Grayson, Director of Junior and Intermediate Work, and Miss Doris Morgan, Director of Nursery, Beginner, and Primary work. Each staff member, in addition to primary responsibility, is assigned additional related responsibilities. Our wonderfully efficient office staff, who make a tremendously worthwhile contribution to our work, consists of Mrs. Sallie Jones, Office Secretary, and Mrs. Mary Conn, Assistant Office Secretary.

Approved Workers are: Mrs. E. F. Baker, Black Mountain, Junior Work; Mrs. Smoot Baker, Lancaster, South Carolina, Administration and Age-Group Work; Mrs. J. R. Everett, Rocky Mount, Junior and Intermediate Work; Mrs. Walter Nash, Signal Mountain, Tennessee, Elementary Work; and Mrs. Sam O'Neal, Garner, Elementary Work.

In addition, the following individuals have been given special training for Pastor-Led Enlargement Campaigns and are used as frequently as their duties will allow for the purpose of directing associational projects of this nature: Rev. O. B. Reel, Mt. Holly, Alden Angline, Asheville, Robert L. Clegg, Burlington, and Rev. E. F. Baker, Black Mountain.

1964 ACTIVITIES

Numerous meetings of various kinds claim our attention continuously. During the past year we have carried on our basic and continuing activities and have endeavored to meet every call to local churches and group meetings in which there was an opportunity to interpret the Training Union program, particularly to Pastors' Conferences. We are grateful for the opportunities which have been opened to our staff to talk with Pastors. We covet a continuing opportunity.

Among the activities involved in our ongoing program were:

1. Ten Regional Convention Planning Meetings.
2. Ten Regional Conventions.
3. Four weeks of state Training Union Assemblies — three at Fort Caswell and one at Fruitland.
4. One Training Union Youth Convention.
5. One Briefing Meeting for Associational Directors.
6. Eight Training Meetings for Associational Officers.

Numbers 5 and 6 above were planned and promoted co-operatively with Sunday School, Church Music, and Brotherhood Departments.

In addition, our staff was involved in several associational leadership training clinics, local church leadership training efforts and enlargement campaign, one south-wide Group Learning Clinic held in Greensboro, the Training Union Assembly weeks at Ridgecrest, the Elementary Workshop in Gastonia, jointly sponsored by Sunday School and Training Union, seven associational Pastor-Led Enlargement Campaigns, and numerous other events.

One particular activity was carried out experimentally by Sam O'Neal and colleagues in the Yates Association. This involved an adaptation of what has been called the ABC Program of Training Union Enlargement. This plan was developed by the Training Union Department of the Sunday School Board. It involves a three-months program in sequence as follows:

- | | |
|-----------|----------|
| 1st Month | Analyze |
| 2nd Month | Begin |
| 3rd Month | Complete |

It involves organization, enlistment and training of leadership, and study. It has been used successfully in local churches. Mr. O'Neal developed the idea of using it simultaneously in an association with assistance from the Training Union Department in planning and executing this program locally. Consequently, Rev. Hubert Mumford and Miss Nannie Mae Herndon of the Yates Association co-operated in enlisting some 27 churches in that association in the project. Mr. O'Neal, and other staff members, met with representatives from the co-operating churches periodically for the purpose of interpreting events and activities involved in the program in the local church. This project is being evaluated for future use as one type of assistance which may be given to associations by the Training Union Department.

GOOD NEWS

A recent survey of the churches in the state without Training Unions revealed 1,316. These churches have 140,453 resident members, according to the 1963 Convention minutes. This means that, roughly speaking, 20 per cent of the resident church members of our churches do not have access to a training program. However, it is significant to note that the average resident membership of these churches is only 107. A study of these churches reveals the difficulty of organizing a fully graded Training Union and this is where the good news comes in. A church will henceforth be considered to have a Training Union if the church has "one or more church-elected officers who lead any portion of the church membership in the regular performance of any of the tasks assigned to Training Union." This should be of inestimable value in reaching the small churches who heretofore have felt that they could not organize a fully-graded program of work.

1965 MAJOR PROJECTS

Twenty area interpretation clinics will be scheduled for early 1965 for the purpose of interpreting on an age-group level all that is new in Training Union.

A major effort will be put forth in 1965 to reach these 1,316 churches without Training Unions.

Fourteen Associational projects are scheduled in Region 7.

A State Youth Workshop for leaders of Young People, Intermediates, and Juniors in both Sunday School and Training Union is scheduled for the First Baptist Church of Greensboro, January 11 and 12.

3. Department of Student Work

WILLIAM C. SMITH, JR., Secretary

The objective of the Baptist student ministry is to assist each one in becoming a mature Christian who is committed to God in faith, who nurtures his faith and life in the Church, and who manifests the Christian life in all attitudes and actions. The Baptist student program is fundamentally related to local Baptist churches. Sunday School, Training Union, worship, and other church activities are provided for the students by the churches. The Baptist Student Union provides week-day activities on campus. All of these are efforts to develop the future religious leadership for Christ.

I. MINISTRY ON CAMPUS: In addition to the local churches' program for students, the Baptist student group provides on campus sustained efforts for worship and study, service and fellowship. These include Bible study, devotional periods, mission study and activity, forums, discussions, retreats, focus weeks, personal evangelism, service opportunities, and wholesome recreation. Personal counsel is given by those who are engaged in the student ministry — Directors of Baptist student work, pastors, and faculty.

Baptist student centers are a significant means for enlisting and involving students. Centers designed and constructed as such are well used at Duke and the University of North Carolina at Greensboro. The one at N. C. State has just been completed and the one at Western Carolina will be opened for use by the first of January, 1965. Over-crowded dwelling houses are used at East Carolina and the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill.

II. PROGRAM AT THE STATE LEVEL: The activities at the state level provide further opportunities for reaching the stated objective and supplementing the program on the campuses. It is maintained through the comprehensive and collective efforts of the local Baptist Student Unions.

1. THE ANNUAL STUDENT DEPARTMENT SEMINAR was held at Black Mountain in January with Dr. Theron D. Price as lecturer. Dr. W. Perry Crouch led one session. The object of the seminar is for study and planning related to the ministry to students, and workers with Baptist students attend.

2. THE TOUR OF COLLEGES featured Dr. Eric Rust as chapel speaker or leader of a Baptist student meeting. Dr. Rust talked about the relation of religion and science.

3. THE LEADERSHIP TRAINING CONFERENCE for new Baptist Student Union officers met at the First Baptist Church, Salisbury, in April. Workshops for the various officers provided information and suggestions about the responsibility of each. The speakers were Dr. Carlyle Marney, Dr. Samuel Southard of the Southern Baptist Theological Seminary, and Dr. W. J. Stephenson, Pastor of the church.

4. THE MISSIONS PROGRAM sponsored by the college students sent eight students to Tok Mok ni, Korea, on the first work project in which the Baptist Foreign Mission Board has participated. A school building was constructed in a village settled by refugees of the Korean War. The students in North Carolina paid the travel fare of the eight participants and the Foreign Mission Board, through the Korean Mission, paid their expenses while they were there and for the building materials.

5. SUMMER SERVICE activity provided two Youth Evangelism teams which served in churches and mission Vacation Bible Schools. The Department promotes the Home Mission summer program in which thirty-six North Carolina students participated last summer.

6. THE MINISTRY IN SCHOOLS OF NURSING includes assisting student religious groups and having the Student Nurses' Retreat in June. The 13th annual retreat near Charlotte had on program two pastors, a minister of music and education, and the Chaplain to Baptist Students at the University of North Carolina at Greensboro.

7. BAPTIST STUDENT UNION OFFICERS' COUNCIL RETREAT: Students take a responsible role in leadership and planning in the program of student work. The Officers' Council which is composed of all presidents of local BSU's, works in six areas: Fall BSU Convention, Spring Leadership Training Conference, Missions, Church Relations, Social Action, and Publicity and Publications. The Retreat was held at the North Carolina Baptist Assembly in August, acted on plans for the year and recommended some plans to be voted on by the BSU Convention.

8. THE THIRTY-FIFTH BAPTIST STUDENT CONVENTION met to explore the theme "When Students Worship God" at the Green Street Baptist Church, High Point, November 6-8, 1964. The speakers were Dr. Theron D. Price, Chairman, Department of Religion, Furman University, Greenville, South Carolina, Dr. W. Perry Crouch, Executive Secretary-Treasurer of the Baptist State Convention of North Carolina, and Dr. Willis Glover, Professor of History, Mercer University, Macon, Georgia. Dr. Glover spoke to college-town pastors and faculty members. The Reverend Joseph O. Stroud, Secretary of the Department of Church Music, led the music and worship.

9. THE EIGHTH ANNUAL INTERNATIONAL STUDENT RETREAT is scheduled during the Thanksgiving holidays at Williamsburg, Virginia, to introduce the students from other countries to the Christian faith. Around 100 students from North Carolina will join students from Virginia and the District of Columbia. The Woman's Missionary Union of North Carolina contributes $1,500 towards the cost of the conference, which is sponsored by the Student Department of the Sunday School Board.

10. PUBLICATIONS AND PUBLICITY: The Reveille is published by the department as a journal of Christian concern and thought. Brochures and pamphlets are printed to give information about the student ministry. Publicity on the activities is sent to newspapers, radio, and television stations. A full color 35mm filmstrip depicting the ministry, facilities, and personnel of the Baptist Student Union in North Carolina was prepared this year and produced by the Department of Program Services.

III. COOPERATIVE ACTIVITIES: The department cooperates with the Student Department of the Sunday School Board in promoting Student Week at Ridgecrest and Glorieta, the International Student Retreat, and any other student meeting planned. Student Night at Christmas is also promoted to give local churches an opportunity to learn of religious activities for our students. The Missions Conference sponsored by Southeastern Seminary is promoted by the department as is the Medical Missions Conference held by the Foreign Mission Board.

IV. PERSONNEL: The Department of Student Work works with the following to carry on the ministry for Baptist students in North Carolina for the school year 1964-65: Reverend Monroe M. Ashley, University of North Carolina at Greensboro; Reverend Worth Barbour, Agricultural and Technical College in Greensboro (part-time); Reverend James O. Blackwelder, Wingate (part-time); Mr. W. Worth Bridges, Gardner-Webb (part-time); Reverend Alton Y. Buzbee, Campbell; Reverend James O. Cansler, University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill; Reverend Edgar D. Christman, Wake Forest; Reverend Henry G. Elkins, North Carolina College at Durham; Reverend Dwight R. Fickling, East Carolina; Reverend Colon L. Godwin, Western Carolina; Mr. Henry W. Greer, Appalachian; Reverend Lawrence P. Hardy, Pembroke (part-time); Reverend Robert P. Hyatt, Duke; Reverend Robert Melvin, Mars Hill (part-time); Reverend Quentin M. Perreault, Western Area Director; Reverend Leroy P. Richardson, Jr., North Carolina State; Dr. R. Hargus Taylor, Chowan; Mr. R. A. L. Walker, Meredith.

V. THE STUDENT DEPARTMENT LOOKS FORWARD to the time when the possibilities of ministering to students in the name of Christ are approached with an adequate staff to meet the challenge. Additional workers are needed now in the face of increasing enrollment. The completion of plans for adequate Baptist student centers is also awaited.

On behalf of the 26,000 Baptist students enrolled in North Carolina and the workers of the Department, we hope that Baptists in this state will keep informed about the ministry for students and will pray that God may guide all of us to do a better work with students in Christ's name.

4. Church Music Department

JOSEPH O. STROUD, Secretary

The Church Music Department, now in its ninth year of service to the churches of the convention, has had one of its best years. Participation in all the activities sponsored by the department has broken previous records and there is an increasing demand for all the services the department renders.

Music Schools have been promoted throughout the convention with the following associations using the services of the department: Robeson, Bladen, Johnston, Cabarrus, Anson, Stone Mountain, and Cullom. Music Schools were also conducted at Fruitland Bible Institute, and several churches of the convention were helped in music training. Various conferences and clinics were conducted throughout the state on worship and music in worship. The department also directed the music for meetings of Woman's Missionary Union, Division of Evangelism, Sunday School Department, Training Union Department, Brotherhood Department, Baptist Student Union as well as for the annual sessions of the Baptist State Convention.

The choir festival program for 1964 reached 278 choirs in the regional festivals and 189 choirs in the statewide festivals. A total attendance of 14,471 persons participated in these events held during the spring. Promotion materials for 1965 have already been released to the churches and the prospects are good for an increased participation in 1965.

The summer music conferences were well attended and a program of quality was conducted at each. During the week of July 6-11 the Junior Music Camp at the North Carolina Baptist Assembly had a total registration of 338. The Church Music Conference was conducted at the North Carolina Baptist Assembly the week of July 13-18 with a total enrolment of 740. The Church Music Conference at Fruitland Baptist Camp conducted the week of August 10-15 had a total enrolment of 222. Plans are already underway to take care of this growing number who will attend these conferences in 1965.

The most pressing need in the Church Music Department is in the area of associational work. Approximately 40 of the associations have an associational music council and many of these are not doing much to help the churches. We need to organize every association in the convention and offer leadership training to these associational officers. It is our most pressing need. In order to do this we must add to the staff of the department a Director of Associational work. It is our hope that the convention will find this possible in the not-too-distant future.

The year 1964-1965 has been designated by the Southern Baptist Convention as a year of emphasis on worship. The Church Music Department stands in a most strategic place to offer leadership to the churches and pastors in this area of church life and we are majoring on this in the year 1965 through conferences and workshops, pastor conferences, music schools, the festival program, and the summer assemblies.

5. Department of Church Building Planning

L. L. MORGAN, Consultant

Growth and success in all areas of Baptist life is influenced by the buildings and facilities of the local church. Working jointly with the Architecture Department of the Sunday School Board, the Church Building Planning Department has helped over 900 churches this year.

The churches ask for counsel in the following areas:

1. Appointing and organizing a Planning and Survey Committee.
2. Determining the proper location for buildings and in securing enough property.
3. Selecting plans that will meet present and future needs.

4. Adopting an over-all plan at the beginning.
5. Deciding what should be built first.
6. Building in compliance with North Carolina laws.
7. Adopting a sound financial program.
8. Selecting and organizing the Building Committee.
9. Securing a sympathetic architect.
10. Developing adequate parking space.
11. Planning a properly located, attractive, comfortable, and convenient home for the pastor.
12. Planning special days, such as ground-breaking and dedication services.
13. The developing of library, recreation, and fellowship facilities.

Two state-wide Building Conferences were held in 1964. Clinton was host to the spring meeting held April 14 and Asheville entertained the second, held October 13, 1964.

The Adult Thrust, the population explosion and other factors make it imperative that buildings be updated and enlarged as rapidly as possible.

6. Brotherhood Department

CLYDE L. DAVIS, Secretary

B. W. JACKSON, Associate

A NEW DIMENSION

Out of much research and prayerful study has come a wider and more adequate concept of the nature and work of Brotherhood. This new concept may be stated as follows: "A Brotherhood is a fellowship of Baptist men, members of the church, organized to advance the cause of Christ through a program of missionary education and the promotion of missionary activities, designed to inform, motivate and involve men in the mission task of their church."

A study of the developing programs of the other church organizations reveals that the only organization in the church with a program of missionary education and missions promotion involving men (and boys) is the Brotherhood. This means, of course, that if a church is to accept the recommendations of our denominational leaders to provide men and boys with missionary education opportunities and missionary service opportunities, such opportunities will be offered through the Brotherhood.

The new concept of Brotherhood points to the following great objectives for Brotherhood: To lead men to—

1. A deeper commitment to missions
2. A more meaningful prayer life for missions
3. A larger stewardship on behalf of missions
4. A personal involvement in missions

No change in the present Brotherhood organizational structure will be necessary. However, there will be a development and a new alignment of the four major Brotherhood emphases, and the setting of each on a solid missionary base. World Missions, for instance, will emphasize missionary education and commitment to missions. Developed in the area of Personal Stewardship will be an added emphasis on the support of missions. The area of Christian Witnessing will be tied on directly to Christian service through missionary activities and involvement; and work in Royal Ambassadors will be pointed towards missions advance.

The Brotherhood Department is engaged in the task of introducing the new concept to our churches. During the past year representatives from the department appeared before Pastors' Conferences, associational Brotherhood meetings, or annual sessions in 45 associations. Plans for 1965 call for an all-out effort to bring this new concept to every church, to win the support of the pastors, to organize new Brotherhoods, and train leaders who will bring into existence an effective program of missionary education and missions promotion for men and boys.

NEW PERSONNEL

Mr. Earl Underwood was employed as construction foreman for Camp CaRAway during the year. He and his family are living on the campsite.

ROYAL AMBASSADORS

The tasks of Royal Ambassadors are:

1. To teach missions to boys
2. Lead boys to participate in mission activities
3. Lead boys to participate in special projects of the church
4. Inform boys about the work of the church and denomination
5. Confront boys with the challenge of missionary service

This unique task of Royal Ambassadors to provide missionary education for so large a group in our churches places a premium upon the place a church gives to the program.

To help churches and associations in the promotion of Royal Ambassadors the Brotherhood Department provides: The State Royal Ambassador Congresses for Pioneers and Ambassadors; "See College" Days; Association Royal Ambassador Leaders Workshops; and Workshops and Leadership Conferences in many associations.

The Department also seeks to help associations and churches interested in camping through providing a Camp Director's Clinic. Professional help in the field of camping and camp planning is provided in this workshop held in Asheboro with demonstrations at Camp CaRAway.

The Department has camps at CaRAway, Fruitland and North Carolina Baptist Assembly. Camp CaRAway, using the woodcraft camp area, completed its first full season of operation with capacity attendance of almost 1,000 for the 10 weeks. Permanent facilities constructed at present time are: a dining hall, staff lodge, one cabin, residence, and tent floors.

Recognizing the place that family camping plays in the plans of many families, and the possibilities of it as an opportunity for families to be together in some activity, the Department sponsors a Family Camping Clinic at Camp CaRAway where family life and camping activities conferences are provided.

Our present Royal Ambassador record shows chapters in 1,689 churches, or approximately 45 per cent of our churches; chapter membership of 25,300; Ambassador Life subscription totaling 12,300 and Ambassador Leader subscriptions totaling 2,800.

The services of the Department are available to churches and associations as they seek to strengthen and enlarge their program of missionary education for boys.

7. North Carolina Baptist Assembly

FRED J. SMITH, Manager

The year of 1964, was indeed a very successful and wonderful year for the purpose of the North Carolina Baptist Assembly. The Assembly by the Sea is like a tree branching out with its roots far and wide, bringing forth each season a harvest of souls for Christ and His kingdom. Needless to say, the atmosphere and well planned programs, take the credit for our registration of 5,382. They found the Baptist Assembly a place of dedication and serenity.

I would like to express my sincere appreciation and thanks to the different departments in Raleigh for their loyalty and co-operation to the Assembly.

As usual, we had a most adequate staff of eighty-five members, who tried at all times, to make our guests feel that the Assembly was their home away from home. The staff is composed of Christian Adults and Young People representing our State.

Our Pre and Post-Season had 2,503 registered guests. We always look forward to the youth, B.S.U., Choir Retreats, and individual families on vacation, who come before and after the summer programs. Our people are becoming more and more aware each year of this opportunity.

The Baptist Assembly continues to make progress in improving the facilities. The Oceania Motel has ten units that are used for family apartments. We always have more requests than we can grant for these units. We have other family group apartments that will accommodate small and large families. Our Church Group Apartments are made nicer each year. Most of them now have larger kitchens, more baths, and are well equipped. The Office Building was renovated to provide ample space for the personnel, supplies, and equipment. On Mondays, each guest found a large L-shaped counter with adequate and necessary space for registering. Five courteous and friendly clerks registered each group upon arrival, thus eliminating a long waiting line. Water coolers have been placed in many of the buildings to add to the comfort of our guests. The beautification of the grounds is beginning to show its appreciation for the contributions and care given to it. Our recreation program is one of the best. We have swimming, fishing, softball, basketball and horseback riding.

Future plans call for a desperately needed auditorium with ample seating capacity, equipment for the children's building and play ground, an ice machine for the dining room, and furniture and venetian blinds for our Resident Buildings. We plan to cement the bottom of our swimming pools and place a fence around them. The girls and boys barracks are to be refashioned for more purposeful living.

We take the pleasure of requesting each and everyone of you to start making your plans early for reservations in 1965. For information write the North Carolina Baptist Assembly, Southport, North Carolina.

8. FRUITLAND BAPTIST CAMP

The summer months, June, July and August, 1963, were busy and active ones at the Fruitland Baptist Camp. Conferences and Camp Programs were enjoyed by young and old alike as groups gathered for participation in activities for Training Union, Sunday School, Associational Missionaries, Royal Ambassadors, Girls' Auxiliary, Choirs, Preachers, Ministry to the Deaf and other church-related programs. The spacious campus provided beauty and the cool breezes of the mountains for those who sought rest and quiet and the comforts and delicious food supplies physical strength while the well planned programs provided spiritual food for the soul.

The season was a most successful one. The fine staff and every one who served in any way contributed to the fine spirit which prevailed through the summer. There were over 2,000 in attendance during the 12 week session. In addition to the conferences and camps planned by the departments of work of the Baptist State Convention we had many visitors who stopped over for a night or few days of vacation. We are always happy to have friends over the state come by to see what North Carolina Baptists are building at Fruitland. Improvements continue to be made in the buildings and on the grounds. Three additional apartments will be completed by the 1965 summer season.

Attendance for the Music Conference this summer exceeded any year since the institution of this program. We were well pleased with the attendance for the Training Union Week as well as the GA Camps and other programs. Fruitland contributes much to the spiritual development of all who come and we covet the support and prayers of our people over North Carolina as the administration and leaders seek to advance the cause of Christ through its ministry.

E. DIVISION OF STEWARDSHIP PROMOTION

O. J. HAGLER, Director

Two words would characterize the work of the Division of Stewardship Promotion for the past year — “More” and “Better.” All areas of our work — Department of Promotion, Department of Development, Department of Program Services and the Annuity Department — have had more requests for assistance and the response to services offered has been the best in the history of our work.

The following reports of the various Department Secretaries within the Division will bear eloquent testimony to the statement made above. The work of the Director of Stewardship Promotion is that of planning and directing the activities of the several departments within the Division. In addition the Director shares in the field work carried on in the churches by the other staff members.

The total program of stewardship development in the local church and through all Convention agencies has accelerated both in scope and effectiveness.

At this writing (September 30) gifts through the Cooperative Program have increased 11.55 per cent over 1963 for a dollar gain of $380,977. Our Special Offerings for State Missions is $10,000 ahead of the same period last year or a gain of a little more than 25 per cent. We have received for State Missions to date $54,013 and expect to meet or exceed the goal of $165,000 by year's end. Cooperative Program giving and Special Offerings now total $5,811,285, a gain of 9.78 per cent which represents in dollars received an increase of $517,981.

Barring unforeseen circumstances and based on the rate of increase for the first three quarters of 1964 we can confidently expect giving by the Baptist Churches in North Carolina to all Mission causes to amount to about $8,100,000 by December 31!!

The dynamic leadership of our General Secretary, Dr. Perry Crouch; the cooperation and faithful services by all staff personnel and the willingness of the members of our churches to grow in the stewardship of material possessions make possible this encouraging report.

1. Department of Stewardship Promotion

HAROLD M. WHITE, Secretary

This has been a busy and rewarding year: Busy, because many associations and churches have called upon us for assistance in stewardship promotion; rewarding, because of progress among North Carolina Baptists in teaching the doctrine of Christian Stewardship and developing better stewards.

I have been assigned the responsibility of scheduling Associational Workshops and Training Sessions in local churches for the following programs:

1. The Forward Program of Christian Stewardship
2. Growth In Christian Stewardship
3. A Stewardship Development Program for Baptist Associations

The Forward Program is the best and most complete stewardship emphasis for larger churches. Growth In Christian Stewardship is designed for smaller churches with a membership of three hundred and less. We have been encouraged by the number of churches using these programs during the past year and by the good results they are having. We are also receiving good reports from the associations using the Stewardship Development Program for Baptist Associations.

I wish to thank Mr. O. J. Hagler, Division Director, who has gone beyond the call of duty in time given and miles traveled to give direction and assistance. I wish also to express appreciation to the other members of the staff in the Division of Stewardship Promotion for their cooperation and assistance.

In addition to promoting stewardship through Associational Workshops and Training Sessions in local churches, I have also been engaged in the following major activities: Deacons' Schools, Schools of Missions, conferences with local leadership and stewardship sermons in churches and associational meetings.

I have also worked closely with the General Board's Committee on Stewardship Promotion, the Stewardship Commission of Southern Baptist Convention, and have cooperated with other Division personnel in the development of a total Stewardship Program.

I join others in expressing gratitude to God for leading Dr. Perry Crouch to us as our new General Secretary-Treasurer. I assure him of my prayers and cooperation.

2. Department of Stewardship Development

R. TOM GREENE, Secretary

Cooperative Program Advance with primary emphasis on helping Christian Education and the Baptist Student Union has been the aim of this department for three years. The department is in the Division of Stewardship Promotion, Mr. O. J. Hagler, Director. The work during the past twelve months may be divided as follows:

I. PROMOTION THROUGH COLLEGE DINNERS

There were approximately 1,100 people from almost 700 churches in 72 associations who attended these meetings. The emphases of these fourteen promotional meetings were: 1. The needs of the colleges and the Baptist Student Union. 2. How Christian Education contributes to the worldwide witness of our churches.

II. REGIONAL WORKSHOPS

There were ten regional workshops held across our state for associational leaders. There were approximately 200 of the associational officers attending from 48 of the associations. These meetings provided training and inspiration in two areas: 1. The needs of Christian Higher Education. 2. The ways in which associational officers may help churches increase their Cooperative World Mission Program giving.

III. REPORTS, ART, AND ARTICLES

In addition to the once-a-year report of Cooperative Program and Special Offerings carried by the BIBLICAL RECORDER, we published by churches the first six months giving of 1964 in the August 22 issue. We also mimeographed this same six months report and gave it out in each of the associations' annual meeting. In addition to the reports, we developed art and wrote articles in promotion of the Cooperative Program Advance. The Biblical Recorder carried 26 pieces of art, 57 articles, and 9 pictures which were furnished by this department.

IV. LEAFLETS

In cooperation with Mr. Hagler, Mr. White, and the others of this division, we developed and distributed the following:

355,000 Cooperative Program Advance leaflets in 8 titles.

315,000 basic Cooperative Program leaflets and posters in 4 different titles.

69,500 State Mission leaflets and posters.

V. OTHER AREAS OF WORK

Cooperative Program Advance was promoted during the June Leadership Tour and by direct mail.

During the past twelve months in doing this work for you in Christ's name, I have driven 32,309 miles, spoken 238 times, and there were 22 added to the churches for which I preached.

The success of the Cooperative Program Advance Campaign has been greatly aided by our General Secretary-Treasurer, Dr. Perry Crouch, by Mr. O. J. Hagler, Director of the Division of Stewardship Promotion, Harold M. White, Secretary of the Department of Promotion, and others of this division, plus the cooperation of the Council on Christian Education. This includes the untiring efforts of the Executive Secretary, Mr. Ben C. Fisher, and the able efforts of our college presidents and their co-laborers, plus the excellent work of the Cooperative Program Advance committees of the associations which includes the associational missionaries and moderators.

Mrs. Edith Barbour, Office Secretary, has given excellent help and her devotion to our common task.

To those above, and our entire Convention staff, the pastors and the churches, we express our profound gratitude for their splendid cooperation and helpfulness.

3. Department of Program Services

JIMMY MORRISS, Secretary

The Department of Program Services promotes the total Baptist program through the associations and local churches. It is a department that is primarily public relations; and, it is incorporated in the Division of Stewardship Promotion. The work of the Department of Program Services may be divided as follows:

I. AUDIO VISUAL AIDS

A. Film Library — During the past year the department has booked more than 10,000 film titles. The library has more than 2,300 35mm. filmstrips and more than 100 16mm. films available on a free rental basis for church use. These film titles cover every area of denominational endeavor.

B. Film Production—The department continues to produce both 35mm. and 16mm. films in support of the total Baptist program for the departments of the General Board. During the year a 35mm. filmstrip, The Ministry of the Baptist Student Union, was produced in behalf of the Student Department. Special slides were also produced on the mission work in North Carolina. The department also produced a 16mm. black and white motion picture on the military personnel ministry in military areas.

C. Communication Demonstration Conferences and Clinics—Each year the department, at the request of various associations, plans "one night stand" demonstration conferences. Counseling with churches regarding audio-visual equipment, program planning, and sight and sound installations has become one of the major services of the department. More than 100 churches were aided in this manner during the past year.

D. Audio Aids—The past year has seen a tremendous upsurge in the use of audio tape recordings. We have produced for the churches in the Convention during the past year more than 300 tape recordings which is a 100 per cent gain over the past year.

II. GRAPHIC ARTS

Another service rendered by the department is in the field of graphic arts. This service includes design and production of printed materials, posters, folders, diagrams, streamers, thematic settings, and many other types produced in support of the Baptist program. More than 150 individual productions have been designed during the year. The department also has the responsibility of aiding the departments in the presentation of the exhibits presented at each annual Convention. Black and white still pictures on mission work numbering over 500 have been produced by the department for Convention use. The department also produced the major portion of the pictures and materials each year for the State Missions issue of the Biblical Recorder.

III. NEWS SERVICE

The Department of Program Services has the responsibility of news coverage of Baptist work in North Carolina to more than 350 outlets including newspapers, radio and television stations in North Carolina. More than 75 special articles have been written and used extensively by all the news outlets in our state. May we here express our appreciation to every news channel for their splendid cooperation in providing both time and space for Baptist news.

IV. TELEVISION AND RADIO

The department continues to produce the Baptist network series of television programs titled, A Light Unto My Path. This program is a mission work of the Convention designed to reach the minority groups including the deaf, the aging, and the unchurched. This program is presented at the present time over a state-wide network of 6 stations. These stations are: WRAL-TV, Raleigh; WECT-TV, Wilmington; WLOS-TV, Asheville; WFMY-TV, Greensboro; WBTV, Charlotte; and WNCT-TV, Greenville. Also, cooperating to give North Carolina complete coverage is WTVC-TV, Chattanooga, Tennessee, and WIS-TV, Columbia, South Carolina. This series of programs is also carried by stations in Virginia, Tennessee, Maryland, Alabama, and Georgia, and is sponsored by a Baptist Convention or association. At present, the series is seen in at least 10 states in the East. The department also plans and presents a weekly 30 minute news telecast on WRAL, Channel 5, Raleigh, North Carolina. Our newest venture is the preparation and production of a series of Bible story programs for pre-school age children for television. This series will be distributed on a state-wide basis. The department works very closely with the radio industry of the state. During the past year the department set up a network of 21 stations for presentation of the Choir Festival from Wake Forest College sponsored by the Church Music Department. At present the department is producing a new series of taped Bible teaching programs with target date for airing in the spring of 1965. These programs will be presented on a network basis.

V. OTHER AREAS

The department also shares in Schools of Missions. We are most grateful for the splendid work of the department's 2 workers in audio-visual aids: Rev. W. L. Pearson and Rev. Richard Whitley. Each summer the department provides an approved worker at Caswell Assembly and Fruitland Camp. The department has worked closely with Broadman Films of the Baptist Sunday School Board. We also work closely in the promotion of the Baptist program through the Radio and Television Commission. It is our earnest desire to make these services available to every association and church. Please continue to pray for these ministries. The department also expresses its appreciation to Mrs. Terra Gaye Williams and Mrs. Frances Riley for their continued capable work in assisting the churches with their special needs.

4. Annuity Department Report

GUY S. CAIN, Secretary

The program of the Annuity Department is a joint one between the Southern Baptist Annuity Board in Dallas, Texas, and our State Convention. The work of promotion is supported on a fifty-fifty basis between the two agencies. The work in the state is done by the Department Secretary and the office secretary. The Annuity Board is the service agency for our pastors and other Baptist employees. At the present time, fifteen hundred of our churches are participating in the Retirement Program with seventeen hundred active certificate holders being billed month by month.

The Southern Baptist Protection Plan provides retirement income, widow and disability income for those who hold certificates. The maximum salary on which payments can be made is $4,000. This is a ceiling which was set in 1940. Deposits in this program are made by the church paying 10 per cent of the salary base and the Convention paying 5 per cent. We are still stressing the importance of the church paying 10 per cent on the total pastor's salary, not just on the $4,000 ceiling. Possibly a thousand of our churches whose pastors receive their livelihood from the churches are not yet participating in the Retirement Program.

The newest development in the Annuity Board service is the Life Benefit Plan, a group term insurance program for all Baptist employees. This program was announced at the Southern Baptist Convention meeting in Atlantic City and has been vigorously promoted since that time. It provides insurance for $4.00 per thousand until age forty-five, $5.00 per thousand at age fifty, $10.00 per thousand at age sixty, $20.00 per thousand at age sixty-five and beyond. The cost is 1 per cent of the salary base, with a minimum base of $4,000 and a maximum of $12,000. The amount of coverage is two and a half times the salary base until age forty-five, gradually reducing from age forty-five to age sixty-five and beyond. The Life Benefit Plan became effective October 1, 1964. On that date, 6,403 applications had been received from the Southern Baptist Convention, with 643 coming from North Carolina.

In promoting the programs of the Annuity Board in North Carolina this year, we have had a very full and active year of work. A general summary of these activities include:

Attending 31 annual associational meetings

Meeting in 11 associations with groups of churches

Attending 8 pastors' conferences

Promoting and attending 10 area Workshop meetings with leadership from Associations and churches

Making 14 visits to college and Seminary campuses

Attending Regional Tours led by Dr. Crouch

Helping in 3 weeks of Schools of Missions
 Spending a week at Glorieta on behalf of the Annuity Board Speaking at 9 meetings emphasizing the deaconship and helping to ordain deacons
 Speaking at 3 meetings on Stewardship emphasis
 Preaching in 3 weeks of revival meetings
 Preaching 33 times in pulpits of local churches

All of these things could not have been done had it not been for the faithful and efficient service of Mrs. Evelyn Norman as she has kept up with the correspondence and the individual files as well as looked after the daily duties of the office while the Department Secretary has covered North Carolina week by week.

Our Heavenly Father has wonderfully guided the Southern Baptist Annuity Board and the North Carolina Baptist State Convention as they have worked together in the common interests of being ready to meet the future needs of the people employed in the Baptist churches, conventions, institutions and agencies. It is a real pleasure to be associated with the men in the Stewardship Promotion Division of our State Convention and with the Annuity Board.

5. Field Promotion

E. C. WILKIE, Associate

A look at the past year causes me to pause for a prayer of thanksgiving and praise to our God for the many and varied opportunities for service and fellowship among our people from sea to mountains. It has been a rich and fruitful year for me personally, and I trust, in some measure, for those individuals, churches, and associations I have tried to serve.

Some of the highlights of my work have been 68 sermons delivered in weeks of Revivals and Stewardship Emphases, plus 33 stewardship sermons preached in the churches on single occasions; 18 nights spent in study courses; 18 nights spent in clinics on our stewardship programs; 2 nights in a deacons' school and two ordination sermons for deacons; 3 "All Fellowship Supper" addresses; 3 Homecoming sermons; 5 addresses at Pastor's Conferences; 10 sermons in pulpit supply; 2 associational Sunday School addresses; 2 Brotherhood-W.M.U. addresses; 10 annual associations attended; and 15 church services visited with minor participation. Also, I spoke twice at an R.A. Camp, and was on hand for Homecomings at Mills Home and Kennedy Home. One "M" Night meeting was attended.

Many Denominational meetings were attended with great profit. These included the State and Southern Conventions; State Evangelistic Conference; all General Board meetings; all general staff meetings, including four Regional Leadership Conferences and the staff retreat at Caswell.

A dozen or so field trips during the year to all sections of Eastern Carolina for general promotion of the work resulted in many happy hours of contacts, conferences, and fellowship with pastors, church and associational leaders, as well as other groups.

I look forward to the new year of service with earnest prayers for God's continued blessings upon our entire staff and convention.

College Budgets, 1964-65

Campbell	$ 2,268,551
Chowan	1,260,000
Gardner-Webb	729,550
Mars Hill	1,598,000
Meredith	1,400,000
Wake Forest	10,836,000
Wingate	1,233,000
Total	$19,325,101

SOURCE OF INCOME

Our Baptist colleges meet their budgets from the following sources of income:

Tuition and fees.....	43%
Auxiliaries (dormitory rent, dining hall, book store).....	40%
Endowment and gifts.....	9.5%
Cooperative Program.....	7.5%
	100%

The above-mentioned figures are average figures based on the budgets of all seven colleges. The figure for Wake Forest with the Medical School, Law School, and other graduate programs is 3.5c from the Cooperative Program for every operating dollar.

THE COOPERATIVE PROGRAM IS THE LIFELINE TO THE BAPTIST COLLEGES IN NORTH CAROLINA

Although the Cooperative Program contributed only an average of 7.5 per cent of the operating dollar of each North Carolina Baptist college for 1963-64, this does represent approximately 45 per cent of all the money the colleges received over and above fixed student charges.

The Cooperative Program represents now an annual endowment to North Carolina Baptist colleges of $33,000,000. This endowment provides the minimum guaranteed income necessary to maintain the accreditation with the Southern Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools. Without this guaranteed income, it is extremely unlikely that a single North Carolina Baptist college could operate as an accredited institution. It must also be noted that when the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools meets this year in Louisville, in annual session, it is probable that the financial standards will be raised again, and that each school will have to spend more money per student for instruction.

For this reason, the continued support of our Higher Education Program to the Cooperative Program at the 1961 level is imperative. When the Cooperative Program Advance was initiated, the colleges were receiving approximately 28 per cent of the total distributable funds kept in North Carolina.

Today the colleges are getting approximately 25 per cent of the total distributable dollar. The Council is very grateful that the General Board this year made the first step in the direction of restoring the percentage to the 1961 level, when this committee granted a .7 per cent increase. The loss of the 3 per cent is costing the colleges thousands of dollars, and in a short time will wipe out all of the money received from the Cooperative Program Advance.

REPORT ON COOPERATIVE PROGRAM ADVANCE

While the Cooperative Program Advance has been successful in increasing the Cooperative Program money by about one million dollars per year, the colleges themselves, for whom this program was originally initiated, will receive approximately $400,000 as a result of the three-year campaign.

In 1959 a $45,000,000 capital program was proposed. The present program was offered and adopted as a substitute, with the thought that approximately $12,000,000 would be raised. This figure was later revised to around $4,000,000. Actually, the program will produce less than $400,000, to be divided among the seven Baptist colleges.

REPORT ON COOPERATIVE PROGRAM ADVANCE TO DATE

To date the colleges have received as their share of the Cooperative Program Advance a total of $169,714.14, distributed as follows:

	1962	1963	Total
Campbell	$ 22,925	$ 4,027	$ 26,952
Chowan	14,418	2,553	16,971
Gardner-Webb	13,697	2,425	16,122
Mars Hill	20,329	3,599	23,928
Meredith	21,627	3,829	25,456
Wake Forest	36,045	6,382	42,427

	<hr/> $144,531	<hr/> $ 25,531	<hr/> $169,584

PROJECTION FOR 1964

Based on 10% increase, the amount would be $224,000

Campbell	$35,616
Chowan	22,400
Gardner-Webb	21,280
Mars Hill	31,584
Meredith	37,600

Summary of Cooperative Program Advance

1962	$144,531
1963	25,531
1964	67,000 (minimum)	224,000 (maximum)
	<hr/> $237,062	<hr/> 394,062

KEEPING STUDENT COST DOWN IS IMPERATIVE

The student is paying 83 per cent of the cost of operation of our North Carolina Baptist colleges. We must not price our students out of college. At the present time the tax-supported schools can expect to get about 54 per cent of their operating cost from the State treasury, while the Baptist colleges can expect to get about 7.5 per cent from the State Convention.

CHRISTIAN EDUCATION DAY, FATHER'S DAY

The Council on Christian Education is grateful for the assistance which the Baptist Brotherhood, under the direction of Secretary Clyde L. Davis, President Lin Fincannon, Robert Culler, Stewardship Chairman, gave in supporting the Christian Education Day offering throughout the state.

The emphasis for 1965 will be on "The Contribution Which the North Carolina Baptist Colleges are Making in Lay Leadership."

DEPARTMENTAL FACULTY MEETINGS

The Departmental Faculty Meetings still maintain to be one of the most fruitful works of the Council. Once in each two-year period all of the teachers in the North Carolina Baptist colleges who are teaching in the same field are brought together for study and fellowship. During the past year the following meetings were held: Music and Art — Wake Forest College; Physical Education and Health — Meredith College; Bible, Religious Ed., BSU Directors and Chaplains — Campbell College; and Mathematics and Natural Sciences — Wingate College.

THE TRUSTEE PROPOSAL AND THE HIGHER EDUCATION FACILITIES ACT

Early last year, at the request of the General Secretary-Treasurer, the Council began an intensive study of all aspects of the Trustee Proposal and the Higher Education Facilities Act. These studies were undertaken on the following priorities: the general welfare and integrity of the Convention as a whole, the welfare of the Council representing the seven Baptist colleges, and, finally, the special needs of the individual institutions. The Council decided at the outset that any recommendations to the Convention through the Executive Committee of the General Board would be for all seven colleges, and that in recognition of the responsibility which the Convention has placed on the Boards of Trustees of these institutions, all actions and recommendations would be left up to the local Boards of Trustees for implementation.

The Council has followed faithfully the procedures outlined in the Constitution and Bylaws of the Convention.

The Council has worked closely with the officers of the Convention, Dr. W. Perry Crouch, General Secretary-Treasurer, the Reverend Howard Ford, president of the Convention, Dr. E. W. Price, Jr., president of the General Board, and the Reverend Aubrey S. Tomlinson, chairman of the Christian Education Committee of the Executive Committee and president of the Council in pursuing the following courses of action:

The proposals were referred to the appropriate sub-committees of the Council. The committees are composed of representatives from each of the colleges and the General Board. The findings of these committees were presented and discussed in full Council meetings. In April, 1964, the Council presented the proposals to a full meeting of the Executive Committee of the General Board. Following the meeting of the Executive Committee, the Council made a complete set of all materials prepared by the Council as well as the text of the proposals and sent to the General Board members. Finally, the Higher Education Facilities Act and the Trustee Proposal were presented in a full meeting of the General Board at Fruitland Camp in July, 1964.

The Council is deeply grateful to the members of the General Board and officers of the Convention, to the Executive Committee, and to all who worked so long and so faithfully in the preparation of these recommendations.

2. Reports from Colleges

a. CAMPBELL COLLEGE

I. B. JULIAN, President, Board of Trustees

LESLIE H. CAMPBELL, President

Campbell College opened this fall with 2,024 students, of whom 1,967 were registered for full-time work. This compares with a total of 1,838 last fall, of whom 1,792 carried a full load. Broken down, this year's enrollment reveals the following:

States of the United States represented.....	19
Foreign Countries represented.....	5
Number from North Carolina.....	1,570
Number of Counties in this State represented.....	73
Number of Baptists.....	1,057

A look at this statistical summary from historical perspective is revealing. Beginning as a small academy with 16 students on January 5, 1887, the school has made two major transitions — to junior college in 1926; to senior college in 1962. This phenomenal success in large measure is attributable to the institution's ability to interpret and meet the changing economic, social, educational and religious needs of the times, as the following brief summary will show:

1. Buies Creek Academy came into being before any State system of public schools existed. Its growth through the next 39 years was due to the lack of any system of public high schools.

2. When with the development of the State system of public high schools, this door for service was rather effectively closed, the Founder fortunately foresaw a new unmet need for widespread service in the developing junior college movement. For the next thirty-six years Campbell College grew in enrollment and plant facilities into a great accredited southwide institution under Baptist auspices.

3. But just recently another grave crisis confronted the private junior college with the spawning of a state-wide system of Community Colleges. Fortunately, or under divine guidance, when Wake Forest College moved out of Eastern North Carolina, Campbell was ready to make a second transition in response to the authorization of the Baptist State Convention. Thus, has the door of opportunity at every crisis led into broader and richer areas of service.

Particularly at this time when skeptical Baptists are raising grave questions as to the future of Baptist Colleges, it is appropriate to evaluate the worth of these seven institutions to our denomination during the past century and more.

Grand total enrollment 1963-64—14,395

 Includes all divisions

Consider the following observations concerning Campbell College:

1. It has been a valuable financial investment, as these figures will show:

Purchased in 1925 for.....	$ 28,000.00
Received from the Convention for operation and plant needs (1932-1963).....	1,777,825.00
Present Assets of College, book value (1964).....	6,667,427.51
Net Worth of College.....	4,615,536.41

It would thus appear that, deducting the entire payments from the Convention, the Convention has a profit of over $2,800,000 in the present worth of the College.

2. Campbell is strategically located to serve North Carolina Baptists. Its location near the center of the State partially accounts for the very high percentage (78.7 per cent) of North Carolina students enrolled.

3. Campbell as a senior college is increasingly supplying denominational leadership for the future. While today those preparing for full-time Christian service throughout the Country are declining, Campbell has this fall 124 volunteers, of whom 88 are to be ministers, 11 prospective choir directors, twenty-four preparing for religious education directors, and one for Church Secretary. Carefully planned curricula, staffed by outstanding professors, are provided to serve these in our religion and music department.

4. The Administration is striving to operate the College on the philosophy that in Christian Education is to be found the "unifying principle of the total College experience." Compulsory chapel attendance for five days a week is still maintained.

5. A major administrative aim is to keep the door of educational opportunity open to rich and poor alike by maintaining student costs comparatively low. This has been accomplished in spite of the fact that Campbell received in 1963-64 from the Convention less total income per student than even the junior colleges received. The problem of rising student costs in private institutions should be realistically faced by friends of Baptist colleges as the following prediction will indicate: In a recent issue in the U. S. News and World Report there is a prediction that by 1970 average student expenses in private colleges will soar to $2,780 as against $1,840 in public colleges.

The following statement of plant indebtedness as of July 1, 1964, is submitted by Business Manager, Lonnie D. Small:

Bond Issues as of October 1, 1964

	Interest Rate	Amount Due

b. CHOWAN COLLEGE

H. D. WHITE, Chairman, Board of Trustees
BRUCE E. WHITAKER, President

The 1964-65 academic session marks the 116th year in the history of Chowan College, the second oldest (1848) of North Carolina's seven Baptist Colleges. Enrollment for the new academic year has set another record with a total of 1,155 students for the fall session. A breakdown of this figure indicates 1,021 regular boarding students, 104 regular commuting students, 27 in day and evening classes for credit in the special student category, and 1 in non-credit work. Not included is a number of students studying in a special course in Creative Writing taught by a well known author and teacher of Seaboard, Dr. Bernice Kelly Harris. This is a non-credit course. Chowan's students are enrolled primarily in the field of liberal arts but some are enrolled in terminal programs for both one and two years. Approximately 55 of the students are enrolled in the college's famed School of Graphic Arts which has both one and two year programs and 21 are enrolled in the newly inaugurated Nursing Program in conjunction with the Duke University School of Nursing and the Roanoke-Chowan Hospital. This is a three-year Program of Nursing leading to the R.N. The Chowan student body is made up of students coming from virtually every county in North Carolina, several foreign countries, and about twenty states.

Chowan's enrollment for this year is slightly above the average 100 student-per-year increase that has held over the past several years. Last year, for instance, the total enrollment was 967 students. However, it is pointed out that this is primarily true because of the opening of a new 200-bed dormitory for women which was occupied for the first time this fall. Also of significance is the opening of another new facility, an addition to the college's cafeteria which more than doubles the seating area and provides space for a student store and related facilities underneath. Comparative figures on the enrollment at Chowan College since 1949 give an indication of the college's steady growth. The figures, 1949-64 are as follows: 1949—87; 1950—136; 1951—82; 1952—159; 1953—170; 1954—214; 1955—213; 1956—235; 1957—299; 1958—422; 1959—

453; 1960—585; 1961—685; 1962—768; 1963—886; 1964—1,137. These figures reflect only the enrollment of regular or full-time students. Additional students are those having studied in extension classes, evening classes, creative writing and other special students enrolled in special courses or taking less than the minimum load required for regular student status.

Chowan's physical plant is continually growing as a result of the support of North Carolina Baptists, Alumni, and other special friends of the college. Unprecedented in the history of the college, two Dedicatory Services were held this year. The first service was held on May Day during the annual meeting of the Chowan College Alumni Association. The college dedicated a new and very beautiful classroom and faculty office building which is named Robert Marks Hall. It is named for Mr. Robert F. Marks of Boykins, Virginia. Funds for the facility were made available by Mrs. Robert F. (Texie Camp) Marks, the wife of the late Robert F. Marks. Another Dedicatory Service for three new facilities was held on Homecoming Day, October 17. The Honorable Terry Sanford, Governor of North Carolina, was the Guest Speaker for the Dedication of a new residence hall for 200 women, a new residence hall for 216 men, and an addition to the cafeteria. The women's residence hall was occupied for the first time at the opening of the fall session and the men's residence hall was occupied during the preceding session. The addition to the cafeteria has more than doubled the seating space of the original facility which was completed in 1959. The new addition also provided a new front on the building which faces Union Drive. The college's plant evaluation has increased from less than $1,000,000, in 1957, to well over $4,000,000 in 1964. The college's operating budget for 1963 was a history making $1,000,000 and for 1964-65 has been set at $1,260,000.

Chowan officials are happy to announce that the General Endowment of Chowan College has reached $100,000 for the first time. This was accomplished, primarily, by a recent gift from the estate of the late Charles H. Jenkins of Aulander in the amount of approximately $62,000. The college's Book of Memory is also rendering small increases to the General Endowment. Through this means, persons make gifts to Chowan College memorializing the memory of deceased loved ones or friends in lieu of giving flowers. Efforts are therefore being made to increase the college's Endowment in order to further undergird its service to North Carolina Baptists.

July of 1964 marked another important event for Chowan College. A History of Chowan College co-authored by Edgar V. McKnight and Oscar Creech went on sale. The publication was printed by the Department of Graphic Arts of Chowan College and has received wide acclaim in various reviews. The publication has been entered in the Mayflower Competition Contest of the North Carolina Literary Historical Association. According to an announcement by Christopher Crittenden, Secretary of the North Carolina Literary and Historical Association, the publication will be judged with others in its category and the announcement of the Mayflower Competition Contest award will be announced at the annual meeting of the North Carolina Literary and Historical Association in December.

Members of the faculty at Chowan College continue to do an outstanding job as regards religious emphasis as a backdrop for academic excellence and render community service whenever possible. Of particular importance is the fact that members of the Chowan College Family have been instrumental in community service and area development, especially as regards the Choanoke Area Development Association of which Dr. Bruce E. Whitaker, President, served as president during the association's first year. More than one third of the faculty did additional graduate study during the summer toward advanced degrees. Three professors who are on leaves of absence working toward Ph.D. degrees are expected to return in the fall of next year. Continuous surveys of church work in the local churches and of participation in community activities indicate that more than 90 per cent of the faculty and staff hold responsible offices and positions of service in the churches and community organizations.

The indebtedness of Chowan College as of October 31, 1964 is as follows:

Date	Description	Interest Rate	Amount Due
12-1-59	Bond Issue—HHFA	3⅛ %	$ 225,000.00
12-1-62	Bond Issue—HHFA	3½ %	517,000.00
12-1-62	Bond Issue—HHFA	3⅝ %	760,000.00
11-9-63	Loan	5½ %	405,000.00
Total Indebtedness			$1,907,000.00
Less Sinking Fund Reserves			86,637.00
Net Indebtedness on Plant Facilities			$1,820,363.00

The bonds are secured by first mortgage liens held by the Housing and Home Finance Agency of the Federal Government on three dormitories and the cafeteria-student union constructed with said funds plus $19,000 of pledged tuition revenues from all students. The loan is with three area banks (Farmers of Murfreesboro; Planters National Bank & Trust Company, Rocky Mount and Wachovia Bank & Trust Company, Raleigh), and was used to re-finance an existing dormitory for women and to phase out construction of Robert Marks Hall, the new classroom facility. Except for funds used in the latter mentioned building, the entire outstanding indebtedness of Chowan College is represented by income producing buildings.

The college continues to have many physical needs, the paramount one at present being the need for a new library. Additional, but temporary, library space has already been provided in the area formerly used by the Department of Business which has now moved to the new Marks Hall classroom building. Seating capacity and stacking space, however, are still at a premium. Officials of the college feel that the next major building on the campus must be a new library facility.

Chowan College and the members of the Chowan College Family continually appreciate the strong support of North Carolina Baptists. The support of these churchmen in North Carolina has helped immeasurably to increase the ministry of this institution to our young people. And this college makes persistent efforts to serve North Carolina Baptists. This is done in many ways, the most important of which is its effort to serve the Baptist young people of North Carolina. The college makes every effort to solicit the interest of the young people from Baptist Churches of the Baptist State Convention of North Carolina and frequently sends letters to many of the pastors regarding their prospective college students.

c. GARDNER-WEBB COLLEGE

TOLIVER DAVIS, Chairman, Board of Trustees

E. EUGENE POSTON, President of the College

Gardner-Webb College began the 57th year with an enrollment of 838 students in the regular college, 81 students in the evening college, and 22 students in a graduate course offered by Appalachian State Teachers College on the Gardner-Webb campus. This is a total of 941 students being served by the college. There are 64 members of the faculty, the staff, and the administration.

The above enrollment figures represent 57 counties in North Carolina, 14 states and the District of Columbia, and four foreign countries. We have foreign students from Lebanon, Cuba, Peru, and Scotland. A student from Jordan has been accepted and will enroll for the second semester.

A review of the faculty reveals that 54 of the 64 are Southern Baptists. The other 10 represent the Presbyterian, the Methodist, and the Lutheran denominations. We have one foreign teacher, Dr. Mario A. Suarez, who taught for 33 years in a Presbyterian College in Cuba. Our faculty, administration, and staff represent 119 degrees and have studied at 51 colleges and universities.

Baptists make up approximately 71 per cent of the student body at Gardner-Webb College. However, the following denominations are represented: Methodist, Presbyterian, Episcopalian, Lutheran, Catholic, Moravian, Church of Christ, United Church of Christ, A.R.P., Society of Friends (Quaker), Free Will Baptist, Congregationalist, Jewish, Brethren, Southern Methodist, First Church of God, Congregational Christian, Christian, Christian Missionary Alliance, Greek Orthodox, Wesleyan Methodist, and Non-Denominational.

Registration records revealed a total of 30 unchurched students.

A program of personal and mass evangelism is underway to lead these students to experience the Christian birth.

During the past year the college lost one of her dearest friends and benefactors in the death of Mr. I. A. McLain of Marion. However, his Christian influence will live on in the lives of the faculty, the staff, and the administration and a host of others who knew of his dedication to his church, denomination, and Gardner-Webb College. He was serving as a member of the Board of Trustees of Gardner-Webb College at the time of his death. His widow, Mrs. I. A. McLain, is presently serving on the Board of Advisors of the college.

The trustees of the college made a forward move during the past year when they authorized the administration of the college to employ a professional fund raising organization to make a survey of the area to determine whether or not a capital needs campaign would be successful at this time. The survey revealed that such a campaign would be well received by the people of the area. Therefore, the firm of Marts and Lundy of New York City has been employed to conduct such a campaign beginning November 1, 1964. We hope to build the following buildings: Fine Arts-Chapel Building, Campus Center, Dormitory, and a Classroom Building. Plans are underway to increase the college endowment to $3,000,000. We must do these things if we are to meet the demands and needs of our Baptist people. At the present time we are forced to conduct the same chapel program twice each day in order to serve our students and faculty. Our other facilities are crowded to the limit.

During the past year the college endowment funds increased $141,061.61 through gifts, bequests and savings, and the plant fund assets increased $126,736.45. At the present time our endowment fund is valued at $535,826.08. The physical plant at Gardner-Webb College is valued at $3,000,000. All current bills were paid promptly and our total debt as of July 31, 1964, was $185,000, which is being amortized monthly.

Date—November 1963, $100,000 Balance for New Dorm

Amount—$230,000

Interest—5 per cent

Purpose—to complete payment of Science Building and balance of New Men's Dormitory (only).

Payable—$5,000 per month plus interest

Security—Endowment and Funds

Balance—$175,000

CARL MEARES, President, Board of Trustees

HOYT BLACKWELL, President

The one hundred and ninth session of Mars Hill College, the second session of its operation as a senior college, has begun well.

The current enrollment of regular college students is 1,324. Of this number 734 are men and 590 are women. They come from 78 counties in North Carolina, 19 other states, and 4 foreign countries. Special students increase the total enrollment of the current semester to 1,365. There are 20 denominations represented, Baptists heading the list with 1,017.

With the addition of 21 teachers during the past three years, the college has been enabled to strengthen its academic program and to enrich its curriculum. Mars Hill is committed to the ideal of becoming a superior senior college. This impelling goal can not be achieved without the confidence, the prayers, and the financial support of our Baptist people. My colleagues and I call upon you to join us in this thrilling endeavor.

The enlargement and development program is being promoted with increasing zeal. Within the past year two new homes for faculty members have been built; two additional laboratories, one for biology and one for home economics, have been provided and equipped; major improvements have been made on college buildings, playing fields, parking areas, and a new road has been built on Little Mountain. The cost of what has been done, amounting to approximately two hundred thousand dollars, has been financed on a pay-as-you-go basis. The total outstanding indebtedness of the college consists of a forty-five thousand dollar capital improvements loan from the Wachovia Bank and Trust Company of Asheville. According to plan this balance of indebtedness will have been paid in full by the middle of next February. This done, contract for a new gymnasium will be let. The cost of this building, including furnishings and landscaping, will be in excess of a million dollars.

The Christian spirit which pervades the campus is due in large measure to the spiritual commitment of a loyal faculty and staff and the maturity of the student body, most of whom come from homes where Christ is honored and the church is magnified.

As has been suggested already Mars Hill College stands in urgent need of the support of our Baptist people and also of its other friends everywhere.

Amount of Indebtedness — Wachovia Bank and Trust Company (Capital Improvements) $45,000.

e. MEREDITH COLLEGE

CHARLES B. DEANE, Chairman, Board of Trustees
CARLYLE CAMPBELL, President

The total student enrollment for the year 1963-64 was 958, of which number 848 were regular classmen during the nine-month academic year. They came from six foreign countries, seventeen States, and seventy-eight North Carolina Counties. About 59 per cent were Baptists; 86 per cent, from North Carolina. Degrees were awarded 166 applicants during the year.

The auditor's report for the year ended June 30, 1964 showed a gross income of $1,391,199.34, and a net operating income of $32,701.27. The total assets of the College, with endowment funds at book value, were listed at $6,148,017.93.

Just two important events of the year will be noted: completion of the beautiful 4½-acre lake and adjacent theater, named in honor of the late Elva Bryan McIver; and the inauguration by the alumnae of an annual-giving program, as a result of which 54 per cent of all living alumnae contributed to the Development Program of the College the sum of $72,082.39. To this amount the Aetna Life Insurance Company makes a matching gift of over $14,000.

The twelfth annual School of Christian Studies was held by the College on June 15-19, 1964, with the following guest lecturers participating: Professor Joseph Haroutunian, University of Chicago; Professor Robert T. Handy, Union Theological Seminary, New York; Dr. Herbert C. Jackson, Director of the Missionary Research Library, Union Theological Seminary.

The year 1964-65 has begun auspiciously. As of October 1, 1964, 930 students have registered. The Board of Trustees has appointed a special building committee to direct studies and to employ an architect for a new library building.

As of June, 1964, the total indebtedness of Meredith College amounted to $966,000: (1) a loan balance of $375,000 payable to the Wachovia Bank and Trust Company, carrying interest charges of 5¼ per cent and to be liquidated by 1967; (2) a loan of $591,000 from the Housing and Home Finance Agency on the new dormitory and infirmary, covering a 40-year period, and carrying interest charges of 3¼ per cent.

f. WAKE FOREST COLLEGE

IRVING E. CARLYLE, President, Board of Trustees
HAROLD W. TRIBBLE, President

Wake Forest College began the 1964-65 school year with a problem common to its sister institutions. There was the pressing and significant difficulty of finding space for all the students.

Not only has the College been swamped with applications, it has seen an important decrease in the number of students forced to leave because of academic difficulties. The consensus is that the students being admitted are better motivated and are making better use of their abilities. The trend toward fewer students failing began last year and happily was repeated this year.

Enrollment this fall totaled 2,920. Enrollment last fall was 2,956 but the College discontinued its evening class program this summer. So the 2,920 enrollment figure actually represents a larger on-campus enrollment.

Broken down the enrollment is: 2,256 in the School of Arts and Sciences, 235 in the Bowman Gray School of Medicine, 174 in the School of Law, 140 in the School of Business Administration, and 115 in the Division of Graduate Studies.

Graduate work took one more step forward this fall when the Department of Psychology began offering work leading to the master's degree. This increased to seven the number of departments offering master's work in Arts and Sciences. This figure does not include further graduate work offered at the School of Medicine. In that connection, the first Ph.D. degree in the history of the College (in anatomy at the School of Medicine) was awarded in the spring of 1964.

The year was also notable in the successful completion of the campaign for $7,000,000 for the School of Medicine as part of the development of the Medicine Center involving the Medical School and the North Carolina Baptist Hospital.

Charles Rush Hamrick of Shelby, a trustee, died June 2, 1964, and L. Y. Ballentine of Raleigh, another trustee who had completed his term on the board at the end of 1963, died July 19, 1964. The College is grateful for the service given so freely by these two men just as it is grateful for its fruitful relationship with the Convention.

Following is an analysis of the College's outstanding loans as of June 30, 1964.

Date	Original Amount	Interest Payable	Purpose	Dates of Maturity	Security Pledged	Principal Balance

g. WINGATE COLLEGE

BUDD E. SMITH, President

For the year 1963-64, the enrollment was 1,094. For 1964-65, the enrollment is 1,316. These young people represent most of the counties of North Carolina and South Carolina. They represent seventeen states and five foreign countries. Wingate College has a faculty and staff of eighty-eight persons. There are seventy teaching faculty members, and these represent study in ninety-three colleges and universities in America and abroad.

The 1964-65 operating budget for Wingate College is $1,250,000, and the capital budget is $730,000.

Since Wingate began her expansion program in 1956, the following buildings have been added to the physical plant of the college: infirmary, recreation center, two dormitories for girls, five dormitories for men, library, gymnasium, auditorium, meditation chapel, science building, business administration classroom building, president's home, dean's home, three brick faculty homes, ten faculty apartments, dining hall, music building, athletic field, sewerage plant, all-weather tennis courts, and more than one hundred acres of real estate. These improvements represent an expenditure of more than four million dollars. Today, the value of the Wingate College campus is approximately five million dollars. The indebtedness of Wingate College is shown at the end of this report.

¹ $2,155,000 to John Hancock Mutual Life Insurance Company

Two very important programs of the trustees of Wingate College have been begun and are of great importance to the Baptist denomination. The first of these was a program whereby any full-time Baptist pastor or his wife in North Carolina might take any course offered by the college without expense. The program has been accepted, and this year twelve individuals are enrolled. The second program of real interest is one initiated in the summer of 1964 when the trustees sent four young people from the student body to North Dakota for eight weeks with expenses paid by the college. This program was in cooperation with the Missions Division of the Convention and the workers in North Dakota. These young people found a great challenge and opportunity, and they are back on the campus during the 1964-65 session to share their experiences with fellow students. It is our sincere hope that this type of program will do much in the recruitment of young people for church vocational work.

Wingate College Board of Trustees, faculty, and students are keenly aware of their relationship to the Baptist State Convention of North Carolina, and each and every one pledges every effort to make sure that the college stays close to the Convention and the proposed program of Christian Higher Education as sponsored by the Council on Christian Education of the Convention.

The indebtedness of Wingate College is summarized as follows:

Date	Original Amount	Interest Payable	Purpose	Maturity	Security	Principal Balance

G. DIVISION OF CHRISTIAN SOCIAL SERVICES

1. Baptist Children's Homes of North Carolina, Inc.

OLIN T. BINKLEY, President, Board of Trustees

W. R. WAGONER, General Superintendent

Members of the Board of Trustees and members of the administrative staff of the Children's Homes, during the past five years, have devoted themselves to a thorough evaluation of the child care ministry which is being performed by North Carolina Baptists. In areas of specialized services competent professional counsel has been utilized. Careful attention has been given to the recommendations of the Committee of Twenty-Five with reference to the Homes which were adopted by the Convention in Special Session in 1959. These recommendations read as follows:

"That the Children's Homes policy of future growth hold relatively unchanged the present number of children at the three Homes and expand the foster home program until the number of children cared for approximates the number at the Homes, with the understanding that when this is accomplished the entire program will be reviewed and new goals adopted.

"That the Children's Homes begin to develop new types of programs to help children who are not being adequately cared for in other ways, and that each new program be projected on an experimental basis until it can be determined whether North Carolina Baptists are able to make a worthy contribution in the particular area of need, and whether the enlarged service can be financed adequately."

During the past year, as an outgrowth of the above study, Long Range Plans for future development of services through the Homes have been formulated. These plans anticipate the number of children to be served annually for the next several years in all types of care and the approximate cost of these services. Provision is made for the projection of new types of care for children in areas of unmet need. Attention has been given to a well ordered schedule of up-grading, replacement and expansion of present facilities. The realization of these plans is contingent upon the financial support of North Carolina Baptists and other friends of the agency.

A constant concern and basic goal of the Children's Homes is to have quality services available to those who need our help. This was a determining factor in opening the Greer Home in Chapel Hill in November of 1963 for the care of children in need of specialized supervision and medical help. This venture has met with wide interest, wholesome approval and excellent success.

The desire to serve people accounts for the development of regional case work centers at strategic locations throughout the state. The latest of these was opened in Charlotte the first of September better to serve the needs of people in a six county area in that section of the state. Case work services readily available to children and families during crisis experiences can do much to strengthen family life and many times may prevent family breakdown and the necessity of placing children away from home.

Construction is under way on an addition to the Mills Home Baptist Church. When completed the building will afford much needed space in the educational program of the church and will be used during the week to develop a pilot nursery, day-care, kindergarten program. This will be a community service and, when fully developed, it is hoped that this center can serve as a model for Baptist churches throughout the state which desire to provide similar services. Carefully trained and experienced personnel will be available to help churches plan buildings, recruit staff and structure programs. Our churches have a wonderful opportunity of extending their Christian witness to countless children and adults through this type ministry.

Changes which are taking place in contemporary society are creating pressures and problems for the American family which, in many cases, are over-whelming. In the wake of increased industry, the growth of cities, the general movement of people, coupled with the impact of secular society — individuals and families are breaking under the strain. Increasingly, help is being sought through the Children's Homes. Applications for the admission and care of children, requests for counseling and other services far exceed resources with which to meet these needs.

Those who desire to have a part in making possible the child care ministry of North Carolina Baptists have numerous channels open to them. Many prefer to make their gifts through the Co-operative Program. This is fine and this source of income to the Homes is increasing each year. Others welcome opportunities of having a part in the "over and above" offerings—once-a-month, at Thanksgiving time or at other seasons during the year. The special offerings account for about fifty per cent of the Homes' operating income. Still others plan their estates in such a way that they can live on and on the lives of boys and girls who need a chance in life.

Members of the Board of Trustees and members of the staff of the Children's Homes are committed to the task of maintaining a Christian program of child care — a program that will merit the undivided support and loyalty of our people and that will bring honor to our Lord. To that end it is our purpose to meet, as effectively as possible, the challenges of our day.

2. North Carolina Baptist Homes for the Aging

WILLIAM A. POOLE, General Superintendent

Our Baptist Homes are in the 14th year of operation. God has blessed these brief years with an abundance of His love and with the good things of life. Growth has been rapid, the development of facilities amazing, and the need for additional space staggering. We have come from 1 resident and 1 building, since March of 1951, to 166 residents and 4 buildings in 1964. Today there are 180 people waiting for admission. There are hundreds of inquiries during any given year from aging persons who are sick, for whom we cannot care because of lack of bed patient space. We must give an answer to these good people and begin now making plans for a nursing facility that will be large enough to receive some of these who are sick, or invalids, at admission.

The choicest bit of news for 1964 is the development of a 5th Baptist Home, to be located at Yanceyville, North Carolina. We are hoping to begin construction on this new project during this year, and thus, the burden of our hearts will have been relieved, in a measure, by being able to care for 30 additional residents. The Home at Yanceyville is the greatest single bequest that has ever been left for us in our ministry. Enough land at Yanceyville and money were given to the Baptist Foundation of North Carolina for us, by the late R. Sterling Graves and his sister Mrs. Sallie Willie Graves Bradsher, to build and equip the Home there. Even so, we will still need to look to our Baptist people for the maintenance of this Home and for assistance in supplementing needy residents who will live there through the years.

Today North Carolina Baptists are contributing an average of $90.00 a month on the cost of care of 90 per cent of the residents who live in our four Baptist Homes at Resthaven and the Hayes Home in Winston-Salem, at the Albemarle Home and Hamilton Home. This support comes through the Special Day Offerings, received in the churches on the third Sunday of February each year, through designated gifts from church budgets, and through the Homes' share in the Cooperative Program. These needy residents could not possibly be with us, nor could they receive the loving care that they do, if it were not for the gifts from our 3,400 Baptist churches. Earnest heed should be given by each church, therefore, towards increasing the amount of Special Day Offerings and designated gifts to the Homes.

We have been greatly encouraged this year in our gifts from the churches through the Special Day Offering, and it is likely that we will realize the largest offering in the history of the Homes.

There is nothing to prevent our receiving any needy aging person, 65 years old and above, who is reasonably well, mentally and physically, except lack of space. Let us join our hearts in prayer and our lives in dedication that we may give a good account of our stewardship in this great area of human concern and give an answer to as many of these dear people as possible.

3. North Carolina Baptist Hospitals, Inc.

REID T. HOLMES, Administrator

It is my privilege to bring greetings and good wishes to this One Hundred Thirty-Fourth Annual Session of the Baptist State Convention of North Carolina on behalf of the 24 elected Trustees of that great instrument of our Lord and its Healing Ministry, The North Carolina Baptist Hospital.

More than 18,000 patients were admitted as bed patients and over 150,000 visits to the service and private clinics were made to your Baptist Hospital during the past year.

Its Christian significance is apparent for all bed patients who come here are visited by trained hospital chaplains and their families are ministered to also. It is our goal to Witness our concern for people in sickness and need. Trained religious counselors are available in the Out-Patient Clinics for persons desiring this service. In addition our well known School of Pastoral Care is teaching Pastors, Seminary Students and religious workers in the art of counseling. Untold thousands have thusly benefitted from the Witness of these dedicated people.

Your gifts through the "Mother's Day Offering" and the Co-operative Fund undergird the Service work of this institution. It is your own personal "Witness" of concern for the sick and sick poor. Increasing costs, nationally, of skilled professional persons and other hospital expenses are a continuing problem at your hospital. We urge you to consider this problem by setting your church goal higher for the "Mother's Day Offering" in 1965.

We are pleased to report that the Medical Center Development Program Goal announced last year in the amount of $16,250,000 is progressing well. You will remember that the Convention approved the action of the General Board authorizing the Hospital and Medical School to accept government matching funds for this project. We wish to acknowledge with greatest appreciation and thanks the work of the Board of Visitors of the Bowman Gray School of Medicine, who underwrote the costs and conducted a campaign to raise $8,000,000. At this moment there are many prospects who are not committed but we expect to successfully reach our goal.

We are deeply indebted to Mr. John F. Watlington, Jr., President of Wachovia Bank & Trust Company, who did such a magnificent job in heading up this campaign, and to the many others who assisted him in the quest for funds, and to those Corporations, Foundations, and Individuals who gave so generously to make our expansion of services possible.

We wish to acknowledge the continuing support of the Physicians on the Faculty of the Bowman Gray School of Medicine. These fine men give freely of their time and substance to our Service Patients and conduct the teaching programs for our House Officers. The high standards of professional care given to all patients who come is made possible through the Specialists and dedicated doctors.

We covet your prayers for the ongoing work with the sick patients using this hospital.

HIGHLIGHTS OF THE YEAR

Beginning January 1, 1965, C. W. Bazemore will assume new responsibilities in addition to his work as associate in circulation and promotion. On that date, he will also become fulltime field representative of the Biblical Recorder. For the past 14 years, Mr. Bazemore has been a member of the Recorder staff and is well-prepared for this new responsibility. He will work with associational missionaries, pastors, finance committees of churches considering the Every Family Plan, and in general, will be an ambassador of goodwill for the Recorder. The cooperation of all missionaries and pastors will be appreciated, especially in churches which do not have a Recorder Club.

The financial statement above further reflects the effort of the Recorder to set up an adequate reserve to take care of pre-paid subscriptions. This procedure was recommended by the auditors and approved by the board of directors. This accounts in part for the smaller income in excess of expenditure this year as compared to last year.

A careful study was made this past year of the giving habits of the 1,700 churches which have Recorder clubs. The study revealed that these churches, representing 50 per cent of the Baptist churches in the state, gave an impressive 92.7 per cent of all mission gifts last year. This means that the 1,700 churches without a Recorder club gave only 6.3 per cent of such gifts. Mr. Bazemore will be contacting many of these churches in an effort to interest them in the Recorder, thus strengthening potential.

Many comments were received this year on the special 32-page issues which were devoted to the State and Southern Conventions. Each issue contained nearly 60 pictures, giving people who did not attend the convention a clear, concise picture of what took place. An addition to the press at Edwards & Broughton makes possible the switch from 24 to 32 pages with no difficulty or delay. The State Missions issue August 29 also contained 32 pages.

The directors are asking the convention this year to approve one minor change in the Constitution and By-Laws of the Recorder. This change delays the October meeting of the board one week to give the auditors additional time to complete their report.

The directors and Recorder staff deeply appreciate the respect which North Carolina Baptists have for their state paper. This is an incentive to work harder than ever to get out a paper that will inform and inspire its readers in the most effective way possible.

V. REPORT OF THE NORTH CAROLINA BAPTIST FOUNDATION, INC.

C. GORDON MADDREY, Executive Secretary

The assets of The Baptist Foundation as of June 30, 1963, were $314,585.44. The assets as of June 30, 1964, were $728,233.47. This shows an increase in our assets of $412,742.08 in new funds and $905.95 in accumulated interest. The new Memorial Funds that came into The Foundation during our last fiscal year are as follows:

Thomas F. Pettus Fund.....	$136,618.58
Sallie Willie Graves Bradsher Fund.....	64,478.50
R. Sterling Graves Fund.....	207,765.00
Eric F. O'Briant Memorial Fund.....	1,000.00
Eric F. O'Briant Educational Fund.....	1,000.00
Earle L. Bradley Memorial Fund.....	630.00
Fred F. & Etta W. Brown Memorial Fund.....	750.00
Maggie J. Dozier Memorial Fund.....	500.00

The Foundation cannot too strongly urge that we need increased endowment for our Baptist institutions and agencies to provide for their security and continuing service. Baptist work depends largely on institutions and institutions cost large sums of money to build, equip and maintain. The future security of our institutions depends largely on having adequate endowment. We need increased endowment whichever way the economy goes in the future. In a recession or depression the Cooperative Program could not be expected to carry the whole load. If the inflationary trend continues, all the present sources of income will be inadequate to meet the pressing financial needs in face of constantly rising costs. However, I do wish to point out that the increase that we have experienced is due to several factors: Our investment committee has recommended changes in some of our investments that have resulted in an increase in our net returns from the investments; our investments are being scrutinized very carefully by the executive committee and whenever changes seem to be in the interest of The Foundation, low-producing investments are being replaced with those that we believe will yield a higher dividend. Another encouraging factor regarding our increase in amount of assets is the fact that more people are beginning to use The Foundation in setting up memorials, trust agreements and are providing specific benefits to those institutions and agencies in which the donor has a special interest. If we can secure a broad base of participation for Baptist work such as the Cooperative Program, it is our belief that the Baptist Foundation can serve in a most worthwhile way our Baptist people in their support of the agencies and institutions most dear to their hearts. There are millions of dollars in possession of Baptists in personal and real properties that could and should be left to the Foundation for denominational causes. There are literally millions of dollars in the estates of North Carolina Baptists that will ultimately be paid out for Federal and State Estate Taxes, unless the owners leave a portion of their estates for religious, benevolent and educational causes.

The Foundation during the preceding year has given right much emphasis to will-making. It is the desire of The Foundation to aid any individual in planning his estate and making his will in cooperation with competent legal help if the individual desires to remember some Baptist Agency or Institution.

VI. REPORTS OF CONVENTION COMMITTEES

A. COMMITTEE ON MEMORIALS

"These all died in the Lord," words from the 11th chapter of Hebrews, may be written of many ministers and lay members who have moved on to the city whose builder is God. Through their faith, their influence moves others onward to the triumph with Christ.

At this period in the session of the Convention, we wish to pay tribute to our faithful dead and claim the divine promise of "blessed are the dead who die in the Lord . . . and their works do follow them" (Rev. 14:13). The Committee on Memorials recommends that a list of our departed ministers, prepared by our Convention Statistician, be placed in the Convention Annual, and that this body stand in silent prayer for two minutes.

B. PUBLIC AFFAIRS COMMITTEEREPORT OF THE COMMITTEE ON PUBLIC AFFAIRS FREEDOM AS GUARANTEED IN THE BILL OF RIGHTS

The Committee on Public Affairs submits this report with reference to certain guarantees to the individual citizen under the First Amendment to the Constitution of the United States, which, in our opinion, needs special emphasis today.

We read that, "Congress shall make no law — abridging the freedom of speech, or of the press." This part of the first Amendment of the Constitution, along with the other nine amendments, make up the Bill of Rights.

FREEDOM OF THE PRESS

With the possible exception of religious liberty none of our liberties has been more zealously cherished than freedom of the press. From Benjamin Franklin through Horace Greeley and to Walter Lippman the gentlemen of the Fourth Estate have set a watch upon their government lest the foundation of this freedom suffer the least bit of erosion.

Eternal vigilance is the price of liberty in any area. It is the purpose of this report to call attention to the danger of erosion in all areas of personal liberty. A threat to freedom of the press may come from many places.

This threat could come from the extremists of the right or from the left. It could come from government, even from religious groups. It could come from giant business and industrial complexes and from the power of labor. With the thrust of radio and TV signals that source of control is not immune from this battle of ideas going on in the world today.

It would be easy to generalize at this point, even exaggerate or overlook present or developing danger signals.

Government, both State and National, seeking to establish a particular image, be it war, states rights, or political advantage, may attempt to control news in such a way as to misrepresent the facts, or actually withhold information that makes objective decisions impossible.

While the danger may be remote and the threat indirect, big advertisers may exercise influence upon the press concerning some public issues. A great industrial or business combine would be too astute to say, "Unless you espouse this or that point of view, we shall discontinue our advertisement." Yet subtle suasion and influence may be felt. The net result may be infringement on freedom of the press.

In our day much of the threat to freedom of the press is not so much a denial of this cherished freedom as a gradual losing of it by default. There was a time when many communities had two or more dailies, owned by different people and representing different points of view. Now the neighborhood grocery has been compelled to give way to the giant supermarket, for very good business reasons, giantism in the newspaper business, just as in the food industry, has come to mean standardization, mass production, and elimination of competition. Inevitably some facets of freedom are sacrificed in the drive toward bigness and monopoly. Whereas once clashing philosophies were held by competing newspapers, now in many communities there is but one ownership, and hence, one point of view.

Too often the poor editor is left no choice but to write smooth, innocuous editorials, in which he says practically nothing, for he does not want to offend any segment of the reading public. "After all" he reasons, "the purpose of this newspaper is to make a profit." Such a philosophy reveals a bankruptcy in editorial leadership.

There are dramatic examples of this in the Southland today. Local and regional prejudices persuade the editors to compromise their positions, lest offense be committed. Many have been guilty of what Martin Luther called "wicked silence." There are exceptions to this in our area, but all too few.

Newspapers which have consented to the demise of freedom are not confined to the South. They are also located in the North, East and West. They exist wherever regional prejudices are stronger than the love of truth, wherever business success outweighs honest journalism. These newspapers exist wherever the press comes under the control of men who have lost the capacity of self-criticism, for analysis and evaluation, for non-conformity, and for carrying what someone has called "the intolerable burden of thinking."

If we lose the freedom of the press in America, we will have many forces to thank, and not least of all, the gentlemen of the press. If freedom of the press dies it may not be murder, but suicide. Let not only the press, but all of America be warned.

FREEDOM OF SPEECH

"Congress shall make no law — abridging freedom of speech," another phrase in the First Amendment to the Constitution. Few people share the opinion of Justice Hugo L. Black who said in re: the free speech clause in the first amendment: "I have no doubt myself that the provision intended that there should be no libel or defamation law in the United States Government, just absolutely none. . . . My view is, without deviation, without exception, without ifs, buts or whereases, that freedom of speech means that you shall not do something to people either for the views they have or the views they express or the words they speak or write." (Time Magazine, June 22, 1962, p. 53) This is a minority opinion and has not been shared by the Supreme Court as a whole.

In fact, "the Supreme Court has ruled that freedom does not extend to the obscene, the profane, the libelous, or insulting utterances which tend to cause a breach of the peace. In many cases where restrictions on freedom of speech have been considered, the Supreme Court has utilized a 'clear and present danger' test." (Layman's Guide, to Individual Rights Under the United States Constitution) U. S. Senate Committee Print.

Where and how to draw the line of limitation on the freedom of speech is not a simple matter. We would not, for example, want freedom of speech to be used for the defamation of character or for the destruction of the liberty which makes it possible. We would hold with Thomas Jefferson that the continuation of freedom of speech is rooted in the truth. He wrote into Virginia's Statute of Religious Liberty of 1786 the following: "Truth is great and will prevail if left to herself. She is the proper and sufficient antagonist to error and has nothing to fear from the conflict of free argument and debate."

No people have more at stake in the freedom of speech than Christians, for we have a commission to make the gospel of Christ known and we operate best in a climate of freedom. Legal guarantees for this freedom are necessary, but more is required. Freedom of speech involves the exercise of courage. A real threat to such freedom is internal, namely — the fear of reprisal from one's enemies or even his fellows. There is the fear of penalty which may come if one takes an unpopular stand.

An element of risk is run in granting freedom of speech but a greater risk is incurred when it is not exercised. It is at this point that Christians must exercise courage and wisdom. Speaking the truth in love is not only the means of fulfilling our obligation to carry out the commission of our Lord, it is also the means whereby we help keep for ourselves and the nation the liberty in which to speak the truth.

RADIO AND TELEVISION FREEDOM

UNDER THE FIRST AMENDMENT

Freedom of speech is closely identified with the radio and television media. It should be obvious to every citizen, and not just to the Supreme Court, that the protections of freedom guaranteed under the First Amendment include also radio and TV. But freedom is a two-way road, and while these media must be guaranteed the same freedom that has been accorded the press through the years, the viewing and hearing public, on the other hand, must have similar protection. This is particularly pertinent at a time when the airways are crowded with high financed and well organized attacks on men and groups of men originating from what is widely regarded as extremists groups of the right and the left.

It is the judgment of the Public Affairs Committee that the regulative authority of the Federal Communications Commission should be greatly strengthened as an expression of the real concern by the listening and viewing audience of the increasing number of editorial commentators and commercial or religious crusaders whose objectives appear to be to poison the minds of the people. The Committee would remind all TV and radio stations that their enterprises are granted permission to operate by the people of the United States who themselves own the airways which are licensed to the stations. These licenses, it should be emphasized, are not automatically and indefinitely renewable. The Committee further feels that the FCC should enforce its rulings that people or groups of people under attack should be given in advance the statements to be made about them and the right, without financial obligation, to equal time for personal reply.

FREEDOM IN THE PULPIT

Is there evidence of the erosion of freedom of speech in the ministry? No survey has been made, with statistics compiled, to demonstrate either a positive or negative answer. It is suggested or implied, by editorial writers and some lay leaders, that freedom in the pulpit is not as certain today as in other days. If this observation is true, we should inquire into the cause and the frequency of its restriction.

Dramatic and shocking instances of injustice attract our attention and readily elicit our condemnation. Is it not possible that there are many more instances of denial of freedom that are not overt, yet just as real? No one would estimate the number of times some person has complained to the pastor; "Preach the word," "Stick to the Gospel" or "Keep out of politics and all those social subjects." This sort of reaction to the minister is in a sense a denial of his freedom. Because certain ministers, even in North Carolina, have spoken the truth as revealed to them, they have been forced from their pulpits. This pressure is wrong. This is not freedom of the pulpit.

Any minister is sensitive to the comments of his members. If his prestige is threatened and his security imperiled, he may begin to "trim his sails to suit the wind." This too is a denial of freedom. Under such conditions the minister becomes more self-conscious, less courageous, more apt to preach and act in such a way as to assure peace in the fold. Under such conditions no one would deny that disaster is wrought in the heart of the minister, and ultimately, in his ministry.

Frequently there appears an article in some publication regarding the diminution of the number of young men entering the ministry. While this is a complicated question, it is generally agreed that young men, sensing that they will not be free to believe and preach what their consciences dictate, veer away from the ministry as a calling for their lives. A number of our thoughtful leaders are of the opinion that these limitations on freedom are seriously affecting the recruitment of able young men to the ministry. These high calibre young men turn elsewhere with their talents.

When there is widespread discontent with a minister's preaching if he is the kind who "sticks to the fundamentals," "avoids contemporary problems," and "preaches the word," though he may have a social conscience, he seldom "rocks the boat." That is to say, conservative people are more apt to complain about the leadership of their pastor if he has a social passion and takes a forward looking position to bring the meaning of the Gospel to bear on current problems. Washington Gladden once pointed out that there were those who contend that religions have nothing to do with the world — merely the world beyond. These people object to their minister's having anything to do with controversial matters.

Should the pastor speak on social problems even though doing so is certain to meet opposition? Some ministers and many members answer: "Under no circumstances." Others reply: "In case a moral issue is involved." Still others say "Yes — on all matters that affect the life of the Church and her people." If one is to follow his conscience and speak on controversial issues, he should be prepared to pay the consequences. It may be that we are about to stumble upon the reason why there is less freedom in the pulpit today.

There seem today to be more ministers who are deeply aware of the world around them with its attendant problems. In this climate there has developed a sizable group of ministers, especially among the younger men, who, as the Old Testament prophets, are bold enough to say, "Thus said the Lord." Naturally when folk-ways and set patterns are challenged, people are made uncomfortable. The apostle Paul made the church members of the early Christian Church feel uncomfortable because he told them what they did not want to hear.

This is a real problem. If the minister keeps quiet, by some he will be praised. Roy McLain, however, has said: "While silence may be golden, it may be merely yellow."

The minister should speak as his conscience dictates. Amos, Jeremiah, Isaiah and others of the Old Testament spoke as they felt the "fire burning in their bones." They did not wait until everything they said was popular and acceptable to the majority. They suffered for their courage. It may be that many of our men, ministers and laymen, will have to pay dearly for the privilege of taking stands which they know to be right.

Baptists of all people should be willing to guarantee the right of the minister of God to unburden his heart. Baptist laymen in the law, medicine, teaching, business, and all professions, together with the rank and file of our citizenship, cannot stand by as uncommitted bystanders. Baptists have written some brilliant chapters in the history of the Christian Church concerning freedom. The challenge of this hour is that we do the same again.

C. CHRISTIAN LIFE COMMITTEE

The work of the Christian Life Committee is defined by the By-Laws of the Baptist State Convention of North Carolina as follows: "The committee shall study social problems and developments, shall keep our Baptist constituency informed in this area, shall formulate statements and programs designed to promote personal righteousness and social justice, and shall report to the Baptist State Convention in annual session." In harmony with these instructions the Committee desires to focus attention this year on four areas of concern: (1) Family Life; (2) Mass Media of Communication; (3) Race Relations; and (4) Economic Problems.

I. FAMILY LIFE

Recognizing the family as the first institution established by God and its importance in our social structure, we view with growing concern the increasing difficulties in maintaining Christian unity within the home, and we feel that more careful attention should be given by the churches to the following areas of family stress:

1. The lack of effective pre-marital and marital counseling along with the hesitancy to seek such counseling from the church and from community agencies.

2. The lack of parental guidance in such aspects of family living as the wise use of leisure time, family participation in corporate worship, and proper leadership within the home.

3. The lack of understanding of parenthood as a vocation, and the failure to relate this high calling of God to other vocations.

The committee views with gratitude the creative efforts that are being put forth in local churches by pastors and Christian laymen to undergird the foundations of good family life. Moreover, we are grateful that more attention is being given to these matters in the preparation of ministers in theological seminaries.

We underscore the importance of preparations being made to provide ministries in this area on a state and local level. We appreciate the fact that our Convention will hold the North Carolina Conference on Marriage and the Family in February, 1966, and we regard this as worthy of the best efforts and fullest cooperation of our constituency.

II. THE CHURCH AND THE MASS MEDIA

The church in today's society cannot escape the necessity of facing the ethical problems which have arisen through the revolutionary development of the means of mass communication. The mass media do more than mirror the mood of the times or reflect the moral standards of society. The mass media play a central and formative role in the establishment of moral standards and create value judgments which serve as the formation of what is vaguely conceived to be the accepted and avowed "American Way of Life." The church must exercise the right of proper concern in facing alarming developments in the field of mass media which are commercially motivated and seek the exploitation of man and society.

These alarming developments are documented and evidenced. Categories include: "hard-core" pornography, which is undercover; "girlie" magazines and "burlesque" or "adult" films which are increasing as the wearing apparel decreases; novels, plays, motion pictures and T.V. "thrillers" which present sex, sadism, violence, debauchery, and conversation with candor and supposed realism; advertising fiction, with its hidden persuaders, which borders on fraud; and propaganda slanted by "half-truth" and "half-lie" to deceive and convince. More and more it is becoming evident that these mass media are being misused by unscrupulous people to manipulate persons. This manipulation involves a disrespect for the individual personality and at the same time seeks to exploit one's basic drives, emotions and yearnings to the end that he will indulge in the physically and morally degrading and purchase that which he neither needs, wants nor can afford. The more subtle forms of these categories are more debilitating.

The wide-open expressions, dropping practically all reticencies, so characteristic of contemporary communications, are an element of major consequence in the shaping of the "new morality" as the "new" generation accepts such thought patterns and behavior as a responsible portrayal of human life in actuality and an acceptable moral code of conduct.

Though some professional experts see such developments as of little consequence in juvenile delinquency in comparison with such factors as broken homes, parental delinquency, slum surroundings and school maladjustments, most are agreed that the exposure of children and youths to materials truly obscene is clearly undesirable. Such materials contribute to the erosion of public and personal ethics and the development of a moral relativism.

The church finds no easy solution to so critical a problem. In the absence of a clearly defined theology of sex and with a variety of opinions as to what constitutes "obscenity" the "obscene" must be sharply defined. The dictionary definition, "offensive to modesty," admits to interpretations. For the church, the Supreme Court decision of 1957, defining films and publications obscene, "which in the absence of any redeeming social value, have as their dominant theme an appeal to the prurient interests of the normal reader, and that exceed the bounds of frankness tolerated in the community," is minimal. It is the responsibility of the church to define and clarify in an area of confusion. Legislation and its enforcement is no panacea. Federal or local government "can enforce only those minimal standards that meet nearly universal acceptance and are necessary to the preservation of order"; they cannot successfully regulate morality.

Areas of action on the part of the church should carefully avoid the inherent dangers of censorship. The use of means of compulsion outside the courts to suppress what is believed objectionable quickly runs beyond the suppression of the obscene to that which is doctrinally or politically objectionable. All too often, when not held in check, the concern of those who would protect our morals extends itself to the protection of our minds as well. Films like Martin Luther have been banned or attacked for reasons that appear to be purely doctrinal. Controls exercised beyond the due processes of law, whether by national listings or local committees, are subject to pressures which lead toward an untenable censorship. No matter how complete the listing of the banned or extensive the program of protection there will always remain that which the earnestly and sincerely concerned believe to be objectionable. Censorship is an inadequate, unsatisfactory and ineffective approach.

There are avenues of action more persuasive and instruments more powerful than compulsion to affect the character of materials read, seen and heard. The church, which cannot impose its convictions on the world, can declare its convictions to the world.

Courts cannot force parents to be kind nor can committees force men to be wise. Education, example and the influencing of public opinion are powerful means to affect change. These resources are available. The opinion of the church about any kind of publication or book or motion picture or T.V. program or news presentation or advertising practice should be as forceably and widely expressed as desired by the group. Such an expression will have its effect. The church may undertake to persuade its own members and any others it can influence to support the good and protest the degrading.

A positive program of education, efforts for better libraries — both school and public, programs providing enriching experiences, and the development of personal character with the ability to recognize values, exercise discipline, and control choices will be far more effective than the appointment of sporadic committees and the denunciation of specifics. Christian education leads to the posture of non-conformity in a pagan world.

One can control his own reading, select his own viewing, make his own thoughtful discrimination of values. He can influence, if not control, that of his children. Ultimately, the problem and answer reside in the home. The home cannot solve this problem alone. It must be conditioned and supported by an enlightened total church ministry.

III. RACE RELATIONS

It has now been a decade since the Southern Baptist Convention voiced its approval of the Supreme Court's ruling that segregation in the public schools was unconstitutional. Now, in 1964, a new Civil Rights Bill has become law, vividly calling our attention to the fact that the racial crisis is not yet abating. This new law was passed in order to secure the rights and opportunities of all peoples. The racial tension in our country continues to mount; issues raised by this tension continue to be blurred or to be largely ignored; people are constantly frustrated by the ambiguity which exists in this critical situation. It is our conviction that the truth revealed about the relationship between God and man in Jesus Christ is relevant to our time and to this particular crisis. Moreover, we believe that this truth can be redemptive in our perilous circumstance.

The Christian gospel states that, "God was in Christ reconciling the world to himself" (II Cor. 5:19). Christ's work of reconciliation and redemption relates to and re-establishes the God-man relationship and the brother-brother relationship. This is not two separate truths, but one truth. Thus for a Christian to categorize another human being in any other relationship than as brother is to deny the faith he claims. At no point is the church closer to losing her witness and life than at this point — denying the faith in the name of the faith. As Paul so pointedly puts it, ". . . we regard no one from a human point of view" (II Cor. 5:16). We therefore urge all Christians to seize the initiative in becoming agents of reconciliation in the present crisis.

Because we earnestly believe that the above statements are both true and relevant for us, we regretfully acknowledge our complicity in the patterns of life and culture that have served to keep our brethren, the Negro, in servitude — social, economic, political and religious. Because of our involvement in keeping these patterns alive, it is no wonder that white churchmen are often viewed with suspicion by the Negro. We believe that the current crisis in race relations springs directly from our unwillingness to speak or act in accordance with the truths we hold so dear. Acknowledging then our involvement, we ask the forgiveness of Almighty God and of our brethren, and we therefore pledge ourselves to the following:

1. That we continue to encourage our people to adopt an open-door policy for worship and/or for membership in our churches to people of all races.

2. That we approve this action already taken by numerous churches in our convention and that we commend them for their action.

3. That we recognize that our involvements in patterns of unjust and unbrotherly discrimination have had a disturbing impact on the church's global missionary endeavor.

4. That we encourage our people to support the Civil Rights Law of 1964 as the law of the land.

5. That we commend those persons who have made their places of public accommodation accessible to people of all races and also those persons who have already complied with fair employment practices.

6. That we state unequivocally our opposition to violence and that we commend those persons who have used or are using non-violent means to secure rights and opportunities for all persons.

7. That we encourage all of our institutions to enlarge their respective ministries to include all people regardless of racial origin.

8. That we pledge ourselves as obedient servants of Christ to go beyond the law in practicing love, in being penitent, and in seeking fellowship in all of our relationships.

IV. ECONOMIC PROBLEMS AND CHRISTIAN CONCERN

The presence of economic deprivation and poverty in a nation which is enjoying great prosperity is a challenge both to this democracy and to the people who bear the name of Christ. It is reliably estimated that nearly twenty per cent of the families in our nation receive incomes which are not sufficient to raise them above the level of poverty. The South, while it has made giant economic strides, continues to have a disproportionate share of the nation's poverty. North Carolina is forty-second among the states in per capita income.

We are grateful for the creative efforts of local, state, and national groups to deal with problems of poverty. The North Carolina Fund, a non-profit, charitable corporation established in 1963, has stimulated study at county and community levels of some of the causes of poverty. Following this study, grants have recently been made to selected communities for specific action programs which are designed to attempt to break the cycle of poverty. We commend these efforts and urge our Baptist constituency to cooperate in this work.

We desire to express appreciation to the Woman's Missionary Union for its Convention-wide emphasis on literacy work. In local communities concerned Christians aid in the implementation of this worthy program. The results of helping illiterates to acquire the rudiments of literacy will extend far beyond economic considerations, we believe.

We are mindful that North Carolina was the first state in the South to pass a minimum wage law. Efforts to strengthen this law should be encouraged, we feel. We recognize that churches and church-related institutions are not covered by this law for valid reasons. Nevertheless, it is our conviction that no church or church-related institution should pay an employee less than the minimum wage specified in the law. Churches, institutions, and agencies of the Convention that have sought to adopt and implement personnel policies and pay scales which take into account the current inflationary economy are both wise and Christian, in our judgment. Such matters need to be faced with Christian realism and compassion.

D. HISTORICAL COMMITTEE

In May of this year the work of the Historical Committee was greatly stimulated with the coming of the new Director of the Baptist Collection, Mr. John R. Woodard. A graduate of Wake Forest College and a former worker in the North Carolina Department of Archives, Mr. Woodard has brought to his new office both experience and enthusiasm. Already he has undertaken a thorough reassimilation of our Baptist materials and begun an effort to search out for additional historical information. Among his other accomplishments was the microfilming of all the church minutes of the Alleghany Association. He is ready to continue this process for as many associations as are willing to have their church records thus preserved. We invite any associational historian, or missionary to get in touch with Mr. Woodard in regard to future plans for having their own associational or church minutes micro-filmed.

The Historical Committee held its regular meeting this year at The Library of Wake Forest College. At that time Dr. Huggins reported considerable progress on his new history of North Carolina Baptists. Recognition was given to three histories which have been produced this year. We should like to extend our commendations to Dr. Garland Hendricks who wrote a history of Jersey Baptist Church, to Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Holmes who prepared a history of Hertford Baptist Church, as well as to Dr. Edgar McKnight and Mr. Oscar Creech who published a history of Chowan College. We trust that many other churches will become interested enough in their past records to come forth with histories of their own.

E. TRUSTEE ORIENTATION COMMITTEE

The fifth annual conference for trustees of North Carolina Baptist institutions was held in Winston-Salem on January 3-4, 1964. The theme of the conference was: "Our Institutions: Their Purpose and Our Responsibility."

Following the pattern of preceding years, the conference began with a banquet on Friday evening, highlighted by music provided by an octet from Wake Forest College. The subject of the major address was: "What Makes a College Christian?" The speaker was Dr. William Hugh McEniry, Jr., Dean of Stetson University, DeLand, Florida.

Separate discussion groups headed by resource leaders addressed themselves to "Distinctives" of our colleges and social service institutions respectively. The Saturday meetings began with a worship service in which the message was brought by the Reverend Mark Depp of Winston-Salem. Our Executive Secretary of the Council on Christian Education, the Reverend Ben Fisher, spoke on the topic: "The Trustee: Asset or Liability?"

After a refreshment period, the participants again divided themselves into two discussion groups headed by Mr. Bunyan Womble, former Chairman of the Board of Trustees of Duke University discussing "The Institution Using Its Trustees" and Mr. C. B. Deane examining "The Function and Service of the Trustee." The closing address was entitled: "The Changing Role of the Christian Institution." The speaker was Dr. C. Howard Hopkins, Dean of Westminster Choir College, Princeton, New Jersey.

Since its formation in 1958, the Committee on Trustee Orientation has developed other programs relating to the following themes: 1960 — "The Place of the Trustee in the Church-related Institution." 1961 — "The Purpose of Church-related Institutions." 1962 — "The Trustee-Administrator Relationship." 1963 — "The Responsibilities of the Trustee."

The choice of speakers and resource leaders, as well as topics for discussion has reflected the desire of the committee to provide information and inspiration with emphasis on the practical implications of the role of trustees. Attendance has increased with each conference.

Because of the importance of the issues facing the Convention at its 1964 annual session, our committee will adapt its program for the 1965 conference to the outcomes and actions of the Convention. The sixth annual conference under the auspices of our committee will be held in the Jack Tar Hotel, Winston-Salem, on Friday and Saturday, January 8-9, 1965.

We express our appreciation to our Executive Secretary, the heads of the colleges and social service agencies, and to other denominational leaders for their past support of the work of this committee. It is our purpose to serve the causes of North Carolina Baptists by providing within the limits of time available for the conference further orientation to new trustees as well as those who have served the institutions for longer periods and by challenging them to face the full measure of their responsibilities.

F. COMMITTEE ON PLACE AND PREACHER

At the call of the chairman, the Committee on Place and Preacher, elected by the North Carolina Baptist Convention meeting in Wilmington, 1963, met September 1, 1964, to consider the Convention's place of meeting for the year 1966 and the person to preach the Convention sermon for the year 1965. The committee met in Winston-Salem to consider, on the site, the invitation graciously and vigorously extended to the Convention by officials of that city, the First Baptist Church of Winston-Salem, and other interested parties. At the time of meeting the Winston-Salem invitation was the only solid one presented to the committee for the 1966 meeting.

There were many facts which had direct bearing upon the committee's deliberation. (1) By 1966 the City of Winston-Salem will have 1,640 hotel and motel rooms for rent to Convention goers. (2) The Robert E. Lee Hotel (now belonging to the Jack Tar chain) is to undergo extensive renovation. By 1966 it will be able to care for any size banquet or supper sponsored by any group of Convention messengers. It will have two ball-rooms with seating capacities of 400 to 1,000 persons respectively. (3) The number of good restaurants and cafeterias were considered adequate to provide food for messengers to any size convention body. (4) Reynolds Coliseum would be available for all major Convention sessions. Members of the committee personally inspected Coliseum facilities. They were considered adequate, including a seating capacity for 8,600 persons, if needed, and free parking for any number of cars up to 4,000. (5) For the session convening Thursday morning, November 18, 1966, normally a session less well attended than others, Wake Forest College would graciously provide the use of Waite Chapel on the Wake Forest campus. (6) The First Baptist Church of Winston-Salem would make its facilities available for the Pastors Conference and all other such meetings occurring on the eve of the Convention. (7) Both Wake Forest College and the Baptist Hospital would open their facilities and services to Convention goers, and would welcome visitors who would be given conducted tours to Hospital and College points of interest at specified times consistent with Convention business. (8) Other tours to points of interest in the city would be arranged by the Chamber of Commerce to coincide with Convention plans and procedures. (9) Special bumper stickers would be provided for cars belonging to messengers. Special courtesies from the City Police would be extended to all cars bearing such stickers. (10) In addition to coverage by the press, television coverage would be provided for key Convention sessions. (11) The Baptist State Convention has not met in Winston-Salem since 1956.

After careful consideration to all matters listed above, plus the numerous expressions of interest on the part of many people concerned, your committee voted unanimously to recommend to this Convention that Winston-Salem be selected as the place for the annual meeting of the Baptist State Convention for the year 1966.

After much further consideration, couched in the attitude of prayer and thoughtful search, your committee voted unanimously to recommend Dr. Carl Bates of Charlotte to preach the annual Convention sermon for the year, 1965, and Dr. M. Ray McKay, retired from faculty service at Southeastern Baptist Theological Seminary, as alternate preacher for that same occasion.

VIII. REPORT OF WOMAN'S MISSIONARY UNION

Auxiliary to the Baptist State Convention of North Carolina

MIRIAM J. ROBINSON, Executive Secretary

Mrs. A. L. Parker, Greensboro.....	President
Miss Miriam J. Robinson.....	Executive Secretary
Miss Kathryn Bullard.....	Woman's Missionary Society Director
Miss Sara Ann Hobbs.....	Young Woman's Auxiliary Director
Miss Nancy B. Cousins.....	Girls' Auxiliary Director
Mrs. Louise Burgess.....	Sunbeam Band Director
Miss Vivian Nowell.....	Financial Secretary
Mrs. Eva Y. Jones.....	Administrative Assistant
Miss Beulah Mae Gill.....	Literature Secretary
Mrs. James Parker.....	Stenographer

The stated purpose of Woman's Missionary Union is to promote Christian missions through a program of mission study, prayer, community missions and stewardship. Toward this end approximately 175,000 women, girls and children under nine years of age are enlisted in 9,979 WMS, Young Woman's Auxiliaries, Girls' Auxiliaries and Sunbeam Bands in local churches. There is some WMU organization in at least 2,600 of the 3,400 churches and missions in North Carolina. In 76 associations there are associational Woman's Missionary Unions whose purpose is to promote the work of the local organizations in the area through inspirational meetings, leadership training, and the supervisory helpfulness of associational officers. Close contact is maintained between the state and associational leaders through correspondence, leadership training (particularly for associational leaders), and the visits of state personnel into the associations and local churches as requested.

The 1964 operating budget, which comes from cooperative program gifts through the churches, was $74,175. This was supplemented by $20,000 from the Heck-Jones Memorial Offering for WMU Promotion.

The Lottie Moon Christmas Offering for Foreign Missions received in 1963 totalled $1,099,470. We rejoice in the fact that each year an increasing number of churches promote this as a churchwide offering. The largest gifts come from churches which do not put the offering as a designated item in the budget but let it be an "over-and-above" love offering. In almost every instance, these same churches make the largest percentage contributions through the cooperative program. The goal set for North Carolina for the 1964 Lottie Moon Offering for Foreign Missions is $1,000,000. The Southern Baptist conventionwide goal is $12,590,000.

Receipts for the 1964 Annie Armstrong Offering for Home Missions totalled $293,424, falling short of the goal of $326,000. This is also promoted by Woman's Missionary Union but local churches are urged to make it a churchwide offering, which it is in the majority of churches.

The Heck-Jones Memorial Offering for WMU Promotion, received in June, amounted to $43,987, exceeding the $20,000 goal by $23,987, which overage plus any other that shall be received through December 31, will be transferred to the Baptist State Convention to be used for State Missions. This offering is NOT intended to be a churchwide offering, since it is used exclusively for the promotion of WMU activities and interests in the state. It cares for the expenses of the State WMU executive board, special committees, volunteer workers; YWA, GA camps and conferences; associational WMU leadership training; and contributes to interracial work (both Negro and Indian) in the state, as well as helping with the financial sponsorship of the Va.-N.C. International Student Retreat held at Williamsburg at Thanksgiving time.

Woman's Missionary Union spent $2,025 out of its budget for the promotion of the State Missions Offering. Special programs were written and printed for all WMU organizations (both women and young people) to be used just prior to State Missions Sunday. WMU gifts to this offering are not kept separately but are sent directly to the Baptist State Convention, preferably by the church treasurer. Woman's Missionary Union receives no portion of the contributions to the State Missions Offering for its work.

The State WMU Annual Session was held in March at First Baptist Church, Durham. The registered attendance was 2,108 but many did not register. The overflow crowd prompted the decision to move the 1965 Annual Session, already scheduled for First Baptist Church, Greensboro, to the War Memorial Auditorium in Greensboro, and the 1966 meeting was scheduled for the Memorial Auditorium in Raleigh.

There have been several changes in personnel. Miss Beulan Gill and Mrs. James Parker have been employed on the office staff to succeed Mrs. John Miller and Mrs. Robert Philyaw, both of whom moved out of the city. Miss Nancy Cousins of Virginia, Southeastern Seminary graduate with two years' experience teaching school in Richmond, in June became Girls' Auxiliary Director, following the marriage and resignation of Mrs. John Hagler who served most acceptably in this position for three and a half years.

A first for this year was the promotion of two Camp Leadership Clinics for the leaders of associational GA camps and Sunbeam Day Camps. While the attendance was not large, 28 associations were reached. The total expenses to this clinic for each camp director were paid by Woman's Missionary Union.

Each year emphasis is given to interracial cooperation. Actions in this connection this year included: (1) The WMS Director and Sunbeam Band Director were sent to Atlanta to attend the meeting of the Fellowship of the Concerned, an interfaith, interracial, unorganized women's group sponsored by the Southern Regional Council. The purpose of the two-day meeting is to promote understanding between the races through this meeting, and through those who attend it, to accomplish this in the towns and cities from which they come. The program includes speakers, extended discussion groups, and fellowship. (2) $500 was given to help with the expenses of a Negro Youth Camp promoted annually by the Women's Baptist Home and Foreign Missionary Convention; and $500 for the Indian GA Camp at Pembroke (3) $2,000 to Shaw University, Raleigh ($1,000 for their emergency fund campaign and the annually given $1,000 to be used for religious emphasis on the campus.) (4) Scholarships amounting to $255.60 were given to 14 Indians from Pembroke and Cherokee to attend World Missions Week at N. C. Baptist Assembly or State GA Camp at Fruitland. (5) A Negro secretary was employed in the State WMU Office. (6) Two worship and fellowship meetings called Interracial Institutes were held in Charlotte and North Wilkesboro, jointly sponsored by Woman's Missionary Union and the Baptist Women's Home and Foreign Missionary Convention. An unsuccessful attempt was made to secure a place for a similar meeting in the eastern part of the state in a white church. An invitation to hold such a gathering in the east has already been received for next year. Such meetings on an associational level have been encouraged and several have been held, under associational WMU sponsorship.

Literacy work, teaching functionally illiterate adults to read and write, is being strenuously promoted and enthusiastically received as a phase of community missions work. No statistical records have been kept. But in associational groups and in local churches many classes have been held for training teachers to teach the Laubach method of reading and writing. These teachers have then taught, individually, both men and women from every walk of life, many races, many faiths and no faith. Missionary societies and youth organizations have in a variety of ways "fostered" the individual pupils in the name of Christ, providing materials (including Bibles), providing transportation for teacher and/or pupils, and in some instances planning social occasions. Thrilling stories come from every section of the state of resultant "revivals" among WMS members, a new awareness of community needs, experiences in interracial cooperation, conversions, and an eagerness to participate in this awakening experience. Miss Mildred Blankenship of the Home Mission Board taught a class at World Missions Week for YWA members who were willing to participate in this type of service. The literacy work is under the supervision of the State WMS Director and Community Missions Chairman.

In cooperation with the conventionwide emphasis upon magnifying the local church, approximately 450 local WMU presidents attended one of the ten Church Leadership Conferences promoted by the Baptist State Convention in June, during which time one hour was given to the presentation and discussion of the Church Program Guidebook, under the direction of the WMU executive secretary. This was also emphasized at the Workshops for Associational Leaders, attended by 432 women from 63 associations.

This year the final book in the series on WMU Aims, SPIRITUAL LIFE DEVELOPMENT, written by Mrs. William McMurry, has been studied by many of the WMS members and leaders of youth organizations. It was the motivation for study and prayer at a three-day Prayer Retreat for State WMU Board members in the spring at Camp Rockmont, and for associational and local organizations throughout the year. This study in 1964, coupled with the appalling conditions existing in all nations, not excluding our own, has brought WMU members to their knees. It is a fitting posture in which to enter upon the 1965 emphasis on WORSHIP.

IX. REPORT OF COMMITTEE OF 15

Your Committee of Fifteen had as its essential task the study of the results of our effort to raise funds for the colleges during the three year period of Christian Education Advance through the Cooperative Program and to consider what should be our program in the years immediately ahead.

We discovered that during the first two years of Christian Education Advance the colleges did not greatly profit in the Cooperative Program distribution.

Other objects of the Cooperative Program were given a 5 per cent increase each year to care for the natural rise in costs. It was anticipated that increased percentage to the colleges would be much larger than this. While the average increase for the colleges was 7.42 per cent, the average rise to the social service institutions was 13.6 per cent. On the other hand, the special offerings for these social service institutions has gone down 1.75 per cent during these two years. The apparent tendency for giving in the churches is away from special offerings and toward the Cooperative Program. When the Cooperative Program and special offerings are combined, the increase to the colleges has been 7.32 per cent, while to the social service institutions has been only 4.15 per cent.

On the basis of these figures, the committee concludes that the trend of these years shows a rising appreciation of the Cooperative Program. Apparently our people respond best to this practice. Yet, there are some who like to make an offering to causes that are dear to their hearts. The special offering procedure that we are now following gives ample opportunity for this. We believe that such special offerings also provide a time and motive for dispensing information and arousing interest among our people in these mission objects and institutions.

OUR RECOMMENDATIONS

In view of these observations, the committee recommends:

1. That, recognizing that the Cooperative Program embraces all our mission outreach and that it is the major source of support of all our work, we urge church leaders, institution administrators, and convention staff to intensify their efforts to personalize and to show the reality of the work done through the Cooperative Program.

2. That a basic budget be adopted for all of our North Carolina Baptist work that reflects as nearly as possible, a faithful effort to meet the pressing needs. In addition to this basic 1965 budget, we recommend that the overage be divided — 50 per cent for Southern Baptist causes, and 50 per cent for our North Carolina work. The 50 per cent to remain in North Carolina is to be divided each year at the wisdom of the Convention advised by its General Board. For 1965, we recommend that the North Carolina portion be divided 40 per cent for Christian Education, 40 per cent for the social service institutions, 10 per cent for State Missions, 10 per cent for Baptist Student centers. Upon recommendation of the appropriate General Board subcommittee, the General Board will determine the breakdown of these percentages.

3. That we approve the following offerings, by whatever acceptable plan the local church uses:

February—North Carolina Baptist Homes

March—Home Missions

May (Mother's Day)—Baptist Hospital

June—Christian Education

September—State Missions

November (Thanksgiving)—Baptist Children's Home

December—Foreign Missions

It is understood that WMU offerings are to continue as approved by the State WMU.

We propose and expect that the major income from our churches shall come through the Cooperative Program. However, special offerings provide an opportunity to give an expression of individual concern and better to inform our people of these phases of our work, as well as to provide in some cases a major source of support.

OBSERVATIONS

1. We call attention to the Convention policy that agencies or institutions seeking a special offering from the churches other than those listed above must have previous approval from the Convention, the General Board, or its Executive Committee.

2. We further remind our institutions of the danger of over building and over enlarging without assurance of adequate endowment and sufficient financial support to maintain such building or enlargement.

Minority Report: Trustee Proposal

We recommend to the N. C. Baptist Convention that Section A of Article IX of the Constitution of the Baptist State Convention be left unchanged, the title of this section being "Institutions and Agencies of the Convention."

Our reasons for recommending no change are as follows:

1. If adopted, this change would definitely change and diminish convention control. Under the present plan the Convention's own nominating committee does all the nominating and the messengers are free to make nominations from the floor. Under the new plan the convention is deprived of freedom in making nominations from the floor for 25 per cent of the trustees. Under present plan convention chooses all the trustees; under the new plan the convention must approve those selected by other than its own nominating committee. Now the convention has full freedom; under new plan if adopted it would restrict its own freedom of choice.

2. The new plan would change the essential purpose and nature of our schools. At present time they are Baptist schools founded to promote the work of His Kingdom according to Baptist principles. Article IX Sec. A 2 of the Constitution "The trustees and directors shall be responsible to the Convention for the operation of its institutions in accordance with Baptist principles." How well informed will non-Baptists be of Baptist principles? Our schools are now totally Baptist in the composition of Boards of Trustees. Under suggested change Boards of Trustees would be inter-denomination in composition. This constitutes change. Last year an effort was made by one of our schools to have 16 of 36 trustees non-Baptist. Action by the Convention prevented this. However, it does indicate direction. The U. of Chicago started out as a Baptist school but was reported last year to have only one Baptist trustee out of forty. Under the suggested change no requirement is made as to membership in any church or even belief in God. No requirement is made for members of executive committee membership who largely determine the policies for the schools. Is it consistent for us to magnify church membership in our churches and nullify it in our institutions?

3. We do not need to go out of N. C. and our Baptist Convention to find more than a sufficient number of well qualified and dedicated people to serve as trustees. We have about 3,000 pastors in our state and most are married to trustee material wives. Each pastor averages over 200 laymen in churches served by him who would be eligible for trusteeship. We admit that not all of these would qualify but the well qualified are many more than needed. As an example our committee on nominations this year has about 53 trustees to nominate but over 150 names were suggested to the committee to fill these vacancies. Wake Forest needed nine and thirty-six names of qualified persons were suggested. More than twice the number needed were suggested by the other schools.

Minority Report on Application for Federal Funds Under the Higher Education Facilities Act

We recommend to the Convention that our colleges not be given permission to make application for such grants and/or loans needed and available on the basis of "services rendered" under the provisions of the Higher Education Facilities Act Public Law 88-204 for the following reasons:

I. It violates the fundamental principle of Separation of Church and State. In A Statement of the Baptist Faith and Message adopted by the Southern Baptist Convention Article 18 Religious Liberty:

"Church and State should be separate." "The church should not resort to the civil power to carry on its work." At the meeting of the S. B. C. in Kansas City 1963 approved the recommendation of its executive committee as follows:

Whereas, several proposals have been made in the Congress of the United States, that Federal Public Funds be granted to church-related colleges and universities for the construction of academic facilities and

Whereas reports are now current regarding active sponsorship for proposals granting tax funds to church colleges for the construction of basic educational facilities, such as libraries, laboratories, and classrooms, and

Whereas Baptists are committed to the principle of supporting taxation for public purposes only, leaving church institutions to the voluntary support of persons desiring to participate in the support of and maintenance of those institutions and

Whereas we see in these principles the meaning of the "no establishment" clause of the First Amendment as well as that of the "Free exercise" clause of that same amendment, it is recommended now, therefore:

1. That the Southern Baptist Convention strongly opposes all legislation, federal and state, which would provide public grants to church colleges and universities for the construction of academic facilities and

2. That the Southern Baptist Convention inform each member of this action taken, and

3. That our messengers and members be urged to support this action by personal and group communication and other appropriate contacts with their respective congressmen and all other government officials involved.

II. This Act may be unconstitutional. In the Everson case Mr. Justice Black said: "The establishment of religion clause of the first amendment means at least this: Neither a state nor the Federal government can set up a church. Neither can pass laws which aid one religion, aid all religions, or prefer one religion above another." Our Senator Sam Ervin says "Under the interpretation placed upon the First Amendment by the Supreme Court in a number of cases, it is unconstitutional for either the Federal or State Government to appropriate tax monies to support religious activities of any kind. For this reason I have always believed that it is a violation of the First Amendment for Congress to appropriate money for the benefit of universities and colleges owned and controlled by religious denominations."

P. O. A. U. is financially supporting Horace Mann League, et al vs. J. Millard Tawes et al in the circuit court of Anne Arundel County, Annapolis, Maryland. The defendants include the governor of Maryland, other state officials, along with Western Maryland College (Protestant), St. Joseph's College of the Daughters of Charity of St. Vincent de Paul, Inc. (Roman Catholic), Hood College (Protestant), and the College of Notre Dame (Catholic).

The action requests injunctive relief and a declaratory judgment that the procedures authorized under a Maryland statute to provide taxpayer financial aid to church related colleges violate the Federal and Maryland Constitutions. It involves aid to higher education under Federal law. The case will begin on Monday, Nov. 30, 1964, in Annapolis, Maryland. Your P. O. A. U. General Counsel will attend. It is estimated the case will take between five and ten days.

III. In spite of any no control statement in the contract with the government, control is exercised for it gives government the right to specify use of buildings. Who can deny, that if in contract, you define and determine and set limits as to what purpose a building or property is to be used you control by contract the use of the same? The Act specifically excludes facilities used primarily for sectarian instruction and religious worship. Does primarily mean you can worship at little but not much? Under these terms our schools could not use their own buildings on their own property for worship. Worship is the soul of real religion.

IV. This cannot be justified on the basis of "services rendered." Our schools do render valuable services. So do our churches. But are our services for sale? Are our churches in business for the merchandizing of services? The greatest service our churches or colleges can render to anyone is to win that one to Christ and train them in Christian maturity. Are we going to ask the state to pay us for rendering distinctly Christian services? If our churches and church institutions do not render distinctly Christian service then they forfeit their right to exist. Shall we water down our witness so thin that we please the public? Who is the public? Catholic, Jew, Protestant, Unitarian, Buddhist, Agnostic, Infidel . . . all sorts of people comprise the public. It may be hard to please Christians at all times but who could satisfy followers of false gods and worshippers of no gods or God at all? At the United Nations to please all there is a "meditation room" but no "prayer room."

V. This action would compromise our fundamental doctrine of the Lordship of Jesus Christ. It compartmentalizes religion. It makes distinctions in worship in the chapel and worship in the science halls. Colossians 1:16 "For by Him were all things created, that are in heaven, and that are in earth, visible and invisible whether they be thrones, or dominions, or principalities, or powers, all things were created by Him and for Him and He is before all things and by Him all things consist." v. 18 that in all things He might have the pre-eminence. He is Lord of all, if Lord at all. Can our worship of Him be left behind when we enter the doors of the science halls? In Biology when birth and life is studied shall we fail to study the greatest birth and Him who is the life? In Chemistry when study of changes are made shall we fail to study Him who makes the most needed and the greatest of all changes? In language study shall we ignore Him who made every man's tongue of every race and nationality? Why learn other languages if our tongue is not used to tell the great good news of His redemption? Something is very badly and sadly wrong when any Baptist group even considers any direct or indirect consent to action that denies the total, sovereign, complete, eternal Lordship of Jesus Christ. The aim of all education is to really know Him. Every trap is so designed as to look innocent. Shall we Baptists fall into a trap of secularism? Times of crisis and times of change do not have to be times of loss. Of all the times to be awake and alert it is in times of crisis. O, Lord, open the eyes of all Baptists everywhere that they may want more than anything else in the whole world to see Jesus. Only when we see Him as the Lord and Savior Jesus Christ can we clearly see anything else.

Messengers to the Convention we urge you to support this Minority report!

11. The report of the General Board continued with the presentation of items by Jerry Niswonger, Zebulon, William A. Snyder, Asheville, Clarence Godwin, Rocky Mount, and Carl E. Bates, Charlotte.

12. Bringing the report of the General Board to a conclusion, General Secretary W. Perry Crouch presented his first annual report to the State Convention. Dr. Crouch called attention to the pressing needs of the world and the call to the church to take a positive stand on issues, pointing out the need to pursue: 1. a positive life of righteousness; 2. a positive way of life in areas of ignorance, disease, low moral standards, prejudice, and crime; and 3. a program of righteousness in our institutions, mentioning the home, the church, Christian colleges, and the Children's Homes.

13. Carl Bates recognized the pastors who had come into the fellowship of North Carolina Baptists during the past year. He presented three Royal Ambassadors, chosen to serve as pages for the convention: Robert Sales, Brevard, President of the State Ambassador Congress; Fletcher Hartsell, Jr., Concord, Vice-President of the State Ambassador Congress and North Carolina representative at the Speech Tournament in Washington in 1963; and Billy Clark, Henderson, Service-Aide in Music. Dr. Bates also recognized new convention workers.

14. For the Committee on Arrangements, Paul Early, Greensboro, Chairman, made several announcements for the convenience of the messengers.

15. The closing feature of the morning session introduced the convention sermon. After the singing by the congregation of the hymn, "Come, Come, Ye Saints," James C. Cammack, Fayetteville, alternate, read from Luke 7 and led in prayer. The Convention Choir sang "Mine Eyes Have Seen the Glory."

John E. Lawrence, Raleigh, delivered the convention sermon, using as subject, "Like Children at Play." Questioning the relevancy of much that we as Christians and churches do for the social and spiritual problems of our day, he declared that nothing short of a relevant religion could make an impact on the civilization of our day. He called attention, first, to the need for a renewed relevance in our witnessing and pointed out reasons for so much irrelevancy as being our immaturity in spiritual matters, and because playing is much easier than actual involvement. The preacher suggested some remedies for the sickness in our churches: 1. a renewed emphasis on worship; 2. the courageous voice of the prophet must be heard again; 3. complete reliance upon God; 4. a re-evaluation of our program in the light of the one purpose to exalt Christ; 5. more attention to be focused upon "The Church Within the Church"; and 6. recognizing that the time has come when, regardless of differences, we must call each other brother.

16. Bill Wilson, Greensboro, pronounced the benediction for the morning session.

TUESDAY AFTERNOON—NOVEMBER 10, 1964

Session Theme: "And the peace of God, which passeth all understanding, shall keep your hearts and minds through Christ Jesus." (Philippians 4:7).

17. The afternoon session was preceded by organ music by H. Max Smith. J. O. Stroud led in the worship service with song and choir participating. The choir sang "Awake My Soul, In Joyful Lays."

18. The Recording Secretary called attention to the meeting of several State Conventions this week and suggested that greetings be sent from our Convention to them. Motion was made, seconded, and carried.

Jack Causey reported for the Committee on Enrollment 2,125 messengers and 165 visitors, or a total of 2,290 registered at this time.

19. Marse Grant, Raleigh, introduced an amendment to the By-Laws concerning the Biblical Recorder, as a minor change in the By-Laws of the Biblical Recorder. It refers to the date of our October meeting and is in Article IV, Section 3 and would read thus:

"The annual meeting of the directors shall be held on Monday after the fourth Sunday in October at which time the directors shall perfect and approve their reports for the convention."

20. J. M. Bulman, East Spencer, parliamentarian, questioned the two proposals of the General Board dealing with a change in the election of trustees of the colleges and the use of Federal funds for the schools as being unconstitutional, and began to point out changes in the constitution that would be necessary. President Ford thought this was a debate on the recommendations of the General Board, and that the discussion should come when the proposals were taken up tomorrow.

21. President Budd Smith of Wingate College presented a request of the Board of Trustees to borrow up to $600,000 for the construction of additional dormitories and a Fine Arts Building.

Resolution—Borrowing by Wingate College

Whereas, the Board of Trustees of Wingate College find it wise, expedient and necessary, in order for such institution to properly carry on its work, to borrow up to $600,000 to be used for the purpose of constructing dormitories and a fine arts building, and

Whereas, it is the opinion of the said Board of Trustees that the principal amount of such loan, together with the interest thereon, can be liquidated over a period of 20 years from regular operation income, and

Whereas, said Board of Trustees of Wingate College plans to borrow only such an amount as needed and at the best interest rate possible.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED by the Baptist State Convention of North Carolina, in session in the city of Greensboro, North Carolina, Nov. 10-12, 1964:

1. That the Board of Trustees of Wingate College be and it is hereby authorized and empowered to borrow an amount not to exceed $600,000 to be used for the purpose of constructing dormitories and a fine arts building at such institution;

2. That the sum so borrowed, together with the interest thereon, shall be repaid over a period not in excess of twenty years, the payments of principal and interest to be made in approximately equal annual installments;

3. That said Board of Trustees be and it is hereby authorized and empowered to execute, or cause to be executed in the name of Wingate College and on its behalf by its authorized officers, a mortgage.

4. That no part of indebtedness incurred by Wingate College by reason of this resolution shall be deemed or held to be in any respect an indebtedness or obligation of the Baptist State Convention of North Carolina, nor shall its General Board assume any responsibility whatever for the repayment of such loan or any interest thereon.

BUDD E. SMITH

President of Wingate College

EDWARD D. HOLBERT

22. J. Boyce Brooks, Boone, Chairman of the Nominating Committee, proposed two amendments affecting the work of this committee.

Proposed Amendment to By-Laws of Baptist State Convention Relative to Nominating Committee:

Amend Article II. C. 1 as follows:

Rewrite subparagraph a. to read as follows:

a. It shall have its first meeting not later than July 1 of each calendar year and shall meet again at least once prior to the meeting of the Convention.

Eliminate paragraph c. and renumber paragraph d. as paragraph c.

Recommendation of Nominating Committee

Amend Article III of By-Laws by adding at the end of the third paragraph this proviso:

"Provided, however, that any such board member who shall have been elected to fill a vacancy of less than two years, shall be eligible to be re-elected to a full term of his own."

Amend Article VIII, B, 2, of the Constitution by adding at the end thereof this proviso:

"Provided, however, that any such board member who shall have been elected to fill a vacancy of less than two years, shall be eligible to be re-elected to a full term of his own."

23. W. S. Caudle, Greensboro, for the Committee on Arrangements, read the following names of tellers for the Convention.

Teller Committee for Baptist State Convention

25. Harold White of the Division of Stewardship Promotion, introduced encouraging testimonies concerning the growth in Christian stewardship.

26. R. Tom Greene, of the Division of Stewardship Promotion, expressed the wish of those in the division to assist churches needing help with reference to the Cooperative Program.

27. Guy Cain, North Carolina Secretary of the Annuity Board, called attention to the numerous services rendered by the Board to pastors, church workers and representatives in institutions of North Carolina Baptists. He reported approximately 1,500 churches and 1,700 persons receiving the benefits of the Annuity Board programs in North Carolina.

28. The Radio and TV ministry of the Convention was presented by L. J. Morriss, Secretary of the Department of Program Services, who introduced Claude O'Shields, manager of WECT-TV, Wilmington. He in turn offered the report of the department, pointing out some of the notable growth in the radio and television ministry of Southern Baptists. Programs produced by the Southern Baptist Convention Commission are now broadcast over 55 per cent of the radio stations and 21 per cent of the television stations in North Carolina.

Jerry Potter and Neal Peyton, missionaries to the deaf, cooperated in demonstrating how the TV ministry made possible the carrying of the message of Christ to the deaf and expressed appreciation to those stations that carried the message. Mr. Morriss called attention to the continuation of the program, "Light Unto My Path," which now produces a new feature of Bible stories based upon the best educational methods known plus music for children of the pre-school age.

Secretary Crouch presented certificates of appreciation to those stations that had been broadcasting "Light Unto My Path" and a bar to be added to the plaque given last year, for those stations carrying the program for this fourth year of service. Special note was made of the extensive service given by WRAL-TV, Raleigh, for which there was presented a certificate with the nameplate inscribed: "To WRAL-TV for their special interest and work through the years, in grateful acknowledgement of the sustained interest, the provision of production facilities and resources provided the Baptist State Convention in the production of the television series, 'Light Unto My Path,' 1964." To this WRAL manager Fred Fletcher replied appropriately.

29. Joseph M. Sanders, Oteen, moved the following amendments to the constitution.

Article IX, Section A, Paragraph 5, end of 1st sentence, add these words "or from the floor."

Article XI, Section D, remove the words "definite and full."

30. C. B. Deane, Rockingham, Chairman of the Committee on Public Affairs, read a portion of the report and moved its adoption. He then presented C. Emanuel Carlson, Executive Director of the Baptist Joint Committee on Public Affairs, Washington. The speaker pointed out that problems of religious liberty are still with us, declaring that "freedom does not keep in the archives; freedom has to be lived." In referring to the present as a time of rapid social change, he said that we were responsible for making the future as it ought to be. To bear a Baptist witness to our generation and to carry it on to the future, we must do much more study and thinking about current issues.

The motion for adoption was carried.

31. Gordon Maddrey, Director, moved the adoption of the report on the Baptist foundation. Peyton Brown, Raleigh, Chairman of the Board of Directors, spoke to the report. He stated this fall all associations except two had been visited to show the work being done and to urge upon Baptists additional memorials and bequests. He called the convention to a recognition of its total stewardship.

The motion for adoption was carried.

32. The discussion of Theological Seminaries was introduced by Clyde Tucker, High Point. The following representatives of the Seminary were presented: Garland A. Hendricks, Southeastern; W. R. Estep, Southwestern; Peyton Thurman, Southern; and Claude L. Howe, Jr., New Orleans. Dr. Howe addressed the convention on "Theological Education and the Christian Minister." He pointed out three endeavors of the seminaries in developing ministers: to make them spiritually mature, intellectually informed, and trained in vocational skills.

33. The benediction was pronounced by Reece Baucom, Guilford College.

TUESDAY EVENING—NOVEMBER 10, 1964

Session Theme: "Be careful for nothing; but in everything by prayer and supplication with thanksgiving let your requests be made known unto God" (Philippians 4:6).

34. Following fifteen minutes of sacred organ music by Mr. Smith, Joseph Stroud directed the worship service. The congregation joined in singing "Glorious Is Thy Name," "Come, Come, Ye Saints" and "Take My Life." The choir sang as an anthem, "My Eternal King" (Jane Marshall).

35. With an evening dealing with the history and achievements of Baptists before the convention, President Ford introduced John M.

Lewis, Raleigh, who spoke on "Early Beginnings of Baptist Work in America," or, as the speaker suggested, "The March of Baptists through Trial to Triumph."

36. Secretary Crouch introduced Albert McClellan, Program Planning Secretary, Executive Committee, Southern Baptist Convention, Nashville, Tennessee, who spoke to the Convention on "Baptists Working Together." Calling attention to the pluralistic nature of our Baptist constituency, the speaker declared it was imperative to keep the channels of communication open, that we recognize differences and likenesses, and that through a reshaping of the dynamic forces of our denomination we move forward in this changing period.

37. The Wake Forest choir, under the direction of Thane McDonald, sang "Onward, Ye People" (Sibelius) and "My Eternal King" (Jane Marshall).

38. "Baptists in New Areas" was the topic under discussion by Victor Glass, Associate Secretary, Department of Work with National Baptists, Home Mission Board, Atlanta, Georgia. Mr. Glass noted that Southern Baptists now have work in all fifty states. He cited three main principles followed in working with National Baptists: 1. Oneness; 2. Togetherness; and 3. Cooperation.

39. E. C. Upchurch, Secretary of the Church Development Department, presented achievement awards to the following whose churches had shown outstanding progress during the year:

40. Albert Lamm, Superintendent of Missions in North Dakota, Bismarck, North Dakota, spoke encouragingly about the difficult pioneer work being conducted there and appealed to North Carolina Baptists for their prayers and continued assurance of support to those carrying on this work in a lonely situation.

41. Edward H. Pruden, Pastor First Baptist Church, Washington, D. C., was introduced by E. Norfleet Gardner to speak on "Baptist Fellowship in North America." He spoke of the ties that bind us as a denomination and the benefits to be derived from closer fellowship with Baptists throughout the nation.

42. The evening session was dismissed with prayer by Wilson Stewart, of Greensboro.

WEDNESDAY MORNING—NOVEMBER 11, 1964

Session Theme: "The preaching of the cross is to them that perish foolishness; but unto us which are saved it is the power of God" (I Corinthians 1:18).

43. The Wednesday morning session of the Convention was held in the Coliseum adjoining the Memorial Auditorium to accommodate the larger representation of the morning. Under the direction of Joseph O. Stroud, with Max Smith at the organ, the congregation sang "O Worship the King," and "Break Thou the Bread of Life," and the choir sang "Great Is Thy Faithfulness."

44. President Ford presented Thomas A. Bland, Wake Forest, Chairman, who moved the adoption of the report of the Christian Life Committee. He presented as the speaker to the report Foy Valentine, Executive Secretary, Christian Life Commission, Southern Baptist Convention, Nashville, Tennessee. Dr. Valentine discussed the report under three heads: 1. Where is God? 2. Who am I? and 3. What shall we do? With reference to the last, he called the Convention to renew its vows to God, to prove better church members, and to be better stewards.

45. President Ford announced the death of Dr. J. B. Weatherspoon, and the Secretary was asked to send a message of sympathy to Mrs. Weatherspoon.

46. The President recognized the following former Presidents of the Convention: I. G. Greer, F. C. Feezor, A. L. Parker, C. B. Deane, W. H. Williams, J. C. Canipe, and J. Clyde Turner.

47. Joe Sanders, Asheville, called attention to the amendment made yesterday concerning the addition of the words "or from the floor," to Article IX, Section A, paragraph 5, of the Constitution. The motion was seconded by E. W. Price, Jr., High Point, and was carried unanimously.

48. Joe Sanders indicated a readiness to abstain from the amendment to remove the words, "definite and full," from Article XI, Section D.

49. James Helvey, Thomasville, moved that the General Board be advised to consider the matter of the dangers of beverage alcohol and to do something about it.

Sharing a concern with many over the irrelevancy of our Christian influence and church programs on contemporary social evils; and continually alarmed over the increasing alcoholic beverage advertising that comes subtly into our homes through TV, radio, magazines and newspapers; and realizing the immoral consequences, as our Christian Life committee states in its report, of the increasing economic giantism that endorses and thrives on this advertising; and having heard that a leading Methodist minister of our state says that Methodists are doing more to combat the evils of beverage alcohol than any other denominational group, though Baptists and Presbyterians help;

and observing that we as a Convention talk and resolve more than we act against alcoholic beverages and its advertising;

I move that our General Board be advised to consider the specific problem of alcoholic beverage advertising (in our state) and implement a program, through whatever agencies and committees it sees fit, for the one million Baptists of North Carolina to engage in combating the devastating influence which alcoholic beverage advertising brings down on our children, our families, our communities and our nation.

JAMES HELVEY, Thomasville

Carried unanimously.

50. Eugene Poston, Gardner-Webb College, asked for the privilege of borrowing up to $500,000 for the construction of a Campus Center and Dormitory Building.

Resolution Concerning Borrowing of Money by Gardner-Webb College

Gardner-Webb College is continuing to grow in its area and is seeking to serve more students who are seeking entrance. During the present year applications are well over 300 ahead of last year, and it has been necessary to go off campus to find student housing for the first time in its history. To meet this situation there is urgent need for a Campus Center, housing a new and larger Cafeteria and Dining Room, and a new Dormitory housing 100 men students.

In an effort to meet the challenge before the College, the trustees therefore submit the following resolution:

Whereas, the trustees of Gardner-Webb College have discovered a pressing need for a new Campus Center housing a new and larger Cafeteria and Dining Room, and a new Dormitory for housing 100 men students, and

Whereas, this need has been brought about by increasing enrollment and growing numbers of applications, and

Whereas, the College has plans for a capital funds campaign next year, and

Whereas, the trustees and the administration of the College are committed to this effort toward the growth of the College.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED by the Baptist State Convention of North Carolina in session in the city of Greensboro, North Carolina, November 10-12, 1964:

1. That the Board of Trustees of Gardner-Webb College be authorized and empowered by the Baptist State Convention of North Carolina to borrow a maximum of $500,000 for the construction of a Campus Center and a men's Dormitory.

2. That it is the intention of the trustees of Gardner-Webb College not to exercise the authority to borrow until it is necessary.

3. That the repayment of this loan be made as soon as practicable from funds to be received from pledges, gifts, and other funds committed to this purpose in the anticipated capital funds campaign of 1965.

4. That no part of any indebtedness which may be incurred by Gardner-Webb College under the authority of this resolution shall in any respect be deemed or held to be the indebtedness or obligation of the Baptist State Convention of North Carolina, nor shall the General Board assume any responsibility whatever for the repayment of such loan or any interest thereon.

51. J. Boyce Brooks, Boone, Chairman Nominating Committee, presented for a second reading amendments proposed yesterday (Section 22). The amendments to the By-Laws were passed.

52. Hoyt Blackwell, Mars Hill, announced the request for Mars Hill College to borrow up to $750,000 for constructing and furnishing a gymnasium.

Resolution for the General Board of the Baptist State Convention of North Carolina

Borrowing by Mars Hill College

Whereas, the Board of Trustees of Mars Hill College believe the time has come when Mars Hill College must construct and equip a new gymnasium, which will reasonably cost for construction, furnishings, and landscaping the sum of $1,000,000; and

Whereas, the trustees and officials of the college have devised a plan whereby $250,000 of this sum can be raised to apply thereon; and

Whereas, it will be necessary in order to construct and equip this building that Mars Hill College borrow an amount of money not exceeding the sum of $750,000, which sum can be borrowed by the college when it is needed for the construction and furnishing of this building.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED by the General Board of the Baptist State Convention of North Carolina in session in Raleigh, North Carolina, on the 13th day of October, 1964:

1. That the Board of Trustees of Mars Hill College be empowered to borrow an amount, the principal sum not to exceed $750,000, this sum, together with interest, to be repaid over a period of five years.

2. That the college be authorized to execute in its name a note or notes evidencing the indebtedness authorized by this resolution.

3. That the indebtedness incurred by Mars Hill College by reason of this resolution shall not be deemed or held to be in any respect as an indebtedness or obligation of the General Board or of the Baptist State Convention of North Carolina.

53. Marse Grant moved the amendment to the By-Laws, of the Biblical Recorder, Article IV, Section 3. Same was carried.

54. E. W. Price, Jr., President of the General Board, introduced the recommendations of the Board, with the different members of the Executive Committee assisting.

Jerry Niswonger presented recommendation III, that the Constitution be amended to include ten members at large on the General Board. Carried.

W. A. Mitchiner, Oxford, presented recommendation IV, concerning changes in the By-Laws of the Baptist Foundation. Carried.

William Synder, Asheville, introduced recommendation V, that the churches of North Carolina participate in the "TITHE . . . NOW"! Program. Carried.

Clarence Godwin, Rocky Mount, on recommendation VI, permitting the Convention to borrow an amount not to exceed $150,000 for capital improvements at Camp CaRaway. Carried.

Godwin also read recommendation VII, that the Convention grant authority to borrow an amount not to exceed $100,000 for the purchase of the Battle property at Chapel Hill. Carried.

Carl E. Bates, Charlotte, concerning recommendation VIII, on a challenge goal of $5,300,000 through the Cooperative Program to be adopted for 1965, with basis of $5,100,000 for the Cooperative Program. Carried.

55. The congregation sang "Amazing Grace."

56. Jerry Niswonger, with Carl Bates, First Vice-President in the chair, moved the adoption of the report of Social Services. Carried.

57. W. R. Wagoner, Thomasville, Superintendent Children's Homes, presented the challenge of the changing programs of the Children's Homes.

58. Mrs. Annie Coffee, 90, a resident of Rest Haven, Winston-Salem, was led to the microphone by Superintendent W. A. Poole, and spoke appreciatively of her four years' stay at the Home, which she described as "a home permeated by the atmosphere of Christian fellowship." Dr. Bates asked Mrs. Coffee to convey our love to all the residents of the Homes.

59. W. K. McGee, Director of Public Relations of the Baptist Hospital, presented Dr. Fleming Fuller, Kinston, Chairman of the Board of Trustees. Dr. Fuller indicated the importance of the medical center and called attention to the rich heritage handed down by the early labors of those who had worked with the hospital and of the present great leaders. Special appreciation was expressed for the Board of Visitors, which has done much to advance the work of the hospital, and now in particular, the program of the medical center for $16,000,000.

60. Carl Bates called attention to the time for the election of officers. Randolph L. Gregory, Wilmington, nominated Howard J. Ford for re-election as President. Motion was made and seconded that he be re-elected by acclamation. Carried unanimously.

61. E. N. Johnson, Wagram, was recognized as being in consecutive attendance on fifty-three annual sessions of the Convention.

62. A moment of silence was observed at 11:00 for Veterans' Day.

63. Ben Fisher, Secretary of the Council on Christian Education, was recognized for the report of the Council. This report centered chiefly around recommendations I and II of the General Board.

64. E. W. Price, Jr., President of the General Board, read recommendation I concerning the proposal for 25 per cent of the members of the Board of Trustees to be selected without reference to denominational or residential qualifications. He called attention, in addition to this, that 75 per cent of the Boards of the seven schools would always be Baptists, and that 100 per cent would always be elected by the Convention. This was to be a permissive plan, left to the Board of Trustees. He strongly supported the proposal because of its likelihood of bringing in supplementary financial support and the helpful counsel of friends of the colleges, declaring that this proposal would give a broader base to meet the crisis of the day.

65. Hoyt Blackwell, Mars Hill College President, recounting thirty-seven years of association with Mars Hill, spoke appreciatively of its influence on his life. He called attention to the changes that have come to the school and supported the Trustee proposal on the basis that it would strengthen the base of activity for the colleges. He expressed the need of our working together in Christian love.

66. H. L. Ferguson, Charlotte, brought the minority report of some members of the General Board, submitted yesterday, and introduced Tom Freeman, Dunn.

Mr. Freeman opposed the recommendation of the Board on the following grounds: 1. The proposal of this year is a different and more drastic proposal than that of last year. 2. This has come to the Convention without the safe-guards of last year, when the control of the Executive Committee of the schools would be in the hands of Baptists. 3. This would point us in a new direction. 4. The present crisis does not justify this change. 5. The principle of electing non-Baptists as officers of our colleges would be a surrender of our Baptist policy.

67. M. O. Owens, Jr., Gastonia, did not consider the reason for increasing income as a valid argument for this proposal and called attention to the increased support the colleges have been receiving. He also underscored the increased enrollment allowed by the colleges in going beyond instructions of the special session of 1961, which recommended that there not be a large increase in enrollment. He felt that the basic point of consideration was the ultimate control of the colleges, which he felt Baptists should exercise in providing Christian education.

68. The time for rebuttal was announced, with each side to have the same amount of time, as it had been the case in the presentation of both sides. The opposition surrendered its time for rebuttal. J. Dewey Hobbs, Jr., Marion, offered a rebuttal to the argument of the negative side, and called back to the stand Mr. Ferguson to reply to some questions.

69. Nane Starnes, Asheville, proposed the following amendment:

I propose an amendment to this motion to broaden the trustee representation to this effect, that any one of our colleges that avails itself of this privilege must first change its charter in the following way: The college charter must be changed to say that when the occasion arises for the selection of a new college president, the nominating committee from the college trustees charged with the responsibility of suggesting a new president to the trustees shall be composed entirely of members of cooperating North Carolina Baptist churches.

That if and when a college desires to make this change, the statement incorporating the above provision to their charter must first be submitted for approval to the Executive Committee of the Convention.

This was seconded by E. W. Price, Jr.

70. J. D. Hobbs, Jr. indicated support of the amendment.

71. Wendell Davis, Charlotte, opposed the amendment and moved the previous question. Motion carried.

72. The vote on the amendment offered by Nane Starnes was carried.

73. The vote on the proposal as amended was taken by ballot. (Later announcement at the afternoon session showed 1,566 supporting the proposal and 2,247 opposed to it, for a total of 3,813).

74. Carl Bates, First Vice-President, was called to the floor to preside on the second proposal concerning the colleges.

75. Robert E. Seymour, Jr., Chapel Hill, called attention to the fact that it was now 12:30 p.m., and that we postpone action in the light of the joint session with Negro Baptists at 2:00 p.m. W. Perry Crouch called attention to the fact that the Coliseum was available only for the morning session and that the Auditorium could not take care of the large number attending the morning session. (Counting visitors, who were not eligible to vote and messengers, for this session there were more than 5,000 present. ENG)

76. John Baxley, Raleigh, moved the previous question. He was ruled out of order because there was no motion before the body. A motion to adopt the proposal was then made and seconded.

77. When Baxley repeated the call for the previous question, he was sustained by the Convention.

78. James Helvey, Thomasville, raised the question of personal privilege and wished to know the meaning of "services rendered" as used in reference to payments for federal loans or grants. The question was not considered in order at this time.

79. J. J. Hayes, Wilkesboro, questioned the change to vote on Ballot 3 instead of Ballot 2. Judge Hayes stated that several who had voted on Ballot 2 had already left the Coliseum. There had been a protest on the part of some that when the vote was taken certain messengers had retired, leaving behind their ballots. The chair was sustained in insisting on the messengers voting on Ballot 3. The vote was taken. (Later announcement at the afternoon session showed 1,029 supporting the proposal and 2,567 opposed to it, for a total of 3,596).

80. Chairman Bates expressed appreciation to the Committee on Arrangements for securing the Coliseum for the morning session.

81. The benediction was pronounced by Jack Chellew, Greensboro.

Wednesday Afternoon—November 11, 1964

JOINT SESSION OF THE BAPTIST STATE CONVENTION OF NORTH CAROLINA AND THE GENERAL BAPTIST STATE CONVENTION OF NORTH CAROLINA

82. Since this is the Jubilee Year, climaxed by the Jubilee celebration of seven Baptists bodies of North America at Atlantic City in May, it seemed fitting to have a joint session of the Baptist State Convention of North Carolina and the General Baptist State Convention (Negro) of North Carolina. This session was held in the Memorial Auditorium which was packed with messengers and friends. It was presided over by President Howard Ford of the Baptist State Convention and President R. Mack Pitts of the General Baptist Convention.

83. Worship was directed by Joseph O. Stroud with the combined choirs of both Conventions, Charles J. Blue being at the console. The congregation sang "All Glory, Laud, and Honor," "In Christ There Is No East or West," and "Blest Be The Tie." The choir sang "A Mighty Fortress is Our God" and "How Great Thou Art."

84. Before the regular program was introduced, President Ford announced the votes on the two college proposals presented at the morning session: On the trustee proposal—1,566 for, 2,247 against, for a total of 3,813; for the federal aid proposal—1,029 for, 2,567 against, for a total of 3,596.

85. President Pitts introduced John W. White, First Vice-President of the General Baptist State Convention and Chairman of the Board of Trustees of Shaw University. He called attention to the five divisions of work undertaken by the Convention as being: Women's Home and Foreign Missions Conventions, Sunday School Convention, Training Union Convention, Ushers Convention, and Laymen's League Convention.

He pointed out the four objectives of the Convention as being state missions, foreign missions, the Colored Orphanage of North Carolina and Shaw University.

86. The combined choirs sang Mozart's "Gloria."

87. W. R. Grigg, Secretary of the Department of Interracial Cooperation, Baptist State Convention, was introduced to serve as chairman for a panel to discuss "Baptists Cooperating During the Current Social Revolution." The panelists were J. D. Ballard, Winston-Salem, H. L. Mitchell, Gates County, Henry Turlington, Chapel Hill, and Carlyle Marney, Charlotte.

88. Mr. Ballard spoke on "Baptists In This Current Revolution." He declared that "the church has kept silent on too many issues when it has not been socially expedient to speak." In reply to the questions as to how and by whom this situation was to be met, he said that there was no supreme court in a Baptist church, but that there was a supreme conscience. He called for genuine good will.

89. Mr. Mitchell, speaking to the topic, "Cooperation on the Local Church Level," referred to a noticeably wider gap between minister and people today. However, he pointed out some progress being made through promotional programs in different sections of the state; through fellowship, Bible study, and through training. He made ten suggestions for local churches to follow in meeting the challenge of the social revolution: 1. Establishing fellowship and bringing in promotional work. 2. The preacher must always keep in mind that he must preach Christian doctrines. 3. In local churches, do the Christian thing, regardless of circumstances. 4. We witness by word and action. 5. Keep the roads of communication open. 6. Make use of special occasions: Brotherhood Sunday, Race Relation Sunday, etc. 7. Be concerned about the Christian welfare of all. 8. Give emphasis to our togetherness and publish it. 9. Let the church always be the church. 10. To meet these points, we must depend on Jesus Christ.

90. Dr. Turlington spoke on "Cooperation on the Associational Level." He said that good race relations mean much more than the absence of violence and bitterness but rather the cultivation of good will. The revolution has come, and opportunities are upon us. Time is not our ally. In these ways we may work with one another on an associational level: 1. Citywide and associationwide evangelistic effort; 2. Special courses for ministers to meet their needs; 3. A central school for one week of joint study; 4. The religious affiliation of Negro and white ministers trying to deal with problems that come up; and 5. Consideration of reasons for having associations.

91. Dr. Marney spoke on "Cooperation on State and National Levels," calling attention to the presence everywhere of poverty. He said as Conventions we must face this fact. He declared that young Negro intellectuals were fighting the battle for ascendancy not on the fields of the church, but elsewhere. "In a dozen different areas, the race war is won; but the class war is on." We can have "no faith that the emergence of any social structure will save us." Our only hope is in a real Lord.

92. The congregation sang "Amazing Grace."

93. President Pitts introduced Joseph H. Jackson, President of National Baptist Convention, U. S. A., Inc., Chicago, Illinois, who brought the joint session to a close with a call to listen to Jesus, using as a text John 10:20. Eloquently he pointed out eight reasons for listening to Jesus: 1. Because he is greater than my conscience. 2. Because he will tell us the truth about the evil in man as well as the precious possessions in every man. 3. Because he appeals to the best in us. 4. Because he inspires us to strive for the highest in the universe — The Kingdom of God. 5. Because he appeals to the best and highest. 6. Because whenever we have listened to Jesus, things have been better. 7. Because God told us to listen to him. "This is my beloved Son; hear ye him." 8. Because he is the only hope of a dying world.

94. The joint session was dismissed with prayer by President J. Mack Pitts.

Wednesday Evening—November 11, 1964

Session Theme: "How shall they call on Him in whom they have not believed? and how shall they believe in Him of whom they have not heard? And how shall they hear without a preacher?" (Romans 10:14).

95. At the close of the organ recital given by Mr. Smith, Mr. Stroud directed the Convention choir and congregation in the opening worship service for the evening session. The choir sang "Onward, Ye Peoples!" (Sibelius) and "The Whole Wide World for Jesus" (Thompson).

96. President Ford announced for the Committee on Registration that 4,050 messengers and 575 visitors had registered at 7:00 p.m. Then he presented Charles Coffey, Chairman of the Christian Action Committee. In turn, he presented D. P. McFarland, Director Christian Action League. Mr. McFarland then introduced James C. Furman, Assistant Director who cited references to the harmful influence of the use of alcohol in connection with missionary activity in other lands.

97. Clyde Davis, Secretary of the Brotherhood of North Carolina, was presented a plaque from the S. B. C. Brotherhood Commission for outstanding work done in this connection. Mr. Davis introduced the officers of the state organization; Dr. Linn Fincannon, Elkin, President; W. A. Mitchiner, Oxford, Vice-President; Cecil Faulkner, Henderson, Secretary; B. T. Henderson, Winston-Salem, World Missions Leader; Robert Culler, High Point, Personal Stewardship Committee; Fletcher Hartsell, Jr., Concord, Vice-President Ambassador Congress and William Cannon, Badin, News Director. These spoke briefly about their special responsibilities.

98. C. B. Deane, Roxboro, on a call to continue the election of officers, nominated Mrs. W. K. McGee, Winston-Salem, as First Vice-President. She was elected by acclamation.

Roger Jackson, Yadkinville, nominated for Second Vice-President Clarence Godwin, Rocky Mount. Coy Privette, Kannapolis, nominated John E. Lawrence, Raleigh. Lawrence was elected.

On the nomination of J. C. Cammack, Fayetteville, E. Norfleet Gardner, Henderson, was re-elected Recording Secretary by acclamation.

W. Perry Crouch nominated for re-election the following trustees of the Convention: R. L. McMillan, Raleigh, N. M. Gurley, Raleigh, and T. Lacy Williams, Raleigh. Elected.

Joe Sanders, Oteen, nominated J. M. Bulman, East Spencer, to succeed himself as Parliamentarian. Roy Hood, Fayetteville, nominated J. C. Cammack for the same position. Bulman was elected.

99. J. C. Cammack, Chairman, for the Committee on Resolutions, approved the requests of Wingate College, Mars Hill College, and Gardner-Webb College for borrowing. On motion, these were approved, receiving the votes of more than three-fifths of the messengers present.

100. Henry Stokes, Tryon, presented the following resolution:

Resolution

BE IT RESOLVED that the Baptist State Convention of North Carolina express its sincere appreciation to the Board of Visitors of the Bowman Gray School of Medicine and to Mr. John Watlington for their devotion of time, talent and resource to the recent Medical Center Development Program in Winston-Salem.

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED that as a token of our gratitude an appropriate scroll, provided by this Convention and signed by its President and Executive Secretary, be presented to each member of the Board of Visitors and to Mr. Watlington as a memento of the fine achievement in that campaign and of our appreciation.

FLEMING FULLER

President, Board of Trustees, N. C. Baptist Hospital

BY HENRY B. STOKES

Adopted.

101. The W.M.U. report was discussed briefly by Miss Miriam Robinson, Raleigh, State W.M.U. Secretary.

102. The Baptist Student Union Choir of Appalachian State College, Boone, under the direction of Clifton Arnold, with Hoyt Safrit at the organ, presented the following numbers: "Jesus, All Our Souls Inspire" (Reimann), "Sanctus" (Schubert), and "O Come, Ye Servants of the Lord" (C. Tye).

103. "Missions Around the World" was the theme of the evening session on foreign missions. R. Knolan Benfield, Morganton, one of three North Carolina members of the Foreign Mission Board, recognized several who had served or were now serving as missionaries and led in a directed prayer for 1882 missionaries under appointment of the Board, the needy mission fields and for personal commitment of the messengers.

104. Three North Carolina missionaries on furlough were presented and spoke briefly. They were Gene D. Phillips, Southern Rhodesia and Greensboro, Mrs. George Cowser, South Brazil and Wingate, and Dr. T. Keith Edwards, Nigeria and Winston-Salem.

105. Three "Brothers-in-Christ From Other Lands" were also presented and spoke briefly. These were W. R. Ola Ojo, Nigeria and Wake Forest College, S. Hideki Imamura of Japan and Bowman Gray School of Medicine, and Philip Asirvathan, of India and Southeastern Seminary. Mrs. Imamura, Head of the Department of Statistics at the Baptist Hospital, was also introduced.

106. J. Winston Crawley, Secretary of the Orient since 1954, gave the address of the evening, calling attention to the encouragement of the missionaries in the advance program of foreign missions, financially, in volunteers, and in prayer. He said the response rested on us as leaders of the churches to promote world mission leadership. The speaker called attention to the objective of 5,000 missionaries to be under appointment as soon as possible. This day of crisis should also be considered a day of tremendous opportunity. Dr. Crawley declared that motives of world need and of meeting our own need were good, but that the basic missionary motive should be the love we have for our Lord.

107. Gene Phillips of Greensboro, on furlough from Southern Rhodesia, pronounced the benediction.

Thursday Morning—November 12, 1964

Session Theme: "Behold, what manner of love the Father hath bestowed upon us, that we should be called the sons of God!" (I John 3:1a).

108. At the close of the organ music by Max Smith, Mr. Stroud led in the morning devotions. These were marked as usual by congregational hymns, special numbers by the choir, the reading of the Scripture, and prayer. During this period the choir sang "O Sacred Head, Now Wounded" (Bach) and the congregation, "When I Survey the Wondrous Cross" and "Beneath the Cross of Jesus."

109. Special appreciation was expressed by President Ford to Mr. Smith, organist, to Mr. Stroud, to the Convention Choir, to the Chairman on Arrangements, to the pages and others.

The report was adopted.

112. J. C. Cammack, Fayetteville, Chairman Committee on Resolutions, presented the following resolution of appreciation.

The Committee on Resolutions moves that the Convention express appreciation to the following:

1. To the pastors and churches of the Piedmont Association for their assistance and hospitality to all Convention messengers.

2. To the Convention Arrangements Committee and its Chairman for the excellent provisions made for the Convention and for a well planned and inspiring program.

3. To President Howard Ford and other officers of the Convention for their fair consideration toward all who participated in the execution of the program.

4. To the newspapers, radio, and television stations for the coverage given in presenting the news of the Convention to the public at large.

5. To all program personalities, college choirs, special Convention Choir and others who helped to make the program meaningful to Convention, messengers, and friends.

6. To the staff of the War Memorial Auditorium for their efforts to make our Convention comfortable and convenient and our visit to Greensboro pleasant.

7. To the pages who rendered various services while in attendance during the sessions of the Convention.

8. To the First Baptist Church and Florida Street Baptist Church for the local arrangements in taking care of the pre-convention meetings.

9. To the Baptist Churches of Greensboro for leadership and to the Immanuel Baptist Church for Nursery facilities during the Convention.

10. To the Department of Interracial Cooperation of our own Convention and the leaders of the General Baptist State Convention for the very rewarding joint fellowship meeting — the first such meeting in our Convention's history.

Cammack also presented favorably the resolution of appreciation to the Board of Visitors of Bowman Gray School of Medicine and to Mr. John Watlington.

Same was carried.

The committee reported favorably the following requests to borrow:

Resolutions

1. That the Convention approve the request of Wingate College to borrow up to $600,000 for the construction of additional dormitories and Fine Arts Building, said sum to be repaid according to the terms of their resolution.

2. That the Convention approve the request of Mars Hill College to borrow up to $750,000 for constructing and furnishing a gymnasium, said sum to be repaid according to the terms of their resolution.

3. That the Convention approve the request of Gardner-Webb College to borrow up to $500,000 for the construction of a Campus Center and Dormitory Building, said sum to be repaid according to the terms of their resolution.

4. That the Convention approve the request of the General Board to borrow $100,000 for a Student Center at UNC and $150,000 for Camp CaRAway.

This was approved without opposition.

In lieu of the resolution of W. W. Finlator, the committee presented the following:

Whereas the Vatican Council II is meeting in Rome simultaneously with the convening of the North Carolina Baptist State Convention, and

Whereas both groups are prayerfully looking toward a Christian solution of other distressing world problems of population explosion, resurgent world religions, and militant communism,

THEREFORE BE IT RESOLVED that the Baptist State Convention of North Carolina express its deep yearning that the indication of re-examination and renewal within the Roman Catholic Church continue and issue in the re-examination and renewal of all Christian communions to the end that the Kingdom of our Lord may come on this earth and in our hearts.

This was adopted.

113. On motion of W. A. Snyder, Asheville, messages were sent to M. A. Huggins, Raleigh, former General Secretary of the Baptist State Convention, and to Mrs. Douglas M. Branch, Cary, widow of the late General Secretary.

114. Joe Larrimore, Tarboro, moved that the following message be sent to the colleges.

To the Faculties, Students and Trustees of our several colleges, Grace to you and peace from the God revealed in Christ. We, the Baptist State Convention, wish to express to you our sorrow in the disappointment you feel with our action Nov. 11, 1964, for we know the energy, the effort and the expectations you placed in the two proposals. We want you to know that it was not for lack of love for the schools or concern for our youth, yea, but because of our love and concern that we could not accept your recommendations. It was clearly our conglomerate opinion that somehow the proposals lacked the answering "Amen" within our spirits needed for our assent. We have not deserted you. We will find the answer with you through the leadership of God through both our prayers and yours, and through the use of all the best facilities He has given us together. Do nothing rash or from a party spirit. We will come to your aid as we entreat you to come to our aid in finding the true way for all of us.

A motion to lay this on the table was carried.

115. James F. Heaton, Raleigh, Chairman Board of Directors of the Biblical Recorder, presented C. W. Bazemore, who for fourteen years has been a faithful member of the staff of the Recorder, and who will become fulltime field representative for the paper after January 1. Mr. Bazemore set forth the important place the paper has in the life of the denomination.

116. Attention was called to greetings received by the Convention from the following State meetings being held this week: Alabama, California, Florida, Georgia, Hawaii, Kentucky, Louisiana, New Mexico, Ohio, Oklahoma, South Carolina, and Virginia.

117. The Recording Secretary called attention to the valuable service rendered by Miss Grace Yow, of the Council on Christian Education, with the minutes.

118. W. A. Mitchiner, Oxford, presiding as Second Vice-President, recognized A. L. Parker, Greensboro. Dr. Parker presented the recommendation that every Baptist church follow some plan for making an annual contribution to the important work of the American Bible Society.

119. Marse Grant presented the following report of the Publicity Committee.

Report of the Publicity Committee

Nearly a million Baptists always make news when they meet in annual convention session and this year has been no exception. Convenient facilities are needed to accommodate the large number from the news media and your committee is indebted to Dr. Paul Early and Joe West of the Immanuel Church for their tireless efforts in the Press Room. The auditorium management has also been most cooperative in providing the needed space and equipment for the press corps. Gray and Creech let us use a new A.B. Dick mimeographing machine.

The following reporters and photographers covered this year's convention:

Miss Virtie Stroup, Luix Overbee, Bill Connelly and Frank Jones, Winston-Salem Journal-Sentinel; David S. Greene, Joseph Knox, Robert F. Farley and David Nicholson, Greensboro Daily News; Miss Dot Benjamin, Mrs. Jane Kay and Jack Moebes, Greensboro Record; William Workman, Kannapolis Independent; Adrian King, Raleigh News and Observer; Reese Hart and Perry Aycock, Raleigh, Associated Press; Charles Barbour, Ed Hodges and Harold Moore, Durham Morning Herald; Ed McHale, United Press International, Greensboro; Miss Hannah Miller, Charlotte Observer; Scott Jarrett, WFMY-TV; Bob Stern and Charles Porter, WSTS Radio and TV, Winston-Salem; Dick Weaver, WGHP-TV, High Point; Jimmy Morriss, WRAL-TV, Raleigh; Bob Hager, WBTV, Charlotte; Lloyd Gordon, WBIG, Greensboro.

Your committee believes it speaks for the convention in expressing appreciation to this fine group for coverage of this 134th annual session.

120. On motion of J. M. Bulman, the President of the Convention, the General Secretary, and the Recording Secretary were instructed to perfect the Journal.

121. George Griffin, Chairman Baptist Historical Committee, moved the adoption of the report printed in the Book of Reports. It was carried. He then presented the director of the Baptist Historical Collection, John R. Woodard, Jr., who recently came to this position from the North Carolina Department of History and Archives. Woodard spoke appreciatively of the opportunities offered Baptists in this field, and called for cooperation in preserving our history.

122. The Committee on Memorials had its report read by A. L. Parker. A motion to adopt was carried.

123. Julius Corpening, Durham, moved that the annual of this year be dedicated to Dr. J. B. Weatherspoon and Dr. Trela D. Collins. This motion was seconded and carried.

124. Keener Pharr, Director of Field Services Section, Education Division, Sunday School Department, Baptist Sunday School Board, Nashville, Tennessee, was presented. He spoke on the supreme work of the church and asked whether everything we are doing contributed to the advancement of the church, and to the changing of the lives of those with whom we work.

125. The report of the Committee on Advance Program was read by S. L. Stealey, Raleigh, Chairman. Adopted.

126. The Committee on Enrollment gave its final report to indicate registered messengers as being 4,060 and visitors as being 1,692, for a total of 5,752 registered.

127. President Ford recognized a delegation of Wake Forest students, selected by the student body: Cliff Lowery, Raleigh, president student body; Larry Robinson, Kinston; Carol Peacock, Raleigh; Karen Gill, Greensboro; and Cara Saintsing, Winston-Salem. They brought a message adopted unanimously this morning by the student body of Wake Forest. Cliff Lowery presented the statement, which was as follows:

"We, the students of Wake Forest College feel obligated to express our deep hurt and bitter disappointment at the tragic defeat of the Trustee Proposal. This vote expressed a complete lack of confidence in the General Board and in the leaders of the North Carolina Baptist Convention, all of whom have studied the implications of this Proposal in great detail and overwhelmingly recommended its passage.

"We cannot help but feel that Christian higher education has been dealt a devastating blow, and that progress at this institution will be critically impeded due to the absence of adequate support, sufficient funds, and broader representation.

"We are indeed appreciative of those who have supported us in the past and especially in the most recent endeavor. As students of Wake Forest College, we reaffirm our dedication to the highest principles of Christian higher education and we ask that you join with us in devising a positive and concrete program to achieve this goal.

"We cannot help but be reminded of the continual rejections to our pleas for support. Although we have been patient in complying with the previous decisions of the Convention, we insist that you do not dismiss this matter, but rather consider the grave consequences which will result if this Proposal is not passed. We are convinced that under the status-quo Wake Forest College cannot advance, for nothing can remain at a standstill — either it must progress or it will surely regress.

“We reluctantly abide by the decision of the Convention, yet we are convinced that stagnation will come as a result. WE ARE DETERMINED TO PROGRESS!”

“We ask the Convention to submit immediately a positive plan for providing sufficient financial support for the Baptist colleges of the state of North Carolina.

“If the Convention continues to refuse to accept its responsibilities in providing for our advancement to university status, we urge our administration to seek other methods to allow our growth — even if it means severing our official ties with this Convention — in order to remain Christian.”

128. H. L. Ferguson, Charlotte, expressed the feeling that the Convention should do nothing under emotional tension at the present time, that as brethren we love one another and have the interest of our schools at heart.

129. L. D. Holt, Raleigh, moved that we take off the table the motion made earlier in the morning by J. S. Larrimore. Seconded. The motion was lost.

130. A. R. Burkot, Buies Creek, made the report for the Committee on Trustee Orientation and moved its adoption. Carried.

131. Robert O. Brown, Powellville, surprised the Convention by introducing the following amendment to the Trustee Report.

Amendment to Trustee Report

The trustees of Wake Forest College hereby are instructed to consider the dismissal of Dr. Harold W. Tribble as President, in view of the following complaints:

1. Providing the leadership and character that has bred the present hostile feeling, on the campus, against the Baptist State Convention of N. C. and the churches its messengers represent.

2. Providing leadership that has caused our greatest college to be a constant “thorn of flesh” to this convention.

3. Incompetence in administration. (a) recklessness in statements to TV, radio, and newspaper mediums concerning the actions of this convention in session; (b) inability to control, within reason, the unbaptistic, unchristian-like demonstrations that have occurred on the Wake Forest Campus.

And to act upon this directive within three months.

W. Perry Crouch earnestly requested the Convention to vote down the resolution.

The previous question was called for, and on vote this call was sustained.

The vote on Mr. Brown's resolution was taken, and the President declared it overwhelmingly defeated.

Report of the Trustee Orientation Committee was then adopted.

132. Charles Myers, Greensboro, Representative of the Social Security Board, called attention to an Act of Congress as of October 13, 1964, extending Social Security coverage to all ministers not presently covered. This provision will expire April 15, 1965. Ministers not covered by Social Security were advised to consult local Social Security offices.

133. In the closing message, delivered under painful restraint by Secretary Crouch, he urged prayerful support of our institutions and a readiness to help every Baptist church work toward the attainment of the theme of the Convention, "The Church Fulfilling Its Mission." The speaker earnestly begged the messengers to quit quibbling with one another and to be about our Lord's work. He called the messengers to a committal of their lives to Christ and to prayer, urging that they go home in the spirit of repentance and good will.

The Convention came to a close with a prayer led by Secretary Crouch.
